12. To Circulate False Derogatory Charge Concerning Candidates.—For any person to publish or cause to be circulated derogatory reports with reference to any candidate, known by the person publishing or circulating such report to be false, when such report is calculated or intended to affect the chances of such candidate for office. (1913, c. 164, s. 1.)

13. To Promise Political Appointments in Securing Political Support.—For any person to give or promise, in return for political support or influence, any political appointment or support for political office. (1913, c. 164, s. 1.)

See note under § 6055(a 53).

§ 4185(a). Intimidation of voters by officers made misdemeanor.—It shall be unlawful for any person holding any office, position, or employment in the state government, or under and with any department, institution, bureau, board, commission, or other state agency, or under and with any county, city, town, district, or other political subdivision, directly or indirectly, to discharge, threaten to discharge, or cause to be discharged, or otherwise intimidate or oppress any other person in such employment on account of any vote such voter or any member of his family may cast, or consider or intend to cast, or not to cast, or which he may have failed to cast, or to seek or undertake to control any vote which any subordinate of such person may cast, or consider or intend to cast, or not to cast, by threat, intimidation, or declaration that the position, salary, or any part of the salary of such subordinate depends in any manner whatsoever, directly or indirectly, upon the way in which such subordinate or any member of his family casts, or considers or intends to cast, or not to cast his vote, at any primary or election. Any person violating this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished by fine and/or imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (1933, c. 165, s. 25.)

§ 4186. Certain acts declared felonies.—Any person who shall in connection with any primary special, general or other election in this state do any of the acts and things declared in this section to be unlawful shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction shall be imprisoned in the state's prison not less than four months, or fined not less than one thousand dollars, or both, in the discretion of the court. It shall be unlawful—

1. To Register in More than One Precinct or Impersonate Other Voters. — For any person fraudulently to cause his name to be placed upon the registration books of more than one election precinct, or fraudulently to cause or procure his name, or that of any other person, to be placed upon the registration books in any precinct when such registration in that precinct does not qualify such person to vote legally therein, or to impersonate falsely another registered voter for the purpose of voting in the stead of such other voter. (Rev., s. 3395; 1901, c. 89, s. 70; 1913, c. 164, s. 2.)

2. To Buy and Sell Votes.—For any person to give or promise or request or accept at any time before or after any such election any money, property or other thing of value whatever, in return for the vote of any elector. (Rev., s. 3386; 1901, c. 89, s. 54; 1913, c. 164, s. 2.)

3. To Make Fraudulent Entries and Returns.—For any person who is an election officer, a member of a canvassing or election board or other officer charged with any duty with respect to any election, knowingly to make any false or fraudulent entry on any election book, or any false or fraudulent return, or knowingly to make, or cause to be made, any false statement on any ticket, or to do any fraudulent act, or knowingly and fraudulently to omit to do any act or make any report legally required of such person. (1913, c. 164, s. 2.)

4. To Swear Falsely in Connection with Elections.—For any person knowingly to swear falsely with respect to any matter pertaining to any such election. (1913, c. 164, s. 2.)

5. To Qualify Any One Fraudulently as an Elector.—For any person falsely to make or present any exemption from poll tax, tax receipt, certificate or other paper to qualify any person fraudulently as an elector, or to attempt thereby to secure to any person the privilege of voting. (Rev., s. 3401, 1901, c. 89, s. 13; 1913, c. 164, s. 2.)

See note under § 6055(a53).

§ 4187. Persons pardoned compellable to testify.—Any person subpœnaed by the state to testify relative to any offense arising under the provisions of the two preceding sections shall be required to testify, but such person shall be immune from prosecution and shall be pardoned for any violation of law about which such person is so required to testify. (1913, c. 164, s. 3.)

See § 6055(a 54).

Art. 6. Other Offense against the Elective Franchise

§ 4188. Disposing of liquor at or near polling places.—If any person shall give away or shall sell any intoxicating liquor, except for medical purposes and upon the prescription of practicing physician, at any place within five miles of the polling place, at any time within twelve hours next preceding or succeeding any public election, whether general, local or municipal, or during the holding thereof, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not less than one hundred nor more than one thousand dollars. (Rev., s. 3389; 1901, c. 89, s. 76, c. 531.)

Editor's Note.—In State v. Edwards, 134 N. C. 636, 46 S. E. 766 the court discusses the former provisions regulating this subject. The Act of 1901, ch. 89, sec. 76 omitted the words "or sell" from the section and hence it was decided that it was no offense for a person who has a license, to sell liquors on an election day, although they could not be given away. This case of State v. Edwards, supra, was decided in 1904 and by Public Laws 1905, ch. 531 the words "or shall sell" were again inserted in the section.

Form of Indictment.—An indictment for selling or giving away spiritous liquors during a public election should set forth the name of the person to whom the liquor was sold or given; also the indictment should negative the selling upon "the prescription of a practicing physician and for medical purposes," which is allowed by the act. State v. Stamey, 71 N. C. 202.

See § 6055(a 53) and note thereto.

§ 4190. Corrupt taking of oath by voter.—If any person shall corruptly take the oath prescribed for voters, he shall be guilty of perjury, and shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, and shall be imprisoned in the state's prison not less than two nor more than five years. (Rev., s. 3390, 1901, c. 89, s. 49.)

See § 6055(a53) and note thereto.

§ 4191. False oath of voter in registering.—If any person shall knowingly register under the permanent registration law who is not qualified within the meaning of that law and article six, section four, of the constitution, or if any person shall knowingly take any false oath in registering under the same, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not more than one thousand dollars or imprisoned not more than five years. (Rev., s. 3392; 1901, c. 550, s. 12.)

See § 6055(a53) and note thereto.

§ 4192. Voting illegally at elections; fraudulent entries by registrars and clerks.—If any person shall, with intent to commit a fraud, register or vote at more than one box or more than one time, or shall induce another to do so, or if any person shall illegally vote at any election, he shall be guilty of a felony and shall be imprisoned in the state's prison not less than six nor more than twelve months, or fined not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars, at the discretion of the court. If any registrar of voters, or any clerk or copyist, shall make any entry or copy with intent to commit a fraud, he shall be guilty of a like offense. (Rev., s. 3394; 1901, c. 89, s. 48.)

See § 6055(a53) and note thereto.

Decision of Election Judges Protects Voter.—The decision of the judges of election that a person is entitled to vote is a complete defense to an indictment for illegal voting, although such person may not in fact be entitled to vote. State v. Pearson, 97 N. C. 434, 1 S. E. 914.

Opinions of Others No Justification.—Where a person voluntarily gives an unlawful vote, the unlawful purpose prima facie attaches to the act, and the opinions of others who believed the vote lawful, does not amount to a justification or excuse. State v. Hart, 51 N. C. 389.

When a man is indicted, under the statute, for "knowingly and fraudulently voting at an election," when he is not qualified to vote, he cannot justify himself by showing that he was advised by a very respectable gentleman that he had a right to vote; for the maxim, that "ignorance of the law excuses no man," applies as strongly to this case as to any other. State v. Boyett, 32 N. C. 336.

That Election Was Irregular No Defense.—One, who votes illegally at an election cannot defend himself against an indictment, upon the ground that the election was conducted irregularly. State v. Cohoon, 34 N. C. 178.

§ 4193. Willful failure of returning officer to discharge duty.—If any chairman of the county board of elections, or other returning officer whatever, shall willfully, or of malice, neglect to perform any duty, act, matter or thing required or directed in the time, manner and form in which such duty, act, matter or thing is required to be performed in relation to the election, and returns thereof, of the governor, representatives in congress, justices of the supreme court, judges of the superior court, solicitors, electors for president and vice president of the United States or other officers, the person so offending shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be fined not less than one thousand dollars nor more than five thousand dollars, and be imprisoned not less than one nor more than three years. (Rev., s. 3391; 1901, c. 89, s. 47.)

See § 6055(a 52) subsection (13).

§ 4194. Willful failure of registration officer to discharge duty.—If any officer charged with any duty under the permanent registration law willfully fails and neglects to perform the same, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall forfeit his office and be fined not more than one thousand dollars or imprisoned not more than five years. (Rev., s. 3393; 1901, c. 550, s. 11.)

See § 6055(a 52).

§ 4195. Making false returns or tampering with poll books.—If any person shall make, certify, deliver or transmit a false return of an election held in this state, or make any erasure or alteration in the poll books, he shall be guilty of a felony and shall be imprisoned in the state's prison not less than one year, and shall, in addition, forfeit and pay five hundred dollars, one-half to the use of the person who shall sue for the same and the other half to the use of the state. (Rev., s. 3397; 1901, c. 89, s. 83.)

See § 6055(a53) and note thereto.

§ 4196. Refusing to furnish copy of election returns.—If any register of deeds or clerk of the superior court shall refuse to make and give to any person a duly certified copy of the returns of any election, or of a tabulated statement of any election, the returns of which are by law deposited in his office, upon the tender of the fees therefor, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be dismissed from office and imprisoned for one year. (Rev., s. 3398; 1901, c. 89, s. 83.)

See § 6055(a 52) subsection (14).

§ 4197. Failing to furnish poll-tax list.—If any sheriff or tax collector shall fail, between the first day of May and the tenth day of May of any year in which a general election occurs to certify to the clerk of the superior court of his county a list of all persons who have paid their poll tax for the previous year, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3400; 1901, c. 89, s. 13.)

§ 4199. Using funds of insurance companies for political purposes.—No insurance company or association, including fraternal beneficiary associations, doing business in this state shall, directly or indirectly, pay or use, or offer, consent or agree to pay or use, any money or property for or in aid of any political party, committee or organization, or for or in aid of any corporation, joint-stock company, or other association organized or maintained for political purposes, or for or in aid of any candidate for political office or for nomination for such office, or for any political purpose whatsoever, or for the reimbursement or indemnification of any person for money or property so used. Any officer, director, stockholder, attorney or agent of any corporation or association which violates any of the provisions of this section, who participates in, aids, abets, advises or consents to any such violation, and any person who solicits or knowingly receives any money or property in violation of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year and a fine of not more than one thousand dollars. Any officer aiding or abetting in any contribution made in violation of this section shall be liable to the company or association for the amount so contributed. The insurance commissioner may revoke the license of any company violating this section. No person shall be excused from attending and testifying, or producing any books, papers or other documents before any court or magistrate, upon any investigation, proceeding or trial for a violation of any of the provisions of this section, upon the ground or for the reason that the testimony or evidence, documentary or otherwise, required of him may tend to incriminate or degrade him; but no person shall be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter or thing concerning which he may so testify or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, and no testimony so given or produced shall be used against him upon criminal investigation or proceeding. (1907, c. 121.)

See § 6055(a 52) and note thereto.

§ 4199(a). Assault on election officer a felony; punishment.—Any person who assaults any registrar, judge, or other election officer, while in discharge of his duties, in any general, special, or primary election in the state, shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison or be worked on the county roads for a period of not less than four months nor more than ten years. (1921, c. 176, s. 1.)

See § 6055(a 53) and note thereto.

§ 4199(b). Intimidation of election officers a misdemeanor; punishment.—If any person shall by threats, menaces, or in any other manner intimidate or attempt to intimidate any registrar, judge, or other election officer in the state in the discharge of the duties of his office, in any general, special, or primary election in the state, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (1921, c. 176, s. 2.)

See § 6055(a 53) and note thereto.

Murder in the first and second degree defined; punishment.—A murder which shall be perpetrated by means of poison, lying in wait, imprisonment, starving, torture, or by any other kind of willful, deliberate and premeditated killing, or which shall be committed in the perpetration or attempt to perpetrate any arson, rape, robbery, burglary or other felony, shall be deemed to be murder in the first degree and shall be punished with death. All other kinds of murder shall be deemed murder in the second degree and shall be punished with imprisonment of not less than two nor more than thirty years in the state prison. I. EDITOR'S NOTE.

"Homicide," in its largest sense is generic, embracing every mode by which the life of one person is taken by another. Generally speaking, therefrom, homicide is the taking of human life, which may or may not be criminal. It is only those homicides which are committed in the manner described by the laws prescribing punishment therefor that are criminal.

Criminal homicide is the unlawful killing of a human being, and is classified as murder and manslaughter, and by statute, in most of the states as in North Carolina, murder is divided into two or more degrees.

The statutes where murder is divided into two degrees, have not, as a general thing, added to or taken away any ingredients of murder at common law, and every murder at common law is murder under the statutes. I Michie on Homicide 68.

II. MURDER IN GENERAL.

Effect of Section Dividing Murder into Degrees. — This section, dividing murder into two degrees, does not give any new definition of murder, but the same remains as it was at common law before the enactment. State v. Delton, 178 N. C. 779, 101 S. E. 548.

Principal May Be Prosecuted under This Section and Accessory under § 4176.—Section 4176 prescribing imprisonment for life upon a conviction as an accessory before the fact to the crime of murder was in force at the time this section was enacted and the principal may therefore be convicted and punished under this section for murder in the second degree, while the accessory before the fact receives life under § 4176. State v. Mozingo, 207 N. C. 247, 250, 176 S. E. 582.

Malice—Definition.—Malice is that condition of mind which prompts a person to take the life of another intentionally without just cause, excuse or justification. State v. Benson, 183 N. C. 795, 111 S. E. 869.

Same—Necessity.—Malice is always a necessary ingredient of murder. State v. Baldwin, 152 N. C. 822, 68 S. E. 148.

Same—Express.—But it is not necessary to a conviction for murder that the state prove express malice. State v. McDowell, 145 N. C. 563, 59 S. E. 690.

Same—Implied.—For this intentional killing of a human being with a deadly weapon implies malice. State v. Pasour, 183 N. C. 793, 111 S. E. 779; State v. Brinkley, 183 N. C. 720, 110 S. E. 783; State v. McDowell, 145 N. C. 563, 59 S. E. 690.

Same—Presumption.—At common law, the intentional killing of a human being with a deadly weapon, nothing more appearing, was murder, malice being presumed from the facts. State v. Rhyne, 124 N. C. 847, 33 S. E. 128. The common law rule has been followed and it is now also presumed that a killing with a deadly weapon is unlawful and malicious. State v. Benson, 183 N. C. 795, 111 S. E. 869; State v. Walker, 193 N. C. 489, 137 S. E. 429.

As where accused previously procures a weapon for the purpose of using it, and does so use it, the offense is ordinarily murder. State v. Johnson, 172 N. C. 920, 90 S. E. 426.

Provocation never disproves malice; it only removes the presumption of malice, which the law raises without proof. A malicious killing is murder, however gross the provocation. State v. Johnson, 23 N. C. 354.

Motive—Necessity.—It is not necessary to a conviction of murder that the state prove motive. State v. Adams, 136 N. C. 617, 48 S. E. 589; State v. McDowell, 145 N. C. 563, 59 S. E. 690.

Same—To Strengthen State's Case.—But the case of the state may be strengthened by the showing of a motive when the evidence is circumstantial. State v. Stratford, 149 N. C. 483, 62 S. E. 882; State v. Turner, 143 N. C. 641, 57 S. E. 158.

Same—To Identify Prisoner or Establish Malice.—And it may be shown to identify the prisoner as the perpetrator of the crime, and to establish malice, deliberation, and premeditation. State v. Wilkins, 158 N. C. 603, 73 S. E. 992; State v. Adams, 138 N. C. 688, 50 S. E. 765.

Intent—Necessity.—Before a conviction for murder can be had, an unlawful and intentional taking of another's life must be shown, and though sometimes this may be imputed by reason of the killing with a deadly weapon, or under circumstances which indicate a reckless indifference to human life, it must always exist before a charge of murder can be sustained. State v. Stitt, 146 N. C. 643, 61 S. E. 566.

Same—Must Co-exist with Killing.—"The act of killing, and the guilty intent, must concur to constitute the offense." State v. Scates, 50 N. C. 420, 423.

Attempt to Kill.—"An attempt only, to kill, with the most diabolical intent, may be moral, but can not be legal, murder." State v. Scates, 50 N. C. 420, 423.

Cited in State v. Evans, 198 N. C. 82, 150 S. E. 678; State v. Macon, 198 N. C. 483, 152 S. E. 407; State v. Beard, 207 N. C. 673, 678, 178 S. E. 242; State v. Cooper, 205 N. C. 657, 658, 172 S. E. 199.

III. MURDER IN THE FIRST DEGREE.

Effect of Statute Dividing Murder into Degrees.—By the act of 1893, chapter 85 (this section), the crime of murder has been divided into two degrees, first and second. The common law definition and description are still applicable to the crime in the second degree; but it takes more than this to constitute murder in the first degree—the killing must be wilful, deliberate and premeditated, and this must be shown by the State beyond a reasonable doubt before it is justified in asking a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. State v. Rhyne, 124 N. C. 847, 33 S. E. 128.

Deliberation and Premeditation—Premeditation.—Premeditation means "thought of beforehand," for some length of time, however short. State v. Benson, 183 N. C. 795, 111 S. E. 869. It is a prior determination to do the act. State v. Cameron, 166 N. C. 379, 81 S. E. 748.

Same—Deliberation. — Deliberation means a preconceived intent to kill, executed in cold blood, in furtherance of a fixed design to gratify a feeling of revenge or to accomplish some unlawful purpose, and not under the influence of a violent passion suddenly aroused by some lawful or just cause or legal provocation. State v. Benson, 183 N. C. 795, 111 S. E. 869.

Same—Necessity.—And before a conviction for murder in the first degree can be had, the state must show that the prisoner had formed, prior to the killing, with deliberations and premeditations, a purpose to kill deceased. State v. Terry, 173 N. C. 761, 92 S. E. 154; State v. Benson, 183 N. C. 795, 111 S. E. 869. See also 5 N. C. Law Rev. 364.

Same—Length of Time Immaterial.—The killing of a human being after the fixed purpose to do so has been formed, for however short a time, is sufficient for the conviction of murder in the first degree. State v. Walker, 173 N. C. 780, 92 S. E. 327. For, no particular period of time is necessary to premeditations and deliberations for a conviction of murder in the first degree under this section. If the purpose to kill at all events has been deliberately formed, the interval which elapses before its execution is immaterial. State v. Holdsclaw, 180 N. C. 731, 105 S. E. 181; State v. Cogey, 174 N. C. 814, 94 S. E. 416. And deliberation and premeditations need not be of any perceptible time. State v. Bynum, 175 N. C. 777, 95 S. E. 101.

Same—Sufficiency. — Weighing the purpose to kill long enough to form a fixed design, and the putting of such design into execution at a future period, no matter how long deferred, constitutes premeditation and deliberation sufficient to sustain a conviction of murder in the first degree. State v. Dowden, 118 N. C. 1145. 24 S. E. 722.

Same—Willful.—For a conviction of murder in the first degree the killing must be done with willful premeditations and determinations. State v. McKay, 150 N. C. 813, 63 S. E. 1059; State v. Baldwin, 152 N. C. 822, 68 S. E. 148. And an act is done willfully where it is done intentionally, purposely, and deliberately, in violation at law. State v. Stackhouse, 152 N. C. 808, 67 S. E. 764.

Malice.—For a conviction of murder in the first degree the killing must be done with malice aforethought, express or implied. State v. McKay, 150 N. C. 813, 68 S. E. 1059.

Formed Design to Take Life.—If the circumstances of the killing show a formed design to take life of deceased, the crime is murder in the first degree. State v. Walker, 173 N. C. 780, 92 S. E. 327; State v. Cain, 178 N. C. 724, 100 S. E. 884.

Lying in Wait.—Defendants who lay in wait and killed deceased from ambush are guilty of murder in first degree. State v. Wiggins, 171 N. C. 813, 89 S. E. 58. See also State v. Satterfield, 207 N. C. 118, 176 S. E. 466; State v. Mozingo, 207 N. C. 247, 176 S. E. 582.

Killing in Perpetration of Robbery.—A homicide committed in the perpetration of, or in attempt to perpetrate, a robbery will be deemed murder in the first degree. State v. Lane, 166 N. C. 333, 81 S. E. 620. See also State v. Glover, 208 N. C. 68, 179 S. E. 6.

Where all the evidence for the State tends to show that the defendants killed the deceased while attempting to rob him, the crime is murder in the first degree, under this section, and the failure of the trial court to submit the issue of guilty of murder in the second degree is not error. State v. Donnell, 202 N. C. 782, 164 S. E. 352.

Where upon a trial for murder all the evidence and inferences therefrom unquestionably tend to show that the deceased was killed by one lying in wait and for the purpose of robbery, with evidence tending to establish that the defendant had perpetrated the crime, and there is no evidence in mitigation of the offense, the evidence establishes the crime of murder in the first degree under this section, and an instruction to the jury either to convict the defendant of murder in the first degree, or to aquit him is not error. State v. Myers, 202 N. C. 351, 162 S. E. 764.

Evidence tending to show that defendant killed the deceased with a deadly weapon while attempting to perpetrate a robbery is sufficient to be submitted to the jury on the issue of first degree murder, the credibility and probative force of the evidence being for the jury. State v. Langley, 204 N. C. 687.

Evidence tending to show that the prisoner with another entered a store with intent to rob its cash drawer, and shot and killed the deceased is of an attempt to commit a felony and sufficient to sustain a verdict of murder in the first degree, as defined by this section, under proper instructions from the court thereon upon conflicting evidence. State v. Sterling, 200 N. C. 18, 19, 156 S. E. 96.

All Conspirators Are Guilty Regardless of Who Actually Committed Crime.—Where a conspiracy is formed to rob a bank, and murder is committed by one of the conspirators in the attempt to perpetrate the crime, each conspirator is guilty of murder in the first degree, under this section, and it is immaterial which one of them fired the fatal shot. State v. Green, 207 N. C. 369, 177 S. E. 120.

Thus, where defendants conspire to rob a certain place, and a murder is committed by one or more of them in the attempt to perpetrate the robbery, each of them is guilty of murder in the first degree. State v. Stefanoff, 206 N. C. 443, 174 S. E. 411.

Each party to a conspiracy to burglarize or rob a home is guilty of murder in the first degree if any one of the conspirators commits murder in an attempt to perpetrate the burglary or robbery. State v. Bell, 205 N. C. 225, 171 S. E. 50.

IV. MURDER IN THE SECOND DEGREE.

Definition.—Murder in the second degree is the unlawful killing of a human being with malice, but without elements of premeditation and deliberation. State v. Benson, 183 N. C. 795, 111 S. E. 869.

Effect of Statute Dividing Murder into Degrees.—At common law, when the intentional killing by a deadly weapon was shown, the law presumed malice aforethought, and the burden of reducing the offense to a lower grade by proof of matters of mitigation or excuse, devolved upon the prisoner. The statute dividing murder into two degrees (under this section) contains no reference to this rule, but the Supreme Court of N. C. in State v. Fuller, 114 N. C. 885, 19 S. E. 797, held that one result of the division of murder into two degrees was that proof of intentional killing with a deadly instrument raised a presumption only of murder in the second degree, and the burden was on the State to aggravate the offense to murder in the first degree, as it was on the prisoner, to reduce it. But this applies only to cases of homicide in which premeditation must be shown and not when the homicide is shown or admitted to have been committed by lying in wait, poisoning, starvation, imprisonment or torture. As to these, when intentionally done the law still raised the presumption of murder in the first degree, as the prisoner justly contends. But none the less if the jury convict of a less offense, it is within their power so to do under the statute. Nor is intentional homicide by poisoning necessarily always murder in the first degree. The presumption may be rebutted. State v. Matthews, 142 N. C. 621, 625, 55 S. E. 342.

Same—Presumption.—Since the Act of 1893, the killing being proved, and nothing else appearing, the law presumes malice, but not premeditation and deliberation, and the killing is murder in the second degree. State v. Hicks, 125 N. C. 636, 34 S. E. 247.

The presumptions from the use of a deadly weapon in committing a homicide are that the killing was unlawful and that it was done with malice, which constitutes murder in the second degree, and in order for such homicide to constitute murder in the first degree the State must show beyond a reasonable doubt that it was done with premeditation and deliberation. State v. Miller, 197 N. C. 445, 446, 149 S. E. 590.

Intent Formed Simultaneous with Act of Killing.—Where this intent to kill is formed simultaneously with the act of killing, the homicide is not murder in the first degree. State v. Dowden, 118 N. C. 1145, 24 S. E. 722; State v. Barrett, 142 N. C. 565, 54 S. E. 856.

V. PLEADING AND PRACTICE.

Dig. 331 et seq.; as to admissibility in evidence of the intoxication of prisoner, see 5 N. C. Law Rev. 364; as to trial, see 7 Enc. Dig. 249 et seq.; 14 Enc. Dig. 346 et seq.; as to instructions, see 7 Enc. Dig. 257 et seq.; 14 Enc. Dig. 349 et seq.; as to verdict, see 7 Enc. Dig. 274 et seq.; 14 Enc. Dig. 354; as to sentence and punishment, see generally, 7 Enc. Dig. 280, 281; 14 Enc. Dig. 358.

Form of Indictment.—Nothing contained in the act of 1893 requires any alteration or modification of the existing form of indictment for murder therefore it is not necessary that an indictment for murder committed in the attempt to perpetrate larceny should contain a specific allegation of the attempted larceny, such allegation not having been necessary in indictments prior to the said act of 1893. State v. Covington, 117 N. C. 834, 23 S. E. 337.

Evidence of Killing in Perpetration of Robbery.—Evidence tending to show that the prisoner killed the deceased in the perpetration or attempt to perpetrate a robbery, is expressly made competent by this section, and may be considered by the jury in determining the degree of crime, and whether the accused committed the highest felony or one of lower degree. State v. Westmoreland, 181 N. C. 590, 107 S. E. 438.

Evidence of Facts Succeeding Homicide. — Testimony of facts and circumstances which occurred after the commission of a homicide which tends to show a preconceived plan formed and carried out by the prisoner in detail, resulting in his actual killing of the deceased by two pistol shots, without excuse, with evidence that he had thereafter stated he had done as he had intended, is competent upon the question of deliberation and premeditation, under the evidence in this case, to sustain a verdict of murder in the first degree. State v. Westmoreland, 181 N. C. 590, 107 S. E. 438.

Determination of Degree of Murder.—Under this section, distinguishing murder into two degrees, the jury, on conviction, must determine in their verdict whether the crime is murder in the first or second degree. State v. Truesdale, 123

N. C. 696, 34 S. E. 646; State v. Gadberry, 117 N. C. 811, 23 S. E. 477.

Charge—Willful Premeditation and Deliberation.—The law is fixed by the statute, that the killing must be willful, upon premeditation and with deliberation, and where there is no evidence tending to prove this, the jury should be so instructed, and the question of guilt on the charge of murder in the first degree ought not to be submitted to them. State v. Rhyne, 124 N. C. 847, 33 S. E. 128.

Same—Burden of Proof of Unlawful Killing.—Where the prisoner is on trial for murder in the first degree, burglary and rape, and there is evidence to support a verdict for each of these offenses, an instruction is proper, and in keeping with the language of this section, when construed as a whole, that the burden of proof was on the State to show beyond a reasonable doubt an unlawful killing with malice and with premeditation and deliberation, or murder committed in the perpetration, or attempt to perpetrate, other felonies named. State v. Walker, 193 N. C. 489, 137 S. E. 429.

Sufficient Showing of Provocation So as to Reduce the Crime.—A defendant who has intentionally killed another with a deadly weapon to rebut the presumption arising from such showing or admission, must establish to the satisfaction of the jury the legal provocation which will take from the crime the element of malice and thus reduce it to manslaughter, or excuse it altogether but if there is no evidence of mitigation or provocation sufficient to reduce the offense to manslaughter it is proper to withhold this issue from the jury's consideration. State v. Keaton, 206 N. C. 682, 686, 175 S. E. 296.

Instruction.—See note under § 4642.

Evidence Sufficient to Support Instruction as to Murder in First Degree.—Evidence that defendant, while in the custody of officers of the law who had arrested him when they apprehended him in the commission of a robbery, drew his pistol in an attempt to escape, and with premeditation and deliberation shot one of the officers in his attempt to escape, is sufficient to support an instruction to the jury on the question of murder in the first degree. State v. Brooks, 206 N. C. 113, 172 S. E. 879.

Sufficiency of Evidence for Submission to Jury.—Evidence tending to show that the defendant on trial for a homicide drove to a filling station at night with two others for the purpose of robbery, that defendant waited outside in the car while his companions went into the filling station and that deceased was killed by a shot from a gun fired from the outside, is sufficient to be submitted to the jury on the question of defendant's guilt of murder in the first degree as stated in this section. State v. Ferrell, 205 N. C. 640, 172 S. E. 186.

Verdict.—For a conviction of murder in the first degree under this section and section 4642, the jury must find specifically under the evidence that this degree of crime has been committed by the defendant, and the verdict must be received in open court in the presence of the presiding judge under Constitutional Mandate, Const., Art. I, sects. 13, 17, which right may not be waived. State v. Bazemore, 193 N. C. 336, 137 S. E. 172.

§ 4201. Punishment for manslaughter.—If any person shall commit the crime of manslaughter he shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail or state prison for not less than four months nor more than twenty years: Provided, however, that in cases of involuntary manslaughter, the punishment shall be in the discretion of the court, and the defendant may be fined or imprisoned, or both. (Rev., s. 3632; Code, s. 1055; 1879, c. 255; R. C., c. 34, s. 24; Hen. VII, c. 13; 1816, c. 918; 1933, c. 249.)

Cross References.—For an extensive treatment of "Manslaughter," see 7 Enc. Dig. 164 et seq.; 14 Enc. Dig. 323 et seq. For a general treatment of sentence and punishment, see 7 Enc. Dig. 280, 281.

Editor's Note.—Public Laws of 1933, c. 249, added the proviso at the end of this section, relating to involuntary manslaughter.

As to Less Degrees of Same Crime.—While under the provisions of section 4640, the trial judge is required to charge upon evidence on the less degrees of the same crime concerning which the prisoner was being tried, it is not required that he charge upon the principles of an assault with a deadly weapon, where the prisoner is charged with murder, and the killing of the deceased by him has been admitted, and the judge has correctly charged upon the crime of manslaughter, the lowest degree of an unlawful killing of a human being. State v. Lutterloh, 188 N. C. 412, 124 S. E. 752.

Construing chapter 80, section 6, Laws 1907, with this section to ascertain the legislative intent, upon consideration of the inherent nature of the subject-matter with the mischief and the proposed remedy, it is Held, that the later act was not intended to take away the discretion of the trial judge, upon conviction of manslaughter, to sentence the prisoner to a three-year term in the State's prison, and to wear a felon's stripes, when in his opinion a sentence to the roads will result in the prisoner's escape. State v. Killian, 173 N. C. 792, 92 S. E. 499.

Punishment Not Reviewable on Appeal.—The question of the imposition of a sentence on the prisoner convicted of manslaughter within the maximum and minimum allowed by this section, is within the discretion of the trial court and is not reviewable on appeal. State v. Fleming, 202 N. C. 512, 163 S. E. 453.

§ 4202. Punishment for second offense of manslaughter.—If any person, having been convicted of the crime of manslaughter and sentenced thereon, shall be convicted of a second crime of the like nature, he shall be imprisoned in the state prison not less than five nor more than sixty years; and in every such case of conviction for such second offense, the prior conviction of the same person and sentence thereon may be shown to the court. (Rev., s. 3633; Code, s. 1056; R. C., c. 34, s. 25.)

§ 4203. Killing adversary in duel; aiders and abettors declared accessories.—If any persons fight a duel in consequence of a challenge sent or received, and either of the parties shall be killed, then the survivor, on conviction thereof, shall suffer death; and all their aiders or abettors shall be considered accessories before the fact. (Rev., s. 3629; Code, s. 1013; R. C., c. 34, s. 3; 1802, c. 608, s. 2.)

As to punishment for sending, accepting or bearing a challenge to fight a duel or aiding and abetting a duel, see section 4411.

Definition. — Webster's International Dictionary defines "duel" to be a combat between two persons, fought with deadly weapons by agreement. State v. Fritz, 133 N. C. 725, 727, 45 S. E. 957.

Offense at Common Law.—Dueling was an offence at common law, 4 Bl. Com., 145; State v. Fritz, 133 N. C. 725, 727, 45 S. E. 957.

Deadly Weapons.—In 2 Bishop New Criminal Law, § 313(2), it is doubted whether the use of deadly weapons is essential to a duel, but the fighting must at least be upon such mutual agreement as permits one combatant to take the life of the other. State v. Fritz, 133 N. C. 725, 727, 45 S. E. 957.

When Offense Complete.—Both at common law and under our statute the offense is complete, although no casualty results. State v. Fritz, 133 N. C. 725, 727, 45 S. E. 957.

Challenge to Fight with Fists and Hands.—Challenge to fight a fair fight with fist and hands, without the use of any deadly weapons, is not dueling within the statute. State v. Fritz, 133 N. C. 725, 45 S. E. 957.

Challenge to Fight Out of State.—Challenge to fight duel out of state is indictable under this section. State v. Farrier, 8 N. C. 487.

Indictments.—An indictment for sending a challenge, in the form of a letter, to fight a duel, need not set out the words of the letter, nor the substance thereof. State v. Farrier, 8 N. C. 487.

Punishment.—Where a person is convicted in the Superior Court for violation of the provisions of this section of which a justice of the peace has jurisdictions, the punishment cannot exceed that which a justice of the peace could impose. State v. Fritz, 133 N. C. 725, 45 S. E. 957.

Art. 8. Rape and Kindred Offenses

§ 4204. Punishment for rape.—Every person who is convicted of ravishing and carnally knowing any female of the age of twelve years or more by force and against her will, or who is convicted of unlawfully and carnally knowing and abusing any female child under the age of twelve years, shall suffer death. (Rev., s. 3637; Code, s. 1101; R. C., c. 34, s. 5; 18 Eliz., c. 7; 1868-9, c. 167, s. 2; 1917, c. 29.)

Cross Reference.—For full treatment of this subject see 10 Enc. Dig. 808 et seq.; 15 Enc. Dig. 314 et seq.

Editor's Note.—At common law rape was a felony, but the offense was afterwards changed to a misdemeanor before the statute of Westminster 1. By that statute the punishment, which then was castration and loss of eyes, was mitigated. State v. Dick, 6 N. C. 388. But by the statute of Westminster 2, the offense was again changed to a felony, and hence its present existence as a felony is in virtue of that statute. State v. Dick, 6 N. C. 388; State v. Jesse, 20 N. C. 95, 102.

Rape, under these and later statutes, was the "carnal knowledge of a female forcibly and against her will." State v. Johnston, 76 N. C. 209, 210. This definition left out the elements of age altogether. But as the instances of children below the age of discretion being enticed to yield without knowledge of the act and its consequences multiplied, it became necessary to fix an age under which it should be presumed, not that the act could not be consummated, but that consent could not be given. And so it came to be provided that the consummation of the act upon a female under ten years of age, with or without her consent, should be the same as if consummated upon a female over ten years of age without her consent or against her will. And the object of 18 Eliz., conclusively presuming lack of consent of a female under ten years of age, was not to create a new offense distinct from rape, but it was to make such carnal knowledge and abuse rape. The reason why the act does not call it rape in so many words is because of the seeming incongruity of calling an act rape when it is by consent, whereas the established meaning of rape is "against her will." State v. Johnston, 76 N. C. 209, 210. So that now the definition of rape of a female over ten years of age is as it always has been, "carnal knowledge against her will." But since 18 Eliz. and under our statute rape of a female under ten years of age is simply carnal knowledge; or in other words, carnal knowledge of a female under ten years of age is rape. State v. Johnston, 76 N. C. 209, 211.

By Public Laws 1917, chap. 29, the age of consent, below which it is conclusively presumed that a female child could not consent to sexual intercourse, was raised from ten to twelve years.

For a comprehensive treatment of the subject, including many points such as the indictment, the evidence, etc., which could not be considered constructious of this section, the searcher is referred to the digest citations above given.

"The 'abusing' construed with the 'carnally knowing' means the imposing upon, deflowering, degrading, ill-treating, debauching and ruining socially, as well as morally, perhaps, of the virgin of such tender years, who, when yielding willingly, does so in ignorance of the consequences and of her right and power to resist. If the act be committed forcibly and against her will, it would be rape without reference to the statute." State v. Monds, 130 N. C. 697, 700, 41 S. E. 789.

" 'Injury' of her genital organs might have occurred from the effort to penetrate, or in some other way; but the statute does not declare it to be an element of the crime to injure or abuse the organs." State v. Monds, 130 N. C. 697, 700, 41 S. E. 789.

Same—Not Endeavoring to Penetrate.—"To have injured the organs in some way other than by endeavoring to penetrate with his person, if done with her consent, though it would be abusing her, would not be a crime, because there was no act of carnal knowledge." State v. Monds, 130 N. C. 697, 700, 41 S. E. 789.

Same—Against Her Will.—"But if the injury occurred against her will and intentionally, then it, the injury, would be embraced in the assault charged, for which he could be convicted." State v. Monds, 130 N. C. 697, 700, 41 S. E. 789.

Presumption of Force.—Under this section, force is conclusively presumed in the case of carnal knowledge of a female under the age of ten (now twelve). State v. Dancy, 83 N. C. 608, 609.

Age of Consent.—It is a settled construction of the latter clause of this section that to carnally know and abuse any child under ten (now twelve) years of age, whether she consents to such carnal knowledge or not, is rape. State v. Goldston, 103 N. C. 323, 324, 9 S. E. 580; State v. Storkey, 63 N. C. 7, 8.

But it in no way affects the guilt of one who carnally knows a female above that age against her will. State v. Storkey, 63 N. C. 7, 8.

Penetration without Emission of Seed Sufficient.—In rape the least penetration of the person is sufficient, and the emission of seed is unnecessary. State v. Monds, 130 N. C. 697, 41 S. E. 789.

Before the passage of the Act of 1860-'61, Chp. 30 (now section 4206), it was decided in State v. Gray, 53 N. C. 170, that in an indictment under this section, for carnally knowing and abusing an infant female under the age of ten (now twelve) years, there must be proof of the emission of seed, as well as of penetration, in order to convict the offender. Immediately after that decision, and probably in consequence of it, the act of 1860-'61, Chp. 30 was passed, providing that it shall not be necessary to prove the actual emission of seed in order to constitute a carnal knowledge, but that the carnal knowledge shall be deemed complete upon the proof of penetration only. State v. Hodges, 61 N. C. 231, 232.

Offense Complete on Proof of Penetration.—"It shall not be necessary upon the trial of any indictment for the offense of rape, carnally knowing and abusing any female child under 10 (now 12) years of age, ... to prove the actual emission of seed in order to constitute the offense, but the offense shall be completed upon proof of penetration only." State v. Monds, 130 N. C. 697, 699, 41 S. E. 789.

Upon Whom Rape May Be Committed.—For a conviction of rape under this section it is not always essential that this offense be committed upon a virtuous woman or actual physical force be used. The circumstances of this case may do away with the necessity of all the elements of the crime and yet constitute rape, as in the following cases.—Ed. Note.

Same—Common Strumpet.—One may be guilty of rape on a common strumpet or a woman shown to have been his mistress previously. State v. Long, 93 N. C. 542, 544.

Capacity of Infant to Commit Rape.—An infant under the age of 14 can not commit the crime of rape or assault with intent to commit rape. State v. Pugh, 52 N. C. 61, 63; State v. Gray, 53 N. C. 170, 173; State v. Sam, 60 N. C. 293, 295.

Who May Be Guilty of Rape.—The word, "person", in this section, includes slaves, free negroes and free persons of color, as well as white men. State v. Peter, 53 N. C. 19.

Same—Two or More Persons.—Two or more persons may be guilty of the single crime of rape by being present, aiding and abetting in its commission. State v. Jordan, 110 N. C. 491, 14 S. E. 752.

Same—Aiding and Abetting.—One holding the husband of prosecutrix while another is perpetrating the crime of rape is guilty as principal in the offense. State v. Jordan, 110 N. C. 491, 14 S. E. 752.

Same—Female Aiding Man to Commit Crime.—A man and a woman are both guilty of abusing and carnally knowing a female child where both caused the child to become drunk and the man had intercourse with the child while being held by the woman. State v. Hairston, 121 N. C. 579, 28 S. E. 492.

Necessary Allegations—Intent.—By this section, rape is the ravishing and carnally knowing any female of the age of twelve or older by force and against her will, and for conviction of a burglarious entry into a dwelling, presently occupied by a female as a sleeping apartment, with intent to commit rape upon her person, it is necessary to charge in the indictment, and support it with evidence, that at the time of the entry into the dwelling the prisoner had this specific intent, whether he accomplished his purpose, notwithstanding any resistance on her part, or not. State v. Allen, 186 N. C. 302, 119 S. E. 504.

§ 4205. Punishment for assault with intent to commit rape.—Every person convicted of an assault with intent to commit rape upon the body of any female shall be imprisoned in the state's prison not less than one nor more than fifteen years. (Rev, s. 3638; Code, s. 1102; 1868-9, c. 167, s. 3; R. C., c. 107, s. 44; 1823, c. 1229; 1917, c. 162, s. 1.)

Cross References.—For a general treatment of offenses under this section and the offender's responsibility therefor, see 10 Enc. Dig. 814 et seq.; 15 Enc. Dig. 341; as to indictments and informations under this section, see 10 Enc. Dig. 817 et seq.; as to sufficiency of evidence, see 10 Enc. Dig. 824 et seq.; 15 Enc. Dig. 342; as to instructions bearing upon the elements of assault with intent to commit rape, see 10 Enc. Dig. 831.

Editor's Note.—The offense of "assault with intent to commit rape" is a separate and distinct crime in and by itself and is not an "attempt to commit rape," as it is, sometimes, falsely designated. The attempt to commit rape is embraced by the offense of "an assault with intent to commit rape," and one could not be indicted for an attempt to commit rape, where the attempted crime is in its very nature an attempt. There is thereupon no such criminal offense as "an attempt to commit rape." See State v. Hewett, 158 N. C. 627, 629, 74 S. E. 356.

In General.—This section should be construed as if it read as follows: if any person shall attempt to commit rape specified in the preceding section, that is to say, to carnally know a female over ten (now twelve) years of age against her will, or to carnally know and abuse a female under ten (now twelve) years of age, with or against her will, he shall be punished, etc. State v. Johnston, 76 N. C. 209, 211.

Age of Female.—This section in the act of 1868 followed immediately after the second section (4204) of that act, and had direct reference to it, and was intended to include assaults upon females, whether of the age of ten years or more. It uses the words "any female," which embrace females of all ages. State v. Dancy, 83 N. C. 608, 610.

Who May Be Guilty of Offense.—At common law, rape was a felony, and all persons who were present, aiding and abetting a man to commit the offense, whether men or women, were principal offenders and might be indicted as such. In this regard the law is not different to-day, so that a woman as well as a man can be found guilty as a principal in the offense. See State v. Jones, 83 N. C. 605, 606.

Same—Husband upon Wife.—A husband who, by threats to kill in event of refusal, compels his wife to submit to, and a man to attempt, sexual connection, is guilty of an assault with intent to commit a rape upon his wife. State v. Dowell, 106 N. C. 722, 11 S. E. 525.

Same—Females.—A female who aids and abets a male assailant in an attempt to commit a rape becomes thereby a principal in the offense. State v. Jones, 83 N. C. 605.

Same—Infant under 14.—An infant under the age of 14 years connot be guilty of an assault with intent to commit rape. State v. Sam, 60 N. C. 293.

Withdrawal of Consent before Perpetration of Offense.—If the prosecutrix consented to have connection with the prisoner upon certain terms, which the defendant refused, and attempted by force to carnally know her without her consent, he is guilty of rape if he succeeds, and of an assault with intent to commit rape, if he does not succeed. State v. Long, 93 N. C. 542.

Effect of Subsequent Consent.—It seems that this offense is complete, if the defendant attempts to force the prosecutrix against her will, although she afterwards consents. State v. Long, 93 N. C. 542.

Punishment.—Unlawfully to carnally know and abuse a female under the age of ten years (now twelve) constitutes a crime of rape: Therefore, one convicted of an assault with intent to commit such offense is liable to the punishment prescribed in this section. State v. Dancy, 83 N. C. 608.

§ 4206. Emission not necessary to constitute rape and buggery.—It shall not be necessary upon the trial of any indictment for the offenses of rape, carnally knowing and abusing any female child under twelve years old, and buggery, to prove the actual emission of seed in order to constitute the offense, but the offense shall be completed upon proof of penetration only. (Rev., s. 3639; Code, s. 1105; 1860-1, c. 30; 1917, c. 29.)

Editor's Note.—The Editor has deemed it expedient to treat the substance of the provisions of this section in connection with those of section 4204. For a treatment of the origin and effect of this section, reference is therefore made to section 4204.

§ 4207. Obtaining carnal knowledge of married woman by personating husband.—If any person shall have carnal knowledge of any married woman by fraud in personating her husband, he shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state's prison at hard labor for not less than ten nor more than twenty years. (Rev., s. 3624; Code, s. 1103; 1881, c. 89, s. 1.)

Misrepresentation by Words or Conduct Sufficient.—A person who, either by his acts or by his conduct, induces a woman to believe he is her husband and has intercourse with her, is guilty of a felony under this section. State v. Williams, 128 N. C. 573, 37 S. E. 952.

Offense Does Not Constitute Rape.—An intercourse, obtained with such fraud, is not rape, for lack of force, except in those cases where the prisoner has been instrumental in disabling the prosecutrix to make resistence. State v. Brooks, 76 N. C. 1, 3.

§ 4208. Attempted carnal knowledge of married woman by personating husband.—Every person convicted of an assault upon any married woman, with intent to have knowledge of her by fraud in personating her husband, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state's prison at hard labor for not less than five nor more than fifteen years. (Rev., s. 365; Code, s. 1104; 1881, c. 89, s. 2.)

Violation of this section is not tantamount to assault with intent to commit rape. State v. Brooks, 76 N. C. 1.

§ 4209. Obtaining carnal knowledge of virtuous girls between twelve and sixteen years old.—If any male person shall carnally know or abuse any female child, over twelve and under sixteen years of age, who has never before had sexual intercourse with any person, he shall be guilty of a felony and shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court; and any female person who shall carnally know any male child under the age of sixteen years shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court: Provided, that the offenders shall be married or shall thereafter marry, such marriage shall be a bar to further prosecution. (Rev., s. 3348; 1895, c. 295; 1917, c. 29; 1923, c. 140, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to 1917 the protection of this section extended only to a female child over ten and under fourteen years of age. The same act (1917) that raised the age of consent for the criminal offense of rape to twelve, limited this section by making it applicable to females over twelve and under fourteen years of age only. The radical change in the provisions of the section as it now stands was, however, effected by the Acts of 1923, ch. 140. As a result of this plausible amendment, the crime under this section is committed if the female child is over twelve and under sixteen, thus raising the age of consent for this particular offense to sixteen years.

The section was further amended by making it a misdemeanor for any female to carnally know any male child under the age of sixteen, a new criminal offense, hitherto unguarded against, and one that seems only fair and reasonable in an age that recognizes the equal rights of men and women.

Lastly, the new section makes the marriage of the offenders a bar to further prosecution. See 1 N. C. Law Rev. 286.

Effect of Amendment of 1923.—When the defendant would not be guilty of the offense prohibited by this section, but has since continued to carnally know a female child thereafter, the plea that his continued acts after the passage of the amendment of 1923 would not make him guilty thereunder cannot be sustained. State v. Porter, 188 N. C. 804, 125 S. E. 615.

On defendant's appeal from judgment against him in violation of the provisions of this section, amended in 1923, he must show error upon the face of the record, or his exception to the judgment cannot be sustained. State v. Porter, 188 N. C. 804, 125 S. E. 615.

Essentials of Crime.—The essentials of the crime in this case are (1) carnally know or abuse a female child; (2) over twelve and under sixteen years of age; (3) the female child never before having had sexual intercourse with any person. State v. Swindell, 189 N. C. 151, 126 S. E. 417.

Injuring Genital Organs Not Sufficient.—In an indictment under this section, for carnally knowing a girl between the ages of 10 and 14 (now 12 and 16), it is error to charge that the crime would be complete "if the jury should find that the defendant injured and abused her genital organs." State v. Monds, 130 N. C. 697, 41 S. E. 789.

Aiding and Abetting.—One who accompanies in an automobile another who accomplishes his purpose of having carnal knowledge of a female child over twelve and under sixteen years of age, in violation of this section; and with knowledge of this purpose leaves them together in the automobile at night until the purpose has been accomplished, though the female consents, is guilty as an aider or abetter in the commission of the offense, and punishable as a principal therein. State v. Hart, 186 N. C. 582, 120 S. E. 345.

Evidence of Recent Complaint.—Where the prosecutrix has testified upon the trial for the unlawfully carnally knowing or abusing an innocent female child over twelve and under fourteen years of age, her testimony in answer to the questions of the solicitor, to the effect that she had told her mother on the day of the occurrence, who was the only near relative present, is admissible for the purpose of corroborating her other testimony. State v. Winder, 183 N. C. 776, 111 S. E. 530.

Family Bible Entries Evidence of Child's Age.—Authenticated entries in family Bible constitute competent evidence to prove age of child. State v. Hairston, 121 N. C. 579, 28 S. E. 492.

Evidence of Relations with Other Men Is Admissible.—In a prosecution under this section, it is not error to exclude evidence of improper relations between the prosecuting witness and another several months after the alleged crime of the defendant. State v. Houpe, 207 N. C. 377, 177 S. E. 20.

Plea of Guilty May Not Be Withdrawn.—Upon the trial under this section of carnally knowing a female child over twelve and under sixteen years of age, the defendant may not enter a plea of guilty and thereafter withdraw the plea and enter a defense as a matter of right, and the sentence will be sustained in the absence of abuse of the court's discretion. State v. Porter, 188 N. C. 804, 125 S. E. 615.

Punishment.—The felony defined in this section is not one "for which no specific punishment is prescribed" within section 4172, and the discretion of the court in fixing the punishment is limited only by Const. Art. I, § 14. A sentence of 30 years and hard labor is not a "cruel and unusual punishment" for an offense under this section. State v. Swindell, 189 N. C. 151, 126 S. E. 417.

§ 4209(a). Jurisdiction of court. Offenders classed as delinquents.—All persons charged with a violation of the preceding section under the age of sixteen years shall be subject to the jurisdiction of the juvenile court and such other courts as may hereafter exercise such jurisdiction, and shall be classed as delinquents and not as felons: Provided, that where the offenders agree to marry, the consent of the parent shall not be necessary: Provided further, that any male person convicted of the violation of the preceding section who is under eighteen (18) years of age, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor only. (1923, c. 140, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—This section is summarized and a brief history of the law given in 1 N. C. Law Rev. 286.

Art. 9. Assaults

§ 4210. Malicious castration.—If any person, of malice aforethought, shall unlawfully castrate any other person, or cut off, maim or disfigure any of the privy members of any person, with intent to murder, maim, disfigure, disable or render impotent such person, the person so offending shall suffer imprisonment in the state's prison for not less than five nor more than sixty years. (Rev., s. 3627; Code, s. 999; R. C., c. 34, s. 4; 1831, c. 40, s. 1; 1868-9, c. 167, s. 6.)

See cases cited under sections 4211 and 4212 and notes thereto.

Appeal from Sentence for Punishment.—Upon conviction of the criminal offense inhibited by this section sentence of the court for a period within that allowed by statute will not be considered on appeal as a cruel or unusual punishment against the provision of our Constitution, Art. I, sec. 14, or discretionary against the principal actor in committing the crime, when the others participating therein to a less extent have been sentenced for shorter terms, the sentences imposed being left largely in the discretion of the trial court, and in the absence of an abuse of this discretion not reviewable on appeal. State v. Griffin, 190 N. C. 133, 129 S. E. 410.

§ 4211. Castration or other maiming without malice aforethought.—If any person shall, on purpose and unlawfully, but without malice aforethought, cut or slit the nose, bite or cut off the nose, or lip or an ear, or disable any limb or member of any other person, or castrate any other person, or cut off, maim or disfigure any of the privy members of any other person, with intent to kill, maim, disfigure, disable or render impotent such person, the person so offending shall be imprisoned in the county jail or state's prison not less than six months nor more than ten years, and fined, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3626; Code, s. 1000; R. C., c. 34, s. 47; 1754, c. 56; 1791, c. 339, ss. 2, 3; 1831, c. 40, s. 2.)

Cross References.—For a general treatment of this section see 9 Enc. Dig. 177 et seq. See also cases cited under section 4212 and notes thereto.

As to punishment under this section and the section following, see cases cited thereunder.

Proof of Malice Aforethought Not Necessary.—Proof, of malice aforethought, or of a preconceived intention to commit the maim, is not necessary. State v. Girgin, 23 N. C. 121.

§ 4212. Malicious maiming.—If any person shall, of malice aforethought, unlawfully cut out or disable the tongue or put out an eye of any other person, with intent to murder, maim or disfigure, the person so offending, his counselors, abettors and aiders, knowing of and privy to the offense, shall for the first offense, be punished by imprisonment in the state's prison or county jail not less than four months nor more than ten years, and be fined, in the discretion of the court; and for the second offense shall be imprisoned in the state's prison not less than five nor more than sixty years. (Rev., s. 3636; Code, s. 1080; R. C., c. 34, s. 14; 1754, c. 56; 1791, c. 339, s. 1; 1831, c. 12; 22 and 23 Car. II, c. 1 (Coventry Act).

Cross References.—For a general treatment of this section, see 9 Enc. Dig. 177 et seq.

When Corpus Delicti Complete.—Under this section the corpus delicti is complete, if the maim be committed on purpose, and with intent to disfigure, although without malice prepense. State v. Crawford, 13 N. C. 425.

"Malice Aforethought" Construed.—For the words "malice aforethought" do not mean an actual, express or preconceived disposition; but import an intent, at the moment, to do, without lawful authority, and without the pressure of necessity, that which the law forbids. State v. Crawford, 13 N. C. 425.

Malicious Intent Express or Implied.—The malicious intent to maim or disfigure may either be expressed or implied from circumstances. State v. Irwin, 2 N. C. 112.

Proof of Grudges or Threatenings Not Necessary.—And proof of antecedent grudges, threatenings or an express design is not necessary. State v. Irwin, 2 N. C. 112.

Presumptions.—An intent to disfigure is prima facie, unless inferred from an act which does in fact disfigure, unless that presumption be repelled by evidence on the part of the accused of a different intent, or at least of the absence of the intent mentioned in the statute. State v. Girgin, 23 N. C. 121.

What Constitutes Maiming.—To constitute a maim, under this statute, by biting off an ear, it is not necessary that the whole ear shall be bitten off—it is sufficient if a part only is taken off, provided enough is taken off to alter and impair the natural personal appearance, and, to ordinary observation, to render the person less comely. State v. Girgin, 23 N. C. 121.

Conviction for Loss of Eye.—Construing this section in connection with the history of legislation on the subject, it is held that thereunder the loss of an eye is not included in the offense of mayhem, and though the infliction thereof without malice may neither be sustained as provided by section 4211, nor under the common law, requiring that the offense should have been committed with malice, yet upon proper evidence a conviction may be had of an assault with a deadly weapon and an assault with serious damages, as a less degree of the crime charged under the provisions of section 4211. State v. Wilson, 188 N. C. 781, 125 S. E. 612.

Defenses First Blow or Sudden Affray.—The first blow, or a sudden affray, does not palliate the offense of maiming under the act of 1791; for if it did, the statute would be of little avail. State v. Crawford, 13 N. C. 425, 426.

Same—Accident or Self-Defense.—When the act is proved, the law presumes that it was done on purpose. The burden is therefore upon defendant to show that it was done accidentally or in self-defense. State v. Evans, 2 N. C. 281, 282; State v. Skidmore, 87 N. C. 509.

Indictment—Necessary Allegations.—An indictment, for biting off ear, must state the offense to be done on purpose, as well as unlawfully. State v. Ormond, 18 N. C. 119.

Same—Unnecessary Allegations.—But it need not be alleged whether it was the right or left ear. State v. Green, 129 N. C. 39.

§ 4213. Maliciously assaulting in a secret manner.—If any person shall in a secret manner maliciously commit an assault and battery with any deadly weapon upon another by waylaying or otherwise, with intent to kill such other person, notwithstanding the person so assaulted may have been conscious of the presence of his adversary, he shall be guilty of a felony and shall be punished by imprisonment in jail or in the penitentiary for not less than twelve months nor more than twenty years, or by a fine not exceeding two thousand dollars, or both, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3621; 1887, c. 32; 1919, c. 25.)

Scope.—This section embraces assaults made upon one who has no notice of the purpose or presence of the assailant, whether the latter conceals his identity or otherwise. State v. Jennings, 104 N. C. 774, 10 S. E. 249.

Same—Effect of Words, "or Otherwise."—The Legislature, after denouncing as criminal secret assaults with intent to kill, and after giving one explicit illustration, added the words "or otherwise," in order to prevent the application of the maxim expressio unius exclusio ulterius, thus including every other manner of making secret attempts, regardless of the attendant circumstances. State v. Shade, 115 N. C. 757, 758, 20 S. E. 537.

Same—Assault with Intent to Commit Murder.—"Attempts to commit any of the four capital offences were formerly felonies, but during the prosecution for 'Ku Klux' troubles the offence of assault with intent to commit murder was reduced to a simple misdemeanor. The Act of 1887, Ch. 32, restored the grade of the offence to a felony, except in those cases in which it is committed openly, giving the assailed an opportunity to know his assailant. State v. Telfair, 109 N. C. 878, 13 S. E. 726;" State v. Harris, 120 N. C. 577, 579, 26 S. E. 774.

What Constitutes Secret Assault.—While it is not required for the conviction of a secret assault, under the provisions of this section that the assailed should not have been aware of the presence of his assailant, it is necessary that the purpose of the assailant, be not previously made known to him; and where the evidence does not tend to show that it was a secret assault, within the intent and meaning of the statute, an instruction to the contrary is reversible error. State v. Oxendine, 187 N. C. 658, 122 S. E. 568.

Same—Person Assaulted Unconscious of Assailant.—An assault cannot be said to have been made in a secret manner except when the person assaulted was unconscious of the presence as well as of the purpose of his adversary. State v. Gunter, 116 N. C. 1068, 21 S. E. 674.

Same—Assault from Behind.—An assault made from behind and in such a manner as to prevent the person assaulted from knowing who his assailant is, or that the blow is about to be struck, is a secret assault. State v. Harris, 120 N. C. 577, 26 S. E. 774.

Same—Assault by Means of Poison.—An assault by means of poison comes within the intent of our statutes making an assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill punishable as a felony. State v. Alderman, 182 N. C. 917, 110 S. E. 59.

Same—Assault Facing Victim.—Where one, facing another or walking up in front of him, draws a pistol from a hip-pocket and shoots him without warning, it is not a secret assault, within the meaning of this section. State v. Patton, 115 N. C. 753, 20 S. E. 538.

Same—Sufficiency.—For sufficiency of evidence to prove a secret assault, see State v. Bridges, 178 N. C. 733, 101 S. E. 29.

Indictment—Necessary Allegations.—Indictment omitting the words "by waylaying or otherwise," is sufficient. State v. Shade, 115 N. C. 757, 20 S. E. 537.

Elements of Offense, Burden of Proof.—On a trial under a criminal indictment the burden is on the State to show beyond a reasonable doubt the ingredients or elements necessary to constitute the statutory offense, or the lower degree of the same crime for which a verdict is permissible and where assault and battery, prohibited by this section, are charged, the State must accordingly show that it was maliciously done with a deadly weapon, secretly by waylaying or otherwise, etc., with intent to kill, and when the evidence is conflicting, it is an expression of opinion inhibited by sec. 564, for the judge to charge the jury that if they believe the evidence, a cold-blooded and cruel assault had been committed. State v. Kline, 190 N. C. 177, 129 S. E. 417.

Evidence Permissible to Show Malice, etc.—As bearing on the question of malice and felonious intent, the state was allowed to show that, a week or two before the happening of the offenses charged in the bill of indictment, the defendant had been seen about the home of the prosecuting witness; that he had shot at his house and threatened to shoot him. State v. Miller, 189 N. C. 695, 128 S. E. 1.

Prosecution within Two Years.—Misdemeanors committed in a secret manner, may be prosecuted within two years after the discovery of the offense. State v. Frisbee, 142 N. C. 671, 55 S. E. 722

Instruction.—For charge not sufficiently explaining the offense, see State v. Vanderburg, 200 N. C. 713, 158 S. E. 248.

Verdict for Simple Assault.—Upon the trial of an indictment charging a secret felonious assault, verdict may be rendered for simple assault. State v. Jennings, 104 N. C. 774, 10 S. E. 249.

Cited in State v. Strickland, 192 N. C. 253, 134 S. E. 850.

§ 4214. Assault with deadly weapons with intent to kill resulting in injury.—Any person who assaults another with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, and inflicts serious injury not resulting in death, shall be guilty of a felony and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison or be worked on the county roads for a period not less than four months nor more than ten years. (1919, c. 101.)

Elements of Offense.—In order for a conviction of crime under the provisions of this section there must be a charge and evidence thereon of five essential elements: an assault, the use of a deadly weapon, the intent to kill, infliction of serious injury, death not resulting, and while an assault does not necessarily include a battery, where serious injury is inflicted a battery is necessarily implied. State v. Hefner, 199 N. C. 778, 155 S. E. 879.

Evidence of Infliction of Serious Injury.—Evidence that several defendants indicted under the provisions of this section were discovered selling liquor in violation of our prohibition law, and that they were armed with pistols and blackjacks and acted in concert, and that one of them threatened the life of the officer attempting to arrest them, and that the others participated by carrying the officer to a room of a garage where they beat him with a blackjack into unconsciousness, and carried him out into a field and left him there where later and alone he recovered consciousness, is sufficient for the conviction of them all of an assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, resulting in serious injury, in violation of the statute. State v. Hefner, 199 N. C. 778, 155 S. E. 879.

Evidence of Use of Deadly Weapon.—Where the evidence against the defendants, tried under an indictment for violating this section tends to show an assault with a blackjack and other like instruments whereby they beat the one assaulted into unconsciousness and carried him into a field where alone he eventually recovered consciousness, is sufficient as to the use of a deadly weapon in making the assault. State v. Hefner, 199 N. C. 778, 155 S. E. 879.

Evidence of communicated threats was received with apparent approval in State v. Scott, 4 Ired. 409, and with explicit approval in State v. Turpin, 77 N. C. 473, 24 Am. Rep. 455. It was denied in State v. Byrd, 121 N. C. 684, 28 S. E. 353, in an obscure opinion and in State v. Skidmore, 87 N. C. 509, in an opinion which overlooked the two cases first cited. 11 N. C. Law Rev., 230.

Instruction as to Serious Injury.—Where the evidence is sufficient of an assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, not resulting in death, a charge by the judge to the jury that "serious injury" included "anything that would cause a breach of the peace," is held not to be reversible error to the defendant's prejudice where all the evidence tends to show that serious injury was inflicted in violation of the statute. State v. Hefner, 199 N. C. 778, 155 S. E. 879.

Burden of Proof.—This section under which the appealing defendant was indicted and convicted provides that any person who assaults another (1) with a deadly weapon, (2) with intent to kill, and (3) inflicts serious injury not resulting in death, shall be guilty of a felony and shall be punishable by imprisonment in the state's prison or be worked on the county roads for a period of not less than four months nor more than ten years. These three essential elements must be proved in order to warrant a conviction under the statute (State v. Crisp, 188 N. C. 799, 800, 125 S. E. 543); and the burden is on the state to establish them all beyond a reasonable doubt, where the defendant enters a plea of "not guilty" to the charge contained in the bill of indictment. State v. Redditt, 189 N. C. 176, 126 S. E. 506, 507.

State Must Prove Murderous Intent.—Upon a trial of one charged with using a deadly weapon in inflicting a serious injury not resulting in death, under this section, an instruction that the use of such weapon raises a presumption of felonious intent is reversible error, the fact of murderous intent being for the State to prove. State v. Gibson, 196 N. C. 393, 145 S. E. 772.

Guilt of Lesser Degree of Offense.—Where the defendants are tried for violating this section in making an assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, etc., the action will not be dismissed when the undisputed evidence tends to show the assault was made with a deadly weapon. State v. Hefner, 199 N. C. 778, 155 S. E. 879.

Conviction of Simple Assault.—An instruction directing verdict of guilty of at least simple assault is not erroneous when the prosecuting witness had been injured by being struck by some hard metallic substance in the defendant's hand, which he did not see, causing his nose to be broken and other serious injuries. State v. Strickland, 192 N. C. 253, 134 S. E. 850.

Cited in State v. Colson, 194 N. C. 206, 139 S. E. 230.

§ 4215. Punishment for assault. — In all cases of an assault, with or without intent to kill or injure, the person convicted shall be punished by fine or imprisonment, or both, at the discretion of the court: Provided, that where no deadly weapon has been used and no serious damage done, the punishment in assaults, assaults and batteries, and affrays shall not exceed a fine of fifty dollars or imprisonment for thirty days; but this proviso shall not apply to cases of assault with intent to kill or with intent to commit rape, or to cases of assault or assault and battery by any man or boy over eighteen years old on any female person: Provided, that in all cases of assault, assault and battery, and affrays, wherein deadly weapons are used and serious injury is inflicted, and the plea of the defendant is self-defense, evidence of former threats against the defendant by the person alleged to have been assaulted by him, if such threats shall have been communicated to the defendant before the altercation, shall be competent as bearing upon the reasonableness of the claim of apprehension by the defendant of death or serious bodily harm, and also as bearing upon the amount of force which reasonably appeared necessary to the defendant, under the circumstances, to repel his assailant. (Rev., s. 3620; Code, s. 987; 1870-1, c. 43, s. 2; 1873-4, c. 176, s. 6; 1879, c. 92, ss. 2, 6; 1911, c. 193; 1933, c. 189.)

Cross Reference.—For a general discussion of criminal responsibility for assault and battery, see 2 Enc. Dig. 10 et seq.; 13 Enc. Dig. 180 et seq.

As to excessive punishment, see State v. Driver, 78 N. C. 423; as to punishment under acts of 1870-1, ch. 43, see State v. Miller, 75 N. C. 73, 77; State v. McNeill, 75 N. C. 15.

Editor's Note.—Public Laws of 1933, c. 189, added the proviso, at the end of this section, relative to the admission of any evidence of threats of assailant.

Constitutionality.—This section is not unconstitutional on the grounds that severe sentences for criminal offenses can only be upheld under a statute affirmative in terms, this statute, by correct interpretation affirmatively providing that in all cases of assault with or without the intention to kill, the person convicted shall be punished by fine or imprisonment in the discretion of the court, and not so limiting the court's discretion as to an assault upon a female, etc. State v. Stokes, 181 N. C. 539, 106 S. E. 763.

The constitutional inhibition as to the imposition of cruel and unusual punishments may only be invoked in cases of manifest and gross abuse by the trial judge acting within a legislative discretion given him; and, in this case, a sentence of three months on the road, upon conviction for an assault upon a female, cannot be held as a matter of law, on appeal, to be unconstitutional as cruel or unusual. State v. Stokes, 181 N. C. 539, 106 S. E. 763.

Same—Question of Discrimination.—This section, is not an unwarranted discrimination against one assaulting a female under the terms of the statute, or a denial to him of the equal protection of the laws guaranteed him by the Constitution. State v. Stokes, 181 N. C. 359, 106 S. E. 763.

Punishment—Extent.—While the language of this section authorizes a punishment for assault with or without intent to kill, by fine or imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court, it does not at all mean that the judge may change the character of punishment recognized and established by the law for such an offense, but that, within such limits, the extent of the punishment is referred to the discretion of the trial judge, and his sentence may not be interfered with by the appellate court, except in case of manifest and gross abuse. State v. Smith, 174 N. C. 804, 807, 93 S. E. 910.

Same—Limitation. — In conviction for simple assaults, where there is no intent to commit rape, and no deadly weapon used, and no serious bodily harm done, the punishment is limited to a fine of $50, or imprisonment for thirty days. State v. Johnson, 94 N. C. 863; State v. Battle, 130 N. C. 655, 41 S. E. 66.

Evidence Sufficient under Section.—Evidence that the prisoner wakened the prosecutrix while she was asleep in her own room at night by placing his hand upon her forehead, is sufficient to convict of an assault upon a female, etc., and a motion as of nonsuit thereon may not be granted, though insufficient for a conviction of the intent to ravish her. State v. Hill, 181 N. C. 558, 107 S. E. 140.

Evidence that a negro man twenty-three years of age several times accosted a white girl of fifteen years of age, on the streets of a town, with improper solicitation, resulting in her fleeing from him in a direction she had not intended to go, and, in her great fear of him, causing her to become nervous and to lose sleep at night, is held to be such evidence of violence, begun to be executed with ability to effectuate it, as will come within the intent and meaning of this section making it a crime for a man or boy over eighteen years of age to assault any female person. State v. Williams, 186 N. C. 627, 120 S. E. 224.

Burden to Prove Age Below Eighteen. — The burden is upon the defendant, charged with an assault upon a woman, to show that he was under the age specified in order to except his case from the proviso, and it is not necessary to the validity of the bill that it state that he was over the age, as an assault upon a woman is a crime without regard to the age of the person who commits it, and the age merely relates to the degree of punishment and is not an element or ingredient of the offense charged. State v. Smith, 157 N. C. 578, 72 S. E. 853.

Cited in State v. Stansberry, 197 N. C. 350, 148 S. E. 546; State v. Griggs, 197 N. C. 352, 148 S. E. 547.

§ 4216. Assaulting by pointing gun. — If any person shall point any gun or pistol at any person, either in fun or otherwise, whether such gun or pistol be loaded or not loaded, he shall be guilty of an assault, and upon conviction of the same shall be fined, imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3622; 1889, c. 527.)

Accidental Discharge of Gun—Manslaughter.—One who points a loaded gun at another, though without intention of discharging it, if the gun goes off accidentally and kills, it is manslaughter. State v. Cable, 177 N. C. 588, 99 S. E. 339.

When one causes the death of another by an unlawful act which amounts to an assault on the person, as pointing a gun under circumstances which would not excuse its discharge, he is guilty at least of manslaughter. State v. Stitt, 146 N. C. 463, 61 S. E. 566.

Same—Question of Guilt for Jury.—Where one pointed a gun at another and death ensued by its discharge evidence was sufficient to submit to the jury the question of the prisoner's guilt or innocence of the crime of manslaughter. State v. Limerick, 146 N. C. 649, 61 S. E. 568; State v. Turnage, 138 N. C. 566, 49 S. E. 913.

Gun Need Not Be Loaded.—In an indictment for assault with a deadly weapon an instruction that if the State "had satisfied the jury beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant pointed a pistol at the prosecutor, whether loaded or not, this would be an assault," and to find the defendant guilty, was correct under the provisions of this section. State v. Atkins, 141 N. C. 734, 53 S. E. 228.

Pointing Pistol in Pocket. — An instruction that if the jury were satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant had a pistol in his coat pocket and "with pistol and hand on the inside of his pocket, he pointed the pistol at the prosecutor, this would be an assault," is not error. State v. Atkinson, 141 N. C. 734, 53 S. E. 228.

Evidence of Guilt.—Defendant, pointing gun at the prosecutor, was, under the circumstances, guilty of an assault at common law, if not under this section. State v. Scott, 142 N. C. 582, 55 S. E. 69.

Art. 10. Hazing

§ 4217. Hazing; definition and punishment. — It shall be unlawful for any student in any college or school in this state to engage in what is known as hazing, or to aid or abet any other student in the commission of this offense. For the purposes of this section hazing is defined as follows: "to annoy any student by playing abusive or ridiculous tricks upon him, to frighten, scold, beat or harass him, or to subject him to personal indignity." Any violation of this section shall constitute a misdemeanor. (1913, c. 169, ss. 1, 2, 3, 4.)

§ 4218. Expulsion from school; duty of faculty to expel.—Upon conviction of any student of the offense of hazing, or aiding or abetting in the commission of this offense, he shall, in addition to any punishment imposed by the court, be expelled from the college or school he is attending. The faculty or governing board of any college or school charged with the duty of expulsion of students for proper cause shall, upon such conviction at once expel the offender, and a failure to do so shall be a misdemeanor. (1913, c. 169, ss. 5, 6.)

§ 4219. Certain persons and schools excepted; copy of article to be posted.—This article shall not apply to females, nor to schools or colleges not keeping boarders, nor to schools keeping less than ten student boarders. A copy of this article shall be framed and hung on display in every college or school to which it applies. (1913, c. 169, s. 3.)

§ 4220. Witnesses in hazing trials; no indictment to be founded on self-criminating testimony. —In all trials for the offense of hazing any student or other person subpœnaed as a witness in behalf of the state shall be required to testify if called upon to do so: Provided, however, that no student or other person so testifying shall be amenable or subject to indictment on account of, or by reason of, such testimony. (1913, c. 169, s. 8.)

Art. 11. Kidnapping and Abduction

§ 4221. Punishment for kidnapping. — If any person shall forcibly or fraudulently kidnap any person, he shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction may be punished in the discretion of the court, not exceeding twenty years in the state's prison. (Rev., s. 3634; 1901, c. 699, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—Section 4221(a) repeals this section. State v. Kelly, 206 N. C. 660, 663, 175 S. E. 294.

Necessary Proofs.—Under an indictment for kidnapping, it is only necessary to prove the taking and carrying away of a person forcibly or fraudulently. State v. Harrison, 145 N. C. 408, 59 S. E. 867; as to sufficiency of evidence for conviction under this section for carrying away an imbecile girl, irrespective of the question of her consent, see State v. Marks, 178 N. C. 730, 101 S. E. 24.

§ 4221(a). Kidnapping. — It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, or any individual, male or female, or its or their agents, to kidnap or cause to be kidnapped any human being, or to demand a ransom of any person, firm or corporation, male or female, to be paid on account of kidnapping, or to hold any human being for ransom: Provided, however, that this section shall not apply to a father or mother for taking into their custody their own child.

Any person, or their agent, violating or causing to be violated any provisions of this section shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction therefor, shall be punishable by imprisonment for life.

Any firm or corporation violating, or causing to be violated through their agent or agents, any of the provisions of this section, and upon being found guilty, shall be liable to the injured party suing therefor, the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000), and shall forfeit its or their charter and right to do business in the state of North Carolina. (1933, c. 542.)

Section Increases Maximum Punishment. — The effect of this section, repealing § 4221, relating to the crime of kidnapping, is to increase, within the discretion of the court, the maximum punishment for the crime from twenty years to life, and not to make a life term mandatory upon conviction, the intent of the statute to this effect being shown by the use of the word "punishable" in prescribing the sentence. State v. Kelly, 206 N. C. 660, 175 S. E. 294.

§ 4222. Enticing minors out of the state for the purpose of employment.—If any person shall employ and carry beyond the limits of this state any minor, or shall induce any minor to go beyond the limits of this state, for the purpose of employment without the consent in writing, duly authenticated, of the parent, guardian or other person having authority over such minor, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than five hundred and not more than one thousand dollars for each offense. The fact of the employment and going out of the state of the minor, or of going out of the state by the minor, at the solicitation of the person for the purpose of employment, shall be prima facie evidence of knowledge that the person employed or solicited to go beyond the limits of the state is a minor. (Rev., s. 3630; 1891, c. 45.)

Count Joined with One under Section 4223.—An indictment for abduction, containing two counts, one under this section and the second under section 4223, cannot be quashed for misjoinder of two different offenses, as the two counts are merely statements of the same transaction to meet the different phases of proof. State v. Burnett, 142 N. C. 577, 578, 55 S. E. 72.

§ 4223. Abduction of children. — If any one shall abduct or by means induce any child under the age of fourteen years, who shall reside with its father, mother, uncle, aunt, brother or elder sister, or shall reside at a school, or be an orphan and reside with a guardian, to leave such person or school, he shall be guilty of a felony, and on conviction shall be fined or imprisoned in the state's prison for a period not exceeding fifteen years. (Rev., s. 3358; Code, s. 973; 1879, c. 81.)

For an extention treatment of this subject, see 1 Enc. Dig. 39 et seq.; 13 Enc. Dig. 4 et seq.

Definition.—Abduction under this section, is the taking and carrying away of a child, ward, etc., either by fraud, persuasion, or open violence. The consent of the child is no defense. If there is no force or inducement and the departure of the child is entirely voluntary, there is no abduction. State v. Burnett, 142 N. C. 577, 578, 55 S. E. 72.

Father's Consent a Good Defense.—If the carrying away was with the father's consent, that fact is a defense the burden of which is upon the defendant. State v. Burnett, 142 N. C. 577, 578, 55 S. E. 72.

The indictment need not state the means by which the abduction was accomplished, nor that it was done without the consent and against the will of her father, State v. Burnett, 142 N. C. 578, 55 S. E. 72, nor that the defendant was not a nearer relation to the child than the person from whose custody it was abducted. State v. George, 93 N. C. 567.

§ 4224. Conspiring to abduct children.—If any one shall conspire to abduct, or by any means to induce any child under the age of fourteen years, who shall reside with any of the persons designated in the preceding section, or shall reside at school, to leave such persons or the school, he shall be guilty of a felony, and on conviction shall be punished as prescribed in the preceding section: Provided, that no one who may be a nearer blood relation to the child than the persons named in the preceding section shall be indicted for either of said offenses. (Rev., s. 3359; Code, s. 947; 1879, c. 81, s. 2.)

For application of this section see notes to and cases cited under section 4223.

§ 4225. Abduction of married women.—If any male person shall abduct or elope with the wife of another, he shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction shall be imprisoned not less than one year nor more than ten years: Provided, that the woman, since her marriage, has been an innocent and virtuous woman: Provided further, that no conviction shall be had upon the unsupported testimony of any such married woman. (Rev., s. 3360; 1903, c. 362.)

Elopement Defined.—Elopement of wife is her voluntary act in deserting her husband to go away with and cohabit with another man. State v. O'Higgins, 178 N. C. 708, 100 S. E. 438.

Effect of Prior Adultery.—In order to constitute the offense of abducting or eloping with a married woman, under this section, the seduction by the male may be accomplished by insistent persuasion under which the woman yields her consent to be carried away from the house of her husband by the defendant charged therewith and living with him in adultery; and the defense that the woman in the course of his scheme had yielded herself before the abduction is untenable when it was shown that the wife had not thus yielded herself to any other man than the defendant. State v. Hooper, 186 N. C. 405, 119 S. E. 769.

Adultery after the elopement is an essential element of the offense under this section. State v. Ashe, 196 N. C. 387, 145 S. E. 784.

Voluntary Leaving of Husband.—The fact that the wife had voluntarily left her husband falls within the definition of this section when this results from the unlawful scheming of the man to achieve that end. State v. Hopper, 186 N. C. 405, 119 S. E. 769.

Evidence.—Evidence tending to show that the defendant knew of the whereabouts of the wife of another after she had left her husband, and that they had dined together at a house of ill fame, and that they had shut themselves in a room thereof is competent upon the question of the abduction and of their immoral relations and a circumstance to be submitted to the jury. State v. Ashe, 196 N. C. 387, 145 S. E. 784.

In a prosecution under this section the necessary element of adultery may be shown by circumstantial evidence which satisfies the jury of the defendant's guilt beyond a reasonable doubt. State v. Ashe, 196 N. C. 387, 145 S. E. 784.

Testimony of Wife Supported by Others.—The provision of this section that no conviction of abduction or eloping with the wife of another may be had on the unsupported testimony of the wife as to her virtue, is complied with when the testimony of the wife is supported by evidence of others as to her previous good character. State v. Hopper, 186 N. C. 405, 119 S E. 769.

Evidence of Influence of Defendant.—Upon the question of influence of the defendant over the wife of another with whom he is being tried for abducting and eloping, it is competent to show the strength of the influence he had acquired, and the admission of testimony that the defendant had deserted his wife and dependent children, and also that she had used her own money for expenses, is not subject to just exception. State v. Hopper, 186 N. C. 405, 119 S. E. 769.

Testimony of Husband as to Chastity. — On a criminal trial for abducting and eloping with a married woman, it is competent for her husband to testify as to the chastity of his wife up to the time the defendant had invaded his home, such testimony may be sufficient to sustain a conviction. State v. Hopper, 186 N. C. 405, 119 S. E. 769; State v. O'Higgins, 178 N. C. 708, 199 S. E. 438.

Woman's General Character for Virtue Admissible.—In an indictment under this section, where the character of the woman is by express terms of the statute directly in question, evidence as to her general character for virtue is admissible. State v. Connor, 142 N. C. 70, 55 S. E. 787.

Burden of Proof of First Proviso.—The state has the burden of proving the facts required under the first proviso of the section. State v. Connor, 142 N. C. 700, 55 S. E. 787.

Instruction—"Bad" House.—Where the evidence is that the defendant and the married woman met in a bad house, it is not prejudicial or reversible error for the judge in the statement of facts in his instructions to call it a "bad" house or "house of ill fame," where this was not brought to his attention at the time. State v. Ashe, 196 N. C. 387, 145 S. E. 784.

Art. 12. Abortion and Kindred Offenses

§ 4226. Using drugs or instruments to destroy unborn child.—If any person shall willfully administer to any woman, either pregnant or quick with child, or prescribe for any such woman, advise or procure any such woman to take any medicine, drug or other substance whatever, or shall use or employ any instrument or other means with intent thereby to destroy such child, unless the same shall be necessary to preserve the life of the mother, he shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be imprisoned in the state's prison for not less than one year nor more than ten years, and be fined at the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3618; Code, s. 975; 1881, c. 351, s. 1.)

Cross References.—For a general discussion of this subject, see 1 Enc. Dig. 43 et seq.; 13 Enc. Dig. 6; as to sentence and punishment, see 1 Enc. Dig. 45.

As to criminal abortion, see State v. Summers, 173 N. C. 775, 92 S. E. 328.

Elements of Offense—Intent.—The essential ingredient of the offense is the intent and not the noxious nature of the drug used. State v. Crews, 128 N. C. 581, 582, 38 S. E. 293; State v. Shaft, 166 N. C. 407, 81 S. E. 932.

Same—Prescribing or Advising.—For a conviction under this section it is not essential to show that defendant procured the drug or that the woman used it. If defendant prescribed or advised its use with the illegal intent, that alone is sufficient. State v. Powell, 181 N. C. 515, 106 S. E. 133.

Same—Procuring Drug.—Under this section it is not necessary to charge or prove that the accused procured the drug. State v. Crews, 128 N. C. 581, 38 S. E. 293.

Same—Nature of Drug.—It is no defense even if defendant could show that the drug would not in fact cause a miscarriage. State v. Crews, 128 N. C. 581, 582, 38 S. E. 293. For the offense is committed by administering any substance with intent to procure an abortion. State v. Shaft, 166 N. C. 407, 81 S. E. 932.

Same—Stage of Pregnancy.—The offense can be perpetrated upon a woman at any stage of her pregnancy. State v. Seagle, 83 N. C. 630, 632.

Woman Not an Accomplice.—The woman is not, in a legal sense, an accomplice, whether or not she consents to the abortion. State v. Shaft, 166 N. C. 407, 81 S. E. 932, 933.

Statement of Woman as to Payment of Doctor's Fee.—The testimony as to the statement of a woman on whom the defendant was charged with bringing on a miscarriage or abortion, in violation of the provisions of this section and section 4227, that the defendant had paid the physician one-half of the $200 fee he had charged for such services, and uttered in the defendant's presence, is held competent with the other evidence in this case; and whether the defendant, under the circumstances, was so intoxicated that he did not understand, presented a question for the jury to determine as to whether the woman's statement was made in the hearing as well as in the defendant's presence; whether they were understood by him, or he denied them or remained silent. State v. Martin, 182 N. C. 846, 109 S. E. 74.

Admissibility of Statement Made Four Months Prior to Abortion.—Upon the trial of a physician for procuring an abortion testimony of a conversation between the physician and the woman as to an abortion about four months prior to the time in controversy is irrelevant and incompetent and its admission in evidence is prejudicial to the defendant and constitutes reversible error. State v. Brown, 202 N. C. 221, 162 S. E. 216.

Sufficiency of Evidence.—Indictment and evidence that the defendant advised the prosecutrix, who was then "pregnant or quick with child," to take a certain drug, medicine, or substance with intent to destroy the child is sufficient for a conviction under this section. State v. Powell, 181 N. C. 515, 106 S. E. 133.

Testimony of the relation between the defendant and the woman, his paying half of the doctor's fees, and his concern as to the result, is held sufficient to sustain the verdict of guilty, taken in connection with the other evidence in the case. State v. Martin, 182 N. C. 846, 109 S. E. 74.

Joinder of Offenses.—Where the defendant is tried under this section and section 4227, for producing a miscarriage or abortion of a pregnant woman, the action will not be dismissed upon the evidence if it is sufficient for a conviction upon either count. State v. Martin, 182 N. C. 846, 109 S. E. 74.

Cited in State v. Geurukus, 195 N. C. 642, 643, 143 S. E. 208.

§ 4227. Using drugs or instruments to produce miscarriage or injure pregnant woman.—If any person shall administer to any pregnant woman, or prescribe for any such woman, or advise and procure such woman to take any medicine, drug or anything whatsoever, with intent thereby to procure the miscarriage of such woman, or to injure or destroy such woman, or shall use any instrument or application for any of the above purposes, he shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be imprisoned in the jail or state's prison for not less than one year nor more than five years and shall be fined at the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3619, Code, s. 976; 1881, c. 351, s. 2.)

For a general treatment of this subject, see 1 Enc. Dig. 43 et seq.; 13 Enc. Dig. 6. See also notes to and cases cited under section 4226.

§ 4228. Concealing birth of child.—If any person shall by secretly burying or otherwise disposing of the dead body of a new-born child, endeavor to conceal the birth of such child, such person shall be guilty of a felony, and punished by fine or imprisonment, or both, such imprisonment to be in the county jail or state's prison, at the discretion of the court: Provided, that the imprisonment in the state's prison shall in no case exceed a term of years: Provided further, that nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent the mother, who may be guilty of the homicide of her child, from being prosecuted and punished for the same according to the principles of the common law. Any person aiding, counseling, or abetting any woman in concealing the birth of her child shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3623; Code, s. 1004; R. C., c. 34, s. 28; 1818, c. 985; 1883, c. 390; 21, Jac. I, c. 27. See 43 Geo. III, c. 58, s. 3; 9 Geo. IV, c. 31, s. 14.)

Editor's Note.—The editor deems it advisable to note here some of the older cases construing this section as it stood after the amendment of act 1818, chap. 985, in view of the fact that these constructions may well be applied to the section as it now stands.

Under the section as it then stood, the offense was the concealing of the death of a being on whom murder could have been committed if therefore the child was stillborn, concealment would be no offense. The burden of showing that fact would, however, be on the defendant. State v. Joiner, 11 N. C. 350.

And a former conviction for concealing the birth of a child is no defense to an indictment for the murder of such child. State v. Morgan, 95 N. C. 641. See also 2 Enc. Dig. 328 et seq.

Evidence Insufficient for Directed Verdict. — Under the provisions of this section making it a felony for any person to conceal the birth of a new-born child by secretly burying or otherwise disposing of its dead body, it is reversible error for the trial judge to direct a verdict of guilty upon evidence tending to show that the defendant found the dead body of the infant in a state of decomposition and therefore buried it, and had informed the authorities thereof and directed them where he had buried it, it being required of the State to rebut the common-law presumption of innocence by establishing the defendant's guilt beyond a reasonable doubt. State v. Arrowood, 187 N. C. 715, 122 S. E. 759.

Art. 13. Libel and Slander

§ 4229. Communicating libelous matter to newspapers.—If any person shall state, deliver or transmit by any means whatever, to the manager, editor, publisher or reporter of any newspaper or periodical for publication therein any false and libelous statement concerning any person or corporation, and thereby secure the publication of the same, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3635; 1901, c. 557, ss. 2, 3.)

Cross References.—For an extensive treatment of this subject, see 8 Enc. Dig. 651 et seq.; 14 Enc. Dig. 647 et seq. As to truth of allegations in indictment for libel as a defense, see section 4638. As to punishment for libel by newspaper, see section 2430.

Responsibility of Newspaper Men. — "This statute punishes criminally the person who communicates libelous matter to newspapers, but that does not excuse the newspaper for publishing such libels, and the newspaper is responsible in damages for the injury done by the publication. Newspaper men (however) are not so apt to be prosecuted criminally for libel unless the publication attempts to destroy the reputation of an innocent woman by words which amount to charge of inconsistency (under section 4230), or unless there is a willful derogatory statement about the financial condition of a bank (under section 4231)." 4 N. C. Law Rev. 27.

§ 4230. Slandering innocent women.—If any person shall attempt, in a wanton and malicious manner, to destroy the reputation of an innocent woman by words, written or spoken, which amount to a charge of incontinency, every person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3640; Code, s. 113; 1879, c. 156.)

Cross References.—For a general discussion of this subject, see 8 Enc. Dig. 651 et seq.; 14 Enc. Dig. 647 et seq.; as to civil liability for charging innocent women with incontinency, see section 2432 and notes thereto.

Object of Statute.—The object of the legislature in enacting this section was to protect the character of innocent women, that is, chaste and virtuous women, against wanton and malicious attempts to destroy their reputation by charges of incontinency. State v. Aldridge, 86 N. C. 680, 681.

Essential Elements of Offense.—The innocence and virtue, then, of the woman who is subject of the attempt, lie at the very foundation of the offense, and constitute its most essential element. State v. McDaniel, 84 N. C. 803, 805; State v. Aldridge, 86 N. C. 680, 681; State v. Smith, 155 N. C. 473, 71 S. E. 305.

What Constitutes Offense.—The offense of slandering an innocent woman consists in the attempt to destroy the reputation of an innocent woman by a charge of incontinency. State v. Davis, 92 N. C. 764. Not in the slander of a woman falsely by charging her with incontinency, but in the attempt to destroy her reputation by such means. State v. McDaniel, 84 N. C. 803, 804.

Same—Sufficiency.—And to constitute this offense, it is necessary to prove that the words alleged to have been spoken amounted to a charge of actual, definitive, illicit sexual intercourse. State v. Moody, 98 N. C. 671, 4 S. E. 119.

"Innocent Woman."—An "innocent woman," within the meaning of this section, is one who has never had sexual intercourse with any man. State v. Malloy, 115 N. C. 737, 20 S. E. 461; One who had never had actual illicit intercourse with any man. State v. Davis, 92 N. C. 764; State v. Brown, 100 N. C. 519, 6 S. E. 568; a pure woman—one whose character is "unsullied." State v. McDaniel, 84 N. C. 803, 805; a woman who, at the time the alleged slanderous charge was made, and at the time of the trial therefor, was chaste and virtuous. State v. Grigg, 104 N. C. 882, 10 S. E. 684.

Improper Conduct Short of Incontinency.—Mere lasciviousness, and the permission of liberties by men with her, although we might consider them improper, were not contemplated by the statute. State v. Davis, 92 N. C. 764, 765.

And a woman who has never had actual sexual intercourse with any one is an innocent woman, within the meaning of this section, even though she and a man were surprised in each other's embrace, about to commit the act of copulation, but before it took place. State v. Hinson, 103 N. C. 374, 9 S. E. 552.

Status of Reformed Women. — The question whether to slander a woman who had once lapsed from virtue, but who had reformed and led an exemplary life, would be a crime under this statute, was discussed but undecided in State v. Davis, 92 N. C. 764, the court expressing the opinion that in view of the strict construction put on the statute it would seem to exclude from the protection of its provisions every woman who had, at some time of her life, made a slip in her virtue, even though she had afterwards reformed.

Fortunately, however, the question was finally decided in favor of the reformed woman and the present law is that the fact that a woman at some former period in her life had departed from the path of virtue, will not per se entitle a defendant, indicted under the statute, to an acquittal; on the contrary, if the prosecutrix has satisfied the jury that she has reformed and led an exemplary life, she is entitled to the protection of the law. State v. Grigg, 104 N. C. 882, 10 S. E. 684.

Status of Seduced Women.—"A man cannot seduce a virtuous woman and then slander her with impunity, and, when indicted for such slander, claim protection against the penalties of law by pleading her disgrace, which he had caused to be brought upon her. The statute would fail to give that protection to innocent women, that was intended, if this was allowed." State v. Misenheimer, 123 N. C. 758, 763, 31 S. E. 852.

And a woman, seduced before marriage, but whose character was good before and since marriage, with this exception, is an "innocent woman" under this section. State v. Grigg, 104 N. C. 882, 10 S. E. 684; State v. Misenheimer, 123 N. C. 758, 31 S. E. 852.

Slander by Husband.—State v. Edens, 85 N. C. 522, holding that a husband is not indictable for slandering his wife, is overruled, and now, he is indictable under this section, if he wantonly and maliciously slanders his wife. State v. Fulton, 149 N. C. 485, 63 S. E. 145.

Malice Implied.—Where a slanderous charge is made, malice is implied, except in case of a privileged communication. State v. Malloy, 115 N. C. 737, 20 S. E. 461.

Burden of Proof.—The burden is upon the State to show that an innocent and virtuous woman has been slandered in order to convict under the provisions of this section. State v. Smith, 155 N. C. 473, 71 S. E. 305.

On trial of an indictment for slander under this section, the admission of the defendant that he spoke the words charged does not shift the burden of proof upon him to show he had not slandered an innocent woman. Her innocence is a question for the jury upon the evidence, and no presumption of her innocence should be allowed to weigh against the defendant. State v. McDaniel, 84 N. C. 803.

§ 4231. Derogatory statements about banks.—Any person who shall willfully and maliciously make, circulate, or transmit to another or others any statement, rumor, or suggestion, written, printed, or by word of mouth, which is directly or by inference derogatory to the financial condition, or affects the solvency or financial standing of any bank or building and loan association, or who shall counsel, aid, procure, or induce another to state, transmit, or circulate any such statement or rumor shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court. (1915, c. 273; 1921, c. 4, s. 82; 1931, c. 12.)

Editor's Note.—By Acts of 1921, ch. 4, the words "savings bank, banking institutions or trust company doing business in this state" after the words "any bank" were omitted, evidently with no effect on the section. The word "start" in the section as it formerly stood was changed to "state," which seems to have originally been a typographical error. And lastly the provisions of the section for punishment were amended to the effect that either fine or imprisonment, or both, may now be imposed, instead of either one or the other, as the section provided before this last amendment.

The Act of 1931 inserted the words "or building and loan associations" in this section.

Art. 13(A). Injuring Others by Use of High Explosives

§ 4231(a). Willful injury a felony; punishment.—Any person who shall willfully and maliciously injure or attempt to injure any person, or any building in actual use for residential or business purposes or customarily devoted to any such use or any contents thereof, by the use of nitro-glycerine, dynamite, gunpowder, or other high explosive, shall be guilty of a felony and on conviction shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison for not less than five years and not more than thirty years. (1923, c. 80, s. 1.)

§ 4231(b). Conspiracy declared a felony; punishment.—If any two or more persons shall conspire to willfully and maliciously injure any person, or any building in actual use for residential or business purposes or customarily devoted to any such use or any contents thereof, by the use of nitroglycerine, dynamite, gunpowder, or other high explosive, each and every one so conspiring shall be guilty of a felony, and on conviction shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison for not less than two years and not more than fifteen years. (1923, c. 80, s. 2.)

SUBCHAPTER 5. OFFENSES AGAINST THE HABITATION AND OTHER BUILDINGS

Art. 14. Burglary and Other House-Breakings

§ 4232. First and second degree burglary.—There shall be two degrees in the crime of burglary as defined at the common law. If the crime be committed in a dwelling-house, or in a room used as a sleeping apartment in any building, and any person is in the actual occupation of any part of said dwelling-house or sleeping apartment at the time of the commission of such crime, it shall be burglary in the first degree. If such crime be committed in a dwelling-house or sleeping apartment not actually occupied by any one at the time of the commission of the crime, or if it be committed in any house within the curtilage of a dwelling-house or in any building not a dwelling-house, but in which is a room used as a sleeping apartment and not actually occupied as such at the time of the commission of the crime, it shall be burglary in the second degree. (Rev., s. 3331; 1889, c. 434, s. 1.)

Cross Reference.—As to power of an individual to arrest a burglar, see sec. 4543; as to what constitutes breaking, see 2 N. C. Enc. Dig. 723; as to buildings that can be burglarized, see 2 N. C. Enc. Dig. 720; as to time, see 2 N. C. Enc. Dig. 723; as to entry, see 2 N. C. Enc. Dig. 723.

In General.—The common law definition of burglary is a capital offense, i. e., the breaking into and entering of the "mansion or dwelling-house of another in the night-time, with an intent to commit a felony therein," whether the intent was executed after the burglarious act or not. This has been changed by this section dividing the crime into two degrees, first and second, with certain designated differences between them, with different punishment prescribed for each. State v. Allen, 186 N. C. 302, 119 S. E. 504.

The crime of burglary at common law was composed of five distinct elements, which were: (1), the breaking; (2), the entering; (3), that the breaking and entry be into a mansion house; (4), that the breaking and entering were in the nighttime, and (5), that the breaking and entering were with the intent to commit a felony. State v. Whit, 49 N. C. 349, 350.

Curtilage.—The meaning of the terms curtilage, is a piece of ground either inclosed or not, that is commonly used with the dwelling house. State v. Twitty, 2 N. C. 102.

Indictment Must Charge Intended Felony.—In order for an indictment to sustain a verdict of guilty of burglary in the first degree, it must not only charge the burglarious entry with the intent at the time, but must also charge the felony intended to be committed with sufficient definiteness, though the actual commission of the intended felony is not necessary to be charged or proven, or that it was committed at all. State v. Allen, 186 N. C. 302, 119 S. E. 504.

Same—Proof of a Different Intent.—An averment in an indictment for burglary, that the breaking was with the intent to commit larceny, is supported by proof that the entry was made with a purpose to commit a robbery. State v. Halford, 104 N. C. 874, 10 S. E. 524. The intent may be shown by circumstances. State v. McBryde, 97 N. C. 393.

Indictment Must Charge Occupancy. — The indictment charging the offense alleging that the dwelling-house was in the actual occupation of someone at the time of the commission of the crime, was not required at common law, nor under sec. 4234, but now, under the provisions of this section omission of that averment makes the indictment good only as an indictment for burglary in the second degree. State v. Fleming, 107 N. C. 905, 908, 12 S. E. 131.

Burglary can not be committed in a tent or booth erected in a market or fair, although the owner lodges in it. See 1 Hawk. pl. Cr., Ch. 38, § 35; 1 Hale pl. Cr. 559; Roscoe Cr. Ev., 300. State v. Jake, 60 N. C. 471.

Burglary in a Store with Sleeping Quarters.—The offense of burglary may be committed by breaking into a store if there are sleeping quarters in the store, for the sleeping there makes it a dwelling. State v. Foster, 129 N. C. 704, 40 S. E. 209.

Charging Elements of First and Second Degree.—Where a burglarious breaking into a dwelling-house has been charged in the bill of indictment, and the evidence tends only to establish the capital felony, an instruction to the jury that they might return a verdict of guilty in either degree is erroneous. State v. Allen, 186 N. C. 302, 119 S. E. 504.

Where there is evidence of a burglarious entry into a dwelling-house sufficient to convict of the capital offense, and also of the lesser offense, it is reversible error for the trial judge to refuse or neglect to charge the different elements of law relating to each of the separate offenses, though a verdict of guilty of the lesser offense might have been rendered, and this error is not cured under a general verdict of guilty of the greater offense. Id.

Discretionary Power of the Jury as to Degree.—The jury does not have the discretionary power to return a verdict of burglary in the second degree if all the evidence show burglary in the first degree. But under an indictment for burglary in the first degree a verdict of second degree burglary may be returned if the evidence shows such an offense. State v. Fleming, 107 N. C. 905, 12 S. E. 131.

Where, in the trial of an indictment for burglary, the evidence showed that the house in which the crime was committed was actually occupied at the time, a conviction of burglary in the second degree is not authorized. State v. Johnston, 119 N. C. 883, 26 S. E. 163; State v. Alston, 113 N. C. 666, 18 S. E. 692; see sec. 4641 and notes thereto.

One charged with burglary in the first degree and having admitted the entering and taking, the only question is whether it was done at nighttime, and the jury should not be charged that they could convict of a lesser offense as provided by this section, for the offense was either burglary in the first degree or larceny. State v. McKnight, 111 N. C. 690, 16 S. E. 319.

§ 4233. Punishment for burglary.—Any person convicted, according to due course of law, of the crime of burglary in the first degree shall suffer death, and any one so convicted of burglary in the second degree shall suffer imprisonment in the state's prison for life, or for a term of years, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3330; Code, s. 994; 1889, c. 434, s. 2; 1870-1, c. 222.)

As to discretionary power of jury to reduce penalty see note to preceding section.

Cited in State v. Lawrence, 199 N. C. 481, 154 S. E. 741.

§ 4234. Breaking out of dwelling-house burglary.—If any person shall enter the dwelling-house of another with intent to commit any felony or other infamous crime therein, or being in such dwelling-house, shall commit any felony or other infamous crime therein, and shall, in either case, break out of such dwelling-house in the nighttime, such person shall be guilty of burglary. (Rev., s. 3332; Code, s. 995; R. C., c. 34, s. 8; 12 Anne, c. 7, s. 3.)

As to discretionary power of jury to convict of a less offense, see note to sec. 4232.

Indictment Must Charge Breaking Out.—One charged by indictment of breaking into a house cannot be convicted of breaking out, and a charge of the court to that effect is error. State v. McPherson, 70 N. C. 239.

§ 4235. Breaking into or entering houses otherwise than burglariously.—If any person, with intent to commit a felony or other infamous crime therein, shall break or enter either the dwelling-house of another otherwise than by a burglarious breaking; or any storehouse, shop, warehouse, banking-house, counting-house or other building where any merchandise, chattel, money, valuable security or other personal property shall be; or any uninhabited house, he shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be imprisoned in the state's prison or county jail not less than four months nor more than ten years. (Rev., s. 3333; Code, s. 996; 1874-5, c. 166; 1879, c. 323.)

As to what constitutes breaking, see 2 N. C. Enc. Dig. 723. As to subject in general, see 2 N. C. Enc. Dig. 719.

Burglarious Intent Necessary. — Under the provisions of this section the burglarious, etc., intent of breaking into a storehouse, dwelling, etc., is necessary to a conviction. State v. Crisp, 188 N. C. 799, 125 S. E. 543.

Intent Must Be Shown.—In order to convict under this section it is necessary to show intent and a failure to show intent leaves no other course except acquittal. State v. Spear, 164 N. C. 452, 79 S. E. 869.

The case of State v. Hooker, 145 N. C. 581, 59 S. E. 866, is cited and it is said that the construction of the statute in that case, which is that intent should only apply to a breaking into an uninhabited house, was obiter dictum as that point was not raised in the case. Clark, C. J., dissents on the grounds that a conviction for a less offense should be sustained.—Ed. Note.

In State v. Crisp, 188 N. C. 799, 801, 125 S. E. 543, it is said: "The trial court was doubtless misled by the dictum in State v. Hooker, 145 N. C. 581, 582, 59 S. E. 866, to the effect that, as used in section 3333 of the Revisal, the words 'with intent to commit a felony or other infamous crime therein,' applied only to the clause with which it was closely connected, and not to all the clauses in the section; but this was expressly disapproved in State v. Spear, 164 N. C. 452, 79 S. E. 869. And, further, it should be noted that this section of the Revisal has been restated in accordance with the decision in the Spear case, brought forward as this section.

"Unlawfully Breaking" Charges Intent. — An indictment under this section for housebreaking, is sufficient when charging "that defendant did break and enter (otherwise than burglarous breaking) the storeroom and house, etc., with intent to commit a felony, to wit, with intent the goods, etc., etc., feloniously to steal, etc." and is not defective for the failure to allege that the breaking and entering was feloniously done, there being no distinction between the words "unlawfully breaking" and "entering with the intent to commit a felony." State v. Goffney, 157 N. C. 624, 73 S. E. 162.

Intent to Commit More Than One Offense.—An indictment entering a house with an intent to commit a felony or other infamous crime is not defective because it charges an intent to commit more than one offense. State v. Christmas, 101 N. C. 749, 8 S. E. 361.

Owner Procuring Act to Be Done.—In order to convict of housebreaking under this section there must have been an unlawful entry by the prisoner, and when the owner has procured the act to be done by the prisoner in company with and at the instance of the one selected by the owner for the purpose, the entry is lawful, and no crime is shown to have been committed, whatever the intent of the prisoner may have been at the time. State v. Goffney, 157 N. C. 624, 73 S. E. 162.

Entry without Breaking.—It is evident it was the intention of the Legislature to make it a penal offense to wilfully break into a store-house where merchandise, etc., is kept, or into an uninhabited house, or to willfully enter into a dwelling-house in the night otherwise than by breaking, with intent to commit a felony. State v. Hughes, 86 N. C. 662, 664.

Crime Therein Distinct from Breaking and Entering.—"Prosecution for larceny will not bar a subsequent prosecution for breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny, the larceny being necessarily distinct from the breaking and entering. State v. Ridley, 48 Iowa, 370; Fisher v. State, 46 Ala., 717; State v. Ford, 30 La. Ann. (Part I), 311; People v. Curtis, 76 Cal., 517; Smith v. State, 22 Tex. App., 350; Copenhaven v. State, 15 Ga. 64." State v. Hooker, 145 N. C. 581, 584, 59 S. E. 866.

Question for the Jury.—Under sec. 4543 a person seeing a felony committed, or it being committed in his presence, has power to arrest the offender. Where some one breaks into the garage of another and the owner of the garage is killed in trying to make the arrest, the question of the offense being committed in his presence should be submitted to the jury, especially where he could not identify the burglars at the time of breaking and pursues them a distance attempting to make the arrest. State v. Blackwelder, 182 N. C. 899, 109 S. E. 644.

Evidence Sufficient for Conviction.—Evidence that a cotton mill had been broken into and that goods taken therefrom had been found in defendant's possession within an hour or two thereafter, with further evidence of his unlawful possession, is sufficient for conviction, under the provisions of this section and defendant's demurrer to the State's evidence, or motion for dismissal thereon, is properly overruled. State v. Williams, 187 N. C. 492, 122 S. E. 13.

Evidence held sufficient to sustain conviction under this section. State v. Hargett, 196 N. C. 692, 146 S. E. 801.

Cited in State v. Ellsworth, 130 N. C. 690, 41 S. E. 548, in dissenting opinion State v. Gadberry, 117 N. C. 811, 23 S. E. 477; State v. Ratcliff, 199 N. C. 9, 11, 153 S. E. 605; State v. Setzer, 198 N. C. 663, 153 S. E. 118.

§ 4236. Preparation to commit burglary or other house-breakings.—If any person shall be found armed with any dangerous or offensive weapon, with the intent to break or enter a dwelling, or other building whatsoever, and to commit a felony or other infamous crime therein; or shall be found having in his possession, without lawful excuse, any pick-lock, key, bit or other implement of house-breaking; or shall be found in any such building, with intent to commit a felony or other infamous crime therein; such person shall be guilty of a felony and punished by fine or imprisonment in the state's prison, or both, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3334; Code, s. 997; 1907, c. 822.)

§ 4237. Breaking into or entering railroad cars.—If any person shall, with intent to commit larceny or other felony, break any seal upon a railroad car containing any goods, wares, freight or other thing of value, or shall unlawfully and willfully break or enter into any railroad car containing any goods, wares, freight or other thing of value, such person shall upon conviction be punished by confinement in the penitentiary in the discretion of the court for a term not exceeding five years. Any person found unlawfully in such car shall be presumed to have entered in violation of this section. (1907, c. 468.)

Cited in State v. Brown, 198 N. C. 41, 150 S. E. 635.

§ 4237(a). Burglary with explosives.—Any person who, with intent to commit crime, breaks and enters, either by day or by night, any building, whether inhabited or not, and opens or attempts to open any vault, safe, or other secure place by use of nitro-glycerine, dynamite, gunpowder, or by any other explosive, or acetylene torch, shall be deemed guilty of burglary with explosives. Any person convicted under this section shall be punished as for burglary in the second degree, as provided in section forty-two hundred and thirty-three. (1921, c. 5.)

Art. 15. Arson and Other Burnings

§ 4238. Punishment for arson.—Any person convicted according to due course of law of the crime of arson shall suffer death. (Rev., s. 3335; Code, s. 985; R. C., c. 34, s. 2; 1870-1, c. 222.)

Cross Reference.—As to buildings destroyed by a tenant, see sec. 2351 and notes. As to nature and elements, see 1 N. C. Enc. Dig. 965.

Editor's Note.—At common law arson was defined by Lord Coke as "the malicious and voluntary burning of the house of another by night or by day." "House" was meant to designate dwelling house and did not apply to barns and other buildings. Some of the states have extended the term so as to apply it to all property, and the common-law idea of "an offense against the security of the habitation" has been extended to an "offense against property." With this extension of application and meaning has come a change in the penalty, and but few states punish the offense by death.

In this state all offenses against property other than the habitation are covered by statutes making the offense punishable by imprisonment. So the offense that carries the death penalty is one against the habitation only and one that will greatly endanger human life.

By the act of 1869 the punishment for arson was confinement in the penitentiary, but by the act of 1871 a death penalty was fixed. In State v. Wise, 66 N. C. 120, the defendant was convicted and received the death sentence but judgment was arrested because the indictment did not specify which of the two acts it was found under. The failure to set out in the indictment the date of the offense left a question as to which of the statutes should apply as both of them provided punishment, one for offenses before April 4, 1871, the other for offenses after that date. Such a question would not arise today and offenders against the security of the habitation are subject to the death penalty.

Wood Must Be Charred.—Where the statute requires that the building be "burned" an indictment charging "setting fire to" is not sufficient for there can be a setting fire to without charring the wood, as required to constitute burning. But if the statute provides "setting fire to," the indictment charging "setting fire to and burning" is sufficient as the charge of burning is surplusage and not detrimental to the indictment. State v. Hall, 93 N. C. 571.

Cited in State v. Freeman, 197 N. C. 376, 148 S. E. 450.

§ 4239. Burning of certain public and other corporate buildings.—If any person shall willfully and maliciously burn the statehouse, or any of the public offices of the state, or any courthouse, jail, arsenal, clerk's office, register's office, or any house belonging to any county or incorporated town in the state or to any incorporated company whatever, in which are kept the archives, documents, or public papers of such county, town or corporation, he shall, on conviction, be imprisoned in the state's prison for not less than five nor more than ten years. (Rev., s. 3344; Code, s. 985, subsec. 3; R. C., c. 34, s. 7; 1830, c. 41, s. 1; 1868-9, c. 167, s. 5.)

The purpose of the statute is to protect houses from wilful injury, damage and defacement. State v. Bryan, 89 N. C. 531.

Intent Necessary.—"If the prisoner put fire to the jail, not with an intention of destroying it, he is not guilty under the act of assembly. But if he put fire to the jail and burnt it with an intent to burn it down and destroy it, he is guilty, notwithstanding the fire went out, or was put out by others before the intention of the prisoner was completed by burning down the jail; and this is the law, although his main intention was to escape." State v. Mitchell, 27 N. C. 350, 353.

§ 4240. Setting fire to schoolhouse.—If any person shall willfully set fire to any schoolhouse, or procure the same to be done, he shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction shall be punished by imprisonment in the state's prison or the county jail, and may also be fined, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3345; 1901, c. 4, s. 28; 1919, c. 70.)

§ 4241. Burning or attempting to burn certain bridges and buildings.—If any person, with intent to destroy the same, shall willfully and maliciously set fire to and burn any public bridge, or private toll-bridge, or the bridge of any incorporated company, or any fire-engine house, or any house belonging to any county or incorporated town, used for public purposes other than the keeping of archives, documents and public papers, or any house belonging to an incorporated company and used in the business of such company; or if any person shall willfully and maliciously attempt to burn any of such houses or bridges, or any of the houses or buildings mentioned in this article, the person offending shall be guilty of a felony and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state's prison or county jail for not less than four months nor more than ten years. (Rev., s. 3337; Code, s. 985, subsec. 4; R. C., c. 34, s. 30; 1825, c. 1278.)

City Market House.—A person charged with damaging a market house by fire must be tried under this section and not under a municipal ordinance as the general law must prevail over the ordinance, when they conflict. The municipal court would have jurisdiction only by express legislation conveying it. Washington v. Hammond, 76 N. C. 33.

§ 4242. Setting fire to churches and certain other buildings.—If any person shall wantonly and willfully set fire to or burn or cause to be burned, or aid, counsel or procure the burning of any church, chapel or meeting-house, or any stable, coach house, outhouse, warehouse, office, shop, mill, barn or granary, or to any building or erection used in carrying on any trade or manufacture, or any branch thereof, whether the same or any of them respectively shall then be in the possession of the offender, or in the possession of any other person, he shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be imprisoned in the state's prison for not less than two nor more than forty years. (Rev., s. 3338; 1885, c. 66; 1903, c. 665, s. 2; 1874-5, c. 228; Code, s. 958, subsec. 6; 1927, c. 11, s. 1.)

As to burning crops in fields, see sec. 4313.

I. In General.
II. Indictment.
III. Evidence.
IV. Question for Jury.

I. IN GENERAL.

Editor's Note.—By the amendment Public Laws 1927, c. 11, that part immediately after "set fire to" reading as follows "or burn or cause to be burned, or aid counsel or procure the burning of," was added.

Crime Fixed Herein Is Separate from That in § 4245(a).—A verdict of not guilty on a count brought under this section does not necessarily carry a verdict of not guilty on a second count brought under § 4245(a), the counts being separate and distinct and each requiring proof of facts which the other does not. State v. Pierce, 208 N. C. 47, 179 S. E. 8.

Barn Defined.—A building of hewn logs (twenty-six feet by fifteen), divided by a partition of the same, upon one side of which were horses and upon the other corn, oats and wheat (threshed and unthreshed), also hay, fodder, etc., having sheds adjoining, under which were wagons and other farming utensils, is a "barn" within the meaning of this section. State v. Cherry, 63 N. C. 493.

But a house seventeen feet long and twelve wide, setting on blocks in a stable yard, having two rooms in it—one quite small, used for storing nubbins and refuse corn to be first fed to the stock, and the other used for storing peas, oats, and other products of the farm—is not a barn within the meaning of the statute. State v. Laughlin, 53 N. C. 455.

II. INDICTMENT.

"Wantonly and Wilfully" Must Be Charged.—An indictment charged that the defendant "did unlawfully, wilfully and feloniously set fire to and burn a certain gin house, belonging to B. and in the possession of one G." Verdict of guilty and defendant moved in arrest of judgment for that this section had been amended (Laws 1885, Chapter 66,) by striking out the words "unlawfully and maliciously" and inserting in lieu thereof "wantonly and wilfully," and that the words used in the indictment are not synonymous with those required by the amended statute. The objection would be well taken if this indictment was sustainable only under this section. State v. Morgan, 98 N. C. 641, 3 S. E. 27; State v. Massey, 97 N. C. 465, 2 S. E. 445. But it is a valid indictment under section 4244, as was held in State v. Thorne, 81 N. C. 555, cited and followed by State v. Green, 92 N. C. 779. It seems to be the rule that "unlawfully and wilfully" do not answer the requirements under this section but under section 4244 it is sufficient in the indictment. State v. Pierce, 123 N. C. 745, 746, 31 S. E. 847.

Charge of Particular Intent Not Necessary.—An indictment for burning a mill, under this section, as amended by the Laws of 1885, Ch. 66, need not allege that the prisoner set fire to the mill with the intent to injure some particular person. State v. Rogers, 94 N. C. 860.

It was formerly the rule that an indictment under this section for burning a barn must aver that the act was done "with intent thereby to injure or defraud" some person. And an indictment for such offense at common law must charge that the barn contained hay or grain, or is a parcel of the dwelling house. State v. Porter, 90 N. C. 719.

Title to Property Immaterial.—In the indictment it is not necessary to set out that the burned property "was the property of" or "was in the possession of" anyone. The constituent element is "wilful and wanton." State v. Daniel, 121 N. C. 574, 28 S. E. 255.

Kind of Building Must Be Specified.—An indictment for burning a gin house will not lie under this section as a gin house is not specified. An indictment describing the subject of offense as "house" is sufficient to describe a dwelling, and "house" is only used to describe dwellings. This section applies only to specified buildings. State v. Thorne, 81 N. C. 555.

III. EVIDENCE.

In General.—Under an indictment for burning a barn evidence of bad blood for the owner of the barn, footprints, failure of defendant to go to fire when the remainder of the neighborhood was there, the hour defendant arose, and his acts when notified of the fire is admissible and is sufficient to sustain a verdict of guilty. State v. Allen, 149 N. C. 458, 62 S. E. 597.

Admissibility.—On trial under indictment under this section for burning a barn to collect fire insurance thereon evidence that the defendant at another place, at some indefinite time in the past, had another barn to burn, is incompetent and does not come within the exceptions to the general rule, there being no causal relation between the two fires, or logical or natural connection between them, and not a part of same transaction. State v. Deadmon, 195 N. C. 705, 143 S. E. 514.

Motive or Intent.—"It is not always necessary to show either a motive or an intent, for in some offenses the intent to do the forbidden act is the criminal intent, and the act committed with that intent constitutes the crime. If the person has done the act which in itself is a violation of the law, he will not be heard to say that he did not have the intent. State v. King, 86 N. C. 603; State v. Voight, 90 N. C. 741; State v. Smith, 93 N. C. 516; State v. McBrayer, 98 N. C. 619, 2 S. E. 755; State v. McLean, 121 N. C. 589, 28 S. E. 140, 42 L. R. A., 721. But this principle does not apply when the act is itself equivocal and becomes criminal only by reason of the intent." State v. Morgan, 136 N. C. 628, 629, 48 S. E. 670.

Bad Feeling.—It is entirely competent for the State to show motive upon the part of the defendant to burn a barn occupied and used by the witness, and to that end it was proper to show that bad feeling existed, and the reason for it, but that part of a reply of a witness in which he stated that defendant had been convicted of stealing and sent to the chain gang should be excluded and the jury carefully cautioned not to regard it as it puts the character of the defendant in issue. State v. Barrett, 151 N. C. 665, 666, 65 S. E. 894..

Where the only evidence against a person accused of burning a barn is threats made by him, without any evidence connecting him with the execution of said threats, or with the offense charged, the trial judge should withdraw the case from the jury. State v. Freeman, 131 N. C. 725, 42 S. E. 575.

The proof of threats directed against the son and grandson, from their near relationship to the owner of a burned house, is relevant, though perhaps feeble, in showing general ill will to the family and a motive for the act. State v. Rash, 34 N. C. 382; State v. Gailor, 71 N. C. 88; State v. Green, 92 N. C. 779; State v. Thompson, 97 N. C. 496, 498, 1 S. E. 921.

Same—Toward Agent.—Ill will toward an agent of the owner of a building is not sufficient to show motive for setting fire to the building, as such evidence is too remote. State v. Battle, 126 N. C. 1036, 35 S. E. 624.

Clark, J., dissents on the ground that malice toward the owner is not necessary to constitute the offense, and though the ill will was remote it was a circumstance to show motive.

Proof of Title Not Necessary.—"Ownership is alleged only to identify the property, and is sufficiently proved by showing occupancy. State v. Daniel, 121 N. C. 574, 576, 28 S. E. 255; State v. Thompson, 97 N. C. 496, S. E. 921; State v. Jaynes, 78 N. C. 504, 507; State v. Gailor, 71 N. C. 88." State v. Sprouse, 150 N. C. 860, 861, 64 S. E. 900.

"This section is copied from the English Statute of 7 and 8 Geo. IV., c. 30; and under that it was sufficient to allege the building simply 'of' A. (Archb. Cr. Pl. [3d Am. Ed.] 262, and lxiv.); and this is the better practice, proof of either possession or property being sufficient identification." State v. Daniel, 121 N. C. 574, 577, 28 S. E. 255.

Subsequent Attempt to Fire Another Building.—Where the defendant was indicted for setting fire to an outhouse, evidence is competent to show that at the same time an attempt was made to fire a dwelling-house near it, the evidence directly connecting the defendant with the latter attempt. State v. Thompson, 97 N. C. 496, 1 S. E. 921.

Blood Hounds.—On the trial of defendant for burning a barn, the tracing by the bloodhounds some two hours later of a track leading from the rear of the barn to defendant's residence, together with the identification of the track as that of defendant by one of his shoes, with evidence of motive, is sufficient evidence of guilt to take the case to the jury. State v. Thompson, 192 N. C. 704, 135 S. E. 775.

IV. QUESTION FOR JURY.

Must Be Sufficient Evidence.—The general rule is, if there be any evidence tending to prove the fact in issue the weight of it must be left to the jury, but if there be no evidence conducing to that conclusion the Judge should say so, and, in a criminal case, direct an acquittal. In State v. Vinson, 63 N. C. 335, it is said: "But it is confessedly difficult to draw the line between evidence which is very slight, and that which, as having no bearing on the fact to be proved, is in relation to that fact no evidence at all." The evidence must be more than sufficient to raise a suspicion or a conjecture. State v. Rhodes, 111 N. C. 647, 650, 15 S. E. 1038.

Where, in a prosecution under this section, the evidence fails to establish the felonious origin of the fire or the identity of the defendant as the one who committed the offense charged, or circumstances from which these facts might reasonably be inferred, it is insufficient to be submitted to the jury. State v. Church, 202 N. C. 692, 163 S. E. 874.

On trial for wilfully and wantonly burning a barn in violation of this section, evidence of the felonious origin of the fire and of the identity of the defendant as the culprit is sufficient to be submitted to the jury that defendant had committed the crime, the corpus delicti being reasonably inferable from the circumstances, there being evidence that a fresh boot track found at the scene of the crime was made by defendant's boot, and that defendant failed to answer charges of his brother, made in the presence of officers, under circumstances calling for a reply. State v. Wilson, 205 N. C. 376, 171 S. E. 338.

Intent.—It is prima facie presumed that a person intended the natural consequence of his act when he set fire to a building. But this is subject to rebuttal by evidence to the contrary and then "intent" becomes a question for the jury. State v. Phifer, 90 N. C. 721.

Alibi.—The burden of proving an alibi does not rest on the prisoner, but the burden of proving the guilt of the prisoner rests on the state. It is for the jury to decide, and it is only necessary for the prisoner to offer enough evidence to produce in the mind of the jury a reasonable doubt. State v. Jaynes, 78 N. C. 504.

§ 4243. Burning boats and barges.—If any person, with the intent to destroy the same, shall willfully and maliciously, or for a fraudulent purpose, set fire to and burn any boat, barge or float, whether he be the owner thereof or not, he shall be guilty of a felony and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state's prison for not less than four months nor more than ten years, or fined in the discretion of the court. (1909, c. 854.)

§ 4244. Burning of gin-houses, tobacco houses and stables.—Every person convicted of the willful burning of any gin-house or tobacco house, or any part thereof, or, in the nighttime, of any stable containing a horse or a mule, or cattle, shall be imprisoned in the state's prison not less than two nor more than ten years. (Rev., s. 3341; 1863, c. 17; 1868-9, c. 167, s. 5; 1903, c. 665, s. 1; Code, s. 985, subsec. 2.)

As to burning crops in the field, see section 4313.

Indictment in General. — Any informality will not be grounds for quashing proceeding if the charge is set out in a clear manner and enough matter appears to enable the court to proceed to judgment, see sec. 4623. Judgments will not be vitiated for failure to aver certain unnecessary matter, see section 4625. State v. Rogers, 168 N. C. 112, 83 S. E. 161,

Necessity of Alleging "Wilful Burning."—In the case of State v. Thorne, 81 N. C. 555, there was an indictment for unlawfully, maliciously and feloniously burning a ginhouse. The court was asked to charge the jury that the defendant could not be convicted under the act of 1869, because the burning was not charged to have been wilfully done. The court held that the word maliciously was more comprehensive and included wilfully. State v. Green, 92 N. C. 779, 783.

"Nighttime" Must Be Alleged.—An indictment which omits to allege that the burning was in the "nighttime," is defective. State v. England, 78 N. C. 552.

Necessity of Showing Motive.—It is never indispensable to a conviction that a motive for the commission of the crime should appear. But when the State has to rely upon circumstantial evidence to establish the guilt to the defendant, it is not only competent, but often very important, in strengthening the evidence for the prosecution, to show a motive for committing the crime. State v. Green, 92 N. C. 779, 782.

§ 4245. Fraudulently setting fire to dwelling-houses.—If any person, being the occupant of any building used as a dwelling-house, whether such person be the owner thereof or not, or, being the owner of any building designed or intended as a dwelling-house shall willfully and wantonly or for a fraudulent purpose set fire to or burn or cause to be burned, or aid, counsel or procure the burning of such building, he shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state's prison or county jail, and may also be fined, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3340; Code, s. 985; 1903, c. 665, s. 3; 1909, c. 862; 1927, c. 11, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—By the amendment Public Laws 1927, c. 11, that part of the section immediately following "set fire to" reading as follows "or burn or cause to be burned, or aid, counsel or procure the burning of," was added.

Specifying Particular Fraudulent Purpose.—Where in a prosecution under this section the indictment charges that the defendant burned his dwelling-house for the fraudulent purpose of obtaining insurance money thereon, and the court charges the jury that if they should find beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did the act charged for a fraudulent purpose, it was not necessary for the bill of indictment to specify any particular fraudulent purpose, and the unnecessary allegation in the bill is not, necessarily, fatal. State v. Morrison, 202 N. C. 60, 161 S. E. 725.

Sufficiency of Evidence.—Evidence that fire in defendant's house started in a closet in which was hanging a quilt soaked in kerosene, that kindling wood was on the floor of the closet, that the closet had no ceiling, but opened at the top into the attic, that defendant was being pressed to pay installments on the mortgage on the house, and was threatened with foreclosure, with other incriminating circumstantial evidence, establishes a motive and an opportunity for the defendant to commit the crime, and that the fire was of incendiary origin, and is sufficient to be submitted to the jury in a prosecution under this section. State v. Moses, 207 N. C. 139, 176 S. E. 267.

Cited in State v. Kluttz, 206 N. C. 726, 727, 175 S. E. 81.

§ 4245(a). Willful and malicious burning of personal property.—Any person who shall willfully or maliciously burn, or cause to be burned, or aid, counsel, or procure the burning of any goods, wares, merchandise, or other chattels or personal property of any kind, whether the same shall be at the time insured, by any person, or corporation against loss or damage by fire, or not, with intent to injure or prejudice the insurer, creditor or the person owning the property, or any other person, whether the same be the property of such person or another, shall be guilty of felony. (1921, c. 119.)

See the note to § 4242.

§ 4246. Attempting to burn dwelling-houses and certain other buildings.—If any person shall willfully attempt to burn any dwelling-house, uninhabited house, barn, stable or outhouse, or any mill, manufacturing house, cotton gin, tobacco barn, granary or turpentine distillery, the property of another, he shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state's prison or county jail, and may also be fined, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3336; Code, s. 985, subsec. 7; 1876-7, c. 13.)

See notes to section 4244.

In General.—A conviction for burning a ginhouse can be had either under this section or section 4244, all that is required is a clear statement of the charge and because of sections 4623, 4625 if sufficient matter is set out in the charge, the proceedings will not be quashed, because of use of terms that have the same meaning as those used in the statute. If the punishment does not exceed that prescribed by either section it is immaterial under which section the conviction was had. State v. Rogers, 168 N. C. 112, 83 S. E. 161.

§ 4247. Failure of owner of property to comply with orders of public authorities.—If the owner or occupant of any building or premises shall fail to comply with the orders of the chief of the fire department, or of the insurance commissioner, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars for each day's neglect. (Rev., s. 3343; 1899, c. 58, s. 4.)

§ 4248. Failure of officers to investigate incendiary fires.—If any town or city officer shall fail, neglect or refuse to comply with any of the requirements of the law in regard to the investigation of incendiary fires, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and may be fined not less than twenty-five nor more than two hundred dollars. (Rev., s. 3342; 1899, c. 58, s. 5.)

SUBCHAPTER 6. OFFENSES AGAINST PROPERTY

Art. 16. Larceny

§ 4249. Distinction between grand and petit larceny abolished.—All distinctions between petit and grand larceny, where the same has had the benefit of clergy, are abolished; and the offense of felonious stealing, where no other punishment shall be specifically prescribed therefor by statute, shall be punished as petit larceny is: Provided, that in cases of much aggravation, or of hardened offenders, the court may, in its discretion, sentence the offender to the state's prison for a period not exceeding ten years. (Rev., s. 3500; Code, s. 1075; R. C., c. 34, s. 26.)

Cross Reference.—As to larceny in general, see 8 N. C. Enc. Dig. 613; as to horse stealing, see section 4260; as to cotton stealing, see section 4467; as to certifying when second offense, see section 4617.

Intent Necessary.—"To constitute the crime of larceny, there must be an original, felonious intent, general or special, at the time of the taking. If such intent be present, no subsequent act or explanation can change the felonious character of the original act. But if the requisite intent be not present, the taking is only a trespass, and it cannot be felony by any subsequent misconduct or bad faith on the part of the taker. State v. Arkle, 116 N. C. 1017, 1031, 21 S. E. 408." State v. Holder, 188 N. C. 561, 563, 125 S. E. 113.

Stolen Property Must Be Designated in Indictment. — "There is required a reasonable certainty in the designation of stolen property to enable the defendant to know and meet the specific charge if he can, and to protect himself if he cannot, from a second prosecution for the same offense." State v. Clark, 30 N. C. 226; State v. Horan, 61 N. C. 571; State v. Bragg, 86 N. C. 688, 690.

Evidence Must Sustain Charge.—A charge of stealing two barrels of turpentine is not supported by proof of the taking of that quantity from the box cut in the tree to receive and hold the descending sap. State v. Moore, 33 N. C. 70; State v. Bragg, 86 N. C. 688, 690.

One Act Two Offences.—A person committing larceny from the person, upon two persons at the same time may be tried and convicted for both offences. State v. Bynum, 117 N. C. 749, 23 S. E. 218; State v. Bynum, 117 N. C. 752, 23 S. E. 219.

Accessories Abolished.—There are no accessories to larceny. All that counsel and aid are guilty of the offence as principals. State v. Gaston, 73 N. C. 93.

Larceny and Malicious Mischief Distinguished. — An indictment for larceny at common law for stealing a cow is not supported by proof that the defendant shot the cow down and then cut off her ears. Such an act is not larceny, but malicious mischief. State v. Butler, 65 N. C. 309, cited in note in 29 L. R. A., N. S., 40. See section 4264.

Exclusive Jurisdiction in Superior Court.—"Under the general law all misdemeanors are punishable by fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the Superior Court, so by the Constitution the jurisdiction over such offenses appertains exclusively to the Superior Courts, unless some statute has limited the punishment to a fine not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisonment not exceeding one month. Art. IV, sec. 15. (Amended Const., Art. IV, sec. 25)." Washington v. Hammond, 76 N. C. 33, 35.

§ 4250. Receiving stolen goods.—If any person shall receive any chattel, property, money, valuable security or other thing whatsoever, the stealing or taking whereof amounts to larceny or a felony, either at common law or by virtue of any statute made or hereafter to be made, such person knowing the same to have been feloniously stolen or taken, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and may be indicted and convicted, whether the felon stealing and taking such chattels, property, money, valuable security or other thing, shall or shall not have been previously convicted, or shall or shall not be amenable to justice; and any such receiver may be dealt with, indicted, tried and punished in any county in which he shall have, or shall have had, any such property in his possession or in any county in which the thief may be tried, in the same manner as such receiver may be dealt with, indicted, tried, and punished in the county where he actually received such chattel, money, security, or other thing; and such receivers shall be punished as one convicted of larceny. (Rev., s. 3507; Code, s. 1074; R. C., c. 34, s. 56; 1797, c. 485, s. 2.)

Included in Indictment for Larceny Charge.—An indictment for larceny if concluded at common law may include two counts, one for larceny, the other for receiving stolen goods. The count for receiving stolen goods must conclude against this section. If the offence of larceny charged is punishable by statute with a sentence greater than is provided by this section and if the count charging larceny concludes against the statute the two counts can not be joined, as the punishment is different, but if the count charging larceny concludes at common law, which provided whipping, the two counts may be joined, for by abolishing whipping the punishment for the two offences was made the same. State v. Lawrence, 81 N. C. 522, 523.

A judgment upon a general verdict of guilty upon an indictment containing two counts—one for horse stealing, under sec. 4260, and the other for receiving, under this section, is erroneous—the offenses not being of the same grade and the punishment being different. State v. Goings, 98 N. C. 766, 4 S. E. 121.

Felonious intent in receiving stolen goods with knowledge at the time that they had been stolen is necessary to a conviction under this section, and a charge which fails to submit the question of such intent to the jury entitled defendant to a new trial. State v. Morrison, 207 N. C. 804, 178 S. E. 562.

Interest Not Necessary for Conviction.—It is not necessary that one receiving stolen goods do it for the purpose of making them his own or to derive profit from them, if he receives them to help the thief, as a friendly act he is nevertheless guilty. State v. Rushing, 69 N. C. 29.

Goods Received Through Agent.—If stolen goods are received by an agent of the accused, at his instance that is sufficient to sustain a conviction if he knew that they were stolen goods. State v. Stroud, 95 N. C. 626.

Failure to Prove Ownership of Property.—In a prosecution under this section where there was no evidence on the record tending to show that the property alleged to have been stolen was that of the owner named in the indictment, the defendant's motion for dismissal or nonsuit should be allowed. State v. Pugh, 196 N. C. 725, 147 S. E. 7.

The inference or presumption arising from the recent possession of stolen property, without more, does not extend to the charge of this section of receiving said property knowing it to have been feloniously stolen or taken. State v. Best, 202 N. C. 9, 10, 161 S. E. 535; State v. Lowe, 204 N. C. 572, 573, 169 S. E. 180.

Accessories Abolished.—By abolishing the distinction between petit and grand larceny the offense of accessory after the fact was also abolished, and one receiving stolen goods is treated and punished as principal. State v. Tyler, 85 N. C. 569.

Verdict Need Not Specify Value of Goods.—In a prosecution under this section, it is not required that the jury should determine the value of the goods in its verdict. State v. Morrison, 207 N. C. 804, 178 S. E. 562.

Defective Verdict.—Where the verdict in an indictment under this section is "guilty of receiving stolen goods," it is defective as not being responsive to the charge or falling within the requirements of the statute to constitute the offense made in the indictment, and thereon a judgment may not be entered or a sentence imposed. State v. Shaw, 194 N. C. 690, 140 S. E. 621.

Same—Failure to Charge as to Guilty Knowledge. — Where the evidence is conflicting as to whether the defendant knew at the time of receiving goods that they were stolen, and the charge of the court fails to instruct that finding of such knowledge was necessary for conviction, the verdict of guilty without finding that the defendant possessed such knowledge at the time he received the goods is defective, and a venire de novo will be ordered on appeal. State v. Barbee, 197 N. C. 248, 148 S. E. 249.

Punishment. — Receiving stolen goods is only a misdemeanor under this section but it may be punished as larceny at the discretion of the court. State v. Brite, 73 N. C. 26.

Cited in dissenting opinion in State v. Kittelle, 110 N. C. 560, 15 S. E. 103; State v. Brown, 198 N. C. 41, 150 S. E. 635; Factor v. Laubenheimer, 290 U. S. 276, 299, 54 S. Ct. 191, 78 L. Ed. 151.

§ 4251. Larceny of property, or the receiving of stolen goods, not exceeding twenty dollars in value.—The larceny of property, or the receiving of stolen goods knowing them to be stolen, of the value of not more than twenty dollars, is hereby declared a misdemeanor and the punishment therefor shall be in the discretion of the court. If the larceny is from the person, or from the dwelling by breaking and entering, this section shall have no application: Provided, that this section shall not apply to horse stealing. In all cases of doubt the jury shall, in the verdict, fix the value of the property stolen. (Rev., s. 3506; 1895, c. 285; 1913, c. 118, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the amendment of 1913 there was no express provision in this section making it inapplicable to breaking and entering a house at night and stealing less than $20. The section provided that it should not apply if the larceny was from the person or from a house in the daytime. In the case of State v. Shuford, 152 N. C. 809, 67 S. E. 923, the prisoner was indicted for burglary and was convicted of larceny, and was sentenced to three years imprisonment. It was contended by defendant that as this section provided for only one year punishment for larceny of property valued less than $20 the sentence should be for no more than one year. The Court construed the section liberally and by the nature of the offence and in the light of section 4249, providing for discretionary sentences for hardened criminals, decided that the legislature did not intend to give a longer sentence to daytime breakers than nighttime breakers, and the judgment of the lower court was sustained.

In the case of In re Holley, 154 N. C. 163, 69 S. E. 872, the question of punishment under this section again arose, and the court followed the rule laid down in State v. Shuford setting out additional grounds for the ruling; that this section only provided punishment for misdemeanors and that under section 4172 and section 4173 the punishment in all cases unless otherwise provided would be from 4 months to ten years. By the amendment of 1913 this section was made to cover all cases of such nature and remove any ground for contention as to how it should be construed in such cases.

Indictment for Larceny from the Person.—It is not necessary for the indictment to allege that the larceny was from the person for it to be shown. State v. Bynum, 117 N. C. 749, 23 S. E. 218.

Exclusive Jurisdiction in Superior Court.—The crime of larceny is a felony punishable in the State's Prison, and a recorder's court, not having jurisdiction thereof, may not make orders disposing of a juvenile "delinquent" under the statute providing for reclamation of such, whether the offense be termed therein a misdemeanor or otherwise, Const., Art. I, secs. 12 and 13; and when such has been attempted, it will be disregarded upon conviction of this offense in the Superior Court having jurisdiction. State v. Newell, 172 N. C. 933, 90 S. E. 594.

Larceny from the person regardless of the value of the property is within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Superior Court, as punishment under section 4249 may be as much as ten years. State v. Brown, 150 N. C. 867, 64 S. E. 775.

Applied in State v. Davidson, 124 N. C. 839, 32 S. E. 957.

Cited in State v. Corpening, 207 N. C. 805, 178 S. E. 564.

§ 4252. Jurisdiction of the superior courts in cases of larceny and receiving stolen goods.—The superior courts shall have exclusive jurisdiction of the trial of all cases of the larceny of property or the receiving of stolen goods knowing them to be stolen, of the value of more than twenty dollars. (1913, c. 118, s. 2.)

See notes to § 4251.

§ 4253. Larceny by servants and other employees.—If any servant or other employee, to whom any money, goods or other chattels, or any of the articles, securities or choses in action mentioned in the following section, by his master shall be delivered safely to be kept to the use of his master, shall withdraw himself from his master and go away with such money, goods or other chattels, or any of the articles, securities or choses in action mentioned as aforesaid, or any part thereof, with intent to steal the same and defraud his master thereof, contrary to the trust and confidence in him reposed by his said master; or if any servant, being in the service of his master, without the assent of his master, shall embezzle such money, goods, chattels, or any of the articles, securities or choses in action mentioned as aforesaid, or any part thereof, or otherwise convert the same to his own use, with like purpose to steal them, or to defraud his master thereof, the servant so offending shall be fined or imprisoned in the state prison or county jail not less than four months nor more than ten years, at the discretion of the court: Provided, that nothing contained in this section shall extend to apprentices or servants within the age of sixteen years. (Rev., s. 3499; Code, s. 1065; R. C., c. 34, s. 18; 21 Hen. VIII, c. 7, ss. 1, 2.)

As to embezzlement, see sections 4268 et seq.

Servant Defined. — In a strict sense all employees are servants but the term servant is usually applied, and meant to apply to one of menial rank. State v. Higgins, 1 N. C. 36.

Trust Relation Necessary.—A person employed as a clerk, who takes goods from his employer's store and sends them to another at a distance to be sold cannot be convicted under this statute as there was no parting with possession by the owner which brought about a trust relation. State v. Higgins, 1 N. C. 36.

Trust Relation Must Be Alleged.—In an indictment under this section, it is necessary to allege that the property was received and held by the defendant in trust, or for the use of the owner, and being so held it was feloniously converted or made way with by the servant or agent. State v. Wilson, 101 N. C. 730, 7 S. E. 872.

Averment of Age.—"The averment that the defendant, when committing the act, was not within—that is, was of the age of eighteen years or more, and thus negatives that she was under sixteen years of age—does not invalidate the indictment, although the negative goes beyond the statutory requirement, for the greater includes the less." State v. Wilson, 101 N. C. 730, 734, 7 S. E. 872.

Cited in State v. Connelly, 104 N. C. 794, 797, 10 S. E. 469.

§ 4254. Larceny of chose in action.—If any person shall feloniously steal, take and carry away, or take by robbery, any bank-note, check or other order for the payment of money issued by or drawn on any bank or other society or corporation within this state or within any of the United States, or any treasury warrant, debenture, certificate of stock or other public security, or certificate of stock in any corporation, or any order, bill of exchange, bond, promissory note or other obligation, either for the payment of money or for the delivery of specific articles, being the property of any other person, or of any corporation (notwithstanding any of the said particulars may be termed in law a chose in action), such felonious stealing, taking and carrying away, or taking by robbery, shall be a felony of the same nature and degree and in the same manner as it would have been if the offender had feloniously stolen, or taken by robbery, money, goods or property of any value, and the offender for every such offense shall suffer the same punishment and be subject to the same pains, penalties and disabilities as he should or might have suffered if he had feloniously stolen or taken by robbery money, goods or other property of value. (Rev., s. 3498; Code, s. 1064; R. C., c. 34, s. 20; 1811, c. 814, s. 1.)

As to sufficiency of description of stolen money, in indictment, see section 4619.

Treasury Notes.—Treasury notes issued by the United States Treasury Department are covered by this statute as they are "public securities." Although a class of securities issued after the enactment of the statute they are subject to larceny the same as any other note issued after the enactment. State v. Thompson, 71 N. C. 146.

Due-Bills.—While a "due-bill' is not a promissory note, and negotiable by endorsement, it is within the meaning of the words, "or other obligation," in this section. The larceny of such a paper is indictable. State v. Campbell, 103 N. C. 344, 9 S. E. 410.

A pension check on the United States treasury comes under this section. State v. Bishop, 98 N. C. 773, 4 S. E. 357.

Larceny of the Instrument and Paper Distinguished. — When a person is indicted for stealing a promissory note or any other chose in action, it is upon the state to prove the larceny of the instrument, and proof of larceny of a piece of paper is not sufficient. If the instrument has been paid the indictment charging only larceny of a chose in action is not sufficient to convict. If the indictment charges larceny of the paper on which it is written the payment can not effect a conviction for larceny of the paper. State v. Campbell, 103 N. C. 344, 9 S. E. 410.

Charter of Bank Issuing Immaterial.—If a stolen note was issued by a bank within one of the United States, it is within the letter of the act, and there can not be the slightest doubt but that it is also within its spirit and meaning. The act is silent as to the authority by which the bank must be chartered, and the mischief of stealing one of its notes from a bona fide holder is the same, whether it derived its existence from an act of Congress or from the Legislature of New York. State v. Banks, 61 N. C. 577, 578.

Authority to Issue Must Be Set Out in Indictment.—An indictment, charging the stealing of a bank note of a certain denomination and value, without setting forth by what authority such note was issued, is not sufficient to authorize judgment on a conviction. State v. Brown, 53 N. C. 443.

An indictment for larceny which describes the thing stolen, as "one promissory note issued by the treasury department of the government of the United States for the payment of one dollar," is in that respect sufficient. State v. Fulford, 61 N. C. 563.

Amount Must Be Set Out.—An indictment for stealing a bank note is sufficient if it states the amount of the note and what bank it was drawn on. Some cases hold that the mere statement of the amount of the note is sufficient description. State v. Rout, 10 N. C. 618.

Cited in State v. Freeman, 89 N. C. 469.

§ 4255. Larceny, mutilation, or destruction of public records and papers.—If any person shall steal, or for any fraudulent purpose shall take from its place of deposit for the time being, or from any person having the lawful custody thereof, or shall unlawfully and maliciously obliterate, injure or destroy any record, writ, return, panel, process, interrogatory, deposition, affidavit, rule, order or warrant of attorney or any original document whatsoever, of or belonging to any court of record, or relating to any matter, civil or criminal, begun, pending or terminated in any such court, or any bill, answer, interrogatory, deposition, affidavit, order or decree or any original document whatsoever, of or belonging to any court or relating to any cause or matter begun, pending or terminated in any such court, every such offender shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; and in any indictment for such offense it shall not be necessary to allege that the article, in respect to which the offense is committed, is the property of any person or that the same is of any value. If any person shall steal or for any fraudulent purpose shall take from the register's office, or from any person having the lawful custody thereof, or shall unlawfully and willfully obliterate, injure or destroy any book wherein deeds or other instruments of writing are registered, or any other book of registration or record required to be kept by the register of deeds or shall unlawfully destroy, obliterate, deface or remove any records of proceedings of the board of county commissioners, or unlawfully and fraudulently abstract any record, receipt, order or voucher or other paper-writing required to be kept by the clerk of the board of commissioners of any county, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3508; Code, s. 1071; R. C., c. 34, s. 31; 8 Hen. VI, c. 12, s. 3; 1881, c. 17.)

In General.—An indictment will lie under this section for changing, injuring or obliterating tax books, and the oral testimony of the register of deeds is competent to show the amount of the abstract made by him and sent to the auditor, the changed amount, and the acts of the deputy sheriff, as circumstances to show his guilt. State v. Gouge, 157 N. C. 602, 72 S. E. 994.

Nomenclature does not always determine the grade or class of a crime; a felony is a crime which is or may be punishable either by death or by imprisonment in the State prison and any other crime is a misdemeanor. Calling an offense a misdemeanor does not make it so when the punishment imposed makes it a felony and construed with § 4173 the offense prescribed by this section is punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary, and therefore a felony. State v. Harwood, 206 N. C. 87, 89, 173 S. E. 24.

Must Show Offense Committed on Day of Opportunity.—On a trial under this section for the destruction of certain pages of a book in the office of the register of deeds, wherein the defendant's interest in so doing has been shown, it is required of the State to show that the offense was committed on the day the defendant had an opportunity to commit the offense, and a margin of several weeks, in which the offense might have been committed, during which time the books were open to the public generally, is insufficient evidence to be submitted to the jury, and defendant's motion as of nonsuit should have been allowed. State v. Swinson, 196 N. C. 100, 144 S. E. 555.

§ 4256. Larceny, concealment or destruction of wills.—If any person, either during the life of the testator or after his death, shall steal or, for any fraudulent purpose, shall destroy or conceal any will, codicil or other testamentary instrument, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3510; Code, s. 1072; R. C., c. 34, s. 32.)

Obviously the basis for making the fraudulent suppression of a will a crime as provided by this section is the fact that it is the policy of the law that wills should be probated, and that the rights of the parties in cases of dispute should be openly arrived at according to the orderly process of law. Wells v. Odum, 207 N. C. 226, 228, 176 S. E. 563.

§ 4257. Larceny of ungathered crops.—If any person shall steal or feloniously take and carry away any maize, corn, wheat, rice or other grain, or any cotton, tobacco, potatoes, peanuts, pulse, fruit, vegetable or other product cultivated for food or market, growing, standing or remaining ungathered in any field or ground, he shall be guilty of larceny, and shall be punished accordingly. (Rev., s. 3503; Code, s. 1069; 1811, c. 816; R. C., c. 34, s. 21; 1868-9, c. 251.)

At Common Law.—"By the common law, larceny can not be committed of things which savor of the realty, and are at the time they are taken a part of the freehold, such as corn and the produce of land. 2 Russell Crimes, 136; State v. Foy, 82 N. C. 679." State v. Thompson, 93 N. C. 537, 538.

What Indictment Must Allege.—On trial of an indictment for larceny charging the defendant with stealing "seed cotton and lint cotton," evidence that defendant took the gleanings of the cotton from the field, is not admissible. To render such evidence competent, the indictment should be framed under the statute, and described the crop as "growing, standing or ungathered" in the field, and cultivated for food or market. State v. Bragg, 86 N. C. 688.

In the case of State v. Liles, 78 N. C. 496, the defendant was indicted for the larceny of figs, "remaining ungathered in a certain field," etc., and the words "cultivated for food or market," were omitted, and it was held by this Court that the indictment, for that reason, was fatally defective. State v. Thompson, 93 N. C. 537, 539.

Indictment Must Conclude Against the Statute.—An indictment for larceny of growing cabbage must conclude against the statute, and a failure to so conclude makes the indictment one at common law. As the offence at common law was not larceny but only a civil trespass there can be no judgment. State v. Foy, 82 N. C. 679.

Applies to All Crops.—This section applies to any growing crops cultivated for food or market, and is not restricted to several articles specifically named. State v. Ballard, 97 N. C. 443, 1 S. E. 685.

Exclusive Jurisdiction of Superior Court.—The punishment for an offence under this section is greater than a justice of the peace can adjudge under the Constitution Art. IV sec. 5. State v. Cherry, 72 N. C. 123, therefore exclusive jurisdiction is vested in the Superior Court. State v. Graham, 76 N. C. 195.

§ 4258. Larceny of ginseng.—If any person shall take and carry away, or shall aid in taking or carrying away, any ginseng growing upon the lands of another person, with intent to steal the same, he shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be imprisoned not less than two years nor more than five years, in the discretion of the court: Provided, that such ginseng, at the time the same is taken, shall be in beds and the land upon which such beds are located shall be surrounded by a lawful fence. (Rev., s. 3502; 1905, c. 211.)

As to digging ginseng, see section 4510.

§ 4259. Larceny of wood and other property from land.—If any person, not being the present owner or bona fide claimant thereof, shall willfully and unlawfully enter upon the lands of another, carrying off or being engaged in carrying off any wood or other kind of property whatsoever, growing or being thereon, the same being the property of the owner of the premises, or under his control, keeping or care, such person shall, if the act be done with felonious intent, be guilty of larceny, and punished as for that offense; and if not done with such intent, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3511; Code, s. 1070; 1866, c. 60.)

Cross Reference.—As to trespass on land after being forbidden, see section 4305. As to other property, see 8 N. C Enc. Dig. 619. As to regulations by certain counties, see sections 4307, 4308. As to forcible entry and detainer see sec. 4300.

In General.—This section and section 4305 were enacted immediately after the Civil War to protect land owners from aimless wanderers who entered land without force, but often did great damage. It was not intended to prevent entry by person who had an honest claim to the land, nor was it intended to apply when force was employed. State v. Crawley, 103 N. C. 353, 9 S. E. 409. It was intended to prevent the willful and unlawful taking from the land of another property that was not by common law or prior statute subject to larceny. State v. Vosburg, 111 N. C. 718, 720, 16 S. E. 392.

The word "whatsoever" shows a clear intent of the Legislature to make it general in its application.

The taking of a brass rail from around an engine that is stationary is larceny under this section. The rule in State v. Burt, 64 N. C. 619 in holding that taking a loose nugget of gold from a loose pile of stone is not larceny is not approved. It, although decided after this section was enacted, was probably decided under the common law as this section is not mentioned by the Court and in all probability was not called to its attention. State v. Beck, 141 N. C. 829, 53 S. E. 843. In the case of State v. Graves, 74 N. C. 396, it is held that an indictment for trespass to personal property can not be supported for the taking of rails from a fence as the taking is "one continuous act" and is trespass to the realty. State v. Burt is cited and approved, and no reference is made to this section. The technical distinction of one continuous act is exactly what was repealed.

One having title to the land or a bona fide claim thereto is not liable under this section by its express terms. One who enters as a servant of a bona fide claimant or one having title is not subject to the application of this section as the protection afforded the master extends to his servant.

In the case of State v. Boyce, 109 N. C. 739, 14 S. E. 98, it is held that a tenant of seven acres being a part of a tract of thirty five acres claimed by the landlord, when expressly prohibited from cutting timber on any of the tract except the seven acres on which he is a tenant, may as the servant of a third person claiming adversely go on the other part of the tract and cut timber, and he will not be estopped to deny his landlord's title except as to the seven acres leased to him, nor will he be liable under this section if the person whose servant he has been can prove his title or bona fide claim. Davis, J., and Avery, J., dissent.

Money Not Included.—The penalty for entering the lands of another and carrying off wood or any other kind of property whatsoever growing or being thereon, does not contemplate or embrace such taking and carrying away of money; it means such property as was not, at common law, subject to larceny. State v. Vosburg, 111 N. C. 718, 16 S. E. 392.

Turpentine which has flowed down trees into boxes made to catch it, and is in a state to be dipped out, is a subject of larceny. State v. Moore, 33 N. C. 70, cited in note in 49 L. R. A., N. S., 966; State v. King, 98 N. C. 648, 4 S. E. 44.

Claim of Interest Must Be Founded.—An entry, without a survey and grant from the state is not sufficient to support a claim to the land, and is no defense to an indictment under this section. State v. Calloway, 119 N. C. 864, 26 S. E. 46.

§ 4260. Larceny of horses and mules.—If any person shall steal any horse, mare, gelding or mule, he shall suffer imprisonment at hard labor for not less than one nor more than twenty years, at the discretion of the court. A count under this section may be joined in a bill of indictment with a count under the section that immediately follows. (Rev., s. 3505; Code, s. 1066; 1868, c. 37, s. 1; 1879, c. 234, s. 2; 1866-7, c. 62; 1917, c. 162, s. 2.)

Taking with Belief of Interest.—One taking a mule from the stable of another at night and without the consent of the owner is not guilty of larceny if he believed at the time when he took the mule that he had an interest in it. State v. Thompson, 95 N. C. 596.

Same—Question for a Jury.—One who takes a mule from the stable of another in a manner indicating felonious purpose but under a claim of interest should have the qusetion of his act being under a bona fide claim submitted to the jury, and a charge that if the taking was not under a bona fide belief that he had a property or interest in the rule he would be guilty of larceny was not error. State v. Thompson, 95 N. C. 596.

Joinder with Charge of Receiving Stolen Goods.—An indictment for horse stealing concluded at common law is punishable as petit larceny. If there are two counts and the second is for receiving stolen goods and concludes against the statute, the punishment for the two is the same and they may be joined, but on conviction a sentence of ten years is all that can be given. State v. Lawrence, 81 N. C. 522, 523.

An indictment having two counts one for horse stealing the other for receiving stolen property, both concluding upon a statute is defective as the offences are not of the same grade and a conviction is error. State v. Johnson, 75 N. C. 123.

§ 4261. Taking horses or mules for temporary purposes.—If any person shall unlawfully take and carry away any horse, gelding, mare or mule, the property of another person, secretly and against the will of the owner of such property, with intent to deprive the owner of the special or temporary use of the same, or with the intent to use such property for a special or temporary purpose, the person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined or imprisoned, or both fined and imprisoned, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3509; Code, s. 1067; 1879, c. 234, s. 1; 1913, c. 11.)

Indictment.—An indictment for stealing the temporary use of a horse in violation of this section is not defective because it charges the stealing of the temporary use of a buggy also. State v. Darden, 117 N. C. 697, 23 S. E. 106.

Employee Liable.—An occasional employee, who took the employer's mule at night and drove it off without the knowledge or consent of the employer, was guilty of a tortious conversion, and an act indictable under this section; and where the mule died in his possession he was liable for its value, at least in the absence of any evidence in support of his claim that the death was accidental. Clark v. Whitehurst, 171 N. C. 1, 86 S. E. 78.

§ 4262. Taking of automobiles and electric vehicles for temporary purpose.—If any person shall unlawfully take and carry away any automobile or electrical vehicle of any nature, kind or description whatsoever, the property of another person, secretly and against the will of the owner of such property, with intent to deprive the owner of the special or temporary use of the same, or with the intent to use such property for a special or temporary purpose, the person so offending shall be guilty of larceny, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state's prison or county jail not less than four months nor more than ten years, in the discretion of the court: Provided, that this section shall not be construed to repeal any other section of this article. (1907, c. 126.)

As to removal of manufacturer's serial number, see section 4292. As to report of stolen or recovered motor vehicles, see section 2621(u), 2621(37). As to registration of stolen motor vehicles, see section 2621(23). As to receiving stolen vehicles, see section 2621(33). As to Motor Vehicles Act, see section 2621(1) et seq.

§ 4263. Larceny of taxed dogs misdemeanor.—The larceny of any dog upon which the license tax provided in article two of the chapter entitled Dogs has been paid shall be a misdemeanor. (1919, c. 116, s. 9.)

As to being personalty, see section 1683.

§ 4264. Pursuing or injuring livestock with intent to steal.—If any person shall pursue, kill or wound any horse, mule, ass, jennet, cattle, hog, sheep or goat, the property of another, with the intent unlawfully and feloniously to convert the same to his own use, he shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be punishable, in all respects, as if convicted of larceny, though such animal may not have come into the actual possession of the person so offending. (Rev., s. 3504; Code, s. 1068; 1876, c. 57.)

As to subject in general see 5 N. C. Enc. Dig. 114-128.

Sufficiency of Indictment.—An indictment under this section for injury to livestock, in which the animal alleged to have been injured is described as a "certain cattle beast," is sufficiently definite. State v. Credle, 91 N. C. 640.

§ 4265. Local: Killing unmarked livestock with felonious intent. — If any person, not being the owner of any unmarked neat cattle, sheep, or hogs, shall kill any unmarked neat cattle, sheep or hogs in the range, such person shall, if the act be done with felonious intent, be guilty of larceny and punished as for that offense, and if not done with such intent shall be guilty of a misdemeanor: Provided, that this section shall apply only to the counties of Haywood, Hyde and Tyrrell. (Rev., s. 3316; 1891, c. 258; 1895, c. 8; 1909, c. 597.)

Art. 17. Train Robbery

§ 4266. Train robbery.—If any person shall enter upon any locomotive engine or car on any railroad in this state, and by threats, the exhibition of deadly weapons or the discharge of any pistol or gun, in or near any such engine or car, shall induce or compel any person on such engine or car to submit and deliver up, or allow to be taken therefrom, or from him, anything of value, he shall be guilty of train robbery, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in the state's prison for not less than ten years nor more than twenty years. (Rev., s. 3765; 1895, c. 204, s. 2.)

§ 4267. Attempted train robbery.—If any person shall stop, or cause to be stopped, or impede, or cause to be impeded, or conspire with others for that purpose, any locomotive engine or car on any railroad in this state, by intimidation of those in charge thereof or by force, threats or otherwise, for the purpose of taking therefrom or causing to be delivered up to such person so forcing, threatening or intimidating, anything of value, to be appropriated to his own use, he shall be guilty of attempting train robbery, and, on conviction thereof, shall be punished by confinement in the state's prison for not less than two years nor more than twenty years. (Rev., s. 3766; 1895, c. 204, s. 1.)

Art. 17A. Robbery with Firearms

§ 4267(a). Made a felony.—Any person or persons who, having in possession or with the use or threatened use of any firearms or other dangerous weapon, implement or means, whereby the life of a person is endangered or threatened, unlawfully takes or attempts to take personal property from another or from any place of business, residence or banking institution or any other place where there is a person or persons in attendance, at any time, either day or night, or who aids or abets any such person or persons in the commission of such crime, shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment for not less than five or not more than thirty years. (1929, c. 187, s. 1.)

Applied in State v. Riddle, 205 N. C. 591, 172 S. E. 400.

Art. 18. Embezzlement

§ 4268. Embezzlement of property received by virtue of office or employment.—If any person exercising a public trust or holding a public office, or any guardian, administrator, executor, trustee, or any officer or agent of a corporation, or any agent, consignee, clerk or servant, except persons under the age of sixteen years, of any person, shall embezzle or fraudulently or knowingly and willfully misapply or convert to his own use, or shall take, make way with or secrete, with intent to embezzle or fraudulently or knowingly and willfully misapply or convert to his own use any money, goods or other chattels, bank note, check or order for the payment of money issued by or drawn on any bank or other corporation, or any treasury warrant, treasury note, bond or obligation for the payment of money issued by the United States or by any state, or any other valuable security whatsoever belonging to any other person or corporation, which shall have come into his possession or under his care, he shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be punished as in cases of larceny. (Rev., s. 3406; Code, s. 1014; 21 Hen. VII, c. 7; 1871-2, c. 145, s. 2; 1889, c. 226; 1891, c. 188; 1897, c. 31; 1919, c. 97, s. 25; 1931, c. 158.)

As to larceny by servants or other employees, see section 4253; for full treatment of embezzlement, see 5 N. C. Enc. Dig. 114-128.

Editor's Note.—The Act of 1931 amended this section so as to add "trustees" to the list of persons who may be guilty of embezzlement. Section 4270 applies only to trustees of public bodies and institutions. The addition was probably necessary because of the fact that embezzlement is wholly a statutory crime. 9 N. C. Law Rev. 398.

Origin and Purpose.—Embezzlement was not a common-law offense. State v. Hill, 91 N. C. 561. It was first made a criminal offense in England by statute, 21 Henry VIII., ch. 7, to punish the appropriation by servants of the property of their masters in violation of the trust and confidence reposed on them. 1 McLain Cr. Law, § 621. It was enacted in consequence of a decision that a banker's clerk, who received money from a customer and appropriated it to his own use, could not be, convicted of larceny on the ground that the money had never been in the employer's possession. Clark's Cr. Law, p. 308. State v. McDonald, 133 N. C. 680, 683, 45 S. E. 582.

Compared with Section 4401.—The use of the word "abstract" in section 4401 differentiates it from this section. The latter applies to embezzlement and excepts offenders under sixteen years of age. It is not necessary under section 4401 to allege that the defendant is more than sixteen years old. State v. Switzer, 187 N. C. 88, 121 S. E. 143.

The mere converting or appropriating the property of another to one's own use is not sufficient to constitute the crime of embezzlement, fraudulent intent in the act of such conversion or appropriation being an essential element of the offense. State v. Cohoon, 206 N. C. 388, 174 S. E. 91.

Conversion Not Necessary.—To embezzle is for an agent fraudulently to misapply the property of his principal, it is not necessary that the agent should convert it to his own use, that is, expend the money for his own benefit. State v. Foust, 114 N. C. 842, 843, 19 S. E. 276.

Necessity of Demand for Payment.—A demand is not necessary to support a prosecution under this section as it is not made a prerequisite to prosecution. State v. Blackley, 138 N. C. 620, 50 S. E. 310.

Property of Prosecutor.—The property alleged to have been embezzled must be the property of the prosecutor. State v. Barton, 125 N. C. 702, 34 S. E. 553.

Goods Received under Special Directions.—Where goods come into the possession of a servant, out of the ordinary course of his employment, but in pursuance of special directions from the master to receive them, and the servant embezzle the same, he is indictable under this section. State v. Costin, 89 N. C. 511.

Intent to Repay No Defense.—An intent to restore the property embezzled or a readiness and willingness at a latter date is not a defense to a prosecution under this section. State v. Summers, 141 N. C. 841, 53 S. E. 856.

To Whom Section Applies.—A contractor is not an officer, clerk or servant within the meaning of this section. State v. Barton, 125 N. C. 702, 34 S. E. 553. Nor is the relation of lessor and lessee embraced by the statute. State v. Keith, 126 N. C. 1114, 36 S. E. 169. And it does not apply to clerks of the superior courts and like officers who would seem to fall within the terms of section 4270. State v. Connelly, 104 N. C. 794, 10 S. E. 469.

Commissioner in Equity Cannot Be Convicted as Agent or Attorney.—A commissioner appointed by a court of equity to sell land is empowered to do one specific act, viz.: to sell the land and distribute the proceeds to the parties entitled thereto; immediately upon his appointment he ceases to be an attorney or agent for either party, and where the indictment charges the defendant with embezzlement of funds under this section as commissioner the defendant could not be convicted as agent or attorney. State v. Ray, 207 N. C. 642, 644, 178 S. E. 224.

Allegations and Proof.—The name of the person from whom the money was received need not be stated. State v. Lanier, 89 N. C. 517, 88 N. C. 658. And it need not be alleged or proved that the property charged to have been embezzled had been committed to the care of defendant, nor that any breach of confidence of trust, save that which grows out of the relation of owner and servant or agent, had occured. State v. Wilson, 101 N. C. 730, 7 S. E. 872. The averment that the defendant is neither an apprentice nor under the age of sixteen years, is a substantial compliance with the statute. State v. Lanier, 89 N. C. 517, 88 N. C. 658, 660.

The crime of embezzlement rests upon statute alone, and conviction thereof under an indictment drawn under this section, when the evidence tends only to show a violation of § 4270, is erroneous upon the ground that the proof is at variance with the offense charged in the bill. State v. Grace, 196 N. C. 280, 145 S. E. 399.

Evidence—Intent Must Be Shown.—The conversion being admitted or shown, the burden is on the State to show beyond a reasonable doubt the intent to defraud. State v. McDonald, 133 N. C. 680, 45 S. E. 582. But the burden of showing that he is under age is on the defendant and the state is not called on to prove that he is past sixteen years old, for this is a matter of defence and within the defendant's knowledge. State v. Blackley, 138 N. C. 620, 50 S. E. 310.

It is not necessary that a warrant for embezzlement issued by a justice of the peace should describe the criminal offense with the legal accuracy required in an indictment. Durham v. Jones, 119 N. C. 262, 25 S. E. 873.

Where there is evidence that an agent is charged with the duty of selling a load of tobacco upon a local market on behalf of the principal only, and accordingly receiving the price, he intentionally and wrongfully converted it to his use, it is sufficient to constitute the crime of embezzlement under this section and sustain a verdict of guilty, on a motion as of nonsuit. State v. Eubanks, 194 N. C. 319, 139 S. E. 451.

Accusation of Embezzlement Actionable Per Se in Slander.—The offense defined in this section is a felony, and a false accusation thereof is slander, actionable per se, and malice is presumed. Elmore v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 189 N. C. 658, 127 S. E. 710.

Illustrations of Wrongful Misapplications.—By a treasurer of a society depositing money in his private bank. See State v. Dunn, 138 N. C. 672, 50 S. E. 772. By a sales agent for automobiles. See State v. Klingham, 172 N. C. 947, 90 S. E. 690. By an agent selling a load of tobacco. See State v. Eubanks, 194 N. C. 319, 139 S. E. 451.

By an agent to buy a lot and build house. See State v. McClure, 205 N. C. 11, 169 S. E. 809. By a Consignee and Agent of a Piano Co. See State v. Dula, 206 N. C. 745, 175 S. E. 80.

§ 4269. Embezzlement of state property by public officers and employees. — If any officer agent or employee of the state, or other person having or holding in trust for the same any bonds issued by the state, or any security, or other property and effects of the same, shall embezzle or knowingly and willfully misapply or convert the same to his own use, or otherwise willfully or corruptly abuse such trust, such offender and all persons aiding and abetting, or otherwise assisting therein, shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be fined not less than ten thousand dollars, or imprisoned in the state's prison not less than twenty years, or both, at the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3407; Code, s. 1015; 1874-5, c. 52.)

§ 4269(a). Recovery of moneys paid into State to cover misappropriation or embezzlements.— Whenever any moneys are or have been paid into the State Treasury by an officer of the State for or on account of the embezzlement or misappropriation of any funds of the State by an employee or subordinate of such officer, a claim for the refund of said moneys may be filed with the State Auditor and the State Auditor shall refer said claim to the Governor and Council of State, and if the Governor and Council of State determine that said claim or any part thereof should be allowed they shall direct the State Auditor to issue his warrant for the same to the person entitled to receive said moneys or his or her personal representative and the State Auditor shall issue said warrant and the State Treasurer shall pay said warrant out of any funds in the State Treasurer not otherwise appropriated.

This section shall not apply to any claim for moneys paid into the State Treasury after the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and three: Provided, that the power herein conferred on the Governor and Council of State shall not be exercised on or after the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven. (1927, c. 238.)

§ 4270. Embezzlement of funds by public officers and trustees.—If any officer, agent, or employee of any city, county or incorporated town, or of any penal, charitable religious or educational institution; or if any person having or holding any moneys or property in trust for any city, county, incorporated town, penal, charitable, religious or educational institution shall embezzle or otherwise willfully and corruptly use or misapply the same for any purpose other than that for which such moneys or property is held, such person shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be fined and imprisoned in the state's prison in the discretion of the court. If any clerk of the superior court or any sheriff, treasurer, register of deeds or other public officer of any county or town of the state shall embezzle or wrongfully convert to his own use, or corruptly use, or shall misapply for any purpose other than that for which the same are held, or shall fail to pay over and deliver to the proper persons entitled to receive the same when lawfully required so to do, any moneys, funds, securities or other property which such officer shall have received by virtue or color of his office in trust for any person or corporation, such officer shall be guilty of a felony. The provisions of this section shall apply to all persons who shall go out of office and fail or neglect to account to or deliver over to their succe sors in office or other persons lawfully entitled to receive the same all such moneys, funds and securities or property aforesaid. The punishment shall be imprisonment in the state's prison or county jail, or fine in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3408; Code, s. 1016; 1891, c. 241; 1876-7, c. 47.)

Compared with Section 4385.—Under section 4385 failure by an officer to pay over money coming into his hands is a misdemeanor. That section is very broad and seems to cover every case of failure by an officer to pay to the proper person funds coming into his hands. By this section the offence is declared a felony. An officer indicted for failure to pay to proper persons funds coming into his hands should be allowed the privilege of having the facts submitted to the jury. State v. Windley, 178 N. C. 670, 100 S. E. 116.

Meaning of "Wilfully and Corruptly."—In a charge upon the trial of county officials for the misapplication of county funds under the provisions of this section, the definition that "wilfully and corruptly" meant with "bad faith and without regard to the rights of others and in the interest of such parties for whom the funds were held" is not erroneous under the circumstances of this case. State v. Shipman, 202 N. C. 518, 163 S. E. 657.

Applies Only to Public Funds.—This section does not embrace the unlawful appropriation of the property of private individuals. State v. Connelly, 104 N. C. 794, 10 S. E. 469.

Clerks of Courts.—In the case of State v. Connelly, 104 N. C. 794, 10 S. E. 469, it was held that this section was not applicable to clerks of the Superior Courts but by an amendment at the next session of the Legislature it was expressly made applicable to clerks of Superior Courts. State v. Windley, 178 N. C. 670, 672, 100 S. E. 116.

§ 4271. Embezzlement by treasurers of charitable and religious organizations.—If any treasurer or other financial officer of any benevolent or religious institution, society or congregation shall lend any of the moneys coming into his hands to any other person or association without the consent of the institution, association or congregation to whom such moneys belong; or, if he shall fail to account for such moneys when called on, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by fine or imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3409; Code, s. 1017; 1879, c. 105.)

Two Offenses Created.—Under this section two offenses are created which apply to certain officers of benevolent or religious institutions. One offense is the lending their moneys without consent; the other is the failure to account for such moneys. State v. Dunn, 138 N. C. 672, 50 S. E. 772.

Association for Members Solely.—An association organized for the benefit of its members solely is not a benevolent or religious association and an indictment under this section cannot be sustained against an officer who misappropriates funds of the association. State v. Dunn, 134 N. C. 663, 46 S. E. 949.

§ 4272. Embezzlement by officers of railroad companies.—If any president, secretary, treasurer, director, engineer, agent or other officer of any railroad company shall embezzle any moneys, bonds or other valuable funds or securities, with which such president, secretary, treasurer, director, engineer, agent or other officer shall be charged by virtue of his office or agency, or shall in any way, directly or indirectly, apply or appropriate the same for the use or benefit of himself or any other person, state or corporation, other than the company of which he is president, secretary, treasurer, director, engineer, agent or other officer, for every such offense the person so offending shall be guilty of a felony, and on conviction in the superior or criminal court of any county through which the railroad of such company shall pass, shall be imprisoned in the state's prison not less than three nor more than ten years, and fined not less than one thousand nor more than ten thousand dollars. (Rev., s. 3403; Code, s. 1018; 1870-1, c. 103, s. 1.)

§ 4273. Conspiring with officers of railroad companies to embezzle.—If any person shall agree, combine, collude or conspire with the president, secretary, treasurer, director, engineer or agent of any railroad company to commit any offense specified in the preceding section, such person so offending shall be guilty of a felony, and on conviction in the superior or criminal court of a county through which the railroad of any company against which such offense may be perpetrated passes, shall be imprisoned in the state's prison for not less than three nor more than ten years, and fined not less than one thousand nor more than ten thousand dollars. (Rev., s. 3404; Code s. 1019; 1870-1, c. 103, s. 2.)

§ 4274. Embezzlement by insurance agents and brokers.—If any insurance agent or broker who acts in negotiating a contract of insurance by an insurance company, association or fraternal order or society, lawfully doing business in this state, embezzles or fraudently converts to his own use, or, with intent to use or embezzle, takes, secretes or otherwise disposes of, or fraudently withholds, appropriates, lends, invests or otherwise uses or applies any money or substitute for money received by him as such agent or broker, contrary to the instructions or without the consent of the company for or on account of which the same was received by him, he shall be deemed guilty of larceny. (Rev., s. 3489; 1889, c. 54, s. 103; 1911, c. 196, s. 8.)

§ 4274(a). Appropriation of partnership funds by partner to personal use.—Any person engaged in a partnership business in the state of North Carolina who shall, without the knowledge and consent of his copartner or copartners, take funds belonging to the partnership business and appropriate the same to his own personal use with the fraudulent intent of depriving his co-partners of the use thereof, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Any person or persons violating the provisions of this section, upon conviction, shall be punished as is now done in cases of misdemeanor. (1921, c. 127.)

Fraudulent intent is an essential element of this crime and must be proved by the State, and in a prosecution under this section an instruction that the jury should return a verdict of guilty if they found beyond a reasonable doubt the facts to be as the evidence tended to show, is error, the question of fraudulent intent being a question for the jury to determine from the evidence. State v. Rawls, 202 N. C. 397, 162 S. E. 899.

§ 4275. Embezzlement by surving partner.—If any surviving partner shall willfully and intentionally convert any of the property, money or effects belonging to the partnership to his own use, and refuse to account for the same on settlement, he shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction shall be punished by fine or imprisonment in the state's prison in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3405; 1901, c. 640, s. 9.)

§ 4276. Embezzlement by tax officers.—If any officer appropriates to his own use the state, county, school, city or town taxes, he shall be guilty of embezzlement, and may be punished by confinement in the state's prison not exceeding five years, at the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3410; Code, s. 3705; 1883, c. 136, s. 49.)

Whether Felony or Misdemeanor.—As this section is silent as to whether or not the offence set out is a felony or a misdemeanor it will be construed as a misdemeanor as an offence will never be made a felony by construction of any doubtful or ambiguous words in the statute. State v. Hill, 91 N. C. 561. But see section 4171 as that seems to change the construction as given in this case and make all offences punishable by imprisonment felonies.—Ed. Note.

Inference of Fraudulent Intent.—While the intent to commit the offense of embezzlement is an essential ingredient of the crime, the fraudulent intent may be inferred by the jury under evidence sufficient to show it, and where under such evidence the trial court correctly defines such intent, and places the burden of proof throughout the trial on the State to show the intent beyond a reasonable doubt, an exception that the court failed to instruct the jury upon the element of felonious intent is untenable. State v. Lancaster, 202 N. C. 204, 162 S. E. 367.

Art. 19. False Pretenses and Cheats

§ 4277. Obtaining property by false tokens and other false pretenses.—If any person shall knowingly and designedly, by means of any forged or counterfeited paper, in writing or in print, or by any false token, or other false pretense whatsoever, obtain from any person or corporation within the state any money, goods, property or other thing of value, or any bank-note, check or order for the payment of money, issued by, or drawn on, any bank or other society or corporation within this state or any of the United States, or any treasury warrant, debenture, certificate of stock or public security, or any order, bill of exchange, bond, promissory note or other obligation, either for the payment of money or for the delivery of specific articles, with intent to cheat or defraud any person or corporation of the same, such person shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be imprisoned in the state's prison not less than four months nor more than ten years, or fined, in the discretion of the court: Provided, that if, on the trial of any one indicated for such crime, it shall be proved that he obtained the property in such manner as to amount to larceny, he shall not, by reason thereof, be entitled to be acquitted of the felony; and no person tried for such felony shall be liable to be afterwards prosecuted for larceny upon the same facts: Provided further, that it shall be sufficient in any indictment for obtaining or attempting to obtain any such property by false pretenses to allege that the party accused did the act with intent to defraud, without alleging an intent to defraud any particular person, and without alleging any ownership of the chattel, money or valuable security and, on the trial of any such indictment, it shall not be necessary to prove an intent to defraud any particular person, but it shall be sufficient to prove that the party accused did the act charged with an intent to defraud. (Rev., s. 3432; Code, s. 1025; R. C., c. 34, s. 67; 1811, c. 814, s. 2; 33 Hen. VIII, c. 1, ss. 1, 2; 30 Geo. II, c. 24, s. 1.)

Cross Reference.—For full treatment, see 6 N. C. Enc. Dig. 378, 409.

Origin of Section. — This section was derived from the English Statutes, 33 Hen VIII, and 30 George II. State v Yorboro, 194 N. C. 501 and cases cited.

Elements of the Crime.—To constitute the crime of false pretense, a mistake, a pretense, a false pretense, a mere promise of opinion is not sufficient. It must be a (1) false representation of a subsisting fact, whether in writing or in words or in acts; (2) which is calculated to deceive and intended to deceive, and (3) which does in fact deceive (4) by which one man obtains value from another without compensation. State v. Simpson, 10 N. C. 621; State v. Roberts, 189 N. C. 93, 126 S. E. 161, 162; cited in State v. Yorboro, 194 N. C. 501.

The constituent elements of the offense of false pretense are: (1) That the representation was made as alleged; (2) that property or something of value was obtained by reason of the representation; (3) that the representation was false; (4) that it was made with intent to defraud; (5) that it actually did deceive and defraud the person to whom it was made. State v. Carlson, 171 N. C. 818, 89 S. E. 30; State v. Johnson, 195 N. C. 506, 507, 142 S. E. 775.

Same—Subsisting Fact.—It is settled that a promise is not a pretense. No matter what the form, or however false the promise, to do something in the future, it will not come within the statute. There must be a false allegation of some subsisting fact. State v. Phifer, 65 N. C. 321, 324; State v. Knott, 124 N. C. 814, 32 S. E. 798.

Same—Whether in Writing or Words.—It was held formerly that some false writing or token was necessary to constitute the offense. See State v. Simpson, 10 N. C. 620. This case was overruled in State v. Phifer, 65 N. C. 321, 323, where it is held that a naked lie meeting the other requirements enumerated in the preceding paragraph is a crime within the meaning of the section. This latter case is followed in State v. Dixon, 101 N. C. 741, 743, 7 S. E. 870. In fact the false pretense may be by act or conduct without spoken words. See State v. Matthews, 121 N. C. 604, 28 S. E. 469.

Same—Intent to Deceive.—The intent to cheat and defraud the prosecutor is an essential ingredient in the crime of false pretense. State v. Blue, 84 N. C. 807; State v. Oakley, 103 N. C. 408, 9 S. E. 575. In the absence of such definite finding, the uniform practice is to grant a new trial. State v. McCloud, 151 N. C. 730, 731, 66 S. E. 568.

Same—Actual Deceit.—Another of the elements is that the party to whom made was deceived by the representation. State v. Whedbee. 152 N. C. 770, 67 S. E. 60. If he is so deceived it matters not whether he parted with goods for the sake of gain or for a charitable purpose. State v. Matthews, 91 N. C. 635.

Caveat Emptor.—The doctrine of caveat emptor "let the buyer beware" does not apply to actual fraud or obtaining property by false representation. By this doctrine the purchaser is forewarned of tricks of the trade, bluster, puffs and empty boasts on the part of the person putting his property on the market; but the seller can not escape the penalty by reason of the doctrine where the facts constituting the crime, as stated in the first paragraph of this note, are made to appear. See State v. Jones, 70 N. C. 75; State v. Burke, 108 N. C. 750, 751, 12 S. E. 1000; State v. Young, 76 N. C. 258.

False Representations as to Deed of Trust.—A representation that a deed of trust covered certain land, which was not in fact included, on the faith of which defendant obtained money is a false pretense within this section. State v. Roberts, 189 N. C. 93, 126 S. E. 161.

False Representations as to Standing Timber.—A conviction under this section for false and fraudulent representations as to the quantity of standing timber on land sold to the prosecutor cannot be sustained where the amount of the purchase price for land is to be determined by the number of feet of timber cut therefrom, the prosecutor not being damaged thereby; nor can the conviction be sustained for misrepresentations as to the quality of the trees when the prosecutor had ample opportunity to inspect them and had been urged to do so by the defendant. State v. Corey, 199 N. C. 209, 153 S. E. 923.

Passing Counterfeit Money.—Where a person buys goods from another and the change given back by the seller is counterfeit an indictment under this section cannot be had, for there has been no fraudulent representations, nor intent to defraud before the defendant received the money. State v. Allred, 84 N. C. 749.

Representation to Agent of Owner of Goods.—It is not necessary that the false representations be made to the owner of the goods directly, but it is sufficient if they were made to his agent. State v. Taylor, 131 N. C. 711, 42 S. E. 539.

Corporations Liable.—"In State v. Rowland Lumber Co., 153 N. C. 610, 612, 69 S. E. 58, it is said: 'The first ground, that corporations cannot be convicted of an offense where the intent is an ingredient, is no longer tenable. They are as fully liable in such cases as individuals. They are liable for libel, assaults and battery, etc. Corporate existence can be shown, though not charged in the bill. State v. Shaw, 92 N. C. 768.' This is fully sustained by all the late authorities." State v. Salisbury Ice, etc., Co., 166 N. C. 366, 367, 81 S. E. 737.

The Indictment.—The indictment must allege all of the essential elements of the offense. State v. Claudius, 164 N. C. 521, 526, 80 S. E. 261.

"The indictment must show a causal connection between the false representation and the parting with the property (State v. Whedbee, 152 N. C. 770, 774, 67 S. E. 60) but 'no particular form of words is necessary ; an allegation that 'by means of the false pretense' or 'relying on the false pretense,' or the like, is sufficient, where it is apparent that the delivery of the property was the natural result of the pretense alleged. 19 Cyc. 430." State v. Claudius, 164 N. C. 521, 525, 80 S. E. 261.

The charge as to the persons intended to be cheated is surplusage and immaterial, all that is necessary is a change of intent. State v. Ridge, 125 N. C. 655, 658, 34 S. E. 439; State v. Salisbury Ice, etc., Co., 166 N. C. 366, 367, 81 S. E. 737.

Necessity of Averring Property Obtained.—The indictment must describe the thing alleged to have been thereby obtained with reasonable certainty, and by the name or term usually employed to describe it; and where the indictment charges obtaining money by a false pretense, and the State's evidence tends only to show that the defendant had obtained the signature of the prosecutor as an indorser or surety to a negotiable instrument, there is a fatal variance between the charge and the proof, and defendant's motion to nonsuit should be sustained. State v. Gibson, 169 N. C. 318, 85 S. E. 7. No averment of the value of the property obtained is necessary. State v. Gillespie, 80 N. C. 390. And where the allegation is that money was obtained and the proof is that property was obtained there is no ground for reversal. State v. Ashford, 120 N. C. 588, 26 S. E. 915. Nonsuit is the proper method of raising the question of variance. State v. Gibson, supra.

The offense is a felony and a bill of indictment charging such offense and which omits the word "feloniously" is defective, and judgment will be arrested on a verdict of guilty. State v. Caldwell, 112 N. C. 854, 16 S. E. 1010.

Applied in State v. Hollingsworth, 206 N. C. 739, 175 S. E. 99.

Cited in State v. Jones, 65 N. C. 395; State v. Howard, 129 N. C. 584, 40 S. E. 71; Factor v. Laubenheimer, 290 U. S. 276, 299, 54 S. Ct. 191, 78 L. Ed. 151.

§ 4278. Obtaining signatures or property by false pretenses.—If any person, with intent to defraud or cheat another, shall designedly, by color of any false token or writing, or by any other false pretense, obtain the signature of any person to any written instrument, the false making of which would be punishable as forgery, or obtain from any person any money, goods, wares, merchandise or other property or valuable thing whatsoever, he shall be punishable by fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the state's prison for a term of not less than one year nor more than five years, or both, at the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3433; Code, s. 1026; 1871-2, c. 92.)

Cross Reference.—See annotations under preceding section. as to forgery, see sections 4293, 4299. For full treatment of false pretenses, see 6 N. C. Enc. Dig. 378, 409.

Offence Is a Felony.—This section provides for imprisonment in the penitentiary, and therefore since the enactment of section 4171 all offences under this section are felonies, and an indictment must charge "feloniously." State v. Caldwell, 112 N. C. 854, 16 S. E. 1010.

This case overrules the case of State v. Crumples, 90 N. C. 701 in which it was held that as this section did not specify that the offence was a felony it would be treated as a misdemeanor in spite of the punishment being as for felonies. —Ed. Note.

Signing or Endorsing Note.—It has been held in S. v. Gibson, 169 N. C. 318, 85 S. E. 7, that it is an indictable offense under this section, to procure a person to sign or endorse a note by means of false representation and with intent to cheat and defraud. State v. Johnson, 195 N. C. 506, 507, 142 S. E. 775.

Same—Element of Intent. — In order to constitute false pretense in the discounting a note at the bank by a maker upon misrepresentation to one of the endorsers that he had secured certain endorsers with him, when, in fact he had used the note without other endorsers, evidence that the maker had turned over to the endorsers on the note his entire stock of merchandise and that he had thereupon had a civil judgment in their favor canceled of record, is material and competent upon the element of intent necessary to constitute the offense charged. State v. Johnson, 195 N. C. 506, 142 S. E. 775.

Representation as to Titles to Land. — One who obtains money as the purchase price of land sold by him to another upon the representation that the land is unencumbered when it is encumbered by a mortgage, is liable under this section. State v. Munday, 78 N. C. 460.

Sufficient Indictment.—An indictment for false pretense charging that defendant wilfully, knowingly, falsely and feloniously pretended to the prosecutor that he had cut for him, for the use of another, twenty cords of wood, whereas in truth and in fact he had not cut the same, and by means of said false pretense did obtain from the prosecutor three dollars in money, with intent, etc., is sufficient. State v. Eason, 86 N. C. 674.

Same—Must Allege Certain Offence.—An indictment should state with reasonable certainty the offence charged, and an indictment charging the defendant with obtaining money when he obtained a note, is defective. State v. Gibson, 170 N. C. 697, 86 S. E. 774.

Cited in State v. Gibson, 169 N. C. 318, 85 S. E. 7.

§ 4279. Obtaining property by false representation of pedigree of animals.—If any person shall, with intent to defraud or cheat, knowingly represent any animal for breeding purposes as being of greater degree of any particular strain of blood than such animal actually possesses, and by such representation obtain from any other person money or other thing of value, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall for each offense be punished by a fine of not less than sixty dollars nor more than three hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months. (Rev., s. 3307; 1891, c. 94, s. 2.)

§ 4280. Obtaining certificate of registration of animals by false representation.—If any person shall, by any false representation or pretense, with intent to defraud or cheat, obtain from any club, association, society or company for the improvement of the breed of cattle, horses, sheep, swine, fowls or other domestic animals or birds, a certificate of registration of any animal in the herd register of any such association, society or company, or a transfer of any such registration, upon conviction thereof he shall be punished by imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months or a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars or by both such fine and imprisonment. (Rev., s. 3308; 1891, c. 94, s. 1.)

§ 4281. Obtaining advances under promise to work and pay for same.—If any person, with intent to cheat or defraud another, shall obtain any advances in money, provisions, goods, wares or merchandise of any description from any other person or corporation upon and by color of any promise or agreement that the person making the same will begin any work or labor of any description for such person or corporation from whom the advances are obtained, and the person making the promise or agreement shall willfully fail, without a lawful excuse, to commence or complete such work according to contract, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. Evidence of such promise or agreement to work, the obtaining of such advances thereon and the failure to comply with such promise or agreement shall be presumptive evidence of the intent to cheat and defraud at the time of obtaining the advances and making the promise or agreement, subject to be rebutted by other testimony which may be introduced by the defendant. (Rev., s. 3431; 1889, c. 444; 1891, c. 106; 1905, c. 411.)

Constitutional in Part.—The gist of the offence of procuring advances "with intent to cheat and defraud" is not the obtaining the advances, and afterwards refusing to perform the labor, but in the fraudulent intent at the time of obtaining the advances, and making the promise. This part of the section is constitutional. State v. Norman, 110 N. C. 484, 14 S. E. 968.

Unconstitutional in Part.—The part of this section which makes the mere failure to do the work or perform the contract presumptive evidence of fraudulent intent, upon which a person may be convicted and imprisoned, is violative of the Thirteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution, and is in conflict with our own State Constitution prohibiting imprisonment for debt except in case of fraud. State v. Griffin, 154 N. C. 611, 70 S. E. 292.

Intent Must Be Shown.—To convict under this section it is necessary to show the fraudulent intent on the part of the promisor; and merely the facts of obtaining the advances, the promise to do the work, and a breach of that promise, are insufficient to sustain a conviction. State v. Griffin, 154 N. C. 611, 70 S. E. 292; State v. Islay, 164 N. C. 491, 79 S. E. 1105.

No Day of Grace.—Where, upon a promise to begin work on the following Monday, the prosecutor made advances to the defendant, and the latter failed, without proper excuse, to begin work at the time stipulated, and was arrested on complaint of prosecutor on Tuesday: Held, to be a failure to begin work within the meaning of the statute. State v. Norman, 110 N. C. 484, 14 S. E. 968.

§ 4282. Obtaining advances under written promise to pay therefor out of designated property.—If any person shall obtain any advances in money, provisions, goods, wares or merchandise of any description from any other person or corporation, upon any written representation that the person making the same is the owner of any article of produce, or of any other specific chattel or personal property, which property, or the proceeds of which the owner in such representation thereby agrees to apply to the discharge of the debt so created, and the owner shall fail to apply such produce or other property, or the proceeds thereof, in accordance with such agreement, or shall dispose of the same in any other manner than is so agreed upon by the parties to the transaction, the person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, whether he shall or shall not have been the owner of any such property at the time such representation was made. (Rev., s. 3434; Code, s. 1027; 1879, cc. 185, 186; 1905, c. 104.)

Constitutional.—It is not the failure to pay the debt which is made indictable, but the failure to apply certain property, which, in writing, has been pledged for its payment, and advances made on the faith of such pledge; on this ground it is declared constitutional. State v. Torrence, 127 N. C. 550, 553, 37 S. E. 268; State v. Mooney, 173 N. C. 798, 92 S. E. 610.

Representations Must Be of Existing Facts.—An indictment for obtaining goods under a false pretense, must be founded on a false representation by the defendant of an existing fact, and the pledging of a check to be received at a subsequent date does not come within the meaning of the section. State v. Whidbee, 124 N. C. 796, 32 S. E. 318.

Indictment Should Charge Exact Terms.—The indictment should charge in the exact terms of the statute, and on failure to follow the statute it is subject to being quashed. State v. Mooney, 173 N. C. 798, 92 S. E. 610.

Compared with Section 4287.—This section is on the same footing as section 4287 for disposing of mortgaged property. It is the fraud in disposing of or withholding property which the owner has in writing agreed shall be applied in payment of advances made on the faith of such quasi mortgage, to one who has thus pro tanto become the owner thereof, and the subsequent conversion of said property, and diversion of the proceeds to the detriment of the equitable owner and in fraud of his rights. State v. Mooney, 173 N. C. 798, 799, 92 S. E. 610.

§ 4283. Obtaining property in return for worthless check, draft or order.—Every person who, with intent to cheat and defraud another, shall obtain money, credit, goods, wares or any other thing of value by means of a check, draft or order of any kind upon any bank, person, firm or corporation, not indebted to the drawer, or where he has not provided for the payment or acceptance of the same, and the same be not paid upon presentation, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the court. The giving of the aforesaid worthless check, draft, or order shall be prima facie evidence of an intent to cheat and defraud. (1907, c. 975; 1909, c. 647.)

As to the present law, see 4283(a).

It is a misdemeanor for any person knowingly to utter a worthless check in this state and such act involves moral turpitude under this section if done with intent to defraud. See § 4173. Oates v. Wachovia Bank, etc., Co., 205 N. C. 14, 16, 169 S. E. 869.

Intent to Cheat or Defraud.—In order to convict a defendant under the provisions of this section for obtaining property in return for a worthless check, the indictment must sufficiently charge an intent to cheat or defraud or that the defendant obtained a thing of value. Chapter 14 Public Laws of 1925, which is ineffectual, and chapter 62, Public Laws of 1927, not being in effect at the time of the alleged offense, are not considered. State v. Horton, 199 N. C. 771, 155 S. E. 866.

Signing in Name of Company.—Upon the trial under indictment for violating this section, the evidence tended to show that the check in question was signed in the name of a certain company by the defendant, and was conflicting as to whether the defendant was a member of the concern. It was held, that the question as to whether the defendant was a member of the company when he drew the check in question was not necessarily decisive of his guilt, and an instruction to find him guilty if the jury should find from the evidence he was not a partner, was reversible error. State v. Anderson, 194 N. C. 377, 139 S. E. 701.

Same—Burden of Proof. — The burden of proving the guilt of defendant in violating this section, the worthless check statute, is on the State, and where the check in question has been signed by him in the name of a certain firm and there is evidence tending to show that other checks similarly signed had been paid, with further evidence that defendant's authority to sign such checks had been revoked, the burden of proving defendant's guilt is on the State, and raises the question as to the defendant's good faith for the jury to determine. State v. Anderson, 194 N. C. 377, 139 S. E. 701.

§ 4283(a). Worthless checks.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, to draw, make, utter or issue and deliver to another, any check or draft on any bank or depository, for the payment of money or its equivalent, knowing at the time of the making, drawing, uttering, issuing and delivering such check or draft as aforesaid, that the maker or drawer thereof has not sufficient funds on deposit in or credit with such bank or depository with which to pay the same upon presentation.

Any person, firm or corporation violating any provision of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [If the amount due on such check is not over fifty dollars, the punishment shall not exceed a fine of fifty dollars or imprisonment for thirty days.]

The word "credit" as used herein shall be construed to mean an arrangement or understanding with the bank or depository for the payment of any such check or draft. The part of this section in brackets shall only apply to Pitt county, Robeson county, Iredell county, Martin county, Lee county, Rutherford county, Bladen county, Cumberland county, Mecklenburg county, Catawba county, Sampson county, Alleghany county, Lenoir county, Randolph county, Gaston county, Hoke county, Madison county, Burke county, Transylvania county, Rockingham county, Halifax county, Hertford county, Richmond county, Chatham county, Pamlico county, Wake county, Haywood county, Davidson county, Anson county, Carteret county, Davie county, Forsyth county, Greene county, Jackson county, Henderson county, Stokes county, Onslow county, Macon county, Currituck county, Chowan county, Vance county, Edgecombe county, Northampton county, Stanly county, Cabarrus county, Mitchell county, Yancey county, Avery county, Alamance county, Franklin county, Yadkin county, Caldwell county, Gates county, Ashe county, Washington county, Nash county, Johnston county, Duplin county, Wayne county, Guilford county, Rowan county, Bertie county, Moore county, Harnett county, Columbus county, Watauga county, Lincoln county, Caswell county, Orange county, Buncombe county, Wilkes county, Hyde county, Durham county, Swain county, Clay county, Graham county, Cherokee county, Scotland county, Union county, and Surry county. (1927, c. 62; 1929, c. 273, ss. 1, 2; 1931, cc. 63, 138, 292; 1933, cc. 43, 64, 93, 170, 265, 362, 458.)

See note to foregoing section.

Editor's Note.—The part of this section appearing in brackets in the second paragraph, and some of the counties to which applicable, were added by the Act of 1929. The Acts of 1931 added other counties.

As pointed out in the Article in 3 N. C. Law Rev. 141, the giving of worthless checks was first regulated in this state by the Acts of 1907, and 1909. Those acts are partly quoted and the elements of the crime analysed in the article. It was pointed out that although not expressly stated a logical interpretation discloses that under those acts the checks must have been given for present value and it was held that the freight for a car load of lumber was a present value within the section (See State v. Freeman, 172 N. C. 925, 90 S. E. 507.)

In 1925 the legislature passed a new bad check law which left out the element of intent to defraud, etc., so that under it the giving of a check with insufficient funds was a crime. The elements of the crime under that law are outlined by Mr. Justice Adams in State v. Edwards, 190 N. C. 322, 130 S. E. 10, and repeated in the Law Review Article. It was also pointed out that the indictment must have charged both "insufficient funds" and "insufficient credits" to charge a violation. The question of the constitutionality of this act was raised both in the article previously cited and in 5 N. C. Law Rev. 75, where the position was taken that the law was violative of the constitution, Art. I, section 16, as permitting the imprisonment for debt.

Subsequently the legislature at the 1927 session repealed the act and passed the present section which cures the defect pointed out in the Law Review, and it has been upheld by the supreme court. See State v. Yarboro, 194 N. C. 498.

It would seem that this section does not require that the check be given for present value. The essence of the crime seems to be the giving of a check for the payment of money or its equivalent knowing that there are insufficient funds or credit with which to pay upon presentment whether for a pre-existing debt or for present value. See State v. Yarboro, 194 N. C. 504.

It is also apparent that this section does not require an actual intent to cheat or defraud. This element is presumed, no doubt, from the knowledge of lack of funds.

The prior laws contain a provision allowing the drawer 10 days within which to make the check good; the present law contains no such provision.

Under the prior laws which made intent to cheat or defraud an element of the crime, the uttering of the check raised a prima facie presumption of such intent and this cast the burden upon the defense of disproving the element. This section contains no such provision and the burden of proving the knowledge of lack of funds is upon the state, it would seem.

For a general note on the subject, see XIV Va. Law Rev. 134; as to applicability of Virginia Statute to post-dated checks, see XIV Va. Law Rev. 145.

The various amendments by Public Laws 1933, c. 43, did not affect the substance of the section but merely added counties to the list in the last paragraph.

Postdated Check.—A postdated check given for a past due account and so accepted is not a representation importing a criminal liability if untrue that comes within the intent and meaning of the "bad check law," making it a misdemeanor for a person to issue and deliver to another any check on any bank or depository for the payment of money or its equivalent knowing at the time that he has not sufficient funds on deposit or credit with the bank or depository for its payment. State v. Crawford, 198 N. C. 522, 152 S. E. 504.

Indictment—Necessity of Charging All Elements.—In order to charge a statutory offense (the giving of a bad check), the indictment should set forth all the essential requisites therein prescribed, and no element should be left to inference or implication, and where the indictment is defective a demurrer is good. State v. Edwards, 190 N. C. 322, 130 S. E. 10.

Issuance as Fraud.—The issuance of a check on a bank in violation of this law is a false representation of subsisting facts that the maker has on deposit sufficient funds for its payment at the bank, upon its presentation, or that he has made the necessary arrangements with the bank therefor, and is in effect a fraud upon the payee, the payee accepting it in good faith. State v. Yarboro, 194 N. C. 498. See dissenting opinion.

Fatal Variance in Allegata and Probata.—An indictment charging the defendant with obtaining money on a day named by the issuance of a worthless check in violation of our statute, and evidence that it was given for the hire of an automobile, ten days later, are at fatal variance, and will not support a conviction. State v. Corpening, 191 N. C. 751, 133 S. E. 14.

Waiver of Right to Trial by Jury.—Where the defendant in a criminal action enters the plea of "not guilty," the requirement of our State Constitution, Art. 1, § 13, of trial by jury may not be waived by the accused nor another method substituted by agreement, and where a defendant is indicted for violating the statute commonly known as the "bad check law," an agreement between the State and the accused that the judge may find the facts under a plea of "not guilty," will be disregarded on appeal and the case remanded to be tried according to law. State v. Crawford, 197 N. C. 513, 149 S. E. 729.

§ 4283(b). Obtaining property by false coins or tokens. — Any person who shall operate or cause to be operated, or who shall attempt to operate, or attempt to cause to be operated any automatic vending machine, slot machine, coin-box telephone or other receptacle designed to receive lawful coin of the United States of America in connection with the sale, use or enjoyment of property or service, by means of a slug or any false, counterfeited, mutilated, sweated or foreign coin, or by any means, method, trick or device whatsoever not lawfully authorized by the owner, lessee or licensee of such machine, coin-box telephone or receptacle, or who shall take, obtain or receive from or in connection with any automatic vending machine, slot machine, coin-box telephone or other receptacle designed to receive lawful coin of the United States of America in connection with the sale, use of enjoyment of property or service, any goods, wares, merchandise, gas, electric current, article of value, or the use or enjoyment of any telephone or telegraph facilities or service, or of any musical instrument, phonograph or other property, without depositing in and surrendering to such machine, coin-box telephone or receptacle lawful coin of the United States of America to the amount required therefor by the owner, lessee or licensee of such machine, coin-box telephone or receptacle, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine or imprisonment, or in the discretion of the court, by both. (1927, c. 68, s. 1.)

§ 4283(c). Manufacture, etc.; sale of devices for cheating.—Any person who, with intent to cheat or defraud the owner, lessee, licensee or other person entitled to the contents of any automatic vending machine, slot machine, coin-box telephone or other receptacle, depository or contrivance designed to receive lawful coin of the United States of America in connection with the sale, use or enjoyment of property or service, or who, knowing that the same is intended for unlawful use, shall manufacture for sale, or sell or give away any slug, device or substance whatsoever intended or calculated to be placed or deposited in any such automatic vending machine, slot machine, coin-box telephone or other such receptacle, depository or contrivance, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine or imprisonment, or in the discretion of the court, by both. (1927, c. 68, s. 2.)

§ 4284. Obtaining entertainment at hotels and boarding-houses without paying therefor.—Any person who obtains any lodging, food or accommodation at any inn, boarding-house or lodging-house without paying therefor, with intent to defraud the proprietor or manager thereof, or who obtains credit at an inn, boarding-house or lodging-house by the use of any false pretense, or who, after obtaining credit or accommodation at an inn, boarding-house or lodging-house, absconds and surreptitiously removes his baggage therefrom without paying for his food, accommodation or lodging, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall upon conviction be fined or imprisoned at the discretion of the court. (1907, c. 816.)

Cross Reference.—As to definition of hotel, see section 2255; as to hotels in general, see sections 2249-2283; as to liens on baggage, see section 2461; as to fraud in general, see 6 N. C. Enc. Dig. 570-638.

Editor's Note.—This section was amended by the Acts of 1929, c. 103, § 1 by adding at the end thereof the following sentence: "If the amount claimed as due for such board be not over fifty dollars, the punishment shall not exceed a fine of fifty dollars or imprisonment for thirty days." Section 2 of the same Act as amended by Public Laws 1931, c. 9, however, limits the application of the amendment to Martin, Pitt, Wake and Watauga Counties.

By P. L. 1933, c. 531, the application of the Act of 1929, c. 103, described in the Editor's note, is extended to Buncombe, Jackson and Franklin counties.

Constitutionality. — The misdemeanor prescribed by this section expressly applies, when the contract has been made with a fraudulent intent, and this intent also exists in surreptitiously absconding and removing baggage without having paid the bill, and this statute is not inhabited by Article I, section 16, of the State Constitution, as to imprisonment for the mere nonpayment of a debt, either in a civil action or by indictment. State v. Bargee, 187 N. C. 703, 122 S. E. 753.

Boarding House Defined.—One who has not been licensed to keep a boarding house, and who does not hold his place out as such, but who has received a boarder in his home, for pay, is not the keeper of a boarding house. State v. McRae, 170 N. C. 712, 86 S. E. 1039.

Evidence Insufficient for Conviction.—In order to convict under the provisions of this section, it is necessary for the State to show the fraudulent intent of the one who has failed or refused to pay for his lodging or food at an inn, boarding house, etc., or the like intent as to his surreptitiously leaving with his baggage without having paid his bill; and evidence tending only to show his inability to pay, under the circumstances, but his arrangement with the keeper of the inn or boarding house to pay in a certain way and within a fixed period after leaving, and his payment in part, and that his wife, remaining longer than he, thereafter took away his baggage without his knowledge or participation therein, and in the separation following he received no benefit therefrom, is insufficient for a conviction of the statutory offense. State v. Barbee, 187 N. C. 703, 122 S. E. 753.

Evidence Sufficient to Convict. — Where there is evidence that one having received accommodation at a hotel left with his baggage without notice to the proprietor, and without having paid his bill, it is sufficient to convict under this section, the question of intent being for the jury. State v. Hill, 166 N. C. 298, 81 S. E. 408.

§ 4284(a). Fraudulently obtaining credit at hospitals and sanatoriums.—Any person who obtains accommodation at any public or private hospital or sanatorium without paying therefor, with intent to defraud the said hospital or sanatorium, or who obtains credit at such hospital or sanatorium by the use of any false pretense, or who, after obtaining credit or accommodation at a hospital or sanatorium, absconds surreptitiously removes his baggage therefrom without paying for the accommodation or credit, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction, be fined or imprisoned at the discretion of the court. (1931, c. 214.)

§ 4285. Obtaining wearing apparel on approval.—If any person, with intent to cheat and defraud, shall solicit and obtain from any merchant any article of wearing apparel on approval, and shall thereafter, upon demand, refuse or fail to return the same to such merchant in an unused and undamaged condition, or to pay for the same, such person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Evidence that a person has solicited a merchant to deliver to him any article of wearing apparel for examination or approval and has obtained the same upon such solicitation, and thereafter, upon demand, has refused or failed to return the same to such merchant in an unused and undamaged condition, or to pay for the same, shall constitute prima facie evidence of the intent of such person to cheat and defraud, within the meaning of this section. (1911, c. 185.)

§ 4286. Obtaining money by false representation of physical defect.—It shall be unlawful for any person to falsely represent himself or herself in any manner whatsoever as blind, deaf, dumb, or crippled or otherwise physically defective for the purpose of obtaining money or other thing of value or of making sales of any character of personal property. Any person so falsely representing himself or herself as blind, deaf, dumb, crippled or otherwise physically defective, and securing aid or assistance on account of such representation, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. (1919, c. 104.)

Art. 20. Frauds

§ 4287. Fraudulent disposal of mortgaged property.—If any person, after executing a chattel mortgage, deed of trust or other lien for a lawful purpose, shall make any disposition of any personal property embraced in such mortgage, deed of trust or lien, with intent to hinder, delay or defeat the rights of any person to whom or for whose benefit such deed was made, every person so offending and every person with a knowledge of the lien buying the property embraced in any such deed or lien, and every person assisting, aiding or abetting the unlawful disposition of such property, with intent to hinder, delay or defeat the rights of any person to whom or for whose benefit any such deed or lien was made, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by fine or imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court. In all indictments for violations of the provisions of this section it shall not be necessary to allege or prove the person to whom any sale or disposition of the property was made, but proof of the possession of the property embraced in such chattel mortgage, deed of trust or lien, by the grantor thereof, after the execution of said chattel mortgage, deed of trust or lien, and while it is in force, the further proof of the fact that the sheriff or other officer charged with the execution of process cannot after due diligence find such property under process directed to him for his seizure, for the satisfaction of such chattel mortgage, deed of trust or lien, or that the mortgagee demanded the possession thereof of the mortgagor for the purpose of sale to foreclose said mortgage, deed of trust or lien, after the right to such foreclosure had accrued, and that the mortgagor failed to produce, deliver or surrender the same to the mortgagee for that purpose, shall be prima facie proof of the fact of the disposition or sale of such property, by the grantor, with the intent to hinder, delay or defeat the rights of the person to whom said chattel mortgage, deed of trust or lien was made. (Rev., s. 3435; Code, s. 1089; 1887, c. 14; 1873-4, c. 31; 1874-5, c. 215; 1883, c. 61.)

For treatment of chattel mortgages, see 3 N. C. Enc. Dig. 18, 69.

Three Classes of Offenders.—The statute is directed against three classes of offenders: (1) The maker of the lien who shall dispose of the property with the unlawful intent; (2) those who buy with a knowledge of the lien, and (3) those who aid or abet either the maker or purchaser in the unlawful acts. State v. Woods, 104 N. C. 898, 10 S. E. 555.

Intent Necessary. — Under this section the forbidden act must, in order to be indictable, be accomplished with a specific intent, and the courts cannot disregard this clearly expressed purpose of the Legislature. State v. Manning, 107 N. C. 910, 911, 12 S. E. 248. The actual sale of mortgaged crops raises a presumption of fraudulent intent. State v. Holmes, 120 N. C. 573, 26 S. E. 692. In a trial under this section the burden is upon the defendant to disprove the criminal intent. State v. Surles, 117 N. C. 720, 23 S. E. 324; State v. Holmes, 120 N. C. 573, 26 S. E. 692.

Result of Sale Must Injure.—If the property included in the mortgage (other than that disposed of), was abundantly sufficient and available to pay the indebtedness, there could be no such prejudicial result as is contemplated by the statute. State v. Manning, 107 N. C. 910, 912, 12 S. E. 248.

Justice Jurisdiction.—Under the original acts justices of the peace have exclusive jurisdiction of the offense of fraudulently disposing of personal property embraced in a chattel mortgage. State v. Jones, 83 N. C. 657.

Infants Liability.—An indictment under this section for disposing of crops under mortgage cannot be sustained, where it appears that the defendant is an infant. The alleged disposition was a disaffirmance of the contract and renders it void. State v. Howard, 88 N. C. 651.

Indictment Must Charge Maker Buyer or Assistant.—If the indictment does not charge the defendant as the maker of the lien nor the buyer of the property with knowledge of it, nor as assisting, aiding or abetting in the unlawful disposition of the property no offense is charged. State v. Woods, 104 N. C. 898, 900, 10 S. E. 555.

Indictment Must Charge Lien and Manner of Sale.—An indictment for disposing of mortgaged property is fatally defective, if it fails to set forth that the lien was in force at the time of sale, the party to whom sold, and the manner of disposition. State v. Burns, 80 N. C. 376; State v. Pickens, 79 N. C. 652.

Indictment in Two Counts.—Where an indictment for disposing of mortgaged property contained two counts, one alleging a disposal with intent to defraud G., "business manager" of an association, and the other a disposal with intent to defraud G., "business manager and agent" of such association, the counts are not repugnant to each other, since they relate to one transaction, varied only to meet the probable proof, and the court will neither quash the bill nor force the State to elect on which count it will proceed. State v. Surles, 117 N. C. 720, 721, 23 S. E. 324.

Prior Lien as Defense.—It is competent for the defendant, in an indictment for unlawfully disposing of mortgaged property—a crop of tobacco—to show that he, in good faith, applied the entire crop to the discharge of his landlord's lien. State v. Ellington, 98 N. C. 749, 4 S. E. 534.

Evidence of Other Sales Inadmissible.—On a trial of one charged with unlawfully disposing of an article of personal property covered by a chattel mortgage, with intent to defeat the right of the mortgagee, evidence that, five months after the offense was committed, the defendant offered to dispose of another article covered by the same mortgage is inadmissible to prove the intent with which the offense was committed. State v. Jeffries, 117 N. C. 727, 23 S. E. 163.

Cited in State v. Barrett, 138 N. C. 630, 635, 50 S. E. 506; State v. Torrence, 127 N. C. 550, 553, 37 S. E. 268.

§ 4288. Secreting property to hinder enforcement of lien.—Any person removing, exchanging or secreting any personal property on which a lien exists, with intent to prevent or hinder the enforcement of the lien, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3436; 1887, c. 14.)

§ 4289. Fraudulent entry of horses at fairs.—If any person shall knowingly enter or cause to be entered in competition for any purse, prize, premium, stake or sweepstake offered or given by any agricultural or other society, association or person in this state, any horse, mare, gelding, colt or filly under an assumed name or out of its proper class, he shall be punished by a fine not less than one hundred nor more than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the state's prison for not less than one nor more than five years, or by both fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3429; 1893, c. 387.)

§ 4290. Fraudulent and deceptive advertising.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, corporation or association, with intent to sell or in anywise to dispose of merchandise, securities, service or any other thing offered by such person, firm, corporation or association, directly or indirectly, to the public for sale or distribution, or with intent to increase the consumption thereof, or to induce the public in any manner to enter into any obligation relating thereto, or to acquire title thereto or an interest therein, to make public, disseminate, circulate or place before the public or cause directly or indirectly to be made, published, disseminate, circulate or place before the public in this state, in a newspaper or other publication, or in the form of a book, notice, handbill, poster, bill, circular, pamphlet or letter, or in any other way, an advertisement of any sort regarding merchandise, securities, service, or any other thing so offered to the public, which advertisement contains any assertion, representation or statement of fact which is untrue, deceptive or misleading: Provided, that such advertising shall be done willfully and with intent to mislead. Any person who shall violate the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. (1915, c. 218.)

§ 4291. Blackmailing.—If any person shall knowingly send or deliver any letter or writing demanding of any other person, with menaces and without any reasonable or probable cause, any chattel, money or valuable security; or if any person shall accuse, or threaten to accuse, or shall knowingly send or deliver any letter or writing accusing or threatening to accuse any other person of any crime punishable by law with death or by imprisonment in the state's prison, with the intent to extort or gain from such person any chattel, money or valuable security, every such offender shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3428; Code, s. 989; R. C., c. 34, s. 110.)

Indictment.—Where the offence charged was the sending of a letter, under this section, and the letter was set out in the indictment, from which it is deducible by necessary implication, that the defendant threatened to indict the prosecutor for an offence punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary, with a view and intent to extort money; a criminal offence is sufficiently charged. State v. Harper, 94 N. C. 936.

Circumstantial Evidence. — Letters demanding a sum of money from the prosecutor, the first requiring that he drop the amount along the road at a certain place at a designated time and at a certain signal, followed by the burning of the prosecutor's barn on his failing to comply; and the second one referring to this fact and making the same demand, and the apprehension of the defendant at the place at the time appointed, as he appeared after the signals were given, though circumstantial evidence, is adjudged sufficient under an indictment for blackmailing to sustain a conviction. State v. Frady, 172 N. C. 978, 90 S. E. 802.

§ 4292. Fraudulent removal of manufacturer's serial number from automobile.—Every person within this state is hereby prohibited from knowingly buying, selling, receiving, disposing of or concealing any automobile, motor car, or motor vehicle from which the manufacturer's serial number or any other distinguishing number or identification mark has been removed, defaced, covered, altered, or destroyed, for the purpose of concealing or misrepresenting the identity of said automobile, motor car, or motor vehicle. Any person violating the provisions of this section, and any person who shall knowingly buy, sell, receive, dispose of, or conceal any automobile, motor car, or motor vehicle from which the manufacturer's serial number or any other distinguishing number or identification mark has been removed, defaced, covered, altered or destroyed, for the purpose of concealment or misrepresenting the identity of said automobile, motor car, or motor vehicle, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. This section shall not apply to automobiles in the possession of innocent purchasers who acquired title or possession prior to March fourth, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen. (1919, c. 110.)

As to protection of title of motor vehicles, see secs. 2621(1), 2621(j).

Art. 21. Forgery

§ 4293. Forgery of bank-notes, checks and other securities.—If any person shall falsely make, forge or counterfeit, or cause or procure the same to be done, or willingly aid or assist therein, any bill or note in imitation of, or purporting to be, a bill or note of any incorporated bank in this state, or in any of the United States, or in any of the territories of the United States; or any order or check on any such bank or corporation, or on the cashier thereof; or any of the securities purporting to be issued by or on behalf of the state, or by or on behalf of any corporation, with intent to injure or defraud any person, bank or corporation, or the state, the person so offending shall be guilty of a felony and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state's prison or county jail for not less than four months nor more than ten years, or by a fine in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3419; Code, s. 1030; R. C., c. 34, s. 60; 1819, c. 994, s. 1.)

Cross Reference.—As to alleging intent in the indictment, see section 4621; as to other forgeries, see seciton 4296. For full treatment of forgery, see 6 N. C. Enc. Dig. 548, 565.

Elements of Offense.—To constitute an indictable forgery, it is not alone sufficient that there be a writing, and that the writing be false: it must also be such as, if true, would be of some legal efficacy, real or apparent, since otherwise it has no legal tendency to defraud. 2 Bishop Cr. Law, sec. 533; Barnes v. Crawford, 115 N. C. 76, 79, 20 S. E. 386. While an intent to defraud is an essential element of forgery, it is not essential that any person be actually defrauded, or that any act be done other than the fraudulent making or altering of the instrument. State v. Hall, 108 N. C. 776, 13 S. E. 189; State v. Cross, 101 N. C. 770, 7 S. E. 715.

Indictment Must Allege Existence of Bank.—In an indictment under this section to punish the making, passing, etc., of counterfeit bank notes, if the note alleged to have been passed be of a bank not within the State, the indictment should aver that such a bank exists as that by which the counterfeit note purports to have been issued. State v. Twitty, 9 N. C. 248.

Evidence of Former Acts.—Upon an indictment for uttering forged money, knowing it to be forged, evidence may be received of former acts and transactions which tend to bring home the scienter to the defendant, notwithstanding such evidence may fix upon him other charges beside that on which he is tried. State v. Twitty, 9 N. C. 248.

Cited in State v. Peter, 53 N. C. 19, 23.

§ 4294. Uttering forged paper.—If any person, directly or indirectly, whether for the sake of gain or with intent to defraud or injure any other person, shall utter or publish any such false, forged or counterfeited bill, note, order, check or security as is mentioned in the preceding section; or shall pass or deliver, or attempt to pass or deliver, any of them to another person (knowing the same to be falsely forged or counterfeited), the person so offending shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail or state's prison not less than four months nor more than ten years. (Rev., s. 3427; Code, s. 1031; R. C., c. 34, s. 61; 1819, c. 994, s. 2; 1909, c. 666.)

Delivering to Agent.—"It is putting spurious paper into circulation, and not defrauding the individual who takes it, that the statute has in view. Hence, upon a similar statute, it was held, that delivering a forged note to an agent, that he might dispose of it in buying goods, was a passing within the act. Palmer's case, R. and R. 72." State v. Harris, 27 N. C. 287, 293.

Cited in dissenting opinion State v. Jarvis, 129 N. C. 598, 40 S. E. 220.

§ 4295. Selling of certain forged securities.—If any person shall sell, by delivery, indorsement or otherwise, to any other person, any judgment for the recovery of money purporting to have been rendered by a justice of the peace, or any bond, promissory note, bill of exchange, order, draft or liquidated account purporting to be signed by the debtor (knowing the same to be forged), the person so offending shall be punished by imprisonment in the state's prison or county jail for not less than four months nor more than ten years. (Rev., s. 3425; Code, s. 1033; R. C., c. 34, s. 63.)

§ 4296. Forgery of deeds, wills and certain other instruments.—If any person, of his own head and imagination, or by false conspiracy or fraud with others, shall wittingly and falsely forge and make, or shall cause or wittingly assent to the forging or making of, or shall show forth in evidence, knowing the same to be forged, any deed, lease or will, or any bond, writing obligatory, bill of exchange, promissory note, endorsement or assignment thereof; or any acquittance or receipt for money or goods; or any receipt or release for any bond, note, bill or any other security for the payment of money; or any order for the payment of money or delivery of goods, with intent, in any of said instances, to defraud any person or corporation, and thereof shall be duly convicted, the person so offending shall be punished by imprisonment in the state's prison or county jail not less than four months nor more than ten years, or fined in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3424; Code, s. 1029; R. C., c. 34, s. 59; 1801, c. 572; 5 Eliz., c. 14, ss. 2, 3; 21 James I, c. 26.)

As for general treatment of forgery, see 6 N. C. Enc. Dig. 548, 565.

General Considerations.—Differing from false pretenses it is not an element of this offence that the forgery was "calculated to deceive and did deceive," intent alone suffices to constitute the crime. State v. Collins, 115 N. C. 716, 20 S. E. 452; State v. Hall, 108 N. C. 776, 138 S. E. 189. It is immaterial to whom the advantages of the forgery would accrue. State v. Cross, 101 N. C. 770, 7 S. E. 715.

An instrument in writing on which forgery can be predicated is one which, if genuine, could operate as the foundation of another man's liability, or the evidence of his rights, such as a letter of recommendation of a person as a man of property and pecuniary responsibility, an order for the delivery of goods, a receipt, or a railroad pass, as well as a bill of exchange, or other express contract. 3 Greenleaf Ev., 103." Barnes v. Crawford, 115 N. C. 76, 78, 20 S. E. 386.

To constitute an "order for the delivery of goods," within the meaning of this section a forgery, there must appear to be a drawer, a person drawn upon, who is under obligation to obey, and there must appear to be a person to whom the goods are to be delivered, and if the paper-writing set forth in the indictment as a forgery does not contain these requisites, there cannot be a conviction for forgery under this section, State v. Lamb, 65 N. C. 419; but in such case a conviction will be sustained for the offense at common law. State v. Leak, 80 N. C. 403, cited in note in 32 L. R. A., N. S., 331.

Possession Raises Presumption of Guilt.—One possessing a forged instrument is presumed to have either forged it or consented to the forgery, and nothing else appearing such holder will be presumed guilty. State v. Peterson, 129 N. C. 556, 40 S. E. 9.

"In State v. Britt, 14 N. C. 122, Ruffin, J., says: 'That the order was not in the handwriting of the defendant did not rebut the legal presumption of his guilt. Being in possession of the forged order, drawn in his own favor, were facts constituting complete proof that, either by himself or by false conspiracy with others, he forged or assented to the forgery of the instrument; that he either did the act or caused it to be done until he showed the actual perpetrator and that he himself was not privy.' To the same effect is State v. Morgan, 19 N. C. 348. It is wholly immaterial whether the defendant himself forged the order or procured and caused it to be done. In either case his guilt is the same." State v. Lane, 80 N. C. 407, 408.

Lost Instruments.—If the forged instrument is lost it is not necessary to set it out in the indictment, and the substance of the forged instrument is all that need be charged, though in such case it would be better practice to aver the loss. State v. Peterson, 129 N. C. 556, 40 S. E. 9.

Misspelled Signature.—An indictment lies for forgery of an order for the payment of money, although the signature is misspelled, State v. Covington, 94 N. C. 913, cited in notes in 24 L. R. A. 33, 27 L. R. A., N. S., 1004; or the names of a firm in reverse order if it is clear who the parties intended to be designated are. State v. Lane, 80 N. C. 407.

Falsely putting a witness' name to a bond not required to be attested by a subscribing witness does not affect the validity of the bond, and is not forgery. State v. Gherkin, 29 N. C. 206.

Erasure or Obliteration Not a Forgery. — Obliterating by erasure or otherwise, a release or acquittance on the back of a bond or elsewhere, with the intent to defraud any person thereby, is not according to the law of North Carolina, a forgery. State v. Thornburg, 28 N. C. 79, cited in note in 54 L. R. A. 798.

Forgery of One of Two Names.—Where the alleged forged instrument has the names of two or more persons affixed, it is sufficient if one of them is proved to have been forged. State v. Cross, 101 N. C. 770, 7 S. E. 715.

Instrument Partly Printed and Partly in Writing.—An indictment for forging "a certain instrument in writing" is supported by proof of the forgery of an instrument partly printed and partly in writing. State v. Ridge, 125 N. C. 655, 34 S. E. 439.

"Railroad Pass" Insufficiency of Description.—A description of the forged instrument as a "railroad pass," merely, is insufficient. The circumstances showing authority of the officer whose name is forged, and the obligation of the company to honor it, must be set out in the indictment. State v. Weaver, 94 N. C. 836, cited in note in 24 L. R. A. 43.

Cited in dissenting opinion State v. Jarvis, 129 N. C. 698, 40 S. E. 220.

§ 4297. Forging names to petitions and uttering forged petitions.—If any person shall willfully sign, or cause to be signed, or willfully assent to the signing of the name of any person without his consent, or of any deceased or fictitious person, to any petition or recommendation with the intent of procuring any commutation of sentence, pardon or reprieve of any person convicted of any crime or offense, or for the purpose of procuring such pardon, reprieve or commutation to be refused or delayed by any public officer, or with the intent of procuring from any person whatsoever, either for himself or another, any appointment to office, or to any position of honor or trust, or with the intent to influence the official action of any public officer in the management, conduct or decision of any matter affecting the public, he shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be fined not exceeding one thousand dollars, or imprisoned in the county jail or state's prison not exceeding five years, or both, at the discretion of the court; and if any person shall willfully use any such paper for any of the purposes or intents above recited, knowing that any part of the signatures to such petition or recommendation has been signed thereto without the consent of the alleged signers, or that names of any dead or fictitious persons are signed thereto, he shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be punished in like manner. (Rev., s. 3426; Code, s. 1034; 1883, c. 275.)

§ 4298. Forging certificate of corporate stock and uttering forged certificates.—If any officer or agent of a corporation shall falsely and with a fraudulent purpose, make, with the intent that the same shall be issued and delivered to any other person by name or as holder or bearer thereof, any certificate or other writing, whereby it is certified or declared that such person, holder or bearer is entitled to or has an interest in the stock of such corporation, when in fact such person, holder or bearer is not so entitled, or is not entitled to the amount of stock in such certificate or writing specified; or if any officer or agent of such corporation, or other person, knowing such certificate or other writing to be false or untrue, shall transfer, assign or deliver the same to another person, for the sake of gain, or with the intent to defraud the corporation, or any member thereof, or such person to whom the same shall be transferred, assigned or delivered, the person so offending shall be imprisoned in the county jail or state's prison not less than four months nor more than ten years. (Rev., s. 3421; Code, s. 1032; R. C., c. 34, s. 62.)

§ 4299. Forgery of bank-notes and other instruments by connecting genuine parts. — If any person shall fraudulently connect together different parts of two or more bank-notes, or other genuine instruments, in such a manner as to produce another note or instrument, with intent to pass all of them as genuine, the same shall be deemed a forgery, and the instrument so produced a forged note, or forged instrument, in like manner as if each of them had been falsely made or forged. (Rev., s. 3420; Code, s. 1037; R. C., c. 34, s. 66.)

SUBCHAPTER 7. CRIMINAL TRESPASS

Art. 22. Trespasses to Land and Fixtures

§ 4300. Forcible entry and detainer.—No one shall make entry into any lands and tenements, or term for years, but in case where entry is given by law; and in such case, not with strong hand nor with multitude of people, but only in a peaceable and easy manner; and if any man do the contrary, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3670; Code, s. 1028; R. C., c. 49, s. 1; 5 Ric. II, c. 8.)

Cross Reference.—For full treatment of forcible entry and detainer, see 6 N. C. Enc. Dig. 530-544; as to larceny of timber, see section 4259; as to trespass after being forbidden, see section 4305.

Force.—Actual force or appearances tending to inspire a just apprehension of violence is necessary to constitute the offense. 13 Am & Eng. Enc. (2 Ed.) 757. A forcible entry is not proved by evidence of a mere trespass; there must be proof of such force, or at least such show of force, as is calculated to prevent resistence. State v. Leary, 136 N. C. 578, 48 S. E. 570; State v. Davenport, 156 N. C. 596, 72 S. E. 7. So riding into the yard of a house occupied by a woman and remaining there cursing her constitutes force. State v. Davenport, supra. But where a person, in the absence of the prosecutor, merely unlocked and took off the lock put on by the prosecutor and put his own lock on, without breaking anything or doing any violence, and committed no violence upon the return of the prosecutor, he is not guilty of forcible entry and detainer. State v. Leary, supra.

Same—Title No Excuse.—The right or title to land cannot be vindicated with the bludgeon, but the party who claims the better title must, if it be denied or the actual possession of the land be refused, upon a lawful demand made for the same, resort to the peaceful methods and processes of the law for his redress and the recovery of his property. If, instead of pursuing this course, he elects to use violence, the law holds him criminally responsible for his act. State v. Webster, 121 N. C. 586, 28 S. E. 254, where it is said: "As forcible trespass is essentially an offense against the possession of another and does not depend upon the title, it is proper to exclude evidence of title in defendants on trial under an indictment for such offense." State v. Davenport, 156 N. C. 596, 602, 72 S. E. 7.

Original Entry Unlawful.—In order to convict of a misdemeanor under the provisions of this section it is not necessary that the act of going on the lands be unlawful, if the accused thereafter has in overpowering numbers cursed and abused the one in lawful possession, using threatening and abusive language. State v. Fleming, 194 N. C. 42, 138 S. E. 342.

Same—Title Not Invalid.—The offense of forcible trespass under this section, does not involve title to the premises, but is directed against the possession, and when the possession is in the prosecuting witness, and the entry is made in such a manner with such show of force, after being prohibited by the prosecuting witness, as tends to a breach of the peace, it is sufficient for conviction. State v. Earp, 196 N. C. 164, 144 S. E. 23.

Extent of Liability of Title Holder.—The court in Reeder v. Purdy, 41 Ill., 279, says: "The reasoning upon which we rest our conclusion lies in the briefest compass, and is hardly more than a simple syllogism. The statute of forcible entry and detainer, not in terms, but by necessary construction, forbids a forcible entry, even by the owner, upon the actual possession of another. Such entry is, therefore, unlawful. If unlawful, it is a trespass, and an action for the trespass must necessarily lie..... Although the occupant may maintain trespass against the owner for a forcible entry, yet he can only recover such damages as have directly accrued to him from injuries done to his person or property through the wrongful invasion of his possession, and such exemplary damages as the jury may (under proper instructions) think proper to give. But a person having no title to the premises clearly can not recover damages for any injury done to them by him who has the title." Mosseller v. Deaver, 106 N. C. 494, 497, 11 S. E. 529.

Actual Possession Necessary.—The essential element of the offense of forcible entry, that the lands, etc., must be in the actual possession of him whose possession is charged to have been interfered with. To constitute actual possession, there must be an actual exercise of authority and control over the land, either in person or by the family or servants of the person alleged to be in possession. He need not at all times be personally present on the premises. State v. Bryant, 103 N. C. 436, 9 S. E. 1. This element must be charged in the indictment. Id. It is a sufficient compliance with this rule to allege that the owner was "then and there in peaceable possession." State v. Eason, 70 N. C. 88, 91.

Right of Tenant of Sufferance.—Where the possession of the prosecutor in forcibly entry and detainer is only by sufferance, the prosecution cannot be sustained. State v. Leary, 136 N. C. 578, 48 S. E. 570.

No Accessories.—In misdemeanors there are no accessories, and those who were present in numbers, some armed with axes and others with guns, while one of their number caused the prosecutor's agents to abandon the locus in quo, were his aiders and abettors and equally guilty of forcible trespass. State v. Davenport, 156 N. C. 596, 72 S. E. 7.

Jurisdiction of a Justice of the Peace.—The distribution of judicial powers by Art. IV of the Constitution is a virtual repeal of all laws giving jurisdiction to Justices of the Peace in case of forcible entry and detainer, except for the binding of trespassers to the Superior Court to answer a criminal charge. State v. Yarborough, 70 N. C. 250; Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. Sharpe, 70 N. C. 509.

Entry under Void Warrant.—Where four or more men enter upon premises in the actual possession of another by virtue of a warrant and proceedings before a magistrate, which are a nullity, and eject such person and his family from the house they were occupying, they are guilty of a forcible trespass. State v. Yarborough, 70 N. C. 250; Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. Johnston, 70 N. C. 348.

§ 4301. Malicious injury to real property.—If any person shall maliciously commit any damage, injury or spoil upon any real property whatsoever, either of a public or private nature, for which no punishment is provided by any existing law, every person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor: Provided, that nothing herein shall extend to any case where the party trespassing or doing the injury acted under a fair and reasonable belief that he had a right to do the act complained of, nor to any trespass, not being willful and malicious, committed in hunting, fishing or the pursuit of game. When the owner, or one of the owners, of an estate in possession shall complain of the injury before a justice of the peace of the county in which the offense is charged to have been committed before the regular term of the superior court next after the commission of the offense, and shall fail to state in his complaint that the damage exceeds ten dollars, the punishment, upon conviction of the offense, shall not exceed a fine of fifty dollars or imprisonment for thirty days. (Rev., s. 3677; Code, s. 1081; R. C., c. 34, s. 111; 1873-4, c. 176, s. 5.)

§ 4301(a). Injury to trees, woods, crops, etc., near highway; depositing trash near highway.—Any person, not being on his own lands, or without the consent of the owner thereof, who shall, within one hundred yards of any State highways of North Carolina or within a like distance of any other public road or highway, willfully commit any damage, injury, or spoilation to or upon any tree, wood, underwood, timber, garden, crops, vegetables, plants, lands, springs, or any other matter or thing growing or being thereon, or who cuts, breaks, injures, or removes any tree, plant, or flower within such limits, or shall deposit any trash, debris, garbage, or litter within such limits, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction fined not exceeding fifty dollars ($50) or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days: Provided, however, that this act shall not apply to the officers, agents, and employees of the State Highway Commission or county road authorities while in the discharge of their duties. (1924, c. 54.)

Editor's Note.—It was said in 3 N. C. Law Rev. 25 that it is hoped that this section may prevent the laying waste of gardens, flowers, etc., by tourists who are not in the habit of regarding another's property rights and who usually leave trash and garbage at every place they stop to eat.

§ 4302. Trespass on public lands.—If any person shall erect a building on any public lands before the same shall have been sold or granted by the state, or on any lands belonging to the state board of education before the same shall have been sold and conveyed by them, or cultivate or remove timber from any of such lands, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Moreover, the state board of education can recover from any person cutting timber on its land three times the value of the timber which is cut. When any person shall be in possession of any part of such land, it shall be the duty of the sheriff of the county in which the land is situated, and he is hereby required, to give notice in writing to such person, commanding him to depart therefrom forthwith; and if the person in possession, upon being so notified, shall not, within two weeks after the time of notice, remove therefrom, the sheriff is required to remove him immediately, and if necessary he shall summon the power of the county to assist him in so doing. (Rev., s. 3746; Code, s. 1121; R. C., c. 34, s. 42; 1823, c. 1190; 1842, c. 36, s. 4; 1909, c. 891.)

Cited in Worth v. Commissioners, 118 N. C. 118, 125, 24 S. E. 778; Eastern Carolina Land, etc., Co. v. State Board, 101 N. C. 35, 7 S. E. 573.

§ 4302(1). Trespass on land under option by the federal government.—On lands under option which have formally or informally been offered to and accepted by the North Carolina department of conservation and development by the acquiring federal agency and tentatively accepted by said department for administration as state forests, state parks, state game refuges or for other public purposes, it shall be unlawful to cut, dig, break, injure or remove any timber, lumber, firewood, trees, shrubs, or other plants; or any fence, house, barn or other structure; or to pursue, trap, hunt or kill any bird or other wild animals or take fish from streams or lakes within the boundaries of such areas without the written consent of the local official of the United States having charge of the acquisition of such lands.

Any person, firm or corporation convicted of the violation of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be subject to a fine of not more than fifty dollars or to imprisonment for not to exceed thirty days, or to both such fine and imprisonment.

The department of conservation and development through its legally appointed forestry, fish and game wardens is hereby authorized and empowered to assist the county law enforcement officers in the enforcement of this section. (1935, c. 317.)

§ 4303. Disorderly conduct in and injuries to public buildings.—If any person shall make any rude or riotous noise or be guilty of any disorderly conduct in or near any of the public buildings of the state, or of any county or municipality, or shall write or scribble on, mark, deface, besmear, or injure the walls of any of the public buildings of the state or of any county or municipality, or any statue or monument, or shall do or commit any nuisance in or near any public building of the state or of any county or municipality, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. The keeper of the capitol or any person in charge of any of such public buildings shall have authority to arrest summarily and without warrant for a violation of this section. The words "public building," as used in this section, shall include the grounds around such buildings. (Rev., s. 3742; Code, s. 2308; R. C., c. 103, ss. 7, 8; 1829, c. 29, ss. 1, 2; 1842, c. 47; 1915, c. 269.)

§ 4304. Local: Erecting artificial islands and lumps in public waters.—If any person shall erect artificial islands or lumps in any of the waters of the state east of the Wilmington and Weldon railroad and the Petersburg and Weldon railroad, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3543; Code, s. 986; 1883, c. 109.)

§ 4305. Trespass on land after being forbidden; license to look for estrays.—If any person after being forbidden to do so, shall go or enter upon the lands of another, without a license therefor, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction, shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars, or imprisoned not more than thirty days: Provided, that if any person shall make a written affidavit before a justice of the peace of the county that any of his cattle or livestock (which shall be specially described in such affidavit) have strayed away, and that he has good reason to believe that they are on the lands of a certain other person, then the justice may, in his discretion, allow the affiant to enter on the premises of such person with one or more servants, without firearms, in the daytime (Sunday excepted), between the hours of sunrise and sunset, and make search for his estrays for such limited time as to the justice shall appear reasonable. The only effect of such license shall be to protect the persons entering from indictment therefor, and the license shall have this effect only where it is made bona fide and the entry is effected without any damage except such as may be necessary to conduct the search. (Rev., s. 3688; Code, s. 1120; 1866, c. 60.)

Cross Reference.—As to forcible trespass, see section 4300; as to wilful destruction by tenant, see section 2351; as to larceny of wood from the land, see section 4259.

Entry under Claim of Right.—One who enters upon the land of another under a bona fide claim of right is guilty of no criminal offense. State v. Crosset, 81 N. C. 579. Mere belief of the claim is not sufficient, there must be proof of title or evidence of a reasonable belief of the existence of the right of entry. State v. Fisher, 109 N. C. 817, 13 S. E. 878; State v. Durham, 120 N. C. 546, 550, 28 S. E. 22. This bona fide claim of right must be passed on by a jury before defendant can be convicted. State v. Wells, 142 N. C. 590, 595, 55 S. E. 210. But the question will not be submitted as a mere abstraction; there must be evidence of a claim or of facts giving rise to a reasonable and bona fide claim. State v. Faggart, 170 N. C. 737, 740, 87 S. E. 31.

It must be noted that entry under a claim of right is a defense only in a criminal action, as ignorance of a trespasser will not exonerate him from civil liability. State v. Whitener, 93 N. C. 590, 593.

Land Sought to Be Condemned.—An indictment for wilful trespass under this section will lie against an employee of a railroad company for an entry after being forbidden on land which the company is seeking to condemn, the entry being for the purpose of constructing the road and before an appraisement has been made, although a restraining order against such a trespass would be refused. State v. Wells, 142 N. C. 590, 55 S. E. 210.

Entry by Husband on Wife's Property.—A husband is not subject to the rule of this section, in regard to property of his wife, and although she may forbid him to enter he may enter nevertheless. State v. Jones, 132 N. C. 1043, 43 S. E. 939.

Entry as Servant.—Upon the trial under an indictment for trespass on lands after being forbidden, it is no defense to show that defendant acted under the instructions of his superior officer of a railroad company in entering upon the lands to construct a railroad. Evidence that such superior officer therein acted by the advice of counsel learned in the law is incompetent. State v. Mallard, 143 N. C. 666, 57 S. E. 351.

One who enters upon the land of another, after being forbidden, as the servant, and at the command of a bona fide claimant, is not guilty of any criminal offense. State v. Winslow, 95 N. C. 649.

Entry by Former Tenant to Gather Crops.—For a conviction under the provisions of this section for unlawful trespass on lands after being forbidden, it is not alone sufficient to show that the trespass had been forbidden, when there is evidence tending to show that the trespasser peacefully entered upon a claim of title, founded upon a reasonable belief that he had the right to go upon the lands; and a peremptory instruction to find the prisoner guilty upon the evidence is held as error, there being evidence that the trespasser had been a tenant upon the lands of the prosecutor, and had entered upon the lands to gather the crops he had sown and cultivated, after he had moved to another place with the intention to return for this purpose, believing he had the right, though forbidden to do so by the prosecutor. State v. Faggart, 170 N. C. 737, 87 S. E. 31.

Entry as Guest of Tenant.—One forbidden by the landlord to enter his land is not guilty under this section if he enters a part of the land in the possession of a tenant and as a guest of the tenant. State v. Lawson, 101 N. C. 717, 7 S. E. 905.

License to Enter Must Be Negatived in Indictment.—In an indictment for entering on the land of another and taking therefrom turpentine, etc., it is necessary that a "license so to enter" should be distinctly negatived as an essential part of the description of the offense. State v. Bullard, 72 N. C. 445.

An indictment in which it is charged that the defendant did unlawfully enter upon the premises of the prosecutors, he, the said defendant, having been forbidden to enter on said premises, and not having a license so to enter, etc., is sufficient. State v. Whitehurst, 70 N. C. 85.

Court Having Jurisdiction.—Justices of the peace have exclusive original jurisdiction of the offense under this section. State v. Dudley, 83 N. C. 660.

In State v. Presly, 72 N. C. 204 the rule at that time was held to be that Justice of the Peace and Superior Courts had concurrent jurisdiction and after six months the Superior Court had exclusive jurisdiction. Again in State v. Edney, 80 N. C. 360 the court held that because of the wording of the statute and Art. IV sec. 33 of the Constitution Justices of the peace had no jurisdiction. These irregularities were removed by legislation, and State v. Dudley, supra construed this section as it was no doubt originally intended by the Legislature to be construed.

Warrant May Be Amended. — The Superior Court has power to amend, after verdict, a warrant brought by appeal of defendant from a Justice's court, charging defedant with going upon the land of another, after being forbidden to do so, so as to charge that the entry was "willful and unlawful," and to make the charge conclude, "against the peace and dignity of the State." State v. Smith, 103 N. C. 410, 9 S. E. 200.

Warrant with Affidavit Attached.—A warrant for trespass will not be quashed because it does not contain the necessary descriptive words of the alleged offense, when it refers to an "annexed affidavit" in which all the essential averments are made, as the reference to the affidavit makes it a part of the warrant. State v. Winlow, 95 N. C. 649.

§ 4306. Cutting, injuring, or removing another's timber.—If any person, not being the bona fide owner thereof, shall knowingly and willfully cut down, injure or remove any standing, growing or fallen tree or log, the property of another, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than fifty dollars or by imprisonment for not more than thirty days. (Rev., s. 3687; 1889, c. 168.)

As to larceny of wood, see section 4259.

Editor's Note.—The Act of 1929 added Duplin County to this section.

Cited in Caldwell Land, etc., Co. v. Hayes, 157 N. C. 333, 72 S. E. 1078.

§ 4308. Local: Purchasing timber unlawfully removed from another's land.—If any person or corporation shall purchase or receive any timber tree, knowing the same to have been cut or removed from the lands of another without the consent of the owner thereof, or shall purchase or receive any logs, planks, boards, staves, shingles or other lumber made from such timber tree, knowing the same to have been cut or removed as aforesaid, the person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined or imprisoned, in the discretion of the court, and shall be liable to double the amount of the actual damages to the owner of such timber, to be recovered in a civil action brought therefor. This section shall apply only to Caldwell, Wilkes, Watauga, Burke, McDowell, Yadkin, Cherokee and Mitchell counties. (1907, c. 320, ss. 3, 5.)

Cited in Caldwell Land, etc., Co. v. Hayes, 157 N. C. 333, 72 S. E. 1078.

§ 4309. Setting fire to grass and brush lands and woodlands.—If any person shall intentionally set fire to any grass land, brush land or woodland, except it be his own property, or in that case without first giving notice to all persons owning or in charge of lands adjoining the land intended to be fired, and without also taking care to watch such fire while burning and to extinguish it before it shall reach any lands near to or adjoining the lands so fired, he shall for every such offense be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not less than fifty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisoned for a period of not less than sixty days nor more than four months for the first offense, and for a second or any subsequent similar offense shall be imprisoned not less than four months nor more than one year. This section shall not prevent an action for the damages sustained by the owner of any property from such fires. For the purposes of this section, the term "woodland" is to be taken to include all forest areas, both timber and cut-over land, and all second-growth stands on areas that have at one time been cultivated. Any person who shall furnish to the state evidence sufficient for the conviction of a violation of this statute shall receive the sum of fifty dollars, to be taxed as part of the court costs. (Rev., s. 3346; Code, ss. 52, 53; R. C., c. 16, ss. 1, 2; 1777, c. 123, ss. 1, 2; 1915, c. 243, ss. 8, 11; 1919, c. 318; 1925, c. 61, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—By amendment of this section, Public Laws 1925 c. 61 sec. 1, the punishment was changed from "'a fine not less than ten dollars or more than fifty dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding thirty days'" to "a fine not less than fifty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars or imprisonment not less than sixty days nor more than four months for the first offence, and for subsequent similar offences imprisonment from four months to one year."

The sum provided for one furnishing state evidence was raised from twenty dollars to fifty dollars.

This section formerly provided only for setting fire to woodland, and one who let fire escape while burning other lands was not liable, under this section. Averitt v. Murrell, 49 N. C. 322, but was only liable for negligence. Cato v. Toler, 160 N. C. 104, 75 S. E. 929. In the case of Hall v. Crawford, 50 N. C. 3 it was held that "an old field which had turned out without any fence around it and which had grown up in broom sedge and pine brushes" came within the meaning of woodland. This case was pointed out in Achenback v. Johnston, 84 N. C. 264, as stretching the doctrine of liability too far. There it was held that a field grown up in grass and used as a pasture was not woodland. By Public Laws 1917 this section was made applicable to setting fire to grassland and bushland as well as woodland, so the prior constructions so strictly made in regard to firing woodland are no longer applicable as this section now seems to cover burning of any lands.

For amendment applicable to Onslow county, see Public Laws, 1929, c. 185.

Care no Defense.—If one firing woods fails to give the statutory notice, to adjoining owners and damages ensues, the cause of action is complete, no matter what degree of care may have been shown. Lamb v. Sloan, 94 N. C. 534.

Waiver of Notice Bars Damages.—A waiver of notice is a sufficient answer to an action for damages caused to woodland by fire. Roberson v. Kirby, 52 N. C. 477; Lamb v. Sloan, 94 N. C. 534. Waiver when made by a tenant in common while in possession is also a sufficient defense. See Stanland v. Rousk, 168 N. C. 568, 84 S. E. 845.

Waiver by Adjoining Owner No Bar to Penalty.—When an adjoining owner waives notice of the intended fire such waiver does not waive the penalty of this section, but is only a waiver of the land owners right of action for damages to his land caused by the spreading of the fire. Lamb v. Sloan, 94 N. C. 534.

Liability to One Not an Adjoining Owner.—The notice required by this section applies only to adjoining owners and one is not subject to the penalty for failure to give notice to one who is not an adjoining owner, but by the express terms of the statute there is a liability in damages for damages to "any property." See Robinson v. Morgan, 118 N. C. 991, 992, 24 S. E. 667.

Firing to Protect Property.—In the case of Lamb v. Sloan, 94 N. C. 534 it was held that if one set fire to his property to protect it he was not liable under the statute in force at that time which provided the act must be "willfully." This section now provides that if the act is "intentionally" alone there is a liability. It would seem that this covers all except accidental fires.

No Evidence to Show Fire Started by Defendant.—Where the evidence tends only to show that the fire started on defendant's land and spread to the plaintiff's land, but that the defendant had ordered his employees not to set out a fire on account of the dry conditions, and there is neither direct nor circumstantial evidence tending to show the fire had been started either by the defendant or his employees under his authority, a judgment as of nonsuit is proper. Sutton v. Herrin, 202 N. C. 599, 163 S. E. 578.

Burning Off Railroad Right of Ways.—In Case of Nizzell v. Bramming Mfg. Co., 158 N. C. 265, 73 S. E. 802, it was held under a prior statute, similar in some respects to this except that it did not provide against burning grassland and bushland, that the statute did not apply to railroad burning off their rights of way that were covered with grass and tree tops.

Action to Recover Penalty.—Action for a recovery of penalties provided for by this section may be brought before any justice of the peace where service can be had on the defendant. Fisher v. Bullard, 109 N. C. 574, 13 S. E. 799.

§ 4310. Local: Willfully or negligently setting fire to woods and fields.—If any persons shall wilfully or negligently set on fire, or cause to be set on fire, any woods, lands or fields whatsoever, every such offender, upon conviction, shall be fined in the discretion of the court, one-half of the fine to go to the informer, if there be one, and the residue to the school fund of the county wherein such offense was committed, or he shall be imprisoned, in the discretion of the court. This section shall apply only to Caldwell, Wilkes, Watauga, Burke, McDowell, Yadkin, Cherokee, Transylvania, Swain, Graham and Mitchell counties. (1907, c. 320, ss 4, 5; 1925, c. 61, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—By amendment, Public Laws 1925, c. 61 sec. 2 this section was made applicable to Transylvania, Swain, and Graham Counties.

Cited in Lumber Co. v. Hayes, 157 N. C. 333, 72 N. C. 1078.

§ 4311. Setting fire to woodlands and grass lands with campfires.—Any wagoner, hunter, camper or other person who shall kindle a campfire or shall authorize another to kindle such fire, unless all combustible material for the space of ten feet surrounding the place where such fire is kindled has been removed, or shall leave a campfire without fully extinguishing it, or who shall accidentally or negligently by the use of any torch, gun, match or other instrumentality, or in any manner whatever, start any fire upon any grass land, brush land or woodland without fully extinguishing the same, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty days. For the purposes of this section the term "woodland" is to be taken to include all forest areas, both timber and cut-over land, and all second-growth stands on areas that have at one time been cultivated. (Rev., s. 3347; Code, s. 54; 1885, c. 126; 1913, c. 8; 1915, c. 243, ss. 9, 11.)

§ 4312. Certain fires to be guarded by watchman.—All persons, firms or corporations who shall burn any tar kiln or pit of charcoal, or set fire to or burn any brush, grass or other material, whereby any property may be endangered or destroyed, shall keep and maintain a careful and competent watchman in charge of such kiln, pit, brush or other material while burning. Any person, firm or corporation violating the provisions of this section shall be punishable by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars, or by imprisonment for not exceeding thirty days. Fire escaping from such kiln, pit, brush or other material while burning shall be prima facie evidence of neglect of these provisions. (1915, c. 243, s. 10.)

§ 4313. Burning or otherwise destroying crops in the field.—If any person shall willfully burn or destroy any other person's corn, cotton, wheat, barley, rye, oats, buckwheat, rice, tobacco, hay, straw, fodder, shucks or other provender in a stack, hill, rick or pen, or secured in any other way out of doors, or grass or sedge standing on the land, he shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail or state's prison for not less than four months nor more than five years. (Rev., s. 3339; 1885, c. 42; 1874-5, c. 133; Code, s. 985, subsec. 2.)

Cross Reference. — As to arson, see sections 4238, 4248; as to burning of special buildings other than dwellings, see sections 4242, 4244.

Out of Doors Defined.—One who burn cotton in a railroad car cannot be convicted under this section as the cotton is not out of doors. State v. Avery, 109 N. C. 798, 13 S. E. 931. Clark, J., dissents on the ground that it is merely secured out of doors and comes within the application of the statute.

Formerly Misdemeanor.—The burning provided in this section was at one time a misdemeanor. State v. Huskins, 126 N. C. 1070, 35 S. E. 608.

Indictment. — An indictment should charge a statutory crime in the words of the statute. Therefore an indictment charging setting fire to a lot of fodder without charging the burning, is defective. State v. Hall, 93 N. C. 571.

It is not necessary under this section to aver in the indictment that the stack burned was "out of doors." State v. Huskins, 126 N. C. 1070, 35 S. E. 608.

§ 4314. Local: Removing dog-tongue and certain other products from another's land.—If any person shall enter upon and remove from the lands of any other person, without first obtaining permission from the land owner, any dog-tongue (or vanilla), whortleberries or other fruits, or any other marketable product of the soil, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars for each offense, or imprisoned not more than thirty days: Provided, that this section shall apply to the counties or Sampson and Duplin only. (Rev., s. 3683; 1889, c. 77.)

§ 4315. Injuries to dams and water channels of mill and factories.—If any person shall cut away, destroy or otherwise injure any dam, or part thereof, or shall obstruct or damage any race, canal or other water channel erected, opened, used or constructed for the purpose of furnishing water for the operation of any mill, factory or machine works, or for the escape of water therefrom, he shall, upon conviction, be fined or imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3678; Code, s. 1087; 1866, c. 48.)

Obstruction Below Dam or Channel.—This section only applies to obstructions and damages to the dam or channel and an indictment cannot be had for obstructions below the dam or channel. State v. Tomlinson, 77 N. C. 528.

Cited in State v. Suttle, 115 N. C. 784, 20 S. E. 725.

§ 4316. Taking unlawful possession of another's house.—If any person shall enter upon the lands of another and take possession of any house or other building thereon, without permission of the owner or his agent and without a bona fide claim of right or title so to enter and take possession, and shall fail or refuse to vacate such premises within ten days after being notified personally in writing to do so, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined or imprisoned at the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3685; 1893, c. 347.)

See notes to section 4305.

Editor's Note.—By the Act of 1929, c. 109, limited in operation to Durham county, this section was amended to read as follows: "If any person shall enter upon the lands of another and take possession of any house or other building thereon, without permission of the owner or his agent and without a bona fide claim of right or title so to enter and take possession, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined or imprisoned at the discretion of the court."

§ 4317. Injuring houses, churches, fences and walls.—If any person shall, by any other means than burning or attempting to burn, unlawfully and willfully demolish, destroy, deface, injure or damage any of the houses or other buildings mentioned in this chapter in the article entitled Arson and Other Burnings; or shall unlawfully and willfully burn, demolish, pull down, destroy, deface, damage or injure any church, uninhabited house, outhouse or other house or building not mentioned in such article; or shall unlawfully and willfully burn, destroy, pull down, injure or remove any fence, wall or other inclosure, or any part thereof, surrounding or about any yard, garden, cultivated field or pasture, or about any church or graveyard, or about any factory or other house in which machinery is used, every person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3673; Code, s. 1062; R. C., c. 34, s. 103.)

I. Houses.
II. Fences Around Fields.

I. HOUSES.

Trespass Necessary Part of Offense.—It is held, to constitute a criminal offense under this section, there must be a trespass. State v. Williams, 44 N. C. 197; State v. Watson, 86 N. C. 626; State v. McCracken, 118 N. C. 1240, 24 S. E. 530. And a party in lawful possession cannot commit a trespass upon the property he is in possession of. State v. Howell, 107 N. C. 835, 12 S. E. 509; State v. Reynolds, 95 N. C. 616; Dobbs v. Gullidge, 20 N. C. 197. Therefore, according to the logic of these decisions, if a defendant is shown to have been in the actual possession of the house at the time he tore it down, he committed no criminal offense under this section. We say the lawful possession, to distinguish his possession from that of a mere trespasser, which would not protect him from the penalty of the statute. State v. Jones, 129 N. C. 508, 39 S. E. 795, 796.

Tenant's and Landlord's Liability to One Another.—A tenant is not subject under this section for damage done to property in his possession, but the owner of the reversion would be subject to prosecution for damage to property in the possession of a tenant, as the statute covers offences against possession. State v. Mason, 35 N. C. 341; State v. Whitener, 92 N. C. 798.

A tenant cannot divest the possession of his landlord by an attempted attornment to another, and if the person to whom the attempted attornment is made enters the land and damages buildings he is liable under this section, in spite of proof of good faith and claim of title. State v. Howell, 107 N. C. 835. 12 S. E. 569.

Same—Tenant at Sufferance.—If a building is torn down by a landlord while it is in the possession of a tenant at sufferance an indictment under this section cannot be supported, for this section was intended to protect property which the tenant at sufferance has no interest in. State v. Mace, 65 N. C. 344.

Houses Erected Through Mistake.—One who peaceably enters upon lands believing at the time that he had the right to do so, and erects houses thereon, but, being still in possession, tears them down and removes them upon discovering that he was upon the lands of another, is not such a trespasser as will subject him to a conviction under this section. State v. Reynolds, 95 N. C. 616.

School Houses Held by Adverse Possession.—If defendants are in the adverse possession of the schoolhouse and bona fide claiming it as their own, it is not a crime in them to pull it down. State v. Roseman, 66 N. C. 634, 635.

"Other Houses."—It is manifest that the words "other house or building," embrace a jail, a jail-house or building. State v. Bryan, 89 N. C. 531, 533.

Dynamiting a Crib.—An indictment will lie under this section for injury to a crib by an explosion of dynamite. See State v. Martin, 173 N. C. 808, 92 S. E. 597.

II. FENCES AROUND FIELDS.

Field Defined.—The ruling in State v. Allen, 35 N. C. 36, was cited and approved in State v. McMinn, 81 N. C. 585, in which case it was also held that the smallness of the tract made no difference; that a town lot, if inclosed and cultivated, could be described as a "field" under this statute, unless it was used as a "garden," in which case it should be so described. State v. Campbell, 133 N. C. 640, 642, 45 S. E. 344.

Cultivated Field Defined.—"Where a piece or tract of land has been cleared and fenced, and cultivated, or proposed to be cultivated and is kept and used for cultivation according to the ordinary course of husbandry, although nothing may be growing within the enclosure at the time of the trespass, it is a 'cultivated field' within the description of the statute." State v. McMinn, 81 N. C. 585, 588. State v. Allen, 35 N. C. 36.

Fence Must Enclose Something.—It is necessary under this section that the fence destroyed or injured surround or enclose something and a fence along a road to prevent passers-by from turning into the field to avoid mud in the road, when not connected with any other fence is not within the meaning of this section. See State v. Roberts, 101 N. C. 744, 7 S. E. 714.

Instruction That Pasture Is a Field.—Where in a criminal prosecution for the violation of this section providing that a person removing a fence surrounding "any yard, garden, cultivated field, or pasture" should be guilty of a misdemeanor, the indictment charges the defendant with having removed a fence surrounding a cultivated field, and the evidence is that the fence surrounded a pasture, the words "pasture" and "cultivated field" are not synonymous and are distinguished in the statute by a disjunctive, and an instruction which charges that a pasture is a cultivated field within the meaning of the statute is erroneous. State v. Cornett, 199 N. C. 634, 155 S. E. 451.

Title to Land No Defense.—It is well settled that where the state, in an indictment under this section, for unlawfully and wilfully removing a fence, shows actual possession in the prosecutor, the defendant cannot excuse himself by showing title to the land upon which the fence was situated. State v. Campbell, 133 N. C. 640, 45 S. E. 344; State v. Fender, 125 N. C. 649, 34 S. E. 448; State v. Haves, 76 N. C. 117; State v. Howell, 107 N. C 835, 12 S. E. 569; State v. Marsh, 91 N. C. 632; State v. Graham, 53 N. C. 397; State v. Taylor, 172 N. C. 892, 90 S. E. 294, 295.

Question of Title Cannot Be Raised.—Where a party has neither possession, nor a right of possession to land, he cannot, upon an indictment for unlawfully removing a fence therefrom, raise a question as to a right of entry, nor is it any defence to him that he did the act to bring on a civil suit in order to try the title. State v. Graham, 53 N. C. 397.

Agency No Defence. — Under an indictment for tearing down a fence the defendant cannot avoid liability by showing that he acted as agent for another. State v. Campbell, 133 N. C. 640, 45 S. E. 344.

Destroying Fence When Line Is in Dispute—Although a defendant cannot plead his title as a defense to an indictment for destroying fences, etc., on the land in possession of another, he can plead his title if the land is not in the possession of the prosecutor. In case of a disputed line if the prosecutor erects a fence on land in possession of the defendant, the defendant is not liable under this section for pulling it down. State v. Fender, 125 N. C. 649, 34 S. E. 448; State v. Watson, 86 N. C. 626. Nor is a quasi tenant occupying by the consent of the owner subject to prosecution under this section for the removal of a fence. State v. Williams, 44 N. C. 197.

Right to Reclaim Fence.—Although rails of which a fence around an enclosure is made were taken from the land of another no right to go on the land and remove the fence exists in favor of the person from whom the rails were taken as the fence is a part of the realty, and such a trespass comes within the meaning of this section. State v. McMinn, 81 N. C. 585.

Applicable to Wire Fences.—An indictment for cutting and destroying a wire fence may be maintained under this section if it charges that the wire fence was an enclosure. State v. Biggers, 108 N. C. 760, 12 S. E. 1024.

Defective Bill of Indictment.—A motion in arrest of judgment after conviction for a removal of fences on the ground that the bill of indictment is defective, will not be granted, unless it appears that the bill is so defective that judgment cannot be pronounced upon it. State v. Taylor, 172 N. C. 892, 90 S. E. 294, 295.

Fences Across a Street Removed by Officer. — A fence erected across a public street is a public nuisance, and a city marshall will not be liable for abating the nuisance by pulling it down. State v. Godwin, 145 N. C. 461, 59 S. E. 132.

§ 4317(a). Unlawful posting of advertisements.—Any person who in any manner paints, prints, places, or affixes, or causes to be painted, printed, placed, or affixed, any business or commercial advertisement on or to any stone, tree, fence, stump, pole, automobile building, or other object, which is the property of another without first obtaining the written consent of such owner thereof, or who in any manner paints, prints, places, puts, or affixes, or causes to be painted, printed, placed, or affixed, such an advertisement on or to any stone, tree, fence, stump, pole, mile-board, mile-stone, danger-sign, danger-signal, guide-sign, guide-post, automobile building or other object within the limits of a public highway, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars ($50) or imprisoned not exceeding thirty (30) days. (1924, c. 109.)

Editor's Note.—It was suggested in 3 N. C. Law Rev. 25 that the first part of this section seems to apply to posting adds anywhere on private property, while the last part applies to those posted within the limits of the public highway.

§ 4318. Injuring bridges.—If any person shall unlawfully and willfully demolish, destroy, break, tear down, injure or damage any bridge across any of the creeks or rivers or other streams in the state, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3771; Code, s. 993; 1883, c. 271.)

§ 4319. Removing, altering or defacing landmarks.—If any person, firm or corporation shall knowingly remove, alter or deface any landmark in anywise whatsoever, or shall knowingly cause such removal, alteration or defacement to be done, such person, firm or corporation shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. This section shall not apply to landmarks, such as creeks and other small streams, which the interest of agriculture may require to be altered or turned from their channels, nor to such persons, firms or corporations as own the fee simple in the lands on both sides of the lines designated by the landmarks removed, altered or defaced. Nor shall this section apply to those adjoining landowners who may by agreement remove, alter or deface landmarks in which they alone are interested. (Rev., s. 3674; Code, s. 1063; 1858-9, c. 17; 1915, c. 248.)

Removal of Stakes.—As between the parties stakes are evidence of a definite location of land, as also is the planting of a stone, and a removal of such stakes comes within the meaning of this section. State v. Jenkins, 164 N. C. 527, 529, 80 S. E. 231.

Indictment Must Aver.—An indictment charging that one A. B., with force and arms, etc., willfully and unlawfully did alter, deface and remove a corner tree, the property of C., against the form of the statute, is good without a negative averment of the matter contained in the proviso to the act creating the offense. State v. Bryant, 111 N. C. 693, 16 S. E. 326.

§ 4320. Removing or defacing monuments and tombstones.—If any person shall, unlawfully and on purpose, remove from its place any monument of marble, stone, brass, wood or other material, erected for the purpose of designating the spot where any dead body is interred, or for the purpose of preserving and perpetuating the memory, name, fame, birth, age or death of any person, whether situated in or out of the common burying ground, or shall unlawfully and on purpose break or deface such monument, or alter the letters, marks or inscription thereof, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3680; Code, s. 1088; R. C., c. 34, s. 102; 1840, c. 6.)

See notes to section 4322.

Right of Landowner to Remove.—Where the owner of land consents, either expressly or by implication to the interment of dead bodies on his land, he has no right to afterwards remove the bodies or to deface or pull down the gravestones and monuments erected to perpetuate their money. State v. Wilson, 94 N. C. 1015.

Indictment.—It is not necessary, to charge in the indictment that the monument removed was intended to designate the spot where the dead body of a particular person named, or a person unknown, was interred. State v. Wilson, 94 N. C. 1015.

It is not necessary to charge in terms that the dead body was that of a dead person. State v. Wilson, 94 N. C. 1015.

§ 4321. Interfering with graveyards.—If any person shall unlawfully take away any stone, brick, iron or other material that encloses private graveyards, or shall cut or keep open any ditch or drainway, or put any permanent log or other obstruction not intended as a monument to a grave in such graveyards, or knowingly plow over and tear up any grave, or shall remove or change the location of any fence around such graveyard without the consent of such person or persons as may have parents, children or brothers or sisters buried therein, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined not more than ten dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (Rev., s. 3681; 1889, c. 130; 1919, c. 218.)

§ 4322. Disturbing graves.—If any person shall, without due process of law, or the consent of the surviving husband or wife or the next of kin of the deceased, and of the person having the control of such grave, open any grave for the purpose of taking therefrom any dead body, or any part thereof buried therein, or anything interred therewith, he shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3672; 1885, c. 90.)

Intent.—The intent to open a grave and remove the dead body is sufficient criminal intent, and proof of the intent to disturb the grave is conclusive. State v. McLean, 121 N. C. 589, 28 S. E. 140.

Persons Liable.—The mayor or other town officers counseling their subordinates that they have a right to remove bodies makes them liable under this section. State v. McLean, 121 N. C. 589, 28 S. E. 140.

When Lot Is Not Paid for.—The fact that the lot has not been paid for will not excuse the disturbance of a body only for the purpose of moving it to a pauper section. State v. McLean, 121 N. C. 589, 28 S. E. 140.

§ 4323. Interfering with gas, electric and steam appliances.—If any person shall willfully, with intent to injure or defraud, commit any of the acts set forth in the following subsections, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor:

1. Connect a tube, pipe, wire or other instrument or contrivance with a pipe or wire used for conducting or supplying illuminating gas, fuel, natural gas or electricity in such manner as to supply such gas or electricity to any burner, orifice, lamp or motor where the same is or can be burned or used without passing through the meter or other instrument provided for registering the quantity consumed; or,

2. Obstruct, alter, injure or prevent the action of a meter or other instrument used to measure or register the quantity of illuminating fuel, natural gas or electricity consumed in a house or apartment, or at an orifice or burner, lamp or motor, or by a consumer or other person other than an employee of the company owning any gas or electric meter, who willfully shall detach or disconnect such meter, or make or report any test of, or examine for the purpose of testing any meter so detached or disconnected; or,

3. In any manner whatever change, extend or alter any service or other pipe, wire or attachment of any kind, connecting with or through which natural or artificial gas or electricity is furnished from the gas mains or pipes of any person, without first procuring from said person written permission to make such change, extension or alterations; or,

4. Make any connection or reconnection with the gas mains, service pipes or wires of any person, furnishing to consumers natural or artificial gas or electricity, or turn on or off or in any manner interfere with any valve or stop-cock or other appliance belonging to such person, and connected with his service or other pipes or wires, or enlarge the orifice or mixers, or use natural gas for heating purposes except through mixers, or electricity for any purpose without first procuring from such person a written permit to turn on or off such stop-cock or valve, or to make such connection or reconnections, or to enlarge the orifice of mixers, or to use for heating purposes without mixers or to interfere with the valves, stop-cocks, wires or other appliances of such, as the case may be; or,

5. Retain possession of or refuse to deliver any mixer, meter, lamp or other appliance which may be leased or rented by any person, for the purpose of furnishing gas, electricity or power through the same, or sell, lend or in any other manner dispose of the same to any person other than such person entitled to the possession of the same; or,

6. Set on fire any gas escaping from wells, broken or leaking mains, pipes, valves or other appliances used by any person in conveying gas to consumers, or interfere in any manner with the wells, pipes, mains, gate-boxes, valves, stop-cocks, wires, cables, conduits or any other appliances, machinery or property of any person engaged in furnishing gas to consumers unless employed by or acting under the authority and direction of such person; or,

7. Open or cause to be opened, or reconnect or cause to be reconnected any valve lawfully closed or disconnected by a district stream corporation; or,

8. Turn on steam or cause it to be turned on or to reënter any premises when the same has been lawfully stopped from entering such premises. (Rev., s. 3666; 1901, c. 735.)

§ 4324. Injuring fixtures and other property of gas companies; civil liability.—If any person shall willfully, wantonly or maliciously remove, obstruct, injure or destroy any part of the plant, machinery, fixtures, structures or buildings, or anything appertaining to the works of any gas company, or shall use, tamper or interfere with the same, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days for such offense. Such person shall also forfeit and pay to the company so injured, to be sued for and recovered in a civil action, double the amount of the damages sustained by any such injury. (Rev., s. 3671; 1889 (Pr.), c. 35, s. 3.)

§ 4325. Tampering with engines and boilers.—If any person shall willfully turn out water from any boiler or turn the bolts of any engine or boiler, or meddle or tamper with such boiler or engine, or any other machinery in connection with any boiler or engine, causing loss, damage, danger or delay to the owner in the prosecution of his work, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3667; 1901, c. 733.)

Cited in State v. Hargett, 196 N. C. 692, 693, 146 S. E. 801.

§ 4326. Injuring wires and other fixtures of telephone, telegraph and electric-power companies.—If any person shall willfully injure, destroy or pull down any telegraph, telephone or electric-power-transmission pole, wire, insulator or any other fixture or apparatus attached to a telegraph, telephone or electric-power-transmission line, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined and imprisoned at the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3847; Code, s. 1118; 1881, c. 4; 1883, c. 103; 1907, c. 827, s. 1.)

§ 4327. Making unauthorized connections with telephone and telegraph wires.—It shall be unlawful for any person to tap or make any connection with any wire or apparatus of any telephone or telegraph company operating in this state, except such connection as may be authorized by the person or corporation operating such wire or apparatus. Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not more than ten dollars or imprisoned not more than ten days for each offense. Each day's continuance of such unlawful connection shall be separate offense. (1911, c. 113.)

§ 4328. Injuring fixtures and other property of electric-power companies.—It shall be unlawful for any person willfully and wantonly, and without the consent of the owner, to take down, remove, injure, obstruct, displace or destroy any line erected or constructed for the transmission of electrical current, or any poles, towers, wires, conduits, cables, insulators or any support upon which wires or cables may be suspended, or any part of any such line or appurtenances or apparatus connected therewith, or to sever any wire or cable thereof, or in any manner to interrupt the transmission of electrical current over and along any such line, or to take down, remove, injure or destroy any house, shop, building or other structure or machinery connected with or necessary to the use of any line erected or constructed for the transmission of electrical current, or to wantonly or willfully cause injury to any property mentioned in this section by means of fire. Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not more than five hundred dollars or imprisoned not longer than one year, or both fined and imprisoned, in the discretion of the court. (1907, c. 919.)

§ 4329. Felling trees on telephone and electric-power wires.—If any person shall negligently and carelessly cut or fell any tree, or any limb or branch therefrom, in such a manner as to cause the same to fall upon and across any telephone, electric light or electric-power-transmission wire, from which any injury to such wire shall be occasioned, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall also be liable to penalty of fifty dollars for each and every offense. (Rev., s. 3849; 1903, c. 616; 1907, c. 827, s. 2.)

§ 4330. Interfering with telephone lines.—If any person shall unnecessarily disconnect the wire or in any other way render any telephone line, or any part of such line, unfit for use in transmitting messages, or shall unnecessarily cut, tear down, destroy or in any way render unfit for the transmission of messages any part of a telephone line, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be fined or imprisoned for a term not exceeding two years, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3845; 1901, c. 318.)

Civil Action for Damages.—The willful cutting of a telephone wire in public use for hire is made a misdemeanor punishable by fine or imprisonment by this section, and where such act has caused damages to another the action sounds in tort, making the tort feasor liable for any injuries naturally following and flowing from the wrongful act, independent of any contractual relations between the parties. Hodges v. Virginia-Carolina R. Co., 179 N. C. 566, 103 S. E. 145.

§ 4330(a). Trespass on engines, locomotives or cars.—It shall be unlawful for any person to ride, swing upon, or trespass in any way upon any locomotive, engine, derrick, loader, steam shovel, car, tram-car or any other rolling stock of any firm, corporation or individual, used or operated in the conduct of any manufacturing or transportation business, after verbal notice by the owner, manager or any person in charge thereof, except persons employed in the operation thereof, or duly authorized by the owner, manager or any person in charge of such engine, locomotive, car or other rolling stock; and any one so offending will be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not to exceed fifty dollars ($50.00) or imprisoned not to exceed thirty days: Provided, that this section shall not apply except to Swain county. (1923, c. 213.)

Editor's Note.—The position is taken by the 1 N. C. Law Rev. 213, that this section partly duplicates section 3505 and that while this section may have some effect on questions of negligence, it will hardly be construed to prevent recovery by the trespasser for injury occurring to him where the trespass is not the proximate cause of the injury.

§ 4330(b). Injuring buildings or fences; taking possession of house without consent.—If any person shall deface, injure or damage any house, uninhabited house or other building belonging to another; or deface, damage, pull down, injure, remove or destroy any fence or wall enclosing, in whole or in part, the premises belonging to another; or shall move into, take possession of and/or occupy any house, uninhabited house or other building situated on the premises belonging to another, without having first obtained authority so to do and consent of the owner or agent thereof, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. (1929, c. 192, s. 1.)

Art. 23. Trespasses to Personal Property

§ 4331. Malicious injury to personal property.—If any person shall wantonly and willfully injure the personal property of another, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, whether the property be destroyed or not, and shall be punished by fine or imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3676; Code, s. 1082; 1885, c. 53; 1876-7, c. 18.)

As to definition of personal property, see section 3949, par. 6.

Things That Are Personalty.—A promissory note or due bill being an "evidence of debt" is personal property within the meaning of this section and section 3949, par. 6. State v. Sneed, 121 N. C. 614, 28 S. E. 365.

An electric street car is personalty and not a fixture. State v. Sneed, 121 N. C. 614, 28 S. E. 365.

Malice Not Necessary.—It is not necessary to allege or prove any malice to the owner of personal property on the part of one who wantonly and willfully injures it nor is it material whether the property was destroyed or not. State v. Sneed, 121 N. C. 614, 28 S. E. 365.

"Wantonly and Wilfully" Necessary.—An indictment for injury to personal property, under this section, which charged that the act was "wantonly and wilfully" done, was not defective because it did not aver the act to have been unlawfully perpetrated. Lawful acts are not done wantonly and wilfully. State v. Martin, 107 N. C. 904, 12 S. E. 194.

But an indictment cannot be sustained under this section if there is neither an allegation or finding that the injury was "wilfully and wantonly" done. The words "unlawfully and on purpose" will not supply their place. State v. Tweedy, 115 N. C. 704, 20 S. E. 183.

Malicious Mischief at Common Law.—This section was not intended to supersede the common law as to malicious mischief, and though malice must be charged at common law it is not necessary under this section. State v. Martin, 141 N. C. 832, 53 S. E. 874.

No Accessories.—As there are no accessories in misdemeanors the offence under this section may be committed jointly by several persons, one doing the act the others aiding and abetting or participating. State v. Martin, 141 N. C. 832, 53 S. E. 874.

Destroying Whisky.—The mere possession of whisky gives no title; and a revenue officer who seizes a barrel concealed on private premises, and in good faith destroys it, is not guilty of a misdemeanor under this section. North Carolina v. Vanderford, 35 Fed. 282.

Conviction under This Section in Place of Section 4335(a).—Where there is an erroneous conviction under this section, when the indictment should have been drawn under section 4335(a), et seq., the prisoner should be discharged with permission to the solicitor to send another bill, is so advised. State v. Reed, 196 N. C. 357, 145 S. E. 691.

§ 4332. Malicious removal of packing from railway coaches and other rolling stock.—If any person shall willfully and maliciously take or remove the waste or packing from the journal box of any locomotive, engine, tender, carriage, coach, car, caboose or truck used or operated upon any railroad whether the same be operated by steam or electricity, he shall upon conviction thereof be fined or imprisoned in the jail or state's prison, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3759; 1905, c. 335.)

§ 4333. Removing boats or their fixtures and appliances.—If any person shall take away from any landing or other place where the same shall be, or shall loose, unmoor, or turn adrift from the same, any boat, canoe, pettiaugua, oars, paddles, sails or tackle belonging to or in the lawful custody of any person; or if any person shall direct the same to be done without the consent of the owner, or the person having the custody or possession of such property, he shall forfeit and pay to such owner, or person having the custody and possession as aforesaid, the sum of two dollars, and shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days, in the discretion of the court. The owner may also have his action for such injury. The penalties aforesaid shall not extend to any person who shall press any such property by public authority. (Rev., s. 3544; Code, s. 2288; 1889, c. 378; R. C., c. 14, ss. 1, 3.)

§ 4334. Injuring livestock not inclosed by lawful fence.—If any person shall willfully and unlawfully kill or abuse any horse, mule, hog, sheep or other cattle, the property of another, in any enclosure not surrounded by a lawful fence, such person shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined or imprisoned, at the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3313; Code, s. 1003; 1868-9, c. 253.)

At Common Law.—Wounding of cattle maliciously is not an indictable offense at common law. State v. Manuel, 72 N. C. 201.

Purpose of Section.—The obvious purpose of the statute is to prohibit and prevent every person from unlawfully and willfully killing and abusing live-stock of another, that may get into and trespass upon inclosures not surrounded and protected by a lawful fence, while so trespassing. This is the mischief to be suppressed. State v. Godfrey, 97 N. C. 507, 508, 1 S. E. 779.

Offence May Be Completed Elsewhere.—In order to complete the offense of injury to live-stock, it is not necessary that the offense should be consummated within the inclosure not surrounded by a lawful fence, for if it is begun therein and completed outside of such inclosure, the offence is complete. State v. Godfrey, 97 N. C. 507, 1 S. E. 779.

Cattle Defined.—The word "cattle" has a restricted sense which applies only to the bovine species, and also a broader meaning which includes all domestic animals. That it is used in this section in the latter and broader sense is apparent from the context, "horse, mule, hog, sheep or other cattle." State v. Groves, 119 N. C. 822, 823, 25 S. E. 819.

Injuries in Enclosed Fields.—A person is not liable under this section for injuring stock within his own field which is enclosed and under cultivation. State v. Waters, 51 N. C. 276.

Indictment Must Charge. — An indictment for injuring stock under this section must charge that the cattle abused or killed were property of some one, the abusing or killing must be charged to have been willfully and unlawfully done, and while the animal was in an enclosure not surrounded by a lawful fence. State v. Deal, 92 N. C. 802. State v. Simpson, 73 N. C. 269.

An indictment charging an offence under this section but not setting out who owned the inclosure, although not encouraged because of its looseness, is sufficient. State v. Allen, 69 N. C. 23; State v. Painter, 70 N. C. 70.

"The Field" Is Too General.—An indictment which simply charges the injury, etc., to have been committed on stock in "the field" is not certain to that extent required in such pleading. State v. Staton, 66 N. C. 640.

§ 4335. Taking away or injuring exhibits at fairs.—If any person, without the license of the owner, or any agricultural or other society, shall unlawfully carry away, remove, destroy, mar, deface or injure anything, animate or inanimate, while on exhibition on the grounds of any such society, or going to or returning from the same, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. It shall be sufficient in any indictment for any such offense, or for the larceny of any such thing, animate or inanimate as aforesaid, to charge that the thing so carried away, destroyed, marred, injured or feloniously stolen is the property of the society to which the said thing shall be forwarded for exhibition. (Rev., s. 3668; Code, s. 2796; 1870-1, c. 184, s. 4.)

As to fraudulent entries at fairs, see section 4289.

Art. 23A. Vehicles and Draft Animals.—Protection of Bailor against Acts of Bailee

§ 4335(a). Malicious injury and hired property defined.—Any person who shall rent or hire from any person, firm or corporation, any horse, mule or like animal, or any buggy, wagon, truck, automobile, or other like vehicle, for temporary use, who shall maliciously or wilfully injure or damage the same by in any way using or driving the same in violation of any statute of the State of North Carolina, or who shall permit any other person so to do, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to punishment as hereinafter provided. (1927, c. 61, s. 1.)

See note under § 4331.

§ 4335(b). Sub-letting of hired property.—Any person who shall rent or hire, for temporary use, any horse, mule, or other like animal, or any buggy, wagon, truck, automobile, or other like vehicle, who shall, without the permission of the person, firm or corporation from whom such property is rented or hired, sub-let or rent the same to any other person, firm or corporation, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished as hereinafter provided. (1927, c. 61, s. 2.)

§ 4335(c). Failure to return hired property.—Any person who shall rent or hire, for temporary use, any horse, mule or other like animal, or any buggy, wagon, truck, automobile, or other like vehicle, and who shall wilfully fail to return the same to the possession of the person, firm or corporation from whom such property has been rented or hired at the expiration of the time for which such property has been rented or hired, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished as hereinafter provided. (1927, c. 61, s. 3.)

§ 4335(d). Hiring with intent to defraud.—Any person who shall, with intent to cheat and defraud the owner thereof of the rental price therefor, hire or rent for temporary use any horse or mule or any other like animal, or any buggy, wagon, truck, automobile or other like vehicle, or who shall obtain the possession of the same by false and fraudulent statements made with intent to deceive, which are calculated to deceive, and which do deceive, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished as hereinafter provided. (1927, c. 61, s. 4.)

§ 4335(e). Violation.—Any person violating the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished at the discretion of the Court. (1927, c. 61, s. 5; 1929, c. 38, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the amendment of 1929 this section provided for a maximum fine of fifty dollars and a maximum jail sentence of thirty days. By section two of the amendment it is expressly provided that the Act shall not have a retroactive effect.

Art. 23B. Regulating the Leasing of Storage Batteries

§ 4335(f). "Rental battery" defined; identification of rental storage batteries.—As used in this article the words "rental battery" are defined as an electric storage battery loaned, rented or furnished for temporary use by any person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of buying, selling, repairing or recharging electric storage batteries. All such persons, firms or corporations may mark any such rental batteries belonging to them with the word "rental," or any other word of similar meaning, printed or stamped upon or attached to such battery together with such words as shall identify such batteries as the property of the person, firm or corporation so marking the same. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to so mark any such batteries which are not the property of such person, firm or corporation. (1933, c. 185, s. 1.)

§ 4335(g). Defacing word "rental" prohibited.—It is unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to remove, deface, alter or destroy the word "rental" on any rental battery or any other word, mark or character printed, painted or stamped upon or attached to any rental battery to identify the same as belonging to or being the property of any person, firm or corporation. (1933, c. 185, s. 2.)

§ 4335(h). Sale, etc., of rental battery prohibited. — It is unlawful for any person, firm or corporation other than the owner thereof to sell, dispose of, deliver, rent or give to any other person, firm or corporation any rental battery marked by the owner as provided by section 4335(f). (1933, c. 185, s. 3.)

§ 4335(i). Repairing another's rental battery prohibited.—It is unlawful for any person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of buying, selling, repairing or recharging electric storage batteries to recharge or repair any rental battery not owned by such person, firm or corporation marked by the owner thereof as provided by section 4335(f). (1933, c. 185, s. 4.)

§ 4335(j). Time limit on possession of rental battery without written consent.—It is unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to retain in his, their or its possession for a longer period than ten (10) days, without the written consent of the owner, any rental battery marked as such by the owner as provided by section one of this article. Demand must be made on any person who so retains a rental battery in his possession at least five days before a prosecution can be instituted: Provided, however, that proof of a registered letter having been sent to the person so offending at his last known address shall be accepted as conclusive evidence of such demand. (1933, c. 185, s. 5.)

§ 4335(k). Violation made misdemeanor.—Any person, firm or corporation, and the officers, agents, employees, and members of any firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of sections 4335(f)-4335(j) shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding fifty dollars or be imprisoned for a term of not exceeding thirty days in the discretion of the court. (1933, c. 185, s. 6.)

§ 4335(l). Rebuilding storage batteries out of old parts and sale of, regulated.—Any person, firm or corporation who assembles or rebuilds an electric storage battery for use on automobiles, in whole or in part, out of second-hand or used material such as containers, separators, plates, groups or other battery parts, and sells same or offers same for sale in the state of North Carolina without the word "rebuilt" placed in the side of the container, shall be guilty of a midemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars or imprisoned for a term not exceeding six months or both. (1933, c. 535.)

SUBCHAPTER 8. OFFENSES AGAINST PUBLIC MORALITY AND DECENCY

Art. 24. Offenses against Public Morality and Decency

§ 4336. Crime against nature.—If any person shall commit the abominable and detestable crime, against nature, with mankind or beast, he shall be imprisoned in the state's prison not less than five nor more than sixty years. (Rev., s. 3349; Code, s. 1010; R. C., c. 34, s. 6; 1868-9, c. 167, s. 6; 5 Eliz., 17; 25 Hen. VIII, c. 6.)

Scope of Section.—This section includes all kindred acts of bestial character whereby degraded and perverted sexual desires are sought to be gratified. State v. Griffin, 175 N. C. 767, 769, 94 S. E. 678. It includes unnatural intercourse between male and male. State v. Fenner, 166 N. C. 247, 80 S. E. 970.

Conviction for Attempt.—Upon the trial of an indictment for the crime against nature the prisoner may be convicted of the crime charged therein, or of an attempt to commit a less degree of the same crime. State v. Savage, 161 N. C. 245, 246, 76 S. E. 238.

§ 4337. Incest between certain near relatives.—In all cases of carnal intercourse between grandparent and grandchild, parent and child, and brother and sister of the half or whole blood, the parties shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be punished for every such offense by imprisonment in the state's prison for a term not exceeding fifteen years, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3351; Code, s. 1060; 1879, c. 16, s. 1; 1911, c. 16.)

In General.—Incest was not indictable at common law. State v. Sauls, 190 N. C. 810, 811, 130 S. E. 848, and cases cited. The amendment of 1911 increasing the punishment was held not retroactive. State v. Broadway, 157 N. C. 598, 72 S. E. 987.

Carnal intercourse by the father with his illegitimate daughter constitutes the offense. State v. Lawrence, 95 N. C. 659. Both parties are not necessarily guilty (W. C. fraud and force against female). Strider v. Lewey, 176 N. C. 448, 97 S. E. 398.

Evidence.—Confessions of the wife to the husband are not admissible in a trial for incest. State v. Brittain, 117 N. C. 783, 23 S. E. 433. But proof of other similar acts is competent in corroboration. State v. Broadway, 157 N. C. 598, 72 S. E. 987.

Failure to Charge "Carnal" Knowledge.—The mere fact that indictment failed to charge "carnal" knowledge, is not a fatal defect that would sustain the defendant's motion to quash the indictment. State v. Sauls, 190 N. C. 810, 130 S. E. 848.

§ 4338. Incest between uncle and niece and nephew and aunt.—In all cases of carnal intercourse between uncle and niece, and nephew and aunt, the parties shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine or imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3352; Code, s. 1061; 1879, c. 16, s. 2.)

With Daughter of Half Sister.—It has been held under this section that carnal intercourse of a man with the daughter of his half sister is incest. State v. Harris, 149 N. C. 513, 62 S. E. 1090.

§ 4339. Seduction.—If any man shall seduce an innocent and virtuous woman under promise of marriage, he shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned at the discretion of the court, and may be imprisoned in the state prison not exceeding the term of five years: Provided, the unsupported testimony of the woman shall not be sufficient to convict: Provided further, that marriage between the parties shall be a bar to further prosecution hereunder. But when such marriage is relied upon by the defendant, it shall operate as to the costs of the case as a plea of nolo contendere, and the defendant shall be required to pay all the costs of the action or be liable to imprisonment for nonpayment of the same. (Rev., s. 3354; 1885, c. 248; 1917, c. 39.)

For full treatment of this subject, see 11 N. C. Enc. Dig. 161 et seq.

Who May Be Convicted.—A male, at the marriageable age of 18 years, is indictable for seduction under this section. State v. Creed, 171 N. C. 837, 88 S. E. 511.

Distinguishing Civil and Criminal Action.—It is only necessary for plaintiff's recovering damages in her civil action, in tort, for wrongful seduction, to show that the defendant induced the intercourse by persuasion, deception, enticement, or other artifice; not requiring, as in prosecution under this section, that the intercourse was procured under a promise of marriage, though when existent this may be shown in the civil action as a means used by the defendant to accomplish his purpose. Hardin v. Davis, 183 N. C. 46, 110 S. E. 602.

Three Elements of Offense.—To convict the defendant of seduction, it is incumbent upon the state to satisfy the jury beyond a reasonable doubt of every element essential to the offense. The three elements are: (1) The innocence and virtue of the prosecutrix; (2) the promise of marriage; and (3) the carnal intercourse induced by such promise. State v. Crook, 189 N. C. 545, 127 S. E. 579. State v. Pace, 159 N. C. 462, 74 S. E. 1018. If any one of these elements is lacking there can be no seduction. State v. Ferguson, 107 N. C. 841, 848, 12 S. E. 574. See also State v. McDade, 208 N. C. 197, 179 S. E. 755.

Deceit is the very essence of this offence, the warp and woof of it, so to speak. State v. Crowell, 116 N. C. 1052, 1053, 1057, 21 S. E. 502. The promise of marriage alone makes the seduction criminal. State v. Whitley, 141 N. C. 823, 824, 53 S. E. 820. Consent is no defense. State v. Horton, 100 N. C. 443, 6 S. E 238.

Meaning of "Innocent and Virtuous."—Should any woman committing the act of adultery induced by her own lascivious desires, with or without the promise, her conduct is not such as to bring her within the intent and meaning of this section as an innocent and virtuous woman. State v. Johnson, 182 N. C. 883, 109 S. E. 786. See State v. Crowell, 116 N. C. 1052, 1058, 21 S. E. 502; State v. Ferguson, 107 N. C. 841, 12 S. E. 574.

Permitting familiarities not amounting to incontinence may be considered by the jury in determining whether the prosecutrix was virtuous. State v. Whitley, 141 N. C. 823, 53 S. E. 820. But when permitted by the prosecutrix after the act they do not negative evidence that she was innocent and virtuous prior thereto, though they may be properly considered by the jury with reference to the weight of her evidence. State v. Lang, 171 N. C. 778, 87 S. E. 957.

Sexual intercourse by a widow with her husband prior to marriage would not prevent the defendant from being guilty under this section. State v. Johnson, 182 N. C. 883, 109 S. E. 786.

Promise of Marriage Must Be Unconditional. — In order for conviction under this section, the promise of marriage must be absolute and unconditional, and a promise at the time to marry the woman in the event "anything should happen to her," is insufficient for a conviction under the statute. State v. Shatley, 201 N. C. 83, 159 S. E. 362.

Testimony of Woman Must Be Corroborated as to Each Element.—The statute provides that the unsupported testimony of the woman shall not be sufficient to convict. This proviso has been construed to mean that the prosecutrix must be supported by independent facts and circumstances as to each element of the offense. State v. Crook, 189 N. C. 545, 127 S. E. 579. See also, State v. Maness, 192 N. C. 708, 135 S. E. 777.

For cases setting out facts held either sufficient or insufficient to support, see State v. Cooke, 176 N. C. 731, 97 S. E. 171; State v. Raynor, 145 N. C. 472, 59 S. E. 344; State v. Malonee, 154 N. C. 200, 69 S. E. 786; State v. Pace, 159 N. C. 462, 74 S. E. 1018.

The weight and credibility of the evidence supporting that of the woman, upon the trial of seduction, under this section, is for the jury, if it comes within the requirement of being legal evidence, however slight it may be. State v. Doss, 188 N. C. 214, 124 S. E. 156.

The proviso that "the unsupported testimony of the woman shall not be sufficient to convict" is fully met where the testimony of the prosecutrix was corroborated in respect to each essential element of the offense charged; as to the promise of marriage by evidence of the proscutrix' statements to others, and by the witness who "heard them talking," and by the further circumstance of the long and constant association of the defendant with the prosecutrix; as to her innocence and virtue by the evidence of her good character; and as to the intercourse by the admission of the defendant. State v. Tuttle, 207 N. C. 649, 650, 178 S. E. 76.

Resemblance of Child to Defendant.—It is not error to permit a child to be exhibited to the jury that they may trace a resemblance to one charged with having begotten it; and such evidence is admissible on an indictment for seduction. State v. Horton, 100 N. C. 443, 6 S. E. 238.

Effect of Marriage upon Consent Judgment.—Where, in a prosecution for seduction a consent judgment is entered requiring the defendant to pay a certain sum to the prosecutrix, a subsequent marriage of the parties before the whole sum is paid does not discharge the judgment, the consent of all parties being necessary to set aside such judgment. For the defendant to get the benefit of this section the marriage must be before he is adjudged guilty. State v. McKay, 202 N. C. 470, 163 S. E. 586.

Indictments—No Set Form of Words.—In the trial of an indictment for seduction under this section, no set form of words is necessary to show the causal relation between the promise and the act of sexual intercourse. State v. Malonee, 154 N. C 200, 69 S. E. 786.

Limitation of Action.—Deceit being the very essence of the offense of seduction, section 4512 exempting certain crimes, including deceit, from the two years statute of limitations, applies to the offense of seduction under promise of marriage. State v. Crowell, 116 N. C. 1052, 21 S. E. 502.

Punishment.—This section, providing that one convicted of seduction under promise of marriage "shall be fined or imprisoned," at the discretion of the court, does not authorize the imposition of both fine and imprisonment. State v. Crowell, 116 N. C. 1052, 1053, 21 S. E. 502.

§ 4340. Miscegenation.—All marriages between a white person and a negro, or between a white person and a person of negro descent to the third generation inclusive, are forever prohibited, and shall be void. Any person violating this section shall be guilty of an infamous crime, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail or state's prison for not less than four months nor more than ten years, and may also be fined, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3369; Code, s. 1084; Const., Art. XIV, s. 8; R. C., c. 68, s. 7; 1834, c. 24; 1838-9, c. 24.)

Editor's Note.—Under the act of 1838-9, ch. 24, declaring void all marriages between white persons and free negroes and persons of color, all marriages between white persons and Indians were void, if within the third degree, and any violation thereof was punishable by indictment for fornication. State v. Melton, 44 N. C. 49.

The law has not been affected by the changes in the State or Federal Constitution. See State v. Puitt, 94 N. C. 709, 718, and cases there cited.

Domicile in This State.—A marriage solemnized in a State whose laws permit such marriage between a negro and a white person domiciled in this State, and who leave it for the purpose of evading this law and with intent to return, is not valid in this State. State v. Kennedy, 76 N. C. 251; State v. Ross, 76 N. C. 242.

Domicile in Another State.—A marriage solemnized in a State whose laws permits such marriage between a negro and a white person domiciled in such State is valid in this State. State v. Ross, 76 N. C. 242.

Evidence.—It was not error to admit evidence that the wife was reputed to be of mixed blood within the prohibited degrees, or to permit the witness to state his opinion on that point, although not an expert. It was also competent to corroboration of other evidence tending to show the taint of blood, to show that the wife usually associated with colored people. Hopkins v. Bowers, 111 N. C. 175, 16 S. E. 1.

Cited in Corporation Commission v. Transportation Committee, 198 N. C. 317, 323, 151 S. E. 648.

§ 4341. Issuing license for marriage between white person and negro; performing marriage ceremony.—If any register of deeds shall knowingly issue any license for marriage between any person of color and a white person; or if any clergyman, minister of the gospel or justice of the peace shall knowingly marry any such person of color to a white person, the person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3370; Code, s. 1085; R. C., c. 34, s. 80; 1830, c. 4, s. 2.)

§ 4342. Bigamy.—If any person, being married shall marry any other person during the life of the former husband or wife, every such offender, and every person counseling, aiding or abetting such offender, shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be imprisoned in the state's prison or county jail for any term not less than four months nor more than ten years. Any such offense may be dealt with, tried, determined and punished in the county where the offender shall be apprehended, or be in custody, as if the offense had been actually committed in that county. If any person, being married, shall contract a marriage with any other person outside of this state, which marriage would be punishable as bigamous if contracted within this state, and shall thereafter cohabit with such person in this state, he shall be guilty of a felony and shall be punished as in cases of bigamy. Nothing contained in this section shall extend to any person marrying a second time, whose husband or wife shall have been continually absent from such person for the space of seven years then last past, and shall not have been known by such person to have been living within that time; nor to any person who at the time of such second marriage shall have been lawfully divorced from the bond of the first marriage; nor to any person whose former marriage shall have been declared void by the sentence of any court of competent jurisdiction. (Rev., s. 3361; Code, s. 988; R. C., c. 34, s. 15; 1790, c. 323; 1809, c. 783; 1829, c. 9; 1913, c. 26. See 9 Geo. IV, c. 31, s. 22.)

Editor's Note.—At common law, the second marriage was always void and from the earliest history of England polygamy has been treated as an offense against society. It is considered as a crime against the marital relation rather than against the wife. Bigamy and polygamy are likewise crimes by the laws of all civilized and Christian countries.

Mr. Chief Justice Waite said: "From that day (the date of the enactment of the bigamy statute in Virginia, 12 Hening's Stat. 691), to this we think it may safely be said there never has been a time in any state of the Union when polygamy has not been an offense against society, cognizable by the civil courts and punishable with more or less severity." Reynolds v. United States, 98 U. S. 145, 165, 25 L. Ed. 244.

In State v. Cutshall, 110 N. C. 538, 545, 15 S. E. 261, it is said: "If every State of the American Union would enact a statute identical in its terms with The Code, sec. 988 (similar to this section), the enforcement of these laws might lead to just such a series of prosecutions as the learned jurist seemed to consider so absurd, outrageous and palpable a violation of a fundamental right asserted in our own national Magna Carta, the Declaration of Independence."

Constitutes a Felony.—While at common law bigamy was not an indictable offense, and even as late as the enactment of 1885, it was only a misdemeanor; it is now a felony under this statute. State v. Burns, 90 N. C. 707.

Necessity of Valid Marriage.—That the first marriage was celebrated without procurement of a license, while subjecting the parties to punishment, will not so invalidate the marriage so that bigamy cannot be predicated thereon. State v. Robbins, 28 N. C. 23.

In a trial for bigamy, an instruction that defendant could not be convicted, unless the jury was satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that the magistrate who solemnized the first marriage was a "duly appointed, qualified, and acting justice of the peace," was properly refused, it being sufficient if such justice was a de facto officer. State v. Davis, 109 N. C. 780, 14 S. E. 55.

The evidence showing that there were a number of eyewitnesses to the marriage, and a certified copy of the license with return endorsed being produced, it was not error to charge the jury that it would be presumed the ceremony was valid. State v. Davis, 109 N. C. 780, 14 S. E. 55.

Belief That First Wife Is Dead.—A belief by the defendant that his first wife is dead or his ignorance of her being alive, she having been away for less than seven years, is no defense in a prosecution for bigamy. State v. Goulden, 134 N. C. 743, 47 S. E. 450.

Absence of Wife.—"The burden is on the defendant to show as a matter of defense that his wife had absented herself for the space of seven years next before the second marriage, and that he was ignorant all that time that she was living." State v. Goulden, 134 N. C. 743, 47 S. E. 450.

Admissions as to Prior Marriage.—In a prosecution for bigamy an admission of the defendant is competent to prove the first marriage. State v. Goulden, 134 N. C. 743, 47 S. E. 450.

Where a defendant charged with bigamy, upon the preliminary examination before a Justice of Peace, and after being cautioned that his statements could be used against him, stated that he had been married to his former wife while a slave in South Carolina, had children by her and was subsequently married in North Carolina to his present wife, such admissions were competent to go to the jury, on his trial in the superior court, as to his guilt. State v. Melton, 120 N. C. 591, 26 S. E. 933.

Testimony of First Wife.—In an indictment for bigamy the first wife of the defendant is a competent witness to prove the marriage. State v. Melton, 120 N. C. 591, 26 S. E. 933.

The record book of marriage for the county or the original marriage license signed by the Justice solemnizing the marriage is admissible to prove a marriage. State v. Melton, 120 N. C. 591, 26 S. E. 933.

Second Marriage out of State.—It was held formerly that the courts of this State could not take jurisdiction of the case where the second marriage took place out of the State. See State v. Barnett, 83 N. C. 615, 616. Subsequent to this decision a clause was inserted in the section in furtherance of a purpose to make the offense cognizable "whether the second marriage shall have taken place in the State of North Carolina, or elsewhere." This clause, in State v. Cutshall, 110 N. C. 538, 15 S. E. 261, was held unconstitutional insofar as it attempted to make a second marriage bigamous which occurred out of the State without proving that the parties afterwards cohabited in North Carolina. The constitutionality of the section was upheld in State v. Long, 143 N. C. 670, 671, 57 S. E. 349, but from the statement of facts in that case it appears that while the second marriage took place in South Carolina the parties subjected themselves to the jurisdiction of this State by living here for four weeks thereafter. In State v. Ray, 151 N. C. 710, 66 S. E. 204, the authorities are reviewed and it is held (Clark, C. J., dissenting) that the words "or elsewhere," in the clause just quoted, were void. In recognition of these decisions the legislature, by the Public Laws of 1913, c. 26, amended the section and added the words "shall thereafter cohabit with such person in this State," which qualify and constitute a requisite to the jurisdiction when the second marriage is not in North Carolina. It has been held that this amendment is constitutional and does not confer extraterritorial jurisdiction upon the courts. See State v. Herron, 175 N. C. 754, 94 S. E. 698; State v. Moon, 178 N. C. 715, 100 S. E. 614.

Same—Pleading and Proof.—If the defendant wishes to rely upon the fact that the offense of bigamy was committed outside the state, he can not move to quash or in arrest, but must prove the fact in defense under his plea of not guilty. State v. Barrington, 141 N. C. 820, 53 S. E. 663; State v. Burton, 138 N. C. 575, 576, 50 S. E. 214; State v. Mitchell, 83 N. C. 674; State v. Long, 143 N. C. 670, 671, 674, 57 S. E. 349.

Foreign Divorces.—Where a decree of divorce in another State is solely relied on as a defense on a trial for bigamy which is attacked by the State for insufficient residence in such other State, with supporting evidence, the defendant must satisfy the jury of the bona fide of his residence for the required time, but not beyond a reasonable doubt. State v. Herron, 175 N. C. 574, 94 S. E. 698.

Proof of a divorce granted in another State, upon a trial for bigamy, in our own courts is only evidence which should be submitted to the jury under proper instructions. State v. Herron, 175 N. C. 754, 94 S. E. 698.

The Indictment.—An indictment for bigamy which charges that defendant "wilfully, unlawfully and feloniously, being a married man, did marry one W. during the life of his first wife," sufficiently avers the first marriage. State v. Davis, 109 N. C. 780, 14 S. E. 55.

Same—Name of First Wife.—It it not necessary, in an indictment for bigamy, to set out the name of the first wife. State v. Davis, 109 N. C. 780, 14 S. E. 55.

Same—Negativing Divorce Unnecessary.—It was not necessary that an indictment for bigamy should contain an averment that the defendant had not been divorced from his wife. State v. Norman, 13 N. C. 222; State v. Davis, 109 N. C. 780, 14 S. E. 55; State v. Melton, 120 N. C. 591, 596, 26 S. E. 933.

Same—Time and Place of Marriage.—This section does not by its language make it necessary for the indictment to state the dates of the marriages, and section 4625 expressly enacts that such a statement shall not be necessary. State v. Long, 143 N. C. 671, 57 S. E. 349.

Under this section it is unnecessary to state where the second marriage took place, and it is not necessary that the offense should be committed in the county where the bill is found, to confer jurisdiction, and the proper remedy, where permissible, is by plea in abatement. State v. Long, 143 N. C. 671, 57 S. E. 349.

Bill of Particulars.—As in other offenses a bill of particulars is necessary if defendant desires further information upon which to prepare his defense. State v. Long, 143 N. C. 671, 57 S. E. 349.

§ 4343. Fornication and adultery.—If any man and woman, not being married to each other, shall lewdly and lasciviously associate, bed and cohabit together, they shall be guilty of a misdemeanor: Provided, that the admissions or confessions of one shall not be received in evidence against the other. (Rev., s. 3350; Code, s. 1041; R. C., c. 34, s. 45; 1805, c. 684.)

Cross Reference.—For a comprehensive treatment of the subject, see 1 N. C. Enc. Dig. 186 et seq.; 13 N. C. Enc. Dig. 31 et seq.

General Consideration.—Adultery is an aggravated species of fornication. State v. Crowell, 26 N. C. 231, 232. Fornication occurs upon cohabitation after miscegenation. See § 4340 and notes thereto.

The Indictment.—The use of the word "adulterously" dispenses with the necessity of alleging that the parties were not married (State v. McDuffie, 107 N. C. 885, 12 S. E. 83) and were of different sex. State v. Britt, 150 N. C. 811, 812, 62 S. E. 1056. The words "lewdly and lasciviously" need not be used. Id. The state is not called upon to allege or prove the criminal intent. State v. Cutshall, 109 N. C. 764, 14 S. E. 107. The fact that the female is erroneously alleged to be a "spinster" is not ground of arrest. State v. Guest, 100 N. C. 410, 6 S. E. 253. See further as to the indictment. 1 N. C. Enc. Dig. 188 et seq.

Evidence.—The admissions or confessions of one party are not to be received against the codefendant. State v. Rhinehart, 106 N. C. 787, 11 S. E. 512. However, it has been held that under certain circumstances such declarations are admissible when made by the female defendant in the presence of the male. See State v. Roberts, 188 N. C. 460, 124 S. E. 833.

It is competent to prove that either defendant had a living spouse. State v. Manly, 95 N. C. 661. Statements and conduct prior to the offense charged are admissible; State v. Austin, 108 N. C. 780, 13 S. E. 219, as is also testimony as to conduct of the parties after indictment. State v. Stubbs, 108 N. C. 774, 13 S. E. 90. For further consideration of the evidence, see 1 N. C. Enc. Dig. 190 et seq.

Acquittal as to One Party.—Where only one party is convicted and the other acquitted, there can be no judgment against the one convicted. State v. Mainor, 28 N. C. 340. This holding was followed in the case of State v. Lyerly, 52 N. C. 158, and was held as law in this state until doubted in the opinion of Mr. Justice Davis in State v. Rhinehart, 106 N. C. 787, 11 S. E. 512. The question came before the court again in State v. Cutchall, 109 N. C. 764, 14 S. E. 107, when it was held that an acquittal of one defendant did not work the same result as to the other, or prevent the court from rendering judgment. This seems to be the present status of the law on this point. It was followed in State v. Simpson, 133 N. C. 676, 45 S. E. 567.

Both Convicted—New Trial as to One.—Following a line of reasoning similar to that discussed in the foregoing paragraph, the court in State v. Parham, 50 N. C. 416, 417, held that if both defendants are convicted, a new trial may be granted as to one party without disturbing the verdict as to the other.

General Verdict of Guilt.—While it is true that the offense (fornication and adultery) cannot be committed except by more than one, yet a general verdict of guilty finds the guilt of the woman as well as the guilt of the man (defendant in this case). State v. Lyerly, 52 N. C. 158, 161.

Punishment.—In fixing the punishment of persons convicted under this section, the courts have looked to the provisions of section 4173 which prescribes the punishment of misdemeanors for which a specific punishment has not been fixed.—Ed. Note.

Persons convicted of fornication and adultery may be imprisoned in the common jail for a period to be fixed in the discretion of the court. State v. Manly, 95 N. C. 61, 662, citing State v. McNeal, 75 N. C. 15; State v. Jackson, 82 N. C. 565.

The court has power, during the term, to correct or modify an unexecuted judgment in criminal as well as in civil actions. State v. Manly, 95 N. C. 661, 663. See also, In re Brittain, 93 N. C. 587.

§ 4344. Inducing female persons to enter hotels or boarding-houses for immoral purposes.—Any person who shall knowingly persuade, induce or entice, or cause to be persuaded, induced or enticed, any woman or girl to enter a hotel, public inn or boarding-house for the purpose of prostitution or debauchery or for any other immoral purpose, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be punished in the discretion of the court. (1917, c. 158, s. 1.)

§ 4345. Opposite sexes occupying same bedroom at hotel for immoral purposes; falsely registering as husband and wife.—Any man and woman found occupying the same bedroom in any hotel, public inn or boarding-house, for any immoral purpose, or any man and woman falsely registering as, or otherwise representing themselves to be, husband and wife in any hotel, public inn or boarding-house, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be punished in the discretion of the court. (1917, c. 158, s. 2.)

§ 4346. Permitting unmarried female under eighteen in house of prostitution.—Whoever, being the keeper of a house of prostitution, or assignation house, building, or premises in this state where prostitution, fornication or concubinage is allowed or practiced, shall suffer or permit any unmarried female under the age of eighteen years to live, board, stop, or room in such house, building or premises, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1919, c. 288; P. L. 1913, c. 761, s. 18.)

§ 4347. Certain evidence relative to keeping disorderly houses admissible; keepers of such houses defined.—On a prosecution in any court for keeping a disorderly house or bawdy-house, or permitting a house to be used as a bawdy-house, or used in such a way as to make it disorderly, or a common nuisance, evidence of the general reputation or character of the house shall be admissible and competent; and evidence of the lewd, dissolute and boisterous conversation of the inmates and frequenters, while in and around such house, shall be prima facie evidence of the bad character of the inmates and frequenters, and of the disorderly character of the house. The manager or person having the care, superintendency or government of a disorderly or bawdy-house is the "keeper" thereof, and one who employs another to manage and conduct a disorderly house or bawdy-house is also "keeper" thereof. (1907, c. 779.)

See the general treatment in 4 N. C. Enc. Dig. 816, et seq., 13 N. C. Enc. Dig. 761 et seq.

Constitutionality.—This section is constitutional. State v. Price, 175 N. C. 804, 95 S. E. 478.

Disorderly House Defined—Illustrations. — A disorderly house is kept in such a way as to disturb or scandalize the public generally, or the inhabitants of a particular neighborhood, or the passers-by. State v. Wilson, 93 N. C. 608.

A few of the decided cases are given here in order that the counsel may have an idea as to what situations and conditions have been held to be included in the definition set out in the above paragraph.

The following have been held to constitute disorderly houses: A shop in which disorderly crowds assemble. State v. Robertson, 86 N. C. 628. A store in which persons collect and disturb the neighborhood. State v. Thornton, 44 N. C. 252.

The following have been held not to constitute disorderly houses: A private dwelling wherein an uproar was frequently raised but which disturbed few people. State v. Wright, 51 N. C. 25. The residence of an unchaste woman. State v. Evans, 27 N. C. 603.

Persons Leasing Premises as a "Keeper."—A person who leases a house knowing that it is to be used for disorderly and unlawful purposes is treated as a direct offender. State v. Boyd, 175 N. C. 791, 95 S. E. 161.

Powers of City Authorities.—The extent of the powers of the authorities of a municipality to enact ordinances concerning houses of ill-fame is discussed by Mr. Justice Avery in State v. Webber, 107 N. C. 962, 12 S. E. 598.

Evidence.—This section authorizes the admission of evidence tending to show the lewd, dissolute, and boisterous conversation of the inmates and frequenters of the house, and especially provides that evidence of the general reputation or character of the house shall be admissible and competent. State v. Hilderbran, 201 N. C. 780, 161 S. E. 488.

§ 4348. Obscene literature.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to exhibit for the purpose of gain, or display for sale, lend or hire, or otherwise publish or sell for the purpose of gain, or exhibit in any school, college, or other institution of learning, or have in his possession for the purpose of sale or distribution, any obscene literature, as determined and defined in the postal laws and regulations of the United States post office department, in the form of book, paper-writing, print, drawing, or other representation, at any newsstand, book store, drug store or other public or private places; or if any person shall post any indecent placards, writings, pictures or drawings on walls, fences, billboards or other public or private places, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3731; 1885, c. 125; 1907, c. 502; 1935, c. 57.)

Editor's Note.—The amendment of 1935 made many changes in this section and a comparison is necessary to determine its full extent. Prior to the amendment, the section also covered the offense of indecent exposure. This is now the subject of section 4348(a).

Test of Immorality.—It has been suggested that the test of immorality is whether the literature "has a tendency to shock the moral sense of the average, normal head of a family." If such a test would prevent the publication of writings of an educational value on sex hygiene, commercialized vice and the like, the remedy would be a matter for the legislature, since the Constitution only prevents restrictions upon, and not enlargement of, the right to publish. 4 N. C. Law Rev. 33.

§ 4348(a). Indecent exposure; immoral shows, etc.—If a person who in any place wilfully exposes his person, or private parts thereof, in the presence of one or more persons of the opposite sex whose person, or the private parts thereof, are similarly exposed, or who aids or abets in any such act, or who procures another so as to expose his person, or the private parts thereof, or take part in any immoral show, exhibition or performance where indecent, immoral or lewd dances or plays are conducted in any booth, tent, room or other public or private place to which the public is invited; or any person, who, as owner, manager, lessee, director, promoter or agent, or in any other capacity, hires, leases or permits the land, buildings, or premises of which he is owner, lessee or tenant, or over which he has control, to be used for any such immoral purposes, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3731; 1885, c. 125; 1907, c. 502; 1935, c. 57.)

§ 4348(b). Sheriffs and deputies to report violations of two preceding sections.—It shall be the duty of the sheriffs and their deputies of the various counties to see that the provisions of sections 4348 and 4348(a) are enforced by reporting violations of said sections to the presiding judge of a superior court, county or municipal court, or justice of the peace, who shall have warrants issued to cause such violators to come before their courts for immediate trial. (1935, c. 57.)

Editor's Note.—The case treated under this section was decided under section 4348 as it read prior to the 1935 amendment. Prior to the enactment of this section there was no provision providing for the enforcement of section 4348.

Powers of Officers.—Under section 4348 it was held that the chief of police and his lawful officers or subordinates had the right to prevent or suppress an indecent or immoral show, given in any public place or in any place to which the public were invited and, in the proper discharge of these duties they could act immediately whenever such exhibitions were taking place in their presence or were imminent and their interference was required to prevent them. Brewer v. Wynne, 163 N. C. 319, 79 S. E. 629.

§ 4349. Cutting or painting obscene words or pictures near public places.—It shall be unlawful for any person to write, cut or carve any indecent word, or to paint, cut or carve any obscene or lewd picture or representation, on any tree or other object near the public highways or other public places. Any person guilty of violating this section shall be fined not more than fifty dollars, or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (1907, c. 344.)

§ 4349(a). Exhibition of sacrilegious, obscene, or immoral pictures; posting of advertisements.—If any person, firm, or corporation shall, for the purpose of gain or otherwise, exhibit any obscene or immoral motion pictures; or if any person, firm or corporation shall post any obscene or immoral placard, writings, pictures, or drawings on walls, fences, billboards, or other places, advertising theatrical exhibitions or moving picture exhibitions or shows; or if any person, firm, or corporation shall permit such obscene or immoral exhibitions to be conducted in any tent, booth, or other place or building owned or controlled by said person, firm, or corporation, the person, firm, or corporation performing either one or all of the said acts shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punishable in the discretion of the court. For the purpose of enforcing this statute any spectator at the exhibition of an obscene or immoral moving picture may make the necessary affidavit upon which the warrant for said offense is issued. (1921, c. 212.)

§ 4349(b). Circulating publications barred from the mails.—It shall be unlawful for any news agent, news dealer, book-seller, or any other person, firm, or corporation to offer for sale, sell, or cause to be circulated within the State of North Carolina any magazine, periodical, or other publication which is now or may hereafter be excluded from the United States mails.

It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to offer for sale, sell or give to any person under the age of twenty-one years any such magazine, periodical, or other publication which is now or may hereafter be excluded from the United States mails.

This section shall not be construed to in any way conflict with or abridge the freedom of the press, and shall in no way affect any publication which is permitted to be sent through the United States mails.

Any person, firm, or corporation violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1924, c. 45.)

Editor's Note.—A practical criticism of the effect of this section upon the freedom of the press will be found in 4 N. C. Law Rev. 35. See also the review in 3 N. C. Law Rev. 26.

§ 4350. Using profane or indecent language on passenger trains.—It shall be unlawful for any person to curse or use profane or indecent language on any passenger train. Any person so offending shall upon conviction be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (1907, c. 470, ss. 1, 2.)

§ 4351. Using profane or indecent language to female telephone operators.— It shall be unlawful for any person to use any lewd or profane words, or any words of vulgarity, or to use indecent language to any female telephone operator operating any telephone, switchboard, circuit or line. Any person violating this section shall upon conviction be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1913, c. 35; 1915, c. 41.)

§ 4352. Local: Using profane or indecent language on public highways.—If any person shall, on any public road or highway and in the hearing of two or more persons, in a loud and boisterous manner, use indecent or profane language, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. The following counties shall be exempted from the provisions of this section: Dare, Tyrell, Washington, Beaufort, Martin, Pitt, Wautauga, Cleveland, Brunswick, Stanly, Perquimans, Pasquotank, Camden, Swain, Davie, Orange, Jones, Transylvania, Macon and Craven. (1913, c. 40; 1933, c. 309.)

Editor's Note.—Public Laws of 1933, c. 309, omitted Gates from the list of excepted counties.

§ 4353. Lewd women within three miles of colleges and boarding-schools.—If any loose woman or woman of ill-fame shall commit any act of lewdness with or in the presence of any student who is under twenty-one years old, of any boarding-school or college, within three miles of such school or college, she shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. Upon the trial of any such case students may be competent but not compellable to give evidence. No prosecution shall be had under this section after the lapse of six months. (Rev., s. 3353; 1889, c. 523.)

§ 4354. Obstructing way to places of public worship.—If any person shall maliciously stop up or obstruct the way leading to any place of public worship, or to any spring or well commonly used by the congregation, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (Rev., s. 3776; Code, s. 3669; R. C., c. 97, s. 5; 1785, c. 241.)

Cross References.—As to procedure for laying out church roads, see section 3838. As to obstruction of such highway see section 3789 and the notes thereto.

§ 4355. Disturbing religious assembly by certain exhibitions.—If any person shall bring within half a mile of any place where the people are assembled for divine worship, and stop for exihibition, any stallion or jack, or shall bring within that distance any natural or artificial curiosities and there exhibit them, he shall forfeit and pay to any one who will sue therefor the sum of twenty dollars and shall also be guilty of a misdemeanor: Provided, that nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit such exhibitions at any time if made within the limits of any incorporated town, or without such limits if made before the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon or after three o'clock in the afternoon. This section shall not apply to Hatteras township in Dare county. (Rev., s. 3705; Code, s. 3670; R. C., c. 97, s. 6; 1809, c. 779, s. 1; 1907, c. 412.)

§ 4356. Permitting stone-horses and stone-mules to run at large.—If any person shall let any stone-horse or stone-mule of two years old or upwards run at large, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. This section shall not apply to Hatteras township in Dare county. (Rev., s. 3323; Code, s. 2325; R. C., c. 17, s. 6; 1907, c. 412.)

§ 4356(a). Secretly peeping into room occupied by woman.—Any person who shall peep secretly into any room occupied by a woman shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (1923, c. 78.)

Editor's Note.—It was suggested in 1 N. C. Law Rev. 286 that although this law is made to apply generally to all persons, it is believed that it will not interfere with police officers or detectives who may be compelled to violate the letter of the law to get evidence.

Art. 25. Prostitution

§ 4357. Definition of terms.—The term "prostitution" shall be construed to include the offering or receiving of the body for sexual intercourse for hire, and shall also be construed to include the offering or receiving of the body for indiscriminate sexual intercourse without hire. The term "assignation" shall be construed to include the making of any appointment or engagement for prostitution or any act in furtherance of such appointment or engagement (1919, c. 215, s. 2.)

Cited in State v. Fletcher, 199 N. C. 815, 155 S. E. 927.

§ 4358. Prostitution and various acts abetting prostitution unlawful.—It shall be unlawful:

1. To keep, set up, maintain, or operate any place, structure, building or conveyance for the purpose of prostitution or assignation.

2. To occupy any place, structure, building, or conveyance for the purpose of prostitution or assignation; or for any person to permit any place, structure, building or conveyance owned by him or under his control to be used for the purpose of prostitution or assignation, with knowledge or reasonable cause to know that the same is, or is to be, used for such purpose.

3. To receive, or to offer or agree to receive any person into any place, structure, building, or conveyance for the purpose of prostitution or assignation, or to permit any person to remain there for such purpose.

4. To direct, take, or transport, or to offer to agree to take or transport, any person to any place, structure, or building or to any other person, with knowledge or reasonable cause to know that the purpose of such directing, taking, or transporting is prostitution or assignation.

5. To procure, or to solicit, or to offer to procure or solicit for the purpose of prostitution or assignation.

6. To reside in, enter, or remain in any place, structure, or building, or to enter or remain in any conveyance, for the purpose of prostitution or assignation.

7. To engage in prostitution or assignation, or to aid or abet prostitution or assignation by any means whatsoever. (1919, c. 215, s. 1.)

Competency of Evidence.—Evidence of the reputation of the upstairs of a building owned by defendant, and of the persons frequenting it, is competent in a prosecution under this section. State v. Waggoner, 207 N. C. 306, 176 S. E. 566.

Cited in State v. Fletcher, 199 N. C. 815, 155 S. E. 927.

§ 4359. Prosecution: in what courts.—Prosecutions for the violation of any of the provisions of this article shall be tried in the courts of this state wherein misdemeanors are triable except those courts the jurisdiction of which is so limited by the constitution of this state that such jurisdiction cannot by statute be extended to include criminal actions of the character herein described. (1919, c. 215, s. 6.)

§ 4360. Reputation and prior conviction admissible as evidence.—In the trial of any person charged with a violation of any of the provisions of this article, testimony of a prior conviction, or testimony concerning the reputation of any place, structure, or building, and of the person or persons who reside in or frequent the same, and of the defendant, shall be admissible in evidence in support of the charge. (1919, c. 215, s. 3.)

§ 4361. Degrees of guilt.—Any person who shall be found to have committed two or more violations of any of the provisions of section 4358 of this article within a period of one year next preceding the date named in an indictment, information, or charge of violating any of the provisions of such section, shall be deemed guilty in the first degree. Any person who shall be found to have committed a single violation of any of the provisions of such section shall be deemed guilty in the second degree. (1919, c. 215, s. 4.)

Province of Judge.—When the degree of guilt has been properly ascertained the judge doubtless has the right to hear testimony for the purpose of fixing the terms of imprisonment within the limits of the statute; but this right does not extend to or include the finding by the judge of the degree of the offender's guilt. State v. Barnes, 122 N. C. 1031, 29 S. E. 381; State v. Lee, 192 N. C. 225, 134 S. E. 458; State v. Brinkley, 193 N. C. 747, 748.

§ 4362. Punishment; probation; parole.—Any person who shall be deemed guilty in the first degree, as set forth in the preceding section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and may be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court, or may be committed to any penal or reformatory institution in this state: Provided, that in case of a commitment to a reformatory institution, the commitment shall be made for an indeterminate period of time of not less than one nor more than three years in duration, and the board of managers or directors of the reformatory institution shall have authority to discharge or to place on parole any person so committed after the service of the minimum term or any part thereof, and to require the return to said institution for the balance of the maximum term of any person who shall violate the terms or conditions of the parole.

Any person who shall be deemed guilty in the second degree, as set forth in the preceding section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined or imprisoned at the discretion of the court: Provided, that the defendant may be placed on probation in the care of a probation officer designated by law, or theretofore appointed by the court.

Probation or parole shall be granted or ordered in the case of a person infected with venereal disease only on such terms and conditions as shall insure medical treatment therefor and prevent the spread thereof, and the court may order any convicted defendant to be examined for venereal disease.

No girl or woman who shall be convicted under this article shall be placed on probation or on parole in the care or charge of any person except a woman probation officer. (1919, c. 215, s. 5; 1921, c. 101.)

Admission of Guilt—Effect on Time Limitation.—A defendant sentenced for the crime of prostitution upon his own admission of guilt, may not successfully resist a sentence therefor upon the ground that the offense charged in the indictment did not come within the period of time prescribed by the statute. State v. Brinkley, 193 N. C. 747.

§ 4363. Constitutionality.—The declaration by the courts of any of the provisions of this article as being in violation of the constitution of this state shall not invalidate the remaining provisions. (1919, c. 215, s. 7.)

SUBCHAPTER 9. OFFENSES AGAINST PUBLIC JUSTICE

Art. 26. Perjury

§ 4364. Punishment for perjury.—If any person shall willfully and corruptly commit perjury, on his oath or affirmation, in any suit, controversy, matter or cause, depending in any of the courts of the state, or in any deposition or affidavit taken pursuant to law, or in any oath or affirmation duly administered of or concerning any matter or thing whereof such person is lawfully required to be sworn or affirmed, every person so offending shall be guilty of a felony and shall be fined not exceeding one thousand dollars, and imprisoned in the county jail or state's prison not less than four months nor more than ten years. (Rev., s. 3615; Code, s. 1092; R. C., c. 34, s. 49; 1791, c. 338, s. 1.)

Cross Reference.—As to perjury in general see 10 N. C. Enc. Dig. 111-126; as to form of bill for perjury see section 4615; as to oaths, see sections 3188 3189; as to definition of felony, see section 4171. As to indictment, see section 4615.

Essential Elements.—The administration of an oath is an essential element of perjury. State v. Glisson, 93 N. C. 506. Another is jurisdiction of the court. Bolling v. Luther, 4 N. C. 635; State v. Wyatt, 3 N. C. 56; State v. Alexander, 11 N. C. 182, cited in note in 54 L. R. A. 513. The false testimony given must be material. State v. Cline, 146 N. C. 640, 61 S. E. 522.

Irregularity of Warrant Immaterial.—When perjury is charged to have been committed by a witness in the trial of a criminal proceeding which was begun by warrant, if the court had jurisdiction to investigate the offense charged, it is no defense that the warrant was issued without complaint or affidavit. State v. Peters, 107 N. C. 876, 12 S. E. 74.

Burden of Proof on State.—The burden is not on the defendant in perjury to show the truth of the matter at issue, but the burden is on the state to show that it is false. State v. Cline, 150 N. C. 854, 64 S. E. 591.

Sufficient Evidence.—To prove the falsity of the oath, the evidence must not necessarily equal in weight the testimony of two witnesses. It is sufficient if there is the testimony of one witness and corroborative circumstances sufficient to turn the scale against the oath which is charged to have been false. State v. Peters, 107 N. C. 876, 12 S. E. 74.

The direct oath of one witness and the declarations of the prisoner, in which perjury is assigned, is sufficient to convict. State v. Molier, 12 N. C. 263.

Where the defendant swears to an answer in a civil answer before one authorized to administer the oath and the answer contains a false statement of fact, in order to convict him of perjury under the provisions of this section it must be shown that he "willfully and corruptly" committed the offense. State v. Dowd, 201 N. C. 714, 161 S. E. 205.

Formerly Called Misdemeanor.—The former provision in this section that the offence was a misdemeanor did not make it so for the punishment was felony punishment, and the offence was treated as a felony. State v. Hyman, 164 N. C. 411, 79 S. E. 284.

The Indictment.—See § 4615 and notes thereto.

Cited in Grudger v. Penland, 108 N. C. 593, 13 S. E. 168.

§ 4365. Subordination of perjury.—If any person shall, by any means, procure another person to committ such willful and corrupt perjury as is mentioned in the preceding section, the person so offending shall be punished in like manner as the person committing the perjury. (Rev., s. 3616; Code, s. 1093; R. C., c. 34, s. 50; 1791, c. 338, s. 2.)

§ 4366. Perjury before legislative committees.—If any person shall willfully and corruptly swear falsely to any fact material to the investigation of any matter before any committee of either house of the general assembly, he shall be subject to all the pains and penalties of willful and corrupt perjury, and, on conviction in the superior court of Wake county, shall be confined in the state's prison for the time prescribed by law for perjury. (Rev., s. 3611; Code, s. 2857; 1869-70, c. 5, s. 4.)

§ 4367. Perjury in court-martial proceedings.—If any person shall willfully and corruptly swear falsely before any court-martial, touching and concerning any matter or thing cognizable before such court-martial, he shall be liable to the pains and penalties of perjury. (Rev., s. 3612; Code, s. 3235; R. C., c. 70, s. 73; 1812, c. 828, s. 3.)

§ 4368. False oath to insurance statement.—Any person who shall make oath to a willfully false statement in the annual report or other statement required by law from an insurance company shall be guilty of perjury. (Rev., s. 3493; 1899, c. 54, s. 97.)

§ 4369. False oath to procure benefit of insurance policy or certificate. — Any person who shall willfully make a false statement of any material fact or thing in a sworn statement as to the death or disability of a policy or certificate holder in any insurance corporation or fraternal benefit society, for the purpose of procuring payment of a benefit named in the certificate of such holder, shall be guilty of perjury. (Rev., s. 3487; 1899, c. 54, s. 60; 1913, c. 89, s. 28.)

§ 4370. False oath to statement required of fraternal benefit societies.—Any person who shall willfully make any false statement in any verified report or declaration under oath, required or authorized by law from fraternal benefit societies, shall be guilty of perjury. (1913, c. 89, s. 28.)

As to misdemeanor offense, see section 6529.

§ 4371. False oath to certificate of mutual fire insurance company.—Any person taking a false oath in respect to the certificate required by law before issuing policies in a mutual fire insurance company, that every subscription for insurance is genuine and made with an agreement that every subscriber will take the policies subscribed for by him within thirty days after granting a license to such company, shall be guilty of perjury. (Rev., ss. 4738, 4834; 1899, c. 54, s. 32; 1901, c. 391, ss. 3, 4; 1903, c. 438, s. 4.)

As to oaths by officers of the insurance company, see section 6346.

Art. 27. Bribery

§ 4372. Bribery of officials.—If any person holding office under the laws of this state who, except in payment of his legal salary, fees or perquisites, shall receive, or consent to receive, directly or indirectly, anything of value or personal advantage, or the promise thereof, for performing or omitting to perform any official act, or with the express or implied understanding that his official action, or omission to act, is to be in any degree influenced thereby, he shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state's prison for a term not exceeding five years, or fined not exceeding five thousand dollars, or both, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3568; Code, s. 991; 1868-9, c. 176, s. 2.)

As to bribing of bank examiners, see section 4387.

"The distinction between bribery and extortion seems to be that the former offense consists in offering a present or receiving one, the latter in demanding a fee or present by color of office." State v. Pritchard, 107 N. C. 921, 12 S. E. 50.

Sufficiency of Indictment.—An allegation in an indictment against a public officer for unlawfully receiving compensation for the performance of his duty, that defendant "did receive and consent to receive" such compensation, is sufficient and is not defective because of the use of "and" instead of "or" as used in the statute. State v. Wynne, 118 N. C. 1206, 24 S. E. 216.

Necessity of Proving Corrupt Intent.— On the trial of an officer for bribery in taking unlawful fees, it is necessary to prove a corrupt intent. State v. Pritchard, 107 N. C. 921, 12 S. E. 50.

Applied in State v. Cofer, 205 N. C. 653, 172 S. E. 176.

§ 4373. Offering bribes.—If any person shall offer a bribe, whether it be accepted or not, he shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be punished by imprisonment for a term not less than one year nor more than five years in the state's prison or county jail, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3569; Code, s. 992; 1870-1, c. 232.)

Not Necessary that Bribed Juror Received Fee.—In a prosecution under this section it is not necessary that the indictment should charge that the juror received any fee or other compensation, the statutes making a distinction between bribery and an offer to bribe. State v. Noland, 204 N. C. 329, 168 S. E. 412. As to venue, see note to § 4606.

Cited in State v. Barkley, 198 N. C. 349, 151 S. E. 733.

§ 4374. Bribery of legislators.—If any person shall directly or indirectly promise, offer or give, or cause or procure to be promised, offered or given, any money, bribe, present or reward, or any promise, contract, undertaking, obligation or security for the payment or delivery of any money, goods, right of action, bribe, present or reward, or any other valuable thing whatever, to any member of the senate or house of representatives of this state after his election as such member, and either before or after he shall have qualified and taken his seat, with intent to influence his vote or decision on any question, matter, cause or proceeding which may then be pending before the general assembly, or which may come before him for action in his capacity as a member of the general assembly, such person so offering, promising or giving, or causing or procuring to be promised, offered or given any such money, goods, bribe, present or reward, or any bond, contract, undertaking, obligation or security for the payment or delivery of any money, goods, bribe, present or reward, or other valuable thing whatever, and the member-elect who shall in anywise accept or receive the same or any part thereof, shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be fined not exceeding double the amount so offered, promised or given, and imprisoned in the state's prison not exceeding five years, and the person convicted of so accepting or receiving the same, or any part thereof, shall forfeit his seat in the general assembly and shall be forever disqualified to hold any office of honor, trust or profit under this state. (Rev., s. 3570; Code, s. 2852; 1868-9, c. 176, s. 5.)

§ 4375. Bribery of jurors.—If any juror, either directly or indirectly, shall take anything from the plaintiff or defendant in a civil suit, or from any defendant in a state prosecution, or from any other person, to give his verdict, every such juror, and the person who shall give such juror any fee or reward to influence his verdict, or induce or procure him to make any gain or profit by his verdict, shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be imprisoned in the state's prison or county jail not less than four months nor more than ten years. (Rev., s. 3697; Code, s. 990; R. C., c. 34, s. 34; 5 Edw. III, c. 10; 34 Edw. III, c. 8; 38 Edw. III, c. 12.)

Art. 28. Obstructing Justice

§ 4376. Breaking or entering jails with intent to injure prisoners.—If any person shall conspire to break or enter any jail or other place of confinement of prisoners charged with crime or under sentence, for the purpose of killing or otherwise injuring any prisoner confined therein; or if any person shall engage in breaking or entering any such jail or other place of confinement of such prisoners with intent to kill or injure any prisoner, he shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction, or upon a plea of guilty, shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars, and imprisoned in the state's prison or the county jail not less than two nor more than fifteen years. (Rev., s. 3698; 1893, c. 461, s. 1.)

Cross Reference.—As to cost of investigating lynchings, see section 1266; as to sheriff's duty to protect, see section 3945; as to investigation, see sections 4570, 4571; as to superior court jurisdiction in adjoining counties, see section 4600; as to subject in general, see 9 N. C. Enc. Dig. 769, 772.

Conviction of Attempt.—On an indictment under this section as construed with sections 4640 and 4600, the defendant may be found guilty of an attempt. State v. Rumple, 178 N. C. 717, 100 S. E. 622.

Indictment Need Not Charge Accomplices.—It was error to quash a bill of indictment under this section which charged the defendant with conspiring "with others" to commit the crime of lynching, because it did not name the others or charge that they were unknown. State v. Lewis, 142 N. C. 626, 55 S. E. 600. As to effect of splitting act of 1893, see note of this case under section 1266.

Indictment in Adjoining County.—In an indictment for lynching it was error to quash the bill on the ground that it appeared on the face of the bill that the offense charged was not committed in the county in which the bill was found, but in an adjoining county. See sec. 4600. State v. Lewis, 142 N. C. 626, 55 S. E. 600.

§ 4377. Refusal of witness to appear or to testify in investigations of lynchings.—If any person summoned as a witness in the investigation of a charge of lynching shall willfully fail to attend as a witness in obedience to the process served on him, or if, after being sworn, he shall refuse to answer questions pertinent to the matter being investigated before any tribunal, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3699; 1893, c. 461, s. 3.)

§ 4378. Resisting officers.—If any person shall willfully and unlawfully resist, delay or obstruct a public officer in discharging or attempting to discharge a duty of his office, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3700; 1889, c. 51, s. 1.)

Cross Reference.—As to powers and duties of constable, see sections 976, 2639; as to criminal authority of policeman, see section 2642; as to arrest in general, see section 4542 et seq.

Indictment in Two Counts.—An indictment having two counts, one against one person under this section, and the other against several persons under section 4379, is defective, but if not objected to before a verdict which convicts on one count and acquits on the other, is not sufficient grounds for arrest of judgment, as the acquittal is equivalent to a nol. pros. State v. Perdue, 107 N. C. 853, 12 S. E. 253.

Quashing Indictment if Sufficient to Convict of Assault.—Where an indictment for resisting an officer is defective, as such it ought not to be quashed if the defendant may be convicted thereon for a simple assault. State v. Dunn, 109 N. C. 839, 13 S. E. 881.

Process Must Be Legal.—A person is not liable for resisting an unlawful arrest, as where the warrant lacked a seal and the officer did not state what he arrested him for. State v. Curtis, 2 N. C. 471.

Authority of Officer and Notice to Party.—"If the officer has no authority to make the arrest, or having the authority, is not known to be an officer and does not in some way notify the party that he is an officer and has authority, the party arrested may lawfully resist the arrest as if it were made by a private person." State v. Belk, 76 N. C. 10, 14; State v. Kirby, 24 N. C. 201; State v. Bryant, 65 N. C. 327.

In a prosecution for resisting arrest under this section, a defense that the arrest was made by a constable outside of his township and that therefore defendant did not resist an officer in the performance of his duty is unavailing in view of § 976, and Art. IV, sec. 24 of the Constitution, a constable having authority to make an arrest anywhere in the county within which he is appointed. State v. Corpening, 207 N. C. 805, 178 S. E. 564.

Collector of Back Tax.—See State v. Alston, 127 N. C. 518, 37 S. E. 137.

Preventing Road Overseer Cutting Ditch.—See State v. New, 130 N. C. 731, 41 S. E. 1033.

Resisting Second Service of Warrant.—Defendant is not liable for assault and battery for resisting an entry into her house by an officer armed with a warrant which had once been served and returned, though defendant had entered into a recognizance and failed to appear. State v. Queen, 66 N. C. 615.

Persons Aiding and Abetting.—See State v. Morris, 10 N. C. 388.

Cited in State v. McClure, 166 N. C. 321, 81 S. E. 458; State v. Scoggins, 199 N. C. 821, 155 S. E. 927.

§ 4379. Failing to aid police officers.—If any person, after having been lawfully commanded to aid an officer in arresting any person, or in retaking any person who has escaped from legal custody, or in executing any legal process, willfully neglects or refuses to aid such officer, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3701; 1889, c. 51, s. 2.)

See note "Indictment in Two Counts" under preceding section.

Guilt of Party Arrested Immaterial.—As was said in State v. James, 80 N. C. 370, "The guilt or innocence of the party charged, or the false evidence on which the precept was based, does not impair this authority." Meeds v. Carver, 30 N. C. 298.

To the person summoned by a lawful officer to come to his aid in making an arrest it is absolutely immaterial and irrelevant what is the name of the party to be arrested or the nature of the offense.

"It is not for him to ask the reason why." State v. Ditmore, 177 N. C. 592, 594, 99 S. E. 368.

§ 4380. Intimidating or interfering with jurors and witnesses.—If any person shall by threats, menaces or in any other manner intimidate or attempt to intimidate any person who is summoned or acting as a juror or witness in any of the courts of this state, or prevent or deter, or attempt to prevent or deter any person summoned or acting as such juror or witness from attendance upon such court, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3696; 1891, c. 87.)

In General.—This section is additional to and not a repeal of the inherent power of the court to protect itself from interference by bribery or intimidation of its jurors or witnesses in both civil and criminal cases. In re Young, 137 N. C. 552, 50 S. E. 220.

Cited in State v. Hodge, 142 N. C. 665, 670, 55 S. E. 626.

§ 4381. Failing to attend as witness before legislative committees.—If any person shall willfully fail or refuse to attend or produce papers, on summons of any committee of investigation of either house of the general assembly, either select or committee of the whole, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction in the superior court of the county in which such witness may reside or be found, he shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, and shall be subject to imprisonment at the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3692; Code, s. 2854; 1869-70, c. 5, s. 2.)

Art. 29. Misconduct in Public Office

§ 4382. Buying and selling offices.—If any person shall bargain away or sell an office or deputation of an office, or any part or parcel thereof, or shall take money, reward or other profit, directly or indirectly, or shall take any promise, covenant, bond or assurance for money, reward or other profit, for an office or the deputation of an office, or any part thereof, which office or any part thereof, shall touch or concern the administration or execution of justice, or the receipt, collection, control or disbursement of the public revenue, or shall concern or touch any clerkship in any court of record wherein justice is administered; or if any person shall give or pay money, reward or other profit, or shall make any promise, agreement, bond or assurance for any of such offices, or for the deputation of any of them, or for any part of them, the person so offending in any of the cases aforesaid shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall forfeit all his right, interest and estate in such office, and every part and parcel thereof, and shall be imprisoned and fined at the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3571; Code, s. 998; R. C., c. 34, s. 33; 5, 6 Edw. VI, c. 16, ss. 1, 5.)

As to sheriff letting to farm his office, see sec. 3946.

§ 4383. Acting as officer before qualifying as such.—If any officer shall enter on the duties of his office before he executes and delivers to the authority entitled to receive the same the bonds required by law, and qualifies by taking and subscribing and filing in the proper office the oath of office prescribed, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be ejected from his office. (Rev., s. 3565; Code, s. 79.)

§ 4384. Willfully failing to discharge duties.—If any clerk of any court of record, sheriff, justice of the peace, county commissioner, county surveyor, coroner, treasurer, constable or official of any of the state institutions, or of any county, city or town, shall willfully omit, neglect or refuse to discharge any of the duties of his office, for default whereof it is not elsewhere provided that he shall be indicted, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. If it shall be proved that such officer, after his qualification, willfully and corruptly omitted, neglected or refused to discharge any of the duties of his office, or willfully or corruptly violated his oath of office according to the true intent and meaning thereof, such officer shall be guilty of misbehavior in office, and shall be punished by removal therefrom under the sentence of the court as a part of the punishment for the offense, and shall also be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3592; 1901, c. 270, s. 2.)

Law Rev. 55; as to issuing licenses unlawfully, see section 2503; as to failure of sheriff to make returns, or making false returns, see sec. 4396; as to officer acting without bond, see section 325. See notes to following section.

In General.—"The law will not countenance or condone any attempt to defy its mandates. The private citizen must obey the law, and the public officer is not exempt from this duty by any special privilege appertaining to his office. He is not wiser than the law, nor is he above it. The truth is, that if he willfully neglects or omits to perform a public duty, he is liable to indictment at common law. State v. Commissioners, 4 N. C. 419; State v. Williams, 34 N. C. 172; State v. Com's, 48 N. C. 399; State v. Furguson, 76 N. C. 197. If the neglect, ommission, or refusal to discharge any of his official duties is willful and corrupt, it is criminal misbehavior, and subjects him to indictment for a misdemeanor and punishment by fine or imprisonment, and, as a part of the penalty to removal from office." State v. Rocky Mount, 156 N. C. 329, 337, 72 S. E. 354.

Proceedings of Forfeiture under Section 870.—Forfeiture cannot be enforced by judgment of a motion from office as a part of the punishment, where the clerk has been convicted of a misdemeanor, under this section in wilfully neglecting to discharge the duties of his office, but proceedings of forfeiture must be under section 870. State v. Norman, 82 N. C. 687.

Willful Neglect and Injury to Public.—It is to be observed that the essentials of the crime as prescribed are: first, a willful neglect in the discharge of official duty; and second, injury to the public. State v. Anderson, 196 N. C. 771, 773, 147 S. E. 305.

Corrupt Intent Not Necessary.—It is not necessary to allege corrupt intent in a bill of indictment against county commissioners for neglect of duty in providing a necessary courthouse, and it is sufficient if the words of the statute are followed. State v. Loeper, 146 N. C. 655, 61 S. E. 585.

However honest the defendants may be (and their honesty is not called in question) the public have a right to be protected against the wrongful conduct of their servants, if there is carelessness amounting to a willful want of care in the discharge of their official duties, which injures the public. State v. Anderson, 196 N. C. 771, 147 S. E. 305, quoting from State v. Hatch, 116 N. C. 1003, 21 S. E. 436.

Liability for Honest Errors.—It is so well settled that there is nothing to the contrary that an officer who has to exercise his judgment or discretion is not liable criminally for any error which he commits, provided he acts honestly. State v. Powers, 75 N. C. 281, 284.

"If the illegal act be done mala fide, then it becomes a crime, and the officer liable both civilly and criminally, but if free of any wicked intent, then he is civilly liable only." State v. Snuggs, 85 N. C. 542, 544.

Accused Must Show Good Faith.—Where a public officer is indicted for failure to perform a duty required by law, the law raises a presumption that such failure is wilful, and makes it incumbent upon him to rebut the presumption. State v. Heaton, 77 N. C. 505.

The Indictment.—It is required that the indictment under this section sufficiently charge the offense of which such officer is accused; and where the action is against the superintendent of a State hospital for the insane, and the indictment charges that he removed or caused to be removed patients to his private farm and caused them to be worked thereon, without allegation of injury to the public or to the patients, or of personal gain to the defendant, the indictment fails to charge facts sufficient to constitute an offense under the statute, and defendant's motion in arrest of judgment should be allowed. State v. Anderson, 196 N. C. 771, 147 S. E. 305.

Cited in Moffitt v. Davis, 205 N. C. 565, 570, 172 S. E. 317.

§ 4385. Failing to make reports and discharge other duties.—If any state or county officer shall fail, neglect or refuse to make, file or publish any report, statement or other paper, or to deliver to his successor all books and other property belonging to his office, or to pay over or deliver to the proper person all moneys which come into his hands by virtue or color of his office, or to discharge any duty devolving upon him by virtue of his office and required of him by law, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3576.)

C. Enc. Dig. 108. See notes to preceding section; as to embezzlement by officers see section 4278.

Injurious Effect Not Necessary.—The crime exists although no injurious effects result to any individual because of the misconduct of the officer. State v. Glasgow, 1 N. C. 264.

Honesty of Purpose.—There may be neglect without corruption. Therefore honesty of purpose is not a full defense under this section. Turner v. Mckee, 137 N. C. 251, 254, 49 S. E. 330, and cases there cited.

Enforcing Unconstitutional Law.—An officer it not liable for obeying the mandates of an unconstitutional statute. State v. Godwin, 123 N. C. 697, 31 S. E. 221.

Liability on Official Bonds.—See sections 353 et seq. and notes thereto.

Manager of Elections.—Any conduct of the manager of a primary election for county officials which interferes with the freedom or purity of the election is punishable at common law, and under this section. State v. Cole, 156 N. C. 618, 72 S. E. 221.

§ 4386. Swearing falsely to official reports.—If any clerk, sheriff, register of deeds, county commissioner, county treasurer, justice of the peace, constable or other county officer shall willfully swear falsely to any report or statement required by law to be made or filed, concerning or touching the county, state or school revenue, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3605; Code, s. 731; 1874-5, c. 151, s. 4; 1876-7, c. 276, s. 4.)

§ 4387. Making of false report by bank examiners; accepting bribes.—If any bank examiner shall knowingly and willfully make any false or fraudulent report of the condition of any bank, which shall have been examined by him, with the intent to aid or abet the officers, owners, or agents of such bank in continuing to operate an insolvent bank, or if any such examiner shall keep or accept any bribe or gratuity given for the purpose of inducing him not to file any report of examination of any bank made by him, or shall neglect to make an examination of any bank by reason of having received or accepted any bribe or gratuity, he shall be guilty of a felony, and on conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the state prison for not less than four months nor more than ten years. (Rev., s. 3324; 1903, c. 275, s. 24; 1921, c. 4, s. 79.)

Editor's Note.—The amendment of this section by Public Laws 1921, c. 4, sec. 79, effected one change. Prior to this amendment the offence was "receiving or accepting" any bribe instead of "keeping or accepting" any bribe as the section now reads. It is easy to see the change that this amendment brings about. By the prior law one was an offender if he received a bribe no matter what his purpose might be. If he received the bribe for the sole purpose of bringing the person offering the bribe to justice, he himself was guilty. Under such law it was hard to ascertain one who would bribe a bank examiner for the act that would make the officer guilty of bribery would also make the examiner guilty of receiving a bribe. Now the offense is only the keeping and does not subject a bank examiner to punishment for accepting bribes in an attempt to ascertain and convict crooked bank officials.

§ 4388. Director of public trust contracting for his own benefit.—If any person, appointed or elected a commissioner or director to discharge any trust wherein the state or any county, city or town may be in any manner interested, shall become an undertaker, or make any contract for his own benefit, under such authority, or be in any manner concerned or interested in making such contract, or in the profits thereof, either privately or openly, singly or jointly with another, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Provided, that this section shall not apply to public officials transacting business with banks or banking institutions in regular course of business: Provided further, that such undertaking or contracting shall be authorized by said governing board. (Rev., s. 3572; Code, s. 1011; R. C., c. 34, s. 38; 1825, c. 1269; 1826, c. 29; 1929, c. 19, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The Act of 1929 added the two provisos at the end of this section.

Effect of Special Validating Act.—Although municipal bonds were sold to a corporation controlled by the mayor, an act passed by the legislature expressly confirming and validating the sale removes all objections based upon the violation of the provisions of this section. Starmount Co. v. Ohio Sav. Bank, etc., Co., 55 F. (2d) 649.

Additional Service. — A member of the board of county commissioners cannot recover for services rendered the board in inspecting a bridge. Davidson v. Guilford County, 152 N. C. 436, 67 S. E. 918.

Officer of City and Corporation.—The prohibition of this section, extends to an officer of a corporation in making contracts between the corporation and the city of which he is commissioner or an alderman. State v. Williams, 153 N. C. 595, 68 S. E. 900.

Contracts between city when an alderman is an employee of the other contracting party are not covered by the section. State v. Weddell, 153 N. C. 587, 68 S. E. 897.

Contracts for Benefit of County.—A sheriff is not guilty of a misdemeanor where he purchases county claims at less than their value, but for the benefit of the county, at the instance of the county commissioners. State v. Garland, 134 N. C. 749, 47 S. E. 426.

§ 4389. Speculating in claims against towns, cities and the state.—If any clerk, sheriff, register of deeds, county treasurer or other county, city, town or state officer shall engage in the purchasing of any county, city, town or state claim, including teachers' salary vouchers, at a less price than its full and true value or at any rate of discount thereon, or be interested in any speculation on any such claim, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined or imprisoned, and shall be liable to removal from office at the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3475; Code, s. 1009; 1868-9, c. 260; 1923, c. 136, s. 208.)

Editor's Note.—The amendment of this section by Public Laws 1923, c. 136, sec. 208 added "including teacher's salary voucher," and replaced the words "speculation in any such claim" with "speculation on any such claim."

§ 4390. Acting as agent for those furnishing supplies for schools and other state institutions.—If any member of any board of directors, board of managers, board of trustees of any of the educational, charitable, eleemosynary or penal institutions of the state, or any member of any board of education, or any county or district superintendent or examiner of teachers, or any trustee of any school or other institution supported in whole or in part from any of the public funds of the state or any officer, agent, manager, teacher or employee of such boards, shall have any pecuniary interest, either directly or indirectly, proximately or remotely in supplying any goods, wares or merchandise of any nature or kind whatsoever for any of said institutions or schools; or if any of such officers, agents, managers, teachers or employees of such institution or school or state or county officer shall act as agent for any manufacturer, merchant, dealer, publisher or author for any article of merchandise to be used by any of said institutions or schools; or shall receive, directly or indirectly, any gift, emolument, reward or promise of reward for his influence in recommending or procuring the use of any manufactured article, goods, wares or merchandise of any nature or kind whatsoever by any of such institutions or schools, he shall be forthwith removed from his position in the public service, and shall upon conviction be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not less than fifty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars and be imprisoned, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3833; 1899, c. 732, s. 73; 1897, c. 543.)

Purchase of Property from Company Owned by Wife.—A member of the board of education of a county is not guilty under this section for voting as such member for the purchase of school buses from a company selling them owned by his wife, and in which he had no pecuniary interest and for which he worked upon a salary, when the sale was made by other agents of the company upon a commission basis. State v. Debnam, 196 N. C. 740, 146 S. E. 857.

§ 4391. Buying school supplies from interested officer.—If any county board of education or school committee shall buy school supplies in which any member has a pecuniary interest, or if any school officers or teachers shall receive any gift, emolument, reward or promise of reward for influence in recommending or procuring the use of any school supplies for the schools with which they are connected, such person shall be removed from his position in the public service and shall, upon conviction, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3835; 1901, c. 4, s. 69.)

§ 4391(1). Soliciting during school hours without permission of school head.—No person, agent, representative or salesman shall solicit or attempt to sell or explain any article of property or proposition to any teacher or pupil of any public school on the school grounds or during the school day without having first secured the written permission and consent of the superintendent, principal or person actually in charge of the school and responsible for it.

Any person violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (1933, c. 220.)

§ 4392. Selling bonds without giving proper notice.—It shall be unlawful for any board of county commissioners, board of road commissioners, school board or school committee, or any drainage commissioner or board of drainage commissioners of any county, city, town, road, school, or drainage district to sell bonds for any purpose, either at public or private sale, without giving notice of the time and place of sale in some newspaper published in such county, city or town at least thirty days prior to the date of sale: Provided, that where there is no newspaper published in the county, such notice shall be posted at the courthouse door in such county at least thirty days prior to the sale.

Any violation of this section by any person or corporation whose duty it shall be to issue and sell such bonds shall constitute a misdemeanor punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court. (1917, cc. 147, 174.)

As to sale of municipal bonds, see section 2956 and notes.

Adjournment to Future Date after Notice.—Where the municipal authorities have advertised the sale of bonds to be issued according to the terms of a valid statute, and cannot finish the transaction and consummate the sale on the day designated in the advertisement, they may adjourn over to some other day in the near future for the purpose of completing the matter, especially when they have given due notice of the second meeting, the object of the law being to prevent clandestine sales of bonds of this character. Guire v. Board, 178 N. C. 39, 100 S. E. 141.

§ 4393. Allowing prisoners to escape; burden of proof.—If any person charged with a crime or sentenced by the court upon conviction of any offense, shall be legally committed to any sheriff, constable or jailer, or shall be arrested by any sheriff, deputy sheriff or coroner acting as sheriff, by virtue of any capias issuing on a bill of indictment, information or other criminal proceeding, and such sheriff, deputy sheriff, coroner, constable or jailer, willfully or negligently, shall suffer such person, so charged or sentenced and committed, to escape out of his custody, the sheriff, deputy sheriff, coroner, constable or jailer so offending, being thereof convicted, shall be removed from office, and shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the court before whom the trial may be had; and in all such cases it shall be sufficient, in support of the indictment against such sheriff or other officer, to prove that the person so charged or sentenced was committed to his custody, and it shall lie upon the defendant to show that such escape was not by his consent or negligence, but that he had used all legal means to prevent the same, and acted with proper care and diligence: Provided, that such removal of a sheriff shall not affect his duty or power as a collector of the public revenue, but he shall proceed on such duty and be accountable as if such conviction and removal had not been had. (Rev., s. 3577; Code, s. 1022; R. C., c. 34, s. 35; 1791, c. 343, s. 1; 1905, c. 350.)

General Consideration.—This is a common law offense. State v. Ritchie, 107 N. C. 857, 12 S. E. 251. The statute contemplates two offenses—negligently permitting or wilfully promoting the escape—but charging negligence alone will suffice, State v. McLain, 104 N. C. 894, 10 S. E. 518. The section changes the ordinary rule of the burden of proof by shifting such burden to the defendant. State v. Hunter, 94 N. C. 829; State v. Lewis, 113 N. C. 622, 18 S. E. 69. The question of good faith and diligence of the officer is for the jury. State v. Blockley, 131 N. C. 726, 42 S. E. 569.

For full treatment of Escape, see 5 N. C. Enc. Dig. 33 et seq.; as to liability for escape under civil process, see sec. 3943 and notes thereto.

Right to Kill to Prevent Escape.—The guard has no authority to kill one convicted of a misdemeanor while fleeing to escape, without his offering resistance or showing any menace or show of force in doing so, or, anything that would suggest danger to the person of the guard. Holloway v. Moser, 193 N. C. 185, 136 S. E. 375.

Where the escape is due to the negligence of an assistant the only question presented is whether the defendant has exercised due care in his selection. State v. Lewis, 113 N. C. 622, 18 S. E. 69.

§ 4394. Solicitor to prosecute officer for escape.—It shall be the duty of solicitors, when they shall be informed or have knowledge of any felon, or person otherwise charged with any crime or offense against the state, having within their respective districts escaped out of the custody of any sheriff, deputy sheriff, coroner, constable or jailer, to take the necessary measures to prosecute such sheriff or other officer so offending. (Rev., s. 2822; Code, s. 1023; R. C., c. 34, s. 36; 1791, c. 343, s. 2.)

§ 4395. Disposing of public documents or refusing to deliver them over to successor.—It shall be the duty of the clerk of the superior court of each county, and every other person to whom the acts of the general assembly, supreme court reports or other public documents are transmitted or deposited for the use of the county or state, to keep the same safely in their respective offices; and if any such person having the custody of such books and documents, for the uses aforesaid, shall negligently and willfully dispose of the same, by sale or otherwise, or refuse to deliver over the same to his successor in office, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine or imprisonment, or both, at the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3598; Code, s. 1073; 1881, c. 151.)

§ 4396. Failing to return process or making false return.—If any sheriff, constable or other officer, whether state or municipal, or any person who shall presume to act as any such officer, not being by law authorized so to do, refuse or neglect to return any precept, notice or process, to him tendered or delivered, which it is his duty to execute, or make a false return thereon, he shall forfeit and pay to anyone who will sue for the same one hundred dollars, and shall moreover be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3704; Code, s. 1112; R. C., c. 34, s. 118; 1818, c. 980, s. 3; 1827, c. 20, s. 4.)

See section 3936, and the exhaustive note thereto.

Civil Process.—This section applies to failure to return civil as well as criminal process. State v. Berry, 169 N. C. 371, 85 S. E. 387, overruling Mfg. Co. v. Buxton, 105 N. C. 74; Harrell v. Warren, 100 N. C. 259, 6 S. E. 777.

For a similar section in the civil code, see section 3936 and notes thereto.

Process That Could Not Be Served.—An officer is not subject to the penalty under this section for declining to receive process which, at the time it was tendered, he could not have executed. Fentress v. Brown, 61 N. C. 373.

§ 4397. Failing to surrender tax-list for inspection and correction.—If any sheriff or tax collector shall refuse or fail to surrender his tax-list for inspection or correction upon demand by the authorities imposing the tax, or their successors in office, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be imprisoned not more than five years, and fined not exceeding one thousand dollars, at the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3788; Code, s. 3823; 1870-1, c. 177, s. 2.)

As to right and power to inspect, see section 2681, and notes.

§ 4398. Failing to file report of fines.—If any officer who is by law required to file any report or statement of fines or penalties with the county board of education shall fail so to do at or before the time fixed by law for the filing of such report, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3579; 1901, c. 4, s. 62.)

§ 4398(a). Justices of the peace soliciting official business or patronage.—If any justice of the peace shall solicit official business, and/or patronage for his or her office, he or she shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished in the discretion of the court. (1935, c. 58.)

§ 4399. Failure of ex-justice of the peace to turn over books and papers.—If any justice of the peace, on expiration of his term of office, or if any personal representative of a deceased justice of the peace shall, after demand upon him by the clerk of the superior court, willfully fail and refuse to deliver to the clerk of the superior court all dockets, all law and other books, and all official papers which came into his hands by virtue or color of his office, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3578; Code, ss. 828, 829; 1885, c. 402.)

Cited in Bailey v. Hester, 101 N. C. 538, 8 S. E. 164; Whitehurst v. Transportation Co., 109 N. C. 342, 344, 13 S. E. 937.

§ 4399(a). Private use of publicly owned vehicle.—It shall be unlawful for any officer, agent or employee of the State of North Carolina, or of any county or of any institution or agency of the State, to use for any private purpose whatsoever any motor vehicle of any type or description whatsoever belonging to the State, or to any county, or to any institution or agency of the State. (1925, c. 239, s. 1.)

§ 4399(b). Obtaining repairs and supplies for private vehicle at expense of State.—It shall be unlawful for any officer, agent or employee to have any privately owned motor vehicle repaired at any garage belonging to the State or to any county, or any institution or agency of the State, or to use any tires, oils, gasoline or other accessories purchased by the State, or any county, or any institution or agency of the State, in or on any such private car. (1925, c. 239, s. 2.)

§ 4399(c). Limitation of amount expended for vehicle.—It shall be unlawful for any officer, agent, employee or department of the State of North Carolina, or of any county, or of any institution or agency of the State, to expend from the public treasury an amount in excess of fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500) for any motor vehicle other than motor trucks; except upon the approval of the Governor and Council of State: Provided, that this act shall not apply to any automobile purchased for the use of the Governor: Provided, further, however, that nothing in this act shall be construed to authorize the purchase or maintenance of an automobile at the expense of the State by any State officer unless he is now authorized by statute to do so. (1925, c. 239, s. 3.)

§ 4399(d). Publicly owned vehicle to be marked.—It shall be the duty of the executive head of every department of the State Government, and of any county, or of any institution or agency of the State, to have painted on every motor vehicle owned by the State, or by any county, or by any institution or agency of the State, a statement with letters of not less than three inches in height, that such car belongs to the State, or to some county, or institution or agency of the State, and that such car is "for official use only." Provided, however, that no automobile used by any officer or official in any county in the State for the purpose of transporting, apprehending or arresting persons charged with violations of the laws of the State of North Carolina, shall be required to be so lettered. (1925, c. 239, s. 4; 1929, c. 303, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The 1929 amendment added the proviso at the end of this section.

§ 4399(e). Penalties.—Any person, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of sections 4399(a) to 4399(d) shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100), nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000), or imprisonment in the discretion of the court. Nothing in this act shall apply to the purchase, use or up-keep or expense account of the car for the executive mansion and the Governor. (1925, c. 239, s. 5.)

§ 4399(f). Five preceding sections applicable to cities and towns.—Sections 4399(a) to 4399(e) in every respect shall also apply to cities and incorporated towns. (1931, c. 31.)

Art. 30. Misconduct in Private Office

§ 4400. Failure of certain railroad officers to account with successors.—If the president and directors of any railroad company, and any person acting under them, shall, upon demand, fail or refuse to account with the president and directors elected or appointed to succeed them, and to transfer to them forthwith all the money, books, papers, choses in action, property and effects of every kind and description belonging to such company, they shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state's prison for not less than one nor more than five years, and be fined at the discretion of the court. All persons conspiring with any such president, directors or their agents to defeat, delay or hinder the execution of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished in like manner. The governor is hereby authorized, at the request of the president, directors and other officers of any railroad company, to make requisition upon the governor of any other state for the apprehension of any such president failing to comply with this section. (Rev., s. 3760; Code, ss. 2001, 2002; 1870-1, c. 72, ss. 1-3.)

Not Applicable to Tax Bond.—As this section has reference only to money, books, choses, etc., an indictment can not be sustained against a former president of a railroad, for refusing to transfer to his successor in office certain special tax bonds. State v. Jones, 67 N. C. 210.

§ 4401. "Misapplication, embezzlement of funds, etc.—Whoever being an officer, employee, agent or director of a bank, with intent to defraud or injure the bank, or any person or corporation, or to deceive an officer of the bank or an agent appointed to examine the affairs of such bank, embezzles, abstracts, or misapplies any of the money, funds, credit or property of such bank, whether owned by it or held in trust, or who, with such intent, wilfully and fraudulently issues or puts forth a certificate of deposit, draws an order or bill of exchange, makes an acceptance, assigns a note, bond, draft, bill of exchange, mortgage, judgment, decree or fictitiously borrows or solicits, obtains or receives money for a bank note in good faith, intended to become the property of such bank; or whoever being an officer, employee, agent, or director of a bank, makes or permits the making of a false statement or certificates, or as to a deposit, trust fund or contract, or makes or permits to be made a false entry in a book, report, statement or record of such bank, or conceals or permits to be concealed by any means or manner, the true and correct entries of said bank, or its true and correct transactions, who knowingly loans, or permits to be loaned, the funds or credit of any bank to any insolvent company or corporation, or corporation which has ceased to exist, or which never had any existence, or upon collateral consisting of stocks or bonds of such company or corporation, or who makes or publishes or knowingly permits to be made or published a false report, statement or certificate as to the true financial condition of such bank, shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not more than ten thousand dollars or imprisoned in the State's prison not more than thirty years, or both. (Rev., s. 3325; 1903, c. 275, s. 15; 1921, c. 4, s. 83; 1927, c. 47, s. 16.)

See note under § 224(e).

Editor's Note.—By the amendment of 1927 this section was made identical with section 224(e). Reference should be made to that section and the notes thereto.

Compared with Section 4268.—The use of the word "abstract" in this section marks a difference between this statute and section 4268, the latter applying to embezzlement; and under the former statute it is not necessary for the indictment or evidence to comply with the terms of section 4268, excepting offenders under the age of sixteen years. State v. Switzer, 187 N. C. 88, 121 S. E. 143.

Sufficiency of Indictment.—An indictment for unlawfully abstracting the funds of a bank, to the injury of persons, corporations, etc., is sufficient if it substantially follows the express wording of this section in a plain, intelligent and sufficient manner, though without strict regard to form, technicality or refinement. State v. Switzer, 187 N. C. 88, 121 S. E. 143.

In order to convict of malfeasance of bank officers and agents under the provisions of this section, it is sufficient to allege in the indictment the "intent to defraud, without naming therein the particular person or body corporate intended to be defrauded," etc.; and an indictment under this section, charging the act "with intent to injure," is held sufficient. State v. Switzer, 187 N. C. 88, 121 S. E. 143.

§ 4402. Making false entries in banking accounts; misrepresenting assets and liabilities of banks.—If any person shall willfully and knowingly subscribe to, or make, or cause to be made, any false statement or false entry in the books of any corporation, partnership, firm or individual transacting a banking business, or shall knowingly subscribe to or exhibit false papers, with intent to deceive any person authorized to examine into the affairs of such corporation, partnership, firm or individual, or shall willfully and knowingly make, state or publish any false statement of the amount of the assets or liabilities of any such corporation, partnership, firm or individual, he shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the state's prison not less than four months nor more than ten years. (Rev., s. 3326; 1903, c. 275, s. 27.)

Editor's Note.—This section is similar to sec. 224(e) covering in terms the same subject matter.

Sufficiency of Indictment.—Where the indictment charges the employee with making false entries upon the books of the bank in which he was employed, and that it was a corporation existing under the laws of the State of North Carolina, it is not defective for failing to particularize that it was a bank, within the contemplation of this section under which the indictment had been drawn. State v. Hedgecock 185 N. C. 714, 117 S. E. 47.

Art. 31. Prison Breach and Prisoners

§ 4403. Escape of hired prisoners from custody.—If any prisoner, who shall be removed from the prison of the respective counties, cities and towns under the law providing for the hiring out of prisoners by counties and towns, shall escape from the person or company having him in custody, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be imprisoned at hard labor not more than thirty days, or fined not more than fifty dollars. (Rev., s. 3658; Code, s. 3455; 1876-7, c. 196, s. 4.)

As to power to hire out, see sections 1356-1358.

§ 4404. Prison breach and escape.—If any person shall break prison, being lawfully confined therein, or shall escape from the custody of any superintendent, guard or officer, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3657; Code, s. 1021; R. C., c. 34, s. 19; 1 Edw. II, st. 2d; 1909, c. 872.)

At Common Law.—The offense of breaking jail was a felony at common law, but by this section, all cases, no matter what the person is confined for, are reduced to a misdemeanor. State v. Brown, 82 N. C. 585.

Escape from Officer.—This section applies only to breaking prison or escaping therefrom and does not, because of its wording, include escape from an officer before being confined to prison. State v. Brown, 82 N. C. 585.

Cited in Holloway v. Moser, 193 N. C. 185, 136 S. E. 375.

§ 4405. Permitting escape of or maltreating hired convicts.—If any person charged in any way with the control or management of convicts, hired for service outside of the state's prison, shall negligently permit them to escape, or shall maltreat them, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; but this provision shall not be held to relieve any person from any criminal liability. (Rev., s. 3659; Code, s. 3450; 1881, c. 127, s. 2.)

As to power to hire out, see section 1356; as to allowing prisoners to escape, see section 4393.

Negligence Test of Guilt.—Officers and public agents will not be held to the rigorous common-law rule of responsibility for the custody of convicts employed in labors outside of the Penitentiary, actual negligence being the test of guilt. State v. Johnson, 94 N. C. 924.

Negligence Implied.—It is not necessary to prove negligence of the person having lawful custody of prisoners, for it is implied, unless occasioned by the act of God, or irresistable adverse force. State v. Johnson, 94 N. C. 924.

Cited in State v. Sneed, 94 N. C. 806, 809.

§ 4406. Conveying messages and weapons to convicts and other prisoners.—If any person shall convey to or from any convict any letters or oral messages, or shall convey to any convict or person imprisoned, charged with crime and awaiting trial any weapon or instrument by which to effect an escape, or that will aid him in an assault or insurrection, or shall trade with a convict for his clothing or stolen goods, or shall sell to him any article forbidden him by prison rules, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor: Provided, that when a murder, an assault or an escape is effected with the means furnished, the person convicted or furnishing the means shall be sentenced to not less than four years hard labor in the state's prison. (Rev., s. 3662; Code, s. 3441; 1873-4, c. 158, s. 12; 1911, c. 11.)

§ 4407. Injury to prisoner by jailer.—If the keeper of a jail shall do, or cause to be done, any wrong or injury to the prisoners committed to his custody, contrary to law, he shall not only pay treble damages to the person injured, but shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3661; Code, s. 3463; R. C., c. 87, s. 8; 1795, c. 433, s. 6.)

§ 4408. Confining prisoners to improper apartments.—If the sheriff or jailer shall wantonly or unnecessarily confine those committed to his custody in any apartment, other than that provided and designated by law for persons of the description of the prisoner, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3660; Code, s. 3471; R. C., c. 87, s. 16; 1795, c. 433, s. 4.)

§ 4409. Requiring female prisoners to work in chain-gang.—If any officer, either judicial, executive or ministerial, shall order or require the working of any female on the streets or roads in any group or chain-gang in this state, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3596; 1897, c. 270.)

§ 4409(a). Classification and commutation of time for prisoners other than state prisoners.—The board of county commissioners, or such governing body as may have charge of prisoners in any county, city or town in the State of North Carolina, shall divide all prisoners into three classes, or grades, as follows:

In the first class shall be included all those prisoners who have given evidence that they will, or who it is believed will observe the rules and regulations and work diligently and are likely to maintain themselves by honest industry after their discharge. These shall be known as Grade A prisoners and shall receive a commutation of their sentences at the rate of one hundred and four days for each year served.

In the second class shall be included those prisoners who have not yet given evidence that they can be trusted entirely, but are reasonably obedient to the rules and regulations. These shall be known as Class B prisoners and shall receive a commutation of their sentences of seventy-eight days for each year served.

In the third class shall be those prisoners who have demonstrated that they are incorrigible, have no respect for the rules and regulations and seriously interfere with the discipline and the effectiveness of the labor of the other prisoners. Such prisoners shall receive no commutation of their sentences.

All prisoners shall be admitted into Class B except where it is known by the superintendent of the prison that a prisoner is serving for a second offense. In such cases the superintendent may put the prisoner in Class C in his discretion.

Prisoners of Class A shall be known as honor prisoners and shall be worked without stripes and in the discretion of the superintendent of the prison without guards. When in prison camps or in any other place of detention they may not be chained or under armed guards.

Prisoners in Class B shall wear stripes, if felons, be under guard and may or may not be chained in the discretion of the superintendent.

Prisoners in Class C shall wear stripes, if felons, wear chains during the day or night as in the opinion of the superintendent may be necessary.

Preference in assignment of work shall be given Class A prisoners.

The purpose of this act is to unify the regulations pertaining to county prisoners and to encourage industriousness among the prisoners. (1927, c. 178, s. 1.)

§ 4409(c). Commutation of sentences for Sunday work.—All prisoners in the State's Prison, or in any county jail or county convict camp, who shall be assigned to regular work which requires the performance of the same, or substantially the same duties on Sundays as on other days of the week, shall be allowed a commutation of their sentences for each Sunday, or fractional part of a Sunday on which they shall be required to perform the duties of the task assigned to them. The commutation of sentence provided for in this act shall be in addition to all other communtations of sentence allowed such prisoners under existing statutes and laws of the State. (1931, c. 198, s. 1.)

Art. 31A. Custodial Institutions

§ 4409(1). Persuading inmates to escape. — It shall be unlawful for any parent, guardian, brother, sister, uncle, aunt, or any person whatsoever to persuade or induce to leave, carry away, or accompany from any state institution, except with the permission of the superintendent or other person next in authority, any boy or girl, man or woman, who has been legally commmitted to said institution, by juvenile, recorder's, superior, or any other court of competent jurisdiction. (1935, c. 307, s. 1.)

SUBCHAPTER X. OFFENSES AGAINST THE PUBLIC PEACE

Art. 32. Offenses against the Public Peace

§ 4410. Carrying concealed weapons.—If any one except when on his own premises, shall carry concealed about his person any bowie-knife, dirk, dagger, slungshot, loaded cane, brass, iron or metallic knuckles or razor or other deadly weapon of like kind, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined or imprisoned at the discretion of the court. If any one, except on his own premises, shall carry concealed about his person any pistol or gun, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not less than fifty dollars, nor more than two hundred dollars, or imprisoned not less than thirty days nor more than two years, at the discretion of the court. Upon conviction or submission the deadly weapon with reference to which the defendant shall have been convicted shall be condemned and ordered confiscated and destroyed by the judge presiding at the trial. If any one, not being on his own lands, shall have about his person any such deadly weapon, such possession shall be prima facie evidence of the concealment thereof. This section shall not apply to the following persons: officers and soldiers of the United States army, when in discharge of their official duties as such and acting under orders requiring them to carry arms or weapons, civil officers of the United States while in the discharge of their official duties, officers and soldiers of the militia and the state guard when called into actual service, officers of the state, or of any county, city, or town, charged with the execution of the laws of the state, when acting in the discharge of their official duties. (Rev., s. 3708; Code, s. 1005; 1917, c. 76; 1919, c. 197, s. 8; 1923, cc. 48, 57; 1924, c. 30; 1929, cc. 51, 224.)

As to concealed weapon generally, see 12 Enc. Dig. 350 et seq.; 15 Enc. Dig. 740 et seq.

Editor's Note.—The construction of this section has frequently been before the court but the power of the legislature to prescribe the rules of evidence and fix the burden of proof to the extent herein dictated has never been questioned.

The 1923 amendment, chapter 48, struck the word "fifty" and substituted the words "one hundred" as to Durham county. The other amendment of the same year, chapter 57, made the same changes as to Halifax and Northampton counties. The latter amendment also inserted the matter relating to the second and subsequent offenses but limited the application to Halifax and Northampton counties. The 1924 amendment extended the provisions relating to second and subsequent offenses to Franklin county; hence, the necessity for the explanatory provisions in parenthesis.

The first amendment of 1929 repealed the amendatory Act of 1923, c. 57. The second amendment of 1929, added the qualifying clause, appearing in the last sentence, which follows the reference to soldiers and sailors and reads "when in discharge of official duties," etc.

Includes Butcher Knife.—The act of assembly making it indictable for one to carry concealed about his person any "pistol, bowie knife, razor or other deadly weapon of like kind," embraces a butcher's knife. State v. Erwin, 91 N. C. 545.

Concealment Is Gist of Offense.—The mischief provided against, is the practice of wearing weapons concealed about the person to be used upon any emergency. State v. Broadnax, 91 N. C. 543. The intent to carry, not the intent to use, determines the guilt. State v. Reams, 121 N. C. 556, 27 S. E. 1004. But the weapon carried must be concealed. State v. Lilly, 116 N. C. 1049, 21 S. E. 563. If the weapon is carried openly the defendant could not be guilty under this section. State v. Brown, 125 N. C. 704, 34 S. E. 549.

To conceal a weapon means something more than the mere act of having it where it may not be seen. It implies an assent of the mind and a purpose to so carry it that it may not be seen. State v. Gilbert, 87 N. C. 527, 528.

The question is as to the manner of carrying, whether concealed or not, and it might be shown, in defense, that there was no intent to conceal it. State v. Brown, 125 N. C. 104, 34 S. E. 549.

But if from defendant's own testimony it appears that he necessarily knew that he was carrying it concealed intent is immaterial. State v. Simmons, 143 N. C. 613, 56 S. E. 701.

The possession of a pistol by one on the premises of another is not alone sufficient to convict of carrying a concealed weapon in violation of this section, although the statute makes such possession prima facie evidence of the concealment thereof. State v. Vanderburg, 200 N. C. 713, 158 S. E. 248.

Same—Weapon on Person Prima Facie Evidence.—The fact that defendant had a pistol about his person, off of his own premises, was prima facie evidence of concealment, which shifted the burden upon the defendant to rebut or disprove. State v. Hamby, 126 N. C. 1066, 35 S. E. 614; State v. Reams, 121 N. C. 556, 27 S. E. 1004; State v. Lilly, 116 N. C. 1049, 21 S. E. 563; State v. McManus, 89 N. C. 555.

Same—Presumption Rebutted.—To rebut the statutory presumption arising from the concealment, the absence of intent to conceal must be affirmatively found. State v. Brown, 125 N. C. 704, 34 S. E. 549; State v. Gilbert, 87 N. C. 527.

Same—Concealment Question for Jury. — Whether, in a given case, the weapon is concealed from the public and such presumption of guilty intent is rebutted by the mode of carrying the weapon, are questions for the jury. State v. Reams, 121 N. C. 556, 27 S. E. 1004. See also State v. Lilley, 116 N. C. 1049, 21 S. E. 563.

Carrying on Own Premises.—The use of the words, "on his own premises," and not being "on his own lands," in this section, shows an intention to restrict the right to carry concealed weapons to those who are in the privacy of their own premises and not likely to be thrown into contact with the public, nor tempted, on a sudden quarrel, to use the great advantage a concealed weapon gives. State v. Perry, 120 N. C. 580, 26 S. E. 915, 1008.

A superintendent or overseer of a department of a cotton mill, is not, while therein, "on his premises," within the meaning of this section. State v. Bridgers, 169 N. C. 309, 84 S. E. 689.

Same—Servant on Employer's Premises.—A mere servant or hireling who carries concealed weapons on the premises of his employer is indictable. State v. Deyton, 119 N. C. 880, 26 S. E. 159.

Illustrations—Not on Person but Within Reach.—The language of the statute is, not "concealed on his person," but "concealed about his person," and hence, if the weapon be within reach and control of the defendant, it is sufficient to bring the case within the meaning of the statute. State v. McManus, 89 N. C. 555.

Same—Pistol in Coat on Shoulder.—Upon evidence tending to show that the defendant had a pistol with the butt end projecting above his hip pocket, and with his coat off and carried upon his shoulder, it is sufficient for the determination of the jury, upon the issue of defendant's guilt in having carried a concealed weapon in violation of this section. State v. Mangum, 187 N. C. 477, 121 S. E. 765.

Same—Carrying to Deliver to Another.—One is not guilty of a violation of this section where it appears that he had a pistol in his pocket for the purpose of delivering it to the owner who had sent him for it. State v. Broadnax, 91 N. C. 543.

Same—Apprehension of Assault.—Carrying concealed weapons in reasonable apprehension of deadly assaults is not justification of a violation of the statutory offense, but in aggravation thereof, and may be considered by the trial judge in imposing the sentence, according to the discretion given him therein by this section. State v. Woodlief, 172 N. C. 885, 90 S. E. 137.

Same—Acting upon Advice of Attorney.—A person acting in ignorance of the law in good faith and upon advice of the clerk of the court or of an attorney, but in violation of this section, is not excused. State v. Simmons, 143 N. C. 613, 56 S. E. 701.

Exceptions—Necessity of Being in Performance of Duties. —In order to come within the exception of this section, the defendant, otherwise having the authority, must have been in the actual performance of his duties at the time. State v. Simmons, 143 N. C. 613, 56 S. E. 701.

Same—Officials of Transportation Companies. — The exception in this section does not apply to the officials of corporations, such as turnpikes, railroads and others, which invite the public to use their lines of travel. State v. Perry, 120 N. C. 580, 26 S. E. 915, 1008.

Same—United States Mail Carrier.—A United States mail carrier is indictable under this section for carrying a concealed weapon while carrying the mail and while returning to his home after delivering the mail. State v. Boone, 132 N. C. 1107, 44 S. E. 595.

Same—Night Watchman.—A private night watchman is not guilty of carrying a concealed weapon, under this section, while on duty upon the premises he is employed to watch. State v. Anderson, 129 N. C. 521, 39 S. E. 824.

Jurisdiction.—The superior court does not acquire jurisdiction over a prosecution for carrying a concealed weapon by the fact at the time of the presentation of the indictment therefor it had exclusive cognizance of such offense, where, at the time of the commission of the offense sole jurisdiction was in justices of the peace. State v. Ramsour, 113 N. C. 642, 18 S. E. 707.

Former Conviction of Assault.—A conviction of assault with a deadly weapon will not sustain a plea of former conviction in a subsequent trial for carrying a concealed weapon. State v. Robinson, 116 N. C. 1046, 21 S. E. 701.

Time Not Essence of Offense.—Time is not the essence of the offense of carrying a concealed weapon, and it may be shown at a previous time to that alleged in the bill. State v. Spencer, 185 N. C. 765, 117 S. E. 803.

Punishment. — In penal statute "or" will never be construed "and" so as to make it more penal. Hence one found guilty under this section could not be both fined and imprisoned. State v. Taylor, 124 N. C. 803, 32 S. E. 548.

Cited in State v. Divine, 98 N. C. 778, 784, 4 S. E. 477; State v. Barrett, 138 N. C. 630, 635, 50 S. E. 506; State v. Sauls, 199 N. C. 193, 154 S. E. 28.

§ 4411. Sending, accepting or bearing challenges to fight duels.—If any person shall send, accept or bear a challenge to fight a duel, though no death ensue, he, and all such as counsel, aid and abet him, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, moreover, be ineligible to any office of trust, honor or profit in the state, any pardon or reprieve notwithstanding. (Rev., s. 3628; Code, s. 1012; R. C., c. 34, s. 48; 1802, c. 608, s. 1.)

See Article XIV, sec. 2, of the State Constitution.

See State v. Fritz, 133 N. C. 725, 45 S. E. 957; State v. Farrier, 8 N. C. 487, as digested in the title Dueling, 4 N. C. Enc. Dig. 958.

§ 4412. Engaging in and betting on prize fights. —If any two or more persons engage in a prize fight, sparring match or glove or fist contest for money or other valuable prize or stake; or if any person bet or lay a wager on the result thereof or advise, aid or abet in any way whatever in promoting the same, he shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the state's prison or jail for not less than one year nor more than five years, or both, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3707; 1895, c. 28, ss. 1-4.)

As to the power of the governor to prevent prize fights see section 7636, par. 6, and annotations thereunder.

§ 4413. Disturbing picnics, entertainments and other meetings.—If any person shall willfully interrupt or disturb any picnic, excursion party, school entertainment, political meeting, or any meeting or other organization whatsoever lawfully and peaceably held, either at, within or without the place where such picnic, excursion party, school entertainment, political meeting or other meeting or organization is held, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined or imprisoned, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3704; 1897, c. 213.)

The section applies to disturbing Sunday-school, State v. Branner, 149 N. C. 559, 63 S. E. 169, and family reunions, State v. Starnes, 151 N. C. 724, 66 S. E. 347.

§ 4414. Disturbing schools and scientific and temperance meetings; injuring property of schools and temperance societies.—If any person shall willfully interrupt or disturb any public or private school or temperance society or organization or any meeting lawfully and peacefully held for the purpose of literary and scientific improvement, or for the discussion of temperance or question of moral reform, either within or without the place where such meeting or school is held, or injure any school building, or deface any school furniture, apparatus or other school property, or property of any temperance society or organization, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (Rev., s. 3838; Code, s. 2592; 1885, c. 140; 1901, c. 4, s. 28.)

Preventing Use of School Building.— To take possession of a schoolhouse when there are no pupils present, and forbid the teacher to use the building, though the school is thereby prevented from assembling, is not a violation of this section. State v. Spray, 113 N. C. 686, 18 S. E. 700.

§ 4414(a). Disturbing students at schools for women.—It shall be unlawful for any male person to willfully disturb, annoy or harass the students of any boarding school or college for women situated anywhere in North Carolina by rude conduct or by persisting unnecessary presence on or near the property of the school or college; or by the willful addressing or communicating orally or otherwise with said students while on school property, or while elsewhere when in charge of a teacher, officer or student of said school. The violation of this section shall be deemed a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not less than five dollars ($5) nor more than fifty dollars ($50), or by imprisonment not to exceed thirty days. (1925, c. 189, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—For a criticism of the wisdom and necessity for this law, see 3 N. C. Law Rev. 143.

§ 4415. Disturbing religious congregations.—If any person shall be intoxicated or shall be guilty of any rude and disorderly conduct at any place where people are accustomed to meet for divine worship, and while the people are there assembled for such worship, whether such worship should have begun or not, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction, be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3706; 1901, c. 738.)

In General.—In order to render indictable the disturbance of persons assembled for divine worship, the people, or some considerable number, must be collected at or about the time when worship is about to commence, and in the place where it is to be celebrated. State v. Bryson, 82 N. C. 576. But the congregation need not be engaged in the act of worship. State v. Ramsey, 78 N. C. 448. However the indictment will not lie after the congregation has dispersed. State v. Davis, 126 N. C. 1059, 35 S. E. 600. The act itself must disturb the congregation—information of the act, for example that a fight is in progress, will not suffice. State v. Kirby, 108 N. C. 772, 12 S. E. 1045.

Persistent speaking in church after remonstance from the minister has been held sufficient to sustain a verdict under this section (see State v. Ramsey, 78 N. C. 448) but not persistence in singing off the key where the intention is not to disturb. State v. Linkhow, 69 N. C. 214.

Disturbing Sunday School.—See note to section 4413.

Family Gathering.—See State v. Starnes, 151 N. C. 724, 66 S. E. 347.

The Indictment.—The indictment should charge that the assembly had met "for divine worship," "divine service," "religious worship or service," or something of the same import. State v. Fisher, 25 N. C. 111.

Where the charge against the defendant is disturbing a congregation actually engaged in divine worship, it is variance to show merely the disturbance of parties assembled for such worship. State v. Bryson, 82 N. C. 576.

§ 4416. Detectives going armed in a body.—If any body of men composed of more than three persons, calling themselves detectives or claiming to be in the employ of any detective agency or known and designated as detectives, shall go armed, they shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3703; 1893, c. 191.)

§ 4416(a). Impersonation of peace officers.—It shall be unlawful for any person other than duly authorized peace officers or officers of the court to represent to any person that they are duly authorized peace officers, and acting upon such representation to arrest any person, search any building, or in any way impersonate a peace officer or act in accordance with the authority delegated to duly authorized peace officers. That nothing in this act shall be construed to prohibit a private citizen in whose presence a felony has been committed from arresting such person or persons participating in the commission of said felony when such arrest is deemed necessary, or to prohibit any private citizen in whose presence an act, which would constitute a breach of the peace and for which an indictment would lie, is committed from arresting such person or persons committing said breach of the peace when such arrest is deemed necessary. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction may be fined or imprisoned at the discretion of the court. (1927, c. 229.)

SUBCHAPTER 11. OFFENSES AGAINST THE PUBLIC SAFETY

Art. 33. Offenses against the Public Safety

§ 4417. Malicious injury of property of railroads and other carriers; causing death or other physical injury thereby.—If any person shall willfully and maliciously put or place any matter or thing upon, over or near any railroad track; or shall willfully and maliciousy destroy, injure or remove the road-bed, or any part thereof, or any rail, sill or other part of the fixture appurtenant to or constituting or supporting any portion of the track of such railroad; or shall willfully and maliciously do any other thing with intent to obstruct, stop, hinder, delay or displace the cars traveling on such road, or to stop, hinder or delay the passengers or others passing over the same; or shall wilfully and maliciously injure the road-bed or the fixtures aforesaid, or any part thereof, with any other intent whatsoever, such person so offending shall be guilty of a felony and shall be fined not exceeding one thousand dollars nor less than two hundred dollars, and be imprisoned in the state's prison or county jail not less than four months nor more than ten years, and shall be committed to jail till he find surety for his good behavior, for a space of time of not less than three nor more than seven years. If it shall happen that by reason of the commission of the offenses aforesaid, or any of them, any engine or car shall be displaced from the track, or shall be stopped, hindered or delayed, so that any one thereby be instantly killed, or so wounded or hurt as to die therefrom in twelve calendar months thereafter, or shall thereby be maimed or be disabled in the use of any limb or member, then, and in every such case, the party so offending, his counselors, aiders and abettors, on conviction, shall suffer death, if the person is killed, and shall be imprisoned in the state's prison not less than five nor more than sixty years if the person is maimed or disabled. If any person shall maliciously destroy or injure any plank-road, turnpike or canal, or any appurtenance or fixture belonging thereto or used therewith, or shall maliciously destroy or injure any lock, dam or sluice, the same being a part of any work erected or made for the purpose of navigation, or improving the navigation, of any water, the person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall suffer the like punishment as in this section is provided for maliciously injuring a railroad. (Rev., s. 3754; Code, s. 1098; R. C., c. 34, ss. 99, 100; 1838, c. 38; 1879, c. 255, s. 2; 1911, c. 200.)

§ 4418. Injuring without malice property of railroads and other carriers; causing death or other physical injury thereby.—If any person, unlawfully and on purpose, but without malice, shall commit any of the offenses mentioned in the preceding section, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. If it shall happen that by reason of the commission of any such offense any person shall be instantly killed, or so wounded or hurt as to die therefrom in twelve calendar months thereafter, or shall thereby be maimed or disabled in the use of any limb or member, then, and in every such case, the party so offending, his counselors, aiders and abettors, shall be imprisoned not less than twelve months, and fined at the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3755; Code, s. 1099; R. C., c. 34, s. 101.)

§ 4419. Shooting or throwing at trains or passengers.—If any person shall willfully and unlawfully cast, throw or shoot any stone, rock, bullet, shot, pellet or other missile at, against, or into any railroad car, locomotive or train, or any person thereon, while such car or locomotive shall be in progress from one station to another, or while such car, locomotive or train shall be stopped for any purpose, the person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by fine or imprisonment in the county jail or state's prison, at the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3763; Code, s. 1100; 1887, c. 19; 1876-7, c. 4; 1911, c. 179.)

Intent a Question for Jury.—Where a defendant was indicted, for shooting at a train, with intent to injure it, and there was evidence tending to show that he was helplessly drunk at the time, the court properly left the question of intent to the jury, and it was for them to say whether the presumption had been rebutted. State v. Barbee, 92 N. C. 820.

Proof that Gun was Loaded Unnecessary. — If a gun be unloaded and this is relied on as a defense, in an action for shooting at a train, the fact must be shown by the defendant. State v. Hinson, 82 N. C. 597.

Proof of Conspiracy.—Upon trial for throwing stones at a train, it is not necessary to show a conspiracy, it appearing that the several defendants were not only present, but threw stones at different coaches of the same train. State v. Holder, 153 N. C. 606, 69 S. E. 66.

The Indictment.—Upon a trial for throwing stones at a train, a charge in the bill that it was done "from one station to another" follows the form set out in the statute, and is not void for vagueness and uncertainty. It is not necessary that the indictment contain the word "feloniously." State v. Holder, 153 N. C. 606, 69 S. E. 66.

But it must, charge that the train was in actual motion or stopped for a temporary purpose. State v. Boyd, 86 N. C. 634.

§ 4420. Operating trains and street cars while intoxicated.—Any train dispatcher, telegraph operator, engineer, fireman, flagman, brakeman, switchman, conductor, motorman, or other employee of any steam, street, suburban or interurban railway company, who shall be intoxicated while engaged in running or operating, or assisting in running or operating, any railway train, shifting-engine, or street or other electric car, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3758; Code, s. 1927; 1891, c. 114; 1871-2, c. 138, s. 38; 1907, c. 330.)

§ 4421. Displaying false lights on seashore.—If any person shall make or display, or cause to be made or displayed, any false light or beacon on or near the seacoast, for the purpose of deceiving and misleading masters of vessels, and thereby putting them in danger of shipwreck, he shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be imprisoned in the state's prison for not less than four months nor more than ten years. (Rev., s. 3430; Code, s. 1024; R. C., c. 34, s. 58; 1831, c. 42.)

§ 4422. Local: Building unguarded barbed-wire fences along public highways.—If any person shall erect or maintain a barbed-wire fence along any public road or highway, and within ten yards thereof, without putting a railing, smooth wire, board or plank on the top of such fence not less than three inches in width, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined or imprisoned at the discretion of the court. This section shall apply to the counties of Rowan, Swain, Catawba, Greene, Richmond, Stokes, Rutherford, Forsyth, Yadkin, Brunswick, Durham, Wilkes, Stanly, Cumberland, Iredell, Macon and Mitchell: Provided, that in Rutherford county only a railing or plank shall be used at the top of such fence. (Rev., s. 3769; 1895, c. 65; 1899, c. 43; 1899, c. 225; 1905, c. 220; 1909, cc. 318, 604, 629, 810.)

As to fences generally, see 6 Enc. Dig. 440 et seq.; 14 Enc. Dig. 213 et seq.

Barbed Wire on Top of Board Fence.—A board fence with barbed wire on top comes within the mischief at which this section is directed. State v. Thomas, 149 N. C. 565, 63 S. E. 166.

Cited in Winkler v. Carolina, etc., R. Co., 126 N. C. 370, 35 S. E. 621.

§ 4423. Exploding dynamite cartridges and bombs.—If any person shall fire off or explode, or cause to be fired off or exploded, except for mechanical purposes in a legitimate business, any dynamite cartridge, bomb or other explosive of a like nature, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3794; 1887, c. 364, s. 53.)

As to explosives generally, see 6 N. C. Dig. 334 et seq.; 14 Enc. Dig. 187, et seq.

§ 4424. Storing explosives near causeway on Eagle's island.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to erect or keep any magazine or other building for the storage of gunpowder, dynamite or other explosives within one hundred yards of the road or causeway on Eagle's island between the Cape Fear and Brunswick rivers: Provided, however, that this section shall not apply to warehouses for the storage of spirits of turpentine, rosin and tar. Any person, firm or corporation violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars, or be imprisoned thirty days, or both, in the discretion of the court. (1907, c. 768.)

§ 4425. Keeping for sale or selling explosives without a license.—If any dealer or other person shall sell or keep for sale any dynamite cartridges, bombs or other combustibles of a like kind, without first having obtained from the board of commissioners of the county where such person or dealer resides a license for that purpose, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3817; 1887, c. 364, ss. 1, 4.)

§ 4426. Failing to enclose marl beds.—If any person shall open any marl bed without surrounding it with a lawful fence, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days: Provided, this shall not apply to any person whose marl bed is situated inside his own inclosure. (Rev., s. 3796; 1887, cc. 235, 268.)

§ 4426(a). False fire alarms, giving.—It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to wantonly and willfully give or cause to be given, or to advise, counsel, or aid and abet any one in giving a false alarm of fire, or to break the glass key protector, or to pull the slide, arm, or lever of any station or signal box of any municipal fire alarm system, except in case of fire, or in any way to willfully interfere with, damage, deface, molest, or injure any part or portion of the fire alarm system of any municipality. Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court. (1921, c. 46.)

§ 4426(b). Local: Fireworks in Lee County.—It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to discharge, or have discharged, or use for any purpose whatsoever, fireworks in Lee County. It shall also be unlawful for any person or corporation to keep, store, sell, or offer for sale any form or style of fireworks in Lee county. The term "fireworks" as used in this section shall apply to and include all such articles, contrivances, and arrangements generally or commonly known as fireworks, and shall specially include sparklers and like methods of fire display and mechanical appliances of any kind made for the discharge of blank cartridges of any calibre or of torpedoes. The mayor or chief of police in any incorporated city or town in Lee county, and the sheriff, where there is no mayor or chief of police, is hereby given authority to confiscate and destroy any stock or fireworks found in violation of this section. Each day such fireworks are kept or stored in violation of this section shall constitute a separate offense. The penalty for the discharge of or the causing to be discharged of any form of fireworks, or for the storing or keeping, selling or offering for sale, any fireworks shall be fifty dollars, the same to be paid into the general school fund. (1921, c. 84.)

§ 4426(c). Leaving unused well open and exposed.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, after discounting the use of any well, to leave said well open and exposed; said well, after the use of same has been discontinued, shall be carefully and securely filled: Provided, that this shall not apply to wells on farms that are protected by curbing or board walls. Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned, in the discretion of the court. (1923, c. 125.)

Editor's Note.—This section is said to be a sensible regulation in 1 N. C. Law Rev. 300.

§ 4426(d). Unlawful to pollute any bottles used for beverages.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation having custody for the purpose of sale, distribution or manufacture of any beverage bottle, to place, cause or permit to be placed therein turpentine, varnish, wood alcohol, bleaching water, bluing, kerosene, oils, or any unclean or foul substance, or other offensive material, or send, ship, return and deliver or cause or permit to be sent, shipped, returned or delivered to any producer of beverages, any bottle used as a container for beverages, and containing any turpentine, varnish, wood alcohol, bleaching water, bluing, kerosene, oils, or any unclean or foul substance, or other offensive material, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined on the first offense, one dollar for each bottle so defiled, and for any subsequent offense by a fine of not more than ten dollars for each bottle so defiled. (1929, c. 324, s. 1.)

SUBCHAPTER 12. GENERAL POLICE REGULATIONS

Art. 34. Lotteries and Gaming

§ 4427. Advertising lotteries.—If any one, by writing or printing or by circular or letter or in any other way, advertise or publish an account of a lottery, whether within or without this state, stating how, when or where the same is to be or has been drawn, or what are the prizes therein or any of them, or the price of a ticket or any share or interest therein, or where or how it may be obtained, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3725; 1887, c. 211.)

As to lotteries generally, see 8 Enc. Dig. 946 et seq.; 14 Enc. Dig. 71 et seq. See, also, the discussion in 5 N. C. L. R. 31.

§ 4428. Dealing in lotteries.—If any person shall open, set on foot, carry on, promote, make or draw publicly or privately, a lottery, by whatever name, style or title the same may be denominated or known; or if any person, by such way and means, expose or set to sale any house, real estate, goods, chattels, cash, written evidence of debt, certificates of claims or any other thing of value whatsoever, every person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not exceeding two thousand dollars or imprisoned not exceeding six months, or both, in the discretion of the court. Any person who engages in disposing of any species of property whatsoever, including money and evidences of debt, or in any manner distributes gifts or prizes upon tickets or certificates sold for that purpose, shall be held liable to prosecution under this section. Any person who shall have in his possession any tickets, certificates or orders used in the operation of any lottery shall be held liable under this section, and the mere possession of such tickets shall be prima facie evidence of the violation of this section. (Rev., s. 3726; Code, s. 1047; R. C., c. 34, s. 69; 1834, c. 19, s. 1; 1874-5, c. 96; 1933, c. 434.)

As to criminal responsibility for lotteries, see 8 Enc. Dig. 946 et seq.

Editor's Note.—Public Laws of 1933, c. 434, added the last sentence of this section, relating to possession of tickets, certificates, etc.

In General.—A lottery may be defined as any scheme for the distribution of prizes, by lot or chance, by which one, on paying money or giving any other thing of value to another, obtains a token which entitles him to receive a larger or smaller value, or nothing, as some formula of chance may determine. State v. Lipkin, 169 N. C. 265, 84 S. E. 340. Statutes, such as this section, regulating such schemes violate neither the State nor Federal Constitution. Mfg. Co. v. Benjamin, 172 N. C. 53, 89 S. E. 797; State v. Lipkin, 169 N. C. 265, 84 S. E. 340. They are remedial and should be liberally construed. And the fact that the device is an advertising scheme of an otherwise legitimately run business concern does not prevent the section from applying. Id. See also State v. Lumsden, 89 N. C. 572.

Amendment of 1933 Is Valid.—The 1933 amendment to this section which makes the possession of tickets, etc., used in the operation of a lottery prima facie evidence of violation of the section, is constitutional and valid, the presumption being a rational one. State v. Fowler, 205 N. C. 608, 172 S. E. 191.

Note for Lottery Contract.—Notes given in pursuance of a contract prohibited by this section are for an illegal consideration, and collection thereof is not enforcible in our courts. Brevard Mfg. Co. v. Benjamin & Sons, 172 N. C. 53, 89 S. E. 797.

Surety to Lottery Contract.—A bond guaranteeing the performance of a "trade expansion contract" which is contrary to this section, is as unenforcible against the surety thereon as the contract upon which it is founded. Basnight v. American Mfg. Co., 174 N. C. 206, 93 S. E. 734.

Lottery Privilege Not a Contract.—A right, conferred in the charter of a corporation, to dispose of property by means of lottery tickets, is not a contract between the corporation and the state, but a mere privilege or license, and is revocable at will by the legislative power. State v. Morris, 77 N. C. 512.

Purchaser Not Included.—This section does not embrace persons who buy lottery tickets. State v. Bryant, 74 N. C. 207, 209.

Admissibility of Evidence.—In establishing the promotion of the lottery by circumstantial evidence it was permissible for the State to show the association of the defendants together with their financial relation and transactions. The declaration of one defendant as to the other's participation in the enterprise and as to their protection if they were caught was also competent. State v. Ingram, 204 N. C. 557, 559, 168 S. E. 837.

§ 4429. Selling lottery tickets and acting as agent for lotteries.—If any person shall sell, barter or otherwise dispose of any lottery ticket or order for any number or shares in any lottery, or shall in anywise be concerned in such lottery, by acting as agent in the state for or on behalf of any such lottery, to be drawn or paid either out of or within the state, such person shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished as provided for in the preceding section. (Rev., s. 3727; Code, s. 1048; R. C., c. 34, s. 70; 1834, c. 19, s. 2.)

Cited in concurring opinion of C. J. Stacy in State v. Yarboro, 194 N. C. 498, 506.

§ 4430. Gambling.—If any person play at any game of chance at which any money, property or other thing of value is bet, whether the same be in stake or not, both those who play and those who bet thereon shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3715; 1891, c. 29.)

As to gambling generally, see 6 Enc. Dig. 797 et seq.; 14 Enc. Dig. 264; as to gaming contracts, see section 2142 et seq.

See 11 N. C. Law Rev., 248, for reference to acts legalizing pari-mutuel race track betting.

In General.—Betting is essential to the offense, playing without betting is not indictable. State v. Brannen, 53 N. C. 208. The section does not apply to prizes given for skill—here there is no betting. State v. Deboy, 117 N. C. 702, 23 S. E. 167. Tenpins is not a game of chance. State v. King, 133 N. C. 631, 18 S. E. 169.

All who engage in gambling are principals. State v. Deboy, 117 N. C. 702, 23 S. E. 167. A defendant may be indicted for keeping a gaming house and playing for money, without misjoinder. State v. Morgan, 133 N. C. 743, 45 S. E. 1033.

Calling Transaction a Raffle.—Where several parties each put up a piece of money and then decide, by throwing dice, who shall have the aggregate sum or "pool," the game is one of chance and the fact that the aggregate sum so put up is exchanged for a turkey and the transaction is denominated a "raffle" does not change the character of the game. State v. DeBoy, 117 N. C. 702, 23 S. E. 167.

Ordinances as to Gambling Void.—Gambling being an offence under the general law of a city ordinance covering the same subject is void. State v. McCoy, 116 N. C. 1059, 21 S. E. 690.

Sufficiency of Indictment.—An indictment charging defendant with keeping and maintaining a gaming house is sufficient, though it is not alleged that the games played there were games of chance, or that they were played at a place or tables where games of chance were played. State v. Morgan, 133 N. C. 743, 45 S. E. 1033.

§ 4431. Allowing gambling in houses of public entertainment; duty of police officers; penalty.—If any keeper of an ordinary or other house of entertainment, or of a house wherein liquors are retailed, shall knowingly suffer any game, at which money or property, or anything of value, is bet, whether the same be in stake or not, to be played in any such house, or in any part of the premises occupied therewith; or shall furnish persons so playing or betting either on said premises or elsewhere with drink or other thing for their comfort or subsistence during the time of play, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars and be imprisoned not less than six months. Any person who shall be convicted under this section shall, upon such conviction, forfeit his license to do any of the businesses mentioned in this section, and shall be forever debarred from doing any of such businesses in this state. The court shall embody in its judgment that such person has forfeited his license, and no board of county commissioners, board of town commissioners or board of aldermen shall thereafter have power or authority to grant to such convicted person or his agent a license to do any of the businesses mentioned herein. It shall be the duty of every police officer of the cities, towns and villages of this state to make diligent inquiry and to exercise constant watchfulness to discover whether any of the offenses enumerated in this section are being committed, and to report once a week under oath to the mayor or other chief officer of his city, town or village, whether such offenses are being committed, and all the facts within his knowledge, or of which he has information relating thereto. If any such police officer shall know or have information that such offenses are being committed and shall fail or neglect to report the same to such mayor or other chief officer, together with all the information known to him, as to the person or persons committing the same, the time and place of the commission and the names of the witnesses thereto, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court, and shall forfeit his office. It shall be the duty of such mayor or other chief officer to require the report herein provided for, and to require that the same shall be verified by the oath of such policeman, and if it appear upon such report that any of the said offenses have been committed, it shall be the duty of such mayor or other chief officer to issue his warrant for the arrest of the offender. Any such mayor or other chief officer of any city, town or village who shall fail or neglect to require the reports herein mentioned, or shall fail or neglect to require of such police officer to verify the same upon oath, or who shall refuse or neglect, upon its appearing from such report that there is probable cause to believe that any of the said offenses have been committed, to issue his warrant for the arrest of the offender, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Any person committing any of the offenses mentioned in this section shall be liable to a penalty of five hundred dollars, to be recovered by suit in the superior court in the county in which such offense may have been committed, one-half thereof to the use of the person bringing such suit and one-half to the school fund for the county. (Rev., s. 3716; Code, s. 1043; 1901, c. 753; R. C., c. 34, s. 76; 1799, c. 526; 1801, c. 581; 1831, c. 26.)

Gambling in Leased Room of Tavern.—Where it appeared that the room, in which the game took place, was a part of the house in which the tavern was kept, but had been leased and was not under the control of the landlord, it was held that the defendants could not be convicted under this section. State v. Keisler, 51 N. C. 73.

Houses Where Liquor Was Retailed.—For case under this provision, see State v. Terry, 20 N. C. 325.

Excessive Punishment.—For the violation of this section a fine of two thousand dollars and imprisonment for thirty days, and thereafter until the fine and costs were paid, was held not excessive punishment. State v. Miller, 94 N. C. 904.

§ 4432. Gambling with faro-banks and tables.— If any person shall open, establish, use or keep a faro-bank, or a faro-table, with the intent that games of chance may be played thereat, or shall play or bet thereat any money, property or other thing of value, whether the same be in stake or not, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined at least two hundred dollars and imprisoned not less than three months. (Rev., s. 3717; Code, s. 1044; R. C., c. 71; 1848, c. 34; 1856-7, c. 25.)

Cited in State v. Norwood, 94 N. C. 935.

§ 4433. Keeping gaming tables, illegal punch boards or slot machines, or betting thereat.—If any person shall establish, use or keep any gaming table (other than a faro-bank), by whatever name such table may be called, an illegal punch board or an illegal slot machine, at which games of chance shall be played, he shall on conviction thereof be fined not less than two hundred dollars and shall be imprisoned not less than thirty days; and every person who shall play thereat or thereat bet any money, property or other thing of value, whether the same be in stake or not, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not less than ten dollars. (Rev., s. 3718; Code, s. 1045; R. C., c. 34, s. 72; 1791, c. 336; 1798, c. 502, s. 2; 1931, c. 14, s. 2.)

See notes to §§ 4430, 4433(a).

The Indictment.—An indictment under this section is good, without any averment that the act was done "willfully and unlawfully" or that games of chance were played at such table for money or other property. State v. Howe, 100 N. C. 449, 5 S. E. 671.

But a bill of indictment which does not charge that the game played was one of chance, and that it was played at a place or table where games of chance are played, will be quashed. State v. Norwood, 94 N. C. 935.

Evidence Admissible.—Where defendants admit keeping gaming tables, evidence may be admitted tending to show they were continuously present at the place and tending to show their large share in the receipts of these tables. State v. Galloway, 188 N. C. 416, 124 S. E. 745.

§ 4433(a). Illegal slot machines and punchboards defined. — An illegal slot machine or punchboard is defined as one that shall not produce for or give to the person who places coin or money or the representative of either, the same return in market value each and every time such machine is operated by placing money or coin or the representative of either therein. (1931, c. 14, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The Act from which this section was taken amended sections 4433-4435 to make them applicable to illegal slot machines and punch boards. The Act expressly provided that it should not have the effect of modifying in any way sections 4437(a)-4437(c) and should be construed as supplemental to that act.

§ 4434. Allowing gaming tables, illegal punch boards or slot machines on premises. — If any person shall knowingly suffer to be opened, kept or used in his house or on any part of the premises occupied therewith, any of the gaming tables by this article prohibited, or any illegal punch board or illegal slot machine, he shall forfeit and pay to any one who will sue therefor two hundred dollars, and shall also be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined and imprisoned. (Rev., s. 3719; Code, s. 1046; R. C., c. 34, s. 73; 1798, c. 502, s. 3; 1800, c. 5, s. 2; 1931, c. 14, s. 3.)

See note to § 4433(a).

§ 4435. Gaming tables, illegal punch boards and slot machines to be destroyed by justices and police officers. — All justices of the peace, sheriffs, constables and officers of police are hereby authorized and directed, on information made to them on oath that any gaming table prohibited to be used by this article, or any illegal punch board or illegal slot machine is in the possession or use of any person within the limits of their jurisdiction, to destroy the same by every means in their power; and they shall call to their aid all the good citizens of the county, if necessary, to effect its destruction. (Rev., s. 3720; Code, s. 1049; R. C., c. 34, s. 74; 1791, c. 336; 1798, c. 502, s. 2; 1931, c. 14, s. 4.)

§ 4436. Property exhibited by gamblers to be seized; disposition of same.—All moneys or other property or thing of value exhibited for the purpose of alluring persons to bet on any game shall be liable to be seized by any justice of the peace, or by any person acting under his warrant. Of the moneys or other property or thing which shall be so seized one-half shall belong to the person seizing them, and the other half shall go to the use of the poor. § 4437. Opposing destruction of gaming tables and seizure of property.—If any person shall oppose the destruction of any prohibited gaming table, or the seizure of any moneys, property or other thing staked on forbidden games, or shall take and carry away the same or any part thereof after seizure, he shall forfeit and pay to the person so opposed one thousand dollars, for the use of the state and the person so opposed, and shall, moreover, be guilty of a misdemeanor. § 4437(a). Operation or possession of slot machine; separate offenses.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to operate, keep in his possession or in the possession of any other person, firm or corporation, for the purpose of being operated, any slot machine that shall not produce for or give to the person who places coin or money, or the representative of either, the same return in market value each and every time such machine is operated by placing money or coin or the representative of either therein. Each time said machine is operated as aforesaid shall constitute a separate offense. (1923, c. 138, ss. 1, 2.)

See § 4433(a) and note thereto.

Editor's Note.—It was said in 1 N. C. Law Rev. 285, that "the interesting part of the statute is the definition of unlawful machine or device as one that does not produce for or give to the person operating, playing or patronizing the machine or device 'the same return in market value each and every time such machine or device is operated or patronized by paying money or other thing of value.' The act seems to cover all possible gambling devices not already covered by the lottery provisions of the Consolidated Statutes."

Value Required to Be Given.—Under this section, a slot machine so operated that one putting into it a coin receives, in any event, the value of such coin in chewing gum, and stands to win by chance additional chewing gum or discs of commercial value without further payment, is condemned by the statute as being unlawful. But if the slot machine were so operated that one who puts in a coin receives the same return in market value each and every time such machine is operated, it would not then fall within the condemnation of the statute. State v. May, 188 N. C. 470, 471. 125 S. E. 9.

License of Lawful Machines Only.—The State license issued for the operation of a slot machine is for one that is lawful, and does not permit the operation of one so devised as to give to the one who happens to strike certain mechanical combinations more of the merchandise than received at other times. State v. May, 188 N. C. 470, 125 S. E. 9.

Sufficiency of Indictment.—An indictment charging that the defendant "unlawfully and wilfully did operate a lottery, to wit, a slot machine (chapter 138, Public Laws 1923) against the form of the statute," etc., is insufficient because it fails to inform the accused of the specific offense or the necessary ingredience thereof, notwithstanding the statute is cited. State v. Ballangee, 191 N. C. 700, 701, 132 S. E. 795.

§ 4437(b). Punch-boards, vending machines, and other gambling devices; separate offenses.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to operate or keep in his possession, or the possession of any other person, firm or corporation, for the purpose of being operated, any punch-board, machine for vending merchandise, or other gambling device, by whatsoever name known or called, that shall not produce for or give to the person operating, playing or patronizing same, whether personally or through another, by paying money or other thing of value for the privilege of operating, playing or patronizing same, whether through himself or another, the same return in market value, each and every time such punch-board, machine for vending merchandise, or other gambling device, by whatsoever name known or called, is operated, played or patronized by paying of money or other thing of value for the privilege thereof. Each time said punch-board, machine for vending merchandise, or other gambling device, by whatsoever name known or called, is operated, played or patronized by the paying of money or other thing of value therefor, shall constitute a separate violation of this section as to operation thereunder. (1923, c. 138, ss. 3, 4.)

See § 4433(a) and note thereto.

§ 4437(c). Violation of two preceding sections a misdemeanor.—Violation of any of the provisions of the two preceding sections shall be a misdemeanor punishable by a fine or imprisonment, or, in the discretion of the court, by both. (1923, c. 138, s. 5.)

§ 4437(d). Slot machines or devices prohibited.—It shall be unlawful to manufacture, own, store, keep, possess, sell, rent, lease, let on shares, lend or give away, transport, or expose for sale or lease, or to offer to sell, rent, lease, let on shares, lend or give away, or to permit the operation of, or for any person to permit to be placed, maintained, used or kept in any room, space or building owned, leased or occupied by him or under his management or control, any slot machine or device as hereinafter defined. (1935, c. 37, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—Section 8 of chapter 37, Public Laws 1935, from whence this section is derived, as amended by chapter 85, Public Laws 1935, provides: "This law shall be in full force and effect from and after its ratification: Provided however, that the possession of the machines or devices herein declared unlawful shall not become unlawful until May first, one thousand nine hundred thirty-five, it being the purpose of this amendment to permit the present owner and/or operators of the said machines until May first, one thousand nine hundred thirty-five, to dispose of the said machines."

§ 4437(e). Agreements concerning slot machines or devices prohibited.—It shall be unlawful to make or permit to be made with any person any agreement with reference to any slot machine or device, as hereinafter defined, pursuant to which the user thereof, as a result of any element of chance or other outcome unpredictable to him, may become entitled to receive any money, credit, allowance, or thing of value or additional chance or right to use such machines or device, or to receive any check, slug, token or memorandum entitling the holder to receive any money, credit, allowance or thing of value. (1935, c. 37, s. 2.)

§ 4437(f). Slot machine or device defined. — Any machine, apparatus or device is a slot machine or device within the provisions of this law if it is one that is adapted, or may readily be converted into one that is adapted, for use in such a way that, as a result of the insertion of any piece of money or coin or other object, such machine or device is caused to operate or may be operated, and by reason of any element of chance or of other outcome of such operation unpredictable by him the user may receive or become entitled to receive any piece of money, credit, allowance or thing of value, or any check, slug, token or memorandum, whether of value or otherwise, which may be exchanged for any money, credit, allowance or thing of value, or which may be given in trade, or the user may secure additional chances or rights to use such machine, apparatus or device; irrespective of whether it may, apart from any element of chance or unpredictable outcome of such operation, also sell, deliver or present some merchandise, indication or weight, entertainment or other thing of value. (1935, c. 37, s. 3.)

§ 4437(g). No tax to be levied on prohibited machines.—Neither the State, nor any county or municipality in the state shall levy or collect any license or other tax on machines or devices, the ownership or operation of which is herein prohibited. (1935, c. 37, s. 4.)

§ 4437(h). Machine declared nuisance. — Any article or apparatus maintained or kept in violation of this law is a public nuisance. (1935, c. 37, s. 5.)

§ 4437(i). Violation made misdemeanor. — Any person who violates any provision of this law [§§ 4437(d) et seq.] is guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (1935, c. 37, s. 6.)

§ 4437(j). Slot machines or devices prohibited.—It shall be unlawful to manufacture, own, store, keep, possess, sell, rent, lease, let on shares, lend or give away, transport, except transporting into or from the state, or expose for sale or lease, or to offer to sell, except where sale is made for delivery without the state, rent, lease, let on shares, lend or give away, or to permit the operation of, or for any person to permit to be placed, maintained, used or kept in any room, space or building owned, leased or occupied by him or under his management or control, any slot machine or device except as hereinafter defined. (1935, c. 282, s. 1.)

§ 4437(k). Agreements concerning slot machines or devices prohibited.—It shall be unlawful to make or permit to be made with any person any agreement with reference to any slot machine or device, except as hereinafter permitted, pursuant to which the user thereof, as a result of any element of chance over which the operator may not have any control, or the outcome unpredictable to him, may become entitled to receive any money, credit, allowance, or thing of value or additional chance or right to use such machines or device, or to receive any checks, slug, token or memorandum entitling the holder to receive any money, credit, allowance or thing of value. (1935, c. 282, s. 2.)

§ 4437(l). Slot machine or device defined.—Any machine, apparatus or device is a slot machine or device prohibited by the provisions of this law if it is one that is adapted for use in such a way that, as a result of the insertion of any piece of money or coin or other object, such machine or device is caused to operate or may be operated, and by reason of any element of chance over which the operator cannot have any control over the outcome of the operation of such machine or device each and every time the same is operated, or to the operator the outcome of each separate operation of such machine or device is unpredictable in advance of each and every operation of such machine or device, may receive or become entitled to receive any piece of money, credit, allowance or thing of value, or any check, slug, token or memorandum, whether of value, except as herein permitted, which may be exchanged for any money, credit, or thing of value or allowance, or which may be given in trade or the user may secure additional chances or rights to use such machine, apparatus or device, irrespective of whether it may, apart from any element of chance over which the user may not have any control over the outcome of the operation or where the definite outcome of each separate operation of such machine or device is not predictable to the user in advance, or the outcome of such operation is not dependent in whole or in part upon skill and practice of the operator, also sell, deliver, or present some merchandise, indication, or weight, entertainment or other thing of value. (1935, c. 282, s. 3.)

§ 4437(m). Minors barred from playing. — No person who has charge of the supervision of such coin operated devices shall permit any person under the age of eighteen (18) years to engage in the operation of such devices unless such person be accompanied by a parent or other person in loco parentis who, being present, sanctions such play. (1935, c. 282, s. 4.)

§ 4437(n). Violation made misdemeanor.—Any person, firm or corporation owning, operating, leasing, or displaying with the intent to lease or operate any coin operated machine or device in violation of any of the provisions of this law [§§ 4437(j) et seq.] shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not less than twenty-five ($25.00) dollars nor more than two hundred ($200.00) dollars, and each and every operation of any device prohibited by this law shall be deemed a separate and distinct offense. (1935, c. 282, s. 5.)

§ 4437(o). Proprietor of place where machine located deemed operator. — For the purposes of this law, the proprietor of any place of business in which any coin operated machine may be found shall be deemed the operator thereof for the purpose of enforcing the penalties herein provided. (1935, c. 282, s. 6.)

§ 4437(p). Machine declared nuisance. — Any article or apparatus contained or kept in violation of any provision of this law is a public nuisance. (1935, c. 282, s. 7.)

Dance marathon and walkathons prohibited.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, association or corporation to promote, advertise or conduct any marathon dance contests, walkathon contests and/or similar endurance contests, by whatever name called, of walking or dancing, and it shall be unlawful for any person to participate in any marathon dance contest, walkathon contest, and/or similar physical endurance contest by walking and dancing continuing or intended to continue for a period of more than eight consecutive hours, whether or not an admission is charged and/or a prize awarded, and it shall be unlawful for any person to participate in more than one such contest or performance within any period of forty-eight hours. (1935, c. 13, s. 3.)

Art. 35. Protection of Minors

§ 4438. Selling cigarettes to minors.—If any person shall sell, give away or otherwise dispose of, directly or indirectly, cigarettes, or tobacco in the form of cigarettes, or cut tobacco in any form or shape which may be used or intended to be used as a substitute for cigarettes, to any minor under the age of seventeen years; or if any person shall aid, assist or abet any other person in selling such articles to such minor, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by fine or imprisonment in the discretion of the court. age of eighteen years. (Rev., s. 3355; Code, s. 970; 1868-9, c. 209, s. 1; 1873-4, c. 176, s. 10; 1879, c. 92; 1925, c. 290.)

Cross Reference.—As to competency of wife's testimony upon trial of husband for abandonment of minor children, see § 1802 and the note thereto.

As to abandonment of family by husband generally, see 7 Enc. Dig. 441 et seq.; 14 Enc. Dig. 385 et seq.

Editor's Note.—The latter part of this section, providing that the abandonment shall be a continuing offense until the youngest child should arrive at the age of eighteen years and barring the running of the statute of limitation until that time was added by Public Laws 1925, ch. 290.

Two Offenses Created.—The placing of a comma after the words "such wife," in this section, evinces the legislative intent to create two offenses, the one, the willful abandonment of the wife, and the other, the willful abandonment by the father of his children of the marriage; especially when construed in connection with section 4450, making it a misdemeanor for the husband to "willfully neglect to provide adequate support for his wife and the child or children which he has begotten by her." State v. Bell, 184 N. C. 701, 115 S. E. 190.

Construed with § 4450.—Where the husband has been convicted of wilfully abandoning his wife and minor children (under this section); and, secondly, of wilfully failing to support them (§ 4450), an order suspending judgment upon the second count, to take effect, however, upon the defendant's failure to comply with the order for support under this first one, is not objectionable as being conditional or alternative. State v. Vickers, 196 N. C. 239, 145 S. E. 175.

The Indictment.—An indictment against a husband for abandoning his wife must aver his failure to support her. State v. May, 132 N. C. 1020, 43 S. E. 819.

Abandonment Must Be Willful.—The willful abandonment of the wife is an essential element of the offense made criminal by this section, and this, the prosecutrix is required to show beyond a reasonable doubt. State v. Falkner, 182 N. C. 793, 108 S. E. 756; State v. Smith, 164 N. C. 475, 79 S. E. 979.

But there is no reversible error in the charge of the court for omitting the word "willful" in one part thereof when he has elsewhere repeatedly instructed the jury that in order to convict the abandonment must have been willful, which must be proved beyond a reasonable doubt. State v. Taylor, 175 N. C. 833, 96 S. E. 22.

Where the defendant is indicted under this section for failure to provide adequate support for his minor children, and in the prosecution of the action the evidence tends to show that the defendant and his wife were living apart and that he had not provided any support for his minor children for some time, and that a judgment had been entered in a civil action by the wife awarding all his personalty except his personal belongings, and that he had transferred his realty to his daughter for the support of the wife and minor children, there is no presumption of wilfulness from the failure to provide adequate support under § 4448, and an instruction that leaves out this essential element of the crime will be held for reversible error. State v. Roberts, 197 N. C. 662, 150 S. E. 199.

The word "willfully" as used in § 276(a) is used with the same import as in this section. State v. Cook, 207 N. C. 261, 262, 176 S. E. 757.

Providing for Support. — It is within the discretion of the trial judge to provide for the support of the wife and the minor children of the marriage from the property or labor of the husband upon his conviction of wilfully abandoning them (§§ 4447, 4449), and, Held, in this case an order that he pay a certain sum of money into the clerk's office monthly for this purpose, and secure compliance therewith by executing a bond in the sum of one thousand dollars come within the provisions of the statute. State v. Vickers, 196 N. C. 239, 145 S. E. 175.

Where the husband has been convicted of abandoning his wife and minor children, the order of the judge providing for their support should be definite in providing for the contingencies that may arise, such as the coming of age of the children, etc., and should state what part thereof is for the support of the wife and what part is for the support of the children; and an order requiring the defendant to pay a certain sum monthly into the office of the clerk of the Superior Court, under a bond of the defendant to secure compliance, without further provisions, will be remanded so that a more definite order be given in the judgment of the lower court. State v. Vickers, 196 N. C. 239, 145 S. E. 175.

Both Abandonment and Non-Support Must Be Proved.—Both the fact of willful abandonment and that of failure to support must be alleged and proved, the abandonment, being a single act and not a continuing offense, day by day, but the duty to support being a continuing one during the marital union, to be performed by him unless relieved therefrom by legal excuse; and his willful abandonment and failure to provide constitutes the statutory offense. State v. Beam, 181 N. C. 597, 107 S. E. 429.

In State v. Johnson, 194 N. C. 378, 139 S. E. 697, it was said: "An offending husband may be convicted of abandonment and nonsupport when—and only when—two things are established: First, a wilful abandonment of the wife; and, second, a failure to provide 'adequate support for such wife, and the children which he may have begotten upon her.' S. v. Toney, 162 N. C. 635, 788 S. E. 156; S. v. Hopkins, 130 N. C. 647, 40 S. E. 973. The abandonment must be wilful, that is, without just cause, excuse or justification. S. v. Smith, 164 N. C. 475, 79 S. E. 979. And both ingredients of the crime must be alleged and proved. S. v. May, 132 N. C. 1020, 1021, 43 S. E. 819." State v. Yelverton, 196 N. C. 64, 65, 144 S. E. 534.

Good Faith of Abandonment Question for Jury.—In a prosecution of a husband for abandonment the question whether such abandonment was in good faith for the causes assigned is for the jury. State v. Hopkins, 130 N. C. 647, 40 S. E. 973.

Separation by Consent.—Where the wife has consented to a separation from her husband, his leaving her is not an abandonment within the meaning of this section. State v. Smith, 164 N. C. 475, 79 S. E. 979.

An offer of a home when not made in good faith, and when refused, is equivalent to abandonment by the husband. State v. Smith, 164 N. C. 475, 79 S. E. 978.

Divorce after First Conviction No Defense on New Trial.—Where the husband has been indicted, tried, and convicted for the criminal abandonment of his wife, under this section, and upon appeal he has been granted a new trial, the fact that since his former conviction his wife has obtained an absolute divorce from him will not avail him as a defense. State v. Faulkner, 185 N. C. 635, 116 S. E. 168.

Abandonment of Children after Divorce.—The father's duty to the children is not lessened by the fact that a decree of absolute divorcement has been obtained, the obligation to support his own children continuing after the marriage relation between him and his wife has been severed by the law. State v. Bell, 184 N. C. 701, 115 S. E. 190.

Denial of Paternity.—Where the husband in an action for nonsupport of a child admits the nonsupport, but denies that he is the father, and introduces evidence in support thereof, an instruction that withdraws the question of the paternity of the child from the jury is reversible error. State v. Ray, 195 N. C. 628, 143 S. E. 216.

Wife Guilty of Adultery.—Where a wife is guilty of adultery, her husband is not liable to prosecution for abandonment. State v. Hopkins, 130 N. C. 647, 40 S. E. 973.

Upon the trial of the husband for abandonment, under this section, the wife's unchastity is a defense, which he may put in issue by cross-examination or otherwise, with the burden remaining on the State to show his guilt beyond a reasonable doubt. State v. Falkner, 182 N. C. 793, 108 S. E. 756.

While ordinarily the husband may not withdraw his support from his wife and children, and compel her to leave him without violating this section, it is one of the exceptions to the rule under which the husband may prove justification, when she has committed adultery with another man, and an instruction which deprives the husband of this defense is reversible error. State v. Johnson, 194 N. C. 378, 139 S. E. 697.

Competency of Wife's Testimony.—Under this section the wife is a competent witness against her husband "as to the fact of abandonment, or neglect to provide adequate support." She is not, however, a competent witness to prove the fact of marriage. State v. Brown, 67 N. C. 470. But see § 1802 and notes thereunder.

Not a Continuing Offense.—The crime of willful abandonment by the husband of his wife is not a continuing offense, day by day, and where there has been a complete act of abandonment and no renewal of the marital association, the act must have occurred within two years next before indictment found. State v. Hannon, 168 N. C. 215, 83 S. E. 701.

Condonation by Wife Does Not Bar Prosecution.—Abandonment of the wife by the husband is a statutory offense, and it is not condoned, so far as the State's right to prosecute is concerned, by a subsequent resumption of the marital relation. State v. Manon, 204 N. C. 52, 167 S. E. 493.

Jurisdiction.—The constructive domicile of the wife is that of her husband, and where he has resided in another State and has left her there, and where for business or other reasonable purposes he has come to this State and made his domicile here, and she has followed him and he has then abandoned her and ceased to contribute to her support and that of his child born to them in lawful wedlock, the abandonment occurs in this State and is within the jurisdiction of the courts of this State and subject to the provisions of our statute making it a misdemeanor. State v. Sneed, 197 N. C. 668, 150 S. E. 197.

Venue.—When the husband has agreed to a separation from his wife upon consideration of his remitting periodically a certain sum of money to a certain county in which she was to reside, and he fails of performance, the venue of an action under the provisions of this section, is in that county. State v. Hooker, 186 N. C. 761, 120 S. E. 449.

Same—Where Husband Non-Resident.—Where a man willfully abandons his wife in this State and fails to send her funds for an adequate support, when he was residing in another State, he cannot direct her choice of residence and is indictable under this section in the county of her residence. State v. Beam, 181 N. C. 597, 107 S. E. 429.

Statute of Limitations.—Where the abandonment consisted in the failure to remit her a certain sum of money periodically to a certain county in which his conduct had forced her to reside, the failure to support occurred at the time he failed to perform his agreement, and the statute will begin to run from that date, and was not a bar under the facts of this case State v. Hooker, 186 N. C. 761, 120 S. E. 449.

Same—Renewal of Cohabitation. — Where a man willfully abandons his wife, sends remittances for her support, returns and lives with her as man and wife for a while, and again abandons her, his willfully leaving her the second time without providing an adequate support for her is a fresh bandonment and failure to support," and an indictment found within two years therefrom is not barred by the statute of limitations. State v. Beam, 181 N. C. 597, 107 S. E. 429.

Same—Promise and Gifts.—The promise of the father to support his children and his making gifts to them is sufficient to repel the bar of the two-year statute of limitations, whether he was living in the home with them or otherwise, in proceedings under ths section for his willfully abandoning them. State v. Bell, 184 N. C. 701, 115 S. E. 190.

Plea in Abatement after Plea of Not Guilty.—Where the defendant has been convicted of abandoning his wife and child and failing to provide an adequate support for them under the provisions of this section; on appeal held, his plea in abatement comes too late after his plea of not guilty. State v. Hooker, 186 N. C. 761, 120 S. E. 449.

Amendment of Complaint.—See note under § 513.

Punishment for Violation.—Our Constitution, Art. II, sec. 4, making a person guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by commitment to houses of correction leaving this matter of establishing a house of correction dscretionary with the legislative power, and a sentence may be imposed of imprisonment upon a husband convicted of abandonment under this section, and other offenses of like kind, or to assign them to work on the roads during their term. State v. Faulkner, 185 N. C. 635, 116 S. E. 168.

Husband Cannot Be Twice Convicted. — A husband once convicted of an abandonment of his wife cannot be again tried for the same offense, he not having lived with her since the original abandonment. State v. Dunston, 78 N. C. 418.

Autrefois Acquit and Convict.—In a prosecution for the violation of this section a plea by the defendant of former conviction of the same offense is good as to the period prior to the conviction, but it is not a bar to the prosecution for his failure to provide adequate support for his children subsequent thereto. State v. Jones, 201 N. C. 424, 160 S. E. 468.

Wife Not Deprived of Civil Remedies.—Requiring the state to show the husband's willful abandonment of his wife, etc., beyond a reasonable doubt, under this section, does not deprive the wife of her civil remedies under the provisions of section 1667. State v. Falkner, 182 N. C. 793, 108 S. E. 756.

Quoted in Jeffreys v. Hocutt, 195 N. C. 339, 343, 142 S. E. 226.

Applied in State v. Woodland, 119 N. C. 779, 25 S. E. 719.

Cited in Steel v. Steel, 104 N. C. 631, 10 S. E. 707; State v. Henderson, 207 N. C. 258, 260, 176 S. E. 758.

§ 4448. Evidence that abandonment was willful. —If the fact of abandonment of and failure to provide adequate support for the wife and children shall be proved, or, while being with such wife, neglect by the husband to provide for the adequate support of such wife or children shall be proved, then the fact that such husband neglects applying himself to some honest calling for the support of himself and family, and is found sauntering about, endeavoring to maintain himself by gaming or other undue means, or is a common frequenter of drinking houses, or is a known common drunkard, shall be presumptive evidence that such abandonment and neglect is willful. (Rev., s. 3356; Code, s. 971; 1868-9, c. 209, s. 3.)

When Evidence for Defendant Necessary. — Where the nonsupport and abandonment of the husband are both established or admitted, under this section, it may be necessary for the defendant to come forward with his evidence and proof to avoid the risk of an adverse verdict. State v. Falkner, 182 N. C. 793, 108 S. E. 756.

Cited in Steel v. Steel, 104 N. C. 631, 10 S. E. 707.

§ 4449. Order to support from husband's property or earnings.—Upon any conviction for abandonment, any judge or any recorder having jurisdiction thereof may, in his discretion, make such order as in his judgment will best provide for the support, as far as may be necessary, of the deserted wife or children, or both, from the property or labor of the defendant. (1917, c. 259.)

A judgment that the defendant be confined in the common jail for one year upon each count in the indictment, the term under one count to begin at the expiration of the term under the other, the judgment to be fully satisfied at the expiration of both terms, with provision that the judgment be suspended upon the payment to his abandoned wife and children certain monthly sums for a definite period and the giving of a bond for compliance therewith, is in this case held to be sufficiently certain and definite in its terms. State v. Vickers, 197 N. C. 62, 147 S. E. 673. See notes to § 4447.

In Addition to Section 4447.—This section is in addition to the powers conferred by section 4447, and does not otherwise modify or interfere with its force and effect in making the abandonment of the wife a misdemeanor. State v. Faulkner, 185 N. C. 635, 116 S. E. 168.

"Husband," Applies after Divorce.—This section, uses the word "husband" as descriptio personae, in his relation to the child of the marriage to whom his duty of support continues after a decree of divorcement has been entered; and does not confine the offense to the abandonment of the wife. State v. Bell, 184 N. C. 701, 115 S. E. 190.

A judgment under this section is not conditional because of an order that capias issue at any time on motion of the solicitor, for such order is void and not a part of judgment and capias may issue upon an order of the court. State v. Manon, 204 N. C. 52, 167 S. E. 493.

The practice of suspending judgments or staying executions in criminal prosecutions upon reasonable and just terms, with the consent of defendant, is established by custom and judicial decision, and in prosecutions for abandonment has received express legislative sanction under this section. State v. Henderson, 207 N. C. 258, 176 S. E. 758.

§ 4450. Failure of husband to provide adequate support for family.—If any husband, while living with his wife, shall willfully neglect to provide adequate support of such wife or the children which he has begotten upon her, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Upon conviction of any husband as herein provided, the court having jurisdiction thereof may in his discretion make such order as in his judgment will best provide for the support of such wife or children, and may commit the said husband to the common jail of the county, to be hired out by the county commissioners for such length of time as the court may deem proper, which said wage or salary shall be paid to the said wife or children, to be used toward their support. (Rev., s. 3357; Code, s. 972; 1868-9, c. 209, s. 2; 1873-4, c. 176, s. 11; 1879, c. 92; 1921, c. 103.)

See notes to § 4447.

Editor's Note.—The last sentence of the section was added by Public Laws of 1921, ch. 103.

Sufficiency of Indictment.—An indictment charging violation and following the words of the statute is sufficient. State v. Kerby, 110 N. C. 558, 14 S. E. 856.

Cited in State v. Bell, 184 N. C. 701, 115 S. E. 190.

§ 4450(a). Abandonment of child by mother.—If any mother shall willfully abandon her child or children, whether legitimate or illegitimate, and under sixteen years of age, she shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1931, c. 57, s. 1.)

Art. 37. Intoxicating Liquors

§ 4451. Adulteration of liquors.—If any person shall adulterate any spirituous, alcoholic, vinous or malt liquors by mixing the same with any substance of whatever kind, except as provided in the following section, or if any person shall sell or offer to sell any spirituous, alcoholic, vinous or malt liquors, knowing the same to be thus adulterated, or shall import into this state any spirituous or intoxicating liquors, and sell or offer to sell such liquor, knowing the same to be adulterated, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3512; Code, s. 982; 1858-9, c. 57, ss. 1, 4.)

See §§ 3367 et seq. As to intoxicating liquors generally, see 7 Enc. Dig. 927 et seq., 14 Enc. Dig. 496 et seq.

§ 4452. Selling recipe for adulterating liquors.—If any person shall sell or offer for sale any recipe or formula whatever for adulterating any spirituous or alcoholic liquors, by mixing the same with any substance of whatever kind, except as is herein provided, he shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be fined or imprisoned as is provided in the preceding section: Provided, that this section and the two sections that immediately precede and follow it respectively shall not be so construed as to prevent druggists, physicians and persons engaged in the mechanical arts from adulterating liquors for medical and mechanical purposes. (Rev., s. 3513; Code, s. 984; 1858-9, c. 57, ss. 2, 3.)

§ 4453. Manufacturing or selling poisonous liquors.—If any person shall manufacture, sell, or in any way deal out spirituous liquors, of any name or kind, to be used as a drink or beverage, and the same shall be found to contain any foreign properties or ingredients poisonous to the human system, he shall be guilty of a felony and shall be imprisoned in the state's prison not less than five years, and may be fined in the discretion of the court. It shall be competent for any citizen, after making purchase of any spirituous liquor, to cause the same to be analyzed by some known competent chemist, and if upon such analysis it shall be found to contain any foreign poisonous matter, it shall be prima facie evidence against the party making such a sale. (Rev., s. 3522; Code, s. 983; 1873-4, c. 180, ss. 1, 2.)

§ 4454. Selling or giving away liquor near political speaking.—If any person shall sell or give away, either directly or indirectly, any spirituous liquors, wine or bitters containing alcohol, within two miles of any place at which political public speaking shall be advertised to take place, and does take place, during the day on which such speaking shall take place, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not less than ten dollars nor more than twenty dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding twenty days. (Rev., s. 3528; Code, s. 1079; 1879, c. 212.)

§ 4455. Giving intoxicants to unmarried minors under seventeen years old.—If any person shall give intoxicating drinks or liquors to any unmarried minor under the age of seventeen years; or if any person shall aid, assist or abet any other person in giving such drinks or liquors to such minor, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine or imprisonment in the discretion of the court; but nothing in this section shall prevent any parent or other person standing in loco parentis from giving or administering any such drinks or liquors to his minor child for medicinal purposes, nor any physician from giving or administering such drinks or liquors to any minor patient under his care; nor shall this section apply to the giving or using of wine in the administration of the sacrament. (1915, c. 82.)

§ 4456. Selling or giving intoxicants to unmarried minors by dealers; liability for exemplary damages.—If any dealer in intoxicating drinks or liquors sell, or in any manner part with for a compensation therefor, either directly or indirectly, or give away such drinks or liquors, to any unmarried person under the age of twenty-one years, knowing such person to be under the age of twenty-one years he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; and such sale or giving away shall be prima facie evidence of such knowledge. Any person who keeps on hand intoxicating drinks or liquors for the purpose of sale or profit shall be considered a dealer within the meaning of this section.

The father, or if he be dead, the mother, guardian or employer of any minor to whom a sale or gift shall be made in violation of this section, shall have a right of action in a civil suit against the person so offending by such sale or gift, and upon proof of such illicit sale or gift shall recover from the party so offending such exemplary damages as a jury may assess: Provided, that such assessment shall not be less than twenty-five dollars. (Rev., ss. 3524, 3525; Code, ss. 1077, 1078; 1873-4, c. 68; 1881, c. 242.)

For cases under this law, see Spencer v. Fisher, 158 N. C. 264, 73 S. E. 810, 161 N. C. 116, 76 S. E. 731; State v. Kittelle, 110 N. C. 560, 15 S. E. 103; State v. Lawrence, 97 N. C. 492, 2 S. E. 367; State v. Walker, 103 N. C. 413, 4 S. E. 582.

Art. 38. Public Drunkenness

§ 4457. Public drinking on railway passenger cars; copy of section to be posted.—Any person who shall publicly engage in the drinking of intoxicating liquors in the presence of passengers on any passenger car shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars, or imprisoned not to exceed thirty days. This section shall not apply to any smoking compartment or to any closet, dining or buffet car. It shall be the duty of all railway companies to have posted a copy of this section in all passenger coaches used for transporting passengers within the state. (1907, c. 455.)

§ 4457(a). Public drunkenness and disorderliness.—It shall be unlawful for any person to be drunk and disorderly in any public place or on any public road or street in North Carolina; person or persons convicted of a violation hereof shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days in the discretion of the court. (1921, c. 211.)

Verdict of guilty of disorderly conduct but not of drunkenness will not support conviction for drunken and disorderly conduct under this section. State v. Myrick, 203 N. C. 8, 164 S. E. 328.

§ 4458. Local: Public drunkenness. — If any person shall be found drunk or intoxicated on the public highway, or at any public place or meeting, in any county, township, city, town, village or other place herein named, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished as is provided in this section:

1. By a fine of not more than fifty dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than thirty days, in the counties of Ashe, Catawba, Cherokee, Clay, Cleveland, Dare, Gaston, Graham, Greene, Haywood, Henderson, Hyde, Jackson, Lincoln, Macon, Madison, McDowell, Mecklenburg, Moore, Northampton, Orange, Pitt, Richmond, Rutherford, Scotland, Stanly, Union, Vance, Warren, Franklin and Washington, in the townships of Fruitville and Poplar branch in Currituck county, and at Pungo in Beaufort county. (1907, cc. 305, 785, 900; 1908, c. 113; 1909, c. 815; P. L. 1915, c. 790; P. L. 1917, cc. 447, 475; P. L. 1919, cc. 148, 200; 1935, cc. 49, 208.)

8. By a fine of not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than ten days, in the village of Kannapolis, or on the premises or within one mile of the Kannapolis cotton mills. (1909, c. 46, s. 2.)

9. By a fine, for the first offense, of not less than ten nor more than twenty dollars; for second and further offense, no less than twenty nor more than thirty dollars, or imprisoned for not more than twenty days, in Transylvania county. (P. L. 1919, c. 190; Rev., 3733; 1897, c. 57; 1899, cc. 87, 208, 608, 638; 1901, c. 445; 1903, cc. 116, 124, 523, 758; 1924, c. 5; 1929, c. 135, s. 1; 1931, c. 219.)

10. By a fine of fifteen dollars or imprisonment for ten days for the first offense; by a fine of twenty-five dollars or imprisonment for twenty days for the second offense; by a fine of fifty dollars or imprisonment for thirty days for the third and subsequent offenses, in the King high school district, Stokes county. (1933, c. 287.)

In Guilford county, by a fine, for the first offense, of not more than fifty dollars, or imprisonment for not more than thirty days; for the second offense within a period of twelve months by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars, or imprisonment for not more than sixty days; and for the third offense within any twelve months period, such third offense to be declared a misdemeanor, punishable as a misdemeanor, within the discretion of the court. (1935, c. 207.)

14. In Iredell county, by a fine of not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars, or by imprisonment of not more than thirty days for the first offense; for each conviction thereafter the fine shall not be less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars, or imprisonment of not more than thirty days, in the discretion of the court. (1935, c. 158.)

Editor's Note.—By the amendment of 1929 paragraph one of this section was made applicable in Northhampton.

Public Laws of 1933, c. 287, added subdivision 10, relating to King High School District, Stokes county. Chapter 10 struck out Swain from the list of counties in subdivision 1, and added subdivision 11 applicable in that county only.

Public Laws of 1935, chapter 208, added Orange to the list of counties in subsection 1. Public Laws of 1935, chapter 49, added Cherokee and Clay to subsection 1 and omitted Cherokee from subsection 4 and deleted subsection 5, which was applicable in Clay county. Section 4 of this amendatory act makes it lawful for Cherokee and Clay counties to sentence the defendant to thirty days in prison to be assigned to work on the highway. Public Laws of 1935, chapter 350, adds subsection 12 to the section. Public Laws of 1935, chapter 207, adds subsection 13. Public Laws of 1935, chapter 158, adds subsection 14. Section 2 of this last amendatory act provides that the fine shall not be remitted unless the defendant is in prison.

Art. 39. Vagrants and Tramps

§ 4459. Persons classed as vagrants.—If any person shall come within any of the following classes, he shall be deemed a vagrant, and shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days: Provided, however, that this limitation of punishment shall not be binding except in cases of a first offense, and in all other cases such person may be fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court:

1. Persons wandering or strolling about in idleness who are able to work and have no property to support them.

2. Persons leading an idle, immoral or profligate life, who have no property to support them and who are able to work and do not work.

3. All persons able to work having no property to support them and who have not some visible and known means of a fair, honest and reputable livelihood.

4. Persons having a fixed abode who have no visible property to support them and who live by stealing or by trading in, bartering for or buying stolen property.

5. Professional gamblers living in idleness.

6. All able-bodied men having no other visible means of support who shall live in idleness upon the wages or earnings of their mother, wife or minor children except of male children over eighteen years old.

7. Keepers and inmates of bawdy-houses, assignation houses, lewd and disorderly houses, and other places where illegal sexual intercourse is habitually carried on: Provided, that nothing here is intended or shall be construed as abolishing the crime of keeping a bawdy-house, or lessening the punishment by law for such crime. (Rev., s. 3740; 1905, c. 391; 1907, c. 1012, s. 1; 1913, c. 75; 1915, c. 1.)

Editor's Note.—For a case decided under the former law, acts 1886, ch. 42, see State v. Custer, 65 N. C. 339.

Amendment to Warrant.—Where a warrant in a criminal action charges the defendant with "being a vagrant," it is within the discretion of the judge to allow an amendment specifying the particular act under which it has been issued; and while it is the better practice to reduce the amendment to writing at the time, the order is self executing, and failure to do so does not destroy its legal effect. State v. Walker, 179 N. C. 730, 102 S. E. 404. See also State v. Price, 175 N. C. 804, 95 S. E. 478.

Evidence.—By express statutory provision, the reputation that a house is kept as a bawdy house may be received in evidence on the trial of a person for keeping one, under an indictment for vagrancy, etc., and the statute is constitutional and valid. State v. Price, 175 N. C. 804, 95 S. E. 478.

Imposition of Wrong Sentence.—Where a conviction for vagrancy has been legally had under this section, and the sentence has been imposed of imprisonment for twelve months allowed under section 4362, the case will be remanded for the imposition of the proper sentence. State v. Walker, 179 N. C. 730, 102 S. E. 404.

§ 4460. Police officers to furnish list of disorderly houses; inmates competent and compellable to testify.—It shall be the duty of the chief of police, marshal, constable or other chief ministerial officer of each city and town in this state to furnish every thirty days to the police justice, recorder, mayor or other trial officer of such city or town a list of the bawdy, assignation, lewd and disorderly houses and other places where illegal sexual intercourse is carried on, together with the names of the keepers and inmates of such houses and places, in such city or town; and it shall be the duty of such police justice, recorder, mayor or other trial officer, upon the filing of such list, to issue his warrant for the persons declared in subsection seven of the preceding section to be vagrants, and to punish in accordance with the provisions of that section such of them as may be found guilty. In all trials under said subsection seven of the preceding section any keeper or inmate of any of the houses or places named, or his employees, shall be competent and compellable to give evidence of the character and nature of such house or place and of the character and acts of the keepers and inmates thereof; but the person so testifying shall not be prosecuted or punished for the commission of any crime about which he shall have been required to testify.

If any chief of police, marshal, constable or other chief ministerial officer of any city or town shall fail to furnish the list of houses and places provided for in this section, or shall suppress the name of any person whom he is required herein to report, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the court. (1907, c. 1012, ss. 2, 3.)

§ 4461. Tramp defined and punishment provided; certain persons excepted.—If any person shall go about from place to place begging or subsisting on charity, he shall be denominated a tramp, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty days: Provided, that any person who shall furnish satisfactory evidence of good character shall be discharged without cost. Any act of begging or vagrancy by any person, unless a well-known object of charity, shall be evidence that the person committing the same is a tramp. This section shall not apply to any woman, to any minor under the age of fourteen years, or to any blind person. (Rev., s. 3735; Code, ss. 3828, 3829, 3831, 3833; 1897, c. 268; 1879, c. 198, ss. 1, 4, 6.)

§ 4462. Trespassing and the carrying of dangerous weapons by tramps.—If any tramp shall enter any dwelling-house or kindle any fire on the land of another without the consent of the owner or occupant thereof, or shall kindle a fire on any highway, or shall be found carrying any firearm or other dangerous weapon, or shall threaten to do any injury to the person, or to the real or personal estate, of another, he shall be punished by imprisonment at the discretion of the court, not to exceed twelve months. (Rev., s. 3736; Code, s. 3829; 1879, c. 198, s. 2.)

§ 4463. Malicious injuries by tramps to persons and property.—If any tramp shall willfully and maliciously do any injury to the person, or to the real or personal estate, of another, he shall be punished by imprisonment, at the discretion of the court, not to exceed three years. (Rev., s. 3737; Code, s. 3830; 1879, c. 198, s. 3.)

§ 4464. Arrest of tramps by persons who are not officers.—Any person, upon a view of any offense described in the preceding sections, shall cause the offender to be arrested upon a warrant and taken before some justice of the peace, or he may apprehend the offender and take him before a justice of the peace, for examination, and, on his conviction, he shall be entitled to the same fee as a sheriff. (Rev., s. 3738; Code, s. 3832; 1879, c. 198, s. 5.)

Art. 40. Regulation of Sales

§ 4465. Selling or offering to sell meat of diseased animals.—If any person shall knowingly and willfully slaughter any diseased animal and sell or offer for sale any of the meat of such diseased animal for human consumption, or if any person knows that the meat offered for sale or sold for human consumption by him is that of a diseased animal, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3442; 1905, c. 303.)

§ 4466. Unauthorized dealing in railroad tickets.—If any person shall sell or deal in tickets issued by any railroad company, unless he is a duly authorized agent of the railroad company, or shall refuse upon demand to exhibit his authority to sell or deal in such tickets, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3764; 1895, c. 83, s. 1.)

Cited in concurring opinion of C. J. Stacy in State v. Yarboro, 194 N. C. 498, 506.

§ 4467. Sale of cotton at night under certain conditions.—If any person shall buy, sell, deliver or receive, for a price, or for any reward whatever, any cotton in the seed, or any unpacked lint cotton brought or carried in a basket, hamper or sheet, or in any mode where the quantity is less than what is usually baled, or where the cotton is not baled, between the hours of sunset and sunrise, such person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. On conviction, in Mecklenburg and Nash Counties, the offender shall be imprisoned not less than three months nor more than twelve months, and shall also be liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars, one-half of which shall go to the party suing for same and one-half to the public schools of the county. (Rev., s. 3813; Code, s. 1006; 1873-4, c. 62; 1874-5, c. 70; 1905, c. 417.)

Cited in State v. Moore, 104 N. C. 714, 10 S. E. 143; State v. Yarboro, 194 N C. 498, 506.

§ 4468. Local: Sale of corn at night in less than five-bushel lots.—If any person shall buy, sell, deliver or receive for a price or for any reward whatever, any corn in the ear or shelled of a less amount than five bushels, between the hours of sunset and sunrise, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. In all prosecutions under this section is shall be necessary for the state only to allege and prove that the defendant bought or received the corn as charged, and the burden shall be upon the defendant to show that the provisions of this section have been complied with: Provided, this section shall apply only to the counties of Beaufort, Hyde, Martin, Tyrell, Washington, Pamlico, Halifax and Edgecombe. (Rev., s. 3809; 1889, c. 90; 1891, c. 6; 1891, c. 8.)

§ 4468(a). Sale of convict-made goods prohibited.—Except as hereinafter provided, the sale anywhere within the state of North Carolina of any and all goods, wares and merchandise manufactured, produced or mined wholly or in part, by convicts or prisoners, except by convicts or prisoners on parole or probation, or in any penal and/or reformatory institutions is hereby prohibited and declared to be unlawful.

The provisions of this section shall not apply to sales or exchanges between the state penitentiary and other penal, charitable, educational and/or custodial institutions, maintained wholly or in part by the state, or its political subdivisions, for use in said institution or by the wards thereof; nor shall the provisions of this section apply to the sale of cotton, corn, grain or other processed or unprocessed agricultural products, including seed for growing purposes, or to the sale of stone, quarried by convict labor, or to the sale of coal or chert mined by convict labor, in any mine operated by the state: Provided that this section shall apply with equal force to sales to the state or any political subdivision thereof by any state penal or correctional institution, including the state highway: Provided further that the state of North Carolina shall have the right of manufacturing in any of its penal or correctional institutions products to be used exclusively by the state or any of its agencies.

Any person, firm or corporation selling, undertaking to sell, or offering for sale any such prison-made or convict-made goods, wares or merchandise, anywhere within the State, in violation of the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be subject to fine, or imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court. Each sale or offer to sell, in violation of the provisions of this section, shall constitute a separate offense. (1933, c. 146, ss. 1-4.)

Art. 41. Regulation of Employer and Employee

§ 4469. Enticing servant to leave master.—If any person shall entice, persuade and procure any servant by indenture, or any servant who shall have contracted in writing or orally to serve his employer, to leave unlawfully the service of his master or employer; or if any person shall knowingly and unlawfully harbor and detain, in his own service and from the service of his master or employer, any servant who shall unlawfully leave the service of such master or employer, then, in either case, such person and servant shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not exceeding one hundred dollars or imprisoned not exceeding six months. (Rev., s. 3365; Code, ss. 3119, 3120; 1866, c. 58; 1866-7, c. 124; 1881, c. 303.)

As to interference with the relation of master and servant by third parties generally see 9 Enc. Dig. 174 et seq. 14 Enc. Dig. 816.

In General.—The offense was not known to the common law. State v. Rice, 76 N. C. 194. The section has reference only to the persons enticing, the servants themselves are not indictable. State v. Daniel, 89 N. C. 553. Nor does the section apply to the parent of a minor child who commands such child to quit employment. State v Anderson, 104 N. C. 771, 10 S. E. 47. But if a minor is induced to leave his employment by a stranger, not in loco parentis, such stranger is amenable to action under this section. State v. Harwood. 104 N. C. 724, 10 S. E. 171. The section does not apply where a mere contract to serve, not entered into, has been made. Sears v. Whitaker, 136 N. C. 37, 48 S. E. 517; State v. Holly, 152 N. C. 839, 67 S. E. 53.

A tenant or cropper of another is not his servant, within the meaning of this section. State v. Etheridge, 169 N. C. 263, 84 S. E. 264.

Sufficiency of Indictment.—It is not necessary to specify whether the contract is oral or written, nor the means by which the enticing was accomplished. State v. Harwood, 104 N. C. 724, 10 S. E. 171.

Cited in Haskins v. Royster, 70 N. C. 601, 607.

§ 4470. Local: Hiring servant who has unlawfully left employer.—If any person shall knowingly hire, employ, harbor or detain in his own service any servant, employee, tenant, or wage hand of any other person, who shall have contracted in writing, or orally, for a fixed period of time to serve his employer, and who shall have left the service of his employer in violation of his contract, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be civilly liable in damages to the party so aggrieved. This section shall apply to the following counties: Beaufort, Edgecombe, Person, Pitt, Washington, Warren, Vance, Pender, Halifax, Guilford, Granville, Hertford, Richmond, Wake, Wayne and Caswell. (Rev., s. 3374; 1901, c. 682; 1903, c. 365; 1907, c. 238, s. 2; 1907, c. 402; 1919, c. 274.)

§ 4471. Enticing seamen from vessel.—If any person shall induce any seaman, in the employment of any domestic or foreign vessel, in any of the ports of North Carolina, to leave any such vessel before his term of service shall have expired, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. (Rev., s. 3555; Code, s. 1108; 1879, c. 219, s. 1; 1881, c. 256, s. 1.)

§ 4472. Secreting or harboring deserting seamen.—If any person shall secrete or harbor any seaman who has deserted from any domestic or foreign vessel, knowing that such seaman has deserted, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days; and if such seaman be found concealed or secreted by any person on his premises, such concealment and secretion shall be deemed prima facie evidence that such person knew that such seaman was a deserter. (Rev., s. 3556; Code, s. 1109; 1879, c. 219, s. 2; 1881, c. 256, s. 2.)

Cited in State v. Barrett, 138 N. C. 630, 636, 50 S. E. 506.

§ 4473. Search warrant for deserting seamen.—If any credible witness shall complain, upon oath before any justice of the peace, that any person has concealed on his premises any seaman who has deserted from any such domestic or foreign vessel, it shall be lawful for such justice to grant a search warrant to be executed within the limits of his county to any proper officer, authorizing him to search for such seaman, and to arrest the person on whose premises he may be found; and the person on whose premises such seaman shall be found shall be adjudged to pay the costs of the search warrant, if on examination it shall appear that such seaman was secreted or concealed by such person; otherwise the costs shall be paid by the party making the complaint. (Rev., s. 3557; Code, s. 1110; 1881, c. 256, s. 3.)

§ 4474. Appeal in cases of deserting seamen regulated.—In all cases arising under the three preceding sections, if any appeal is prayed by either party at the time of the trial, it shall be granted; but no appeal shall be granted by any justice at any time after the final hearing of the case. In case an appeal is prayed at the trial, it shall be the duty of the justice to proceed immediately to reduce to writing the testimony of any witness whose testimony is material (if such witness shall be master, officer or seaman on board of any vessel), in the presence of the adverse party, who may cross-question such witness, which testimony shall be subscribed by such witness and returned by the justice with the papers in the case; and on the hearing in the appellate court, the testimony so taken and reduced to writing by the justice shall be read, heard and accepted as the true and lawful testimony of such witness, as if such person were in person present to give evidence. For reducing such testimony to writing the justice shall receive the same fees as are allowed for taking depositions. (Rev., s. 3558; Code, s. 1111; 1881, c. 256, ss. 4, 5.)

§ 4475. Influencing agents and servants in violating duties owed employers.—Any person who gives, offers or promises to an agent, employee or servant any gift or gratuity whatever with intent to influence his action in relation to his principal's, employer's or master's business; any agent, employee or servant who requests or accepts a gift or gratuity or a promise to make a gift or to do an act beneficial to himself, under an agreement or with an understanding that he shall act in any particular manner in relation to his principal's, employer's or master's business; any agent, employee or servant who, being authorized to procure materials, supplies or other articles either by purchase or contract for his principal, employer or master, or to employ service or labor for his principal, employer or master, receives, directly or indirectly, for himself or for another, a commission, discount or bonus from the person who makes such sale or contract, or furnishes such materials, supplies or other articles, or from a person who renders such service or labor; and any person who gives or offers such an agent, employee or servant such commission, discount or bonus, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished in the discretion of the court. (1913, c. 190, s. 1.)

§ 4476. Witness required to give self-criminating evidence; no suit or prosecution to be founded thereon.—No person shall be excused from attending, testifying or producing books, papers, contracts, agreements and other documents before any court, or in obedience to the subpœna of any court, having jurisdiction of the crime denounced in the preceding section, on the ground or for the reason that the testimony or evidence, documentary or otherwise, required of him may tend to incriminate him or to subject him to a penalty or to a forfeiture; but no person shall be liable to any suit or prosecution, civil or criminal, for or on account of any transaction, matter or thing concerning which he may testify or produce evidence documentary or otherwise, before such court or in obedience to its subpœna or in any such case or proceeding: Provided, that no person so testifying or producing any such books, papers, contracts, agreements or other documents shall be exempted from prosecution and punishment for perjury committed in so testifying. (1913, c. 190, s. 2.)

§ 4477. Blacklisting employees.—If any person, agent, company or corporation, after having discharged any employee from his or its service, shall prevent or attempt to prevent, by word or writing of any kind, such discharged employee from obtaining employment with any other person, company or corporation, such person, agent or corporation, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars; and such person, agent, company or corporation shall be liable in penal damages to such discharged person, to be recovered by civil action. This section shall not be construed as prohibiting any person or agent of any company or corporation from furnishing in writing, upon request, any other person, company or corporation to whom such discharged person or employee has applied for employment, a truthful statement of the reason for such discharge. (1909, c. 858, s. 1.)

Intent of Section.—This section was intended to correct the abuse under the common law of statements made concerning a discharged employee out of malice, where damages for the loss of employment were difficult of admeasurement; and under the provisions of the act a statement made as to the standing of the discharged employee is not privileged, if made maliciously. Seward v. Receivers, 159 N. C. 241, 242, 75 S. E. 34.

Remedial Provisions.—The provisions of this and the following section are remedial and do not put the burden upon the plaintiff of showing either malice or actual damages. Goins v. Sargent, 196 N. C. 478, 146 S. E. 131.

What Constitutes a Violation.—Where an employer has discharged his employee for being a member of a lawful association of like employees, and has advised others, without a request from them, who would have engaged the services of such employee that he would not sell his product to them should they employ him, and thus has prevented the discharged employee from getting employment within the State, and forced him to obtain employment in another state, depriving him of his living at home here with his family, etc.: Held, the employee is entitled to recover damages in his civil action against his former employer, and a demurrer ore tenus to a complaint setting forth this cause of action is bad. Goins v. Sargent, 196 N. C. 478, 146 S. E. 131.

§ 4478. Conspiring to blacklist employees.—It shall be unlawful for two or more persons to agree together to blacklist any discharged employee or to attempt, by words of writing or any other means whatever, to prevent such discharged employee, or any employee who may have voluntarily left the service of his employer, from obtaining employment with any other person or company. Persons violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the court. (1909, c. 858, s. 2.)

See notes to § 4477. As to amendment of complaint, see note under § 513.

§ 4479. Issuing nontransferable script to laborers.—If any person who employs laborers by the day, week or month shall issue in payment for the services of such laborers any ticket, certificate or other script bearing upon its face the word "nontransferable," or shall issue such ticket, certificate or other script in any form that would render it void by transfer from the person to whom issued, or shall refuse to pay to the person holding the same its face value, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars for each offense, or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (Rev., s. 3730; 1889, c. 280; 1891, c. 78; 1891, c. 456; 1891, c. 46; 1891, cc. 167, 370; 1895, c. 127; 1891, cc. 167, 456.)

"Face Value" Defined.—The "face value" is the value expressed on the face of the writing in the commodity in which it is payable. Marriner v. Roper Co., 112 N. C. 164, 16 S. E. 906.

Rights of Assignee.—This section does not authorize the assignee of a ticket or scrip payable in merchandise to demand and receive payment in money instead of in merchandise. Marriner v. Roper Co., 112 N. C. 164, 16 S. E. 906.

Art. 42. Regulation of Landlord and Tenant

§ 4480. Local: Violation of certain contracts between landlord and tenant.—If any tenant or cropper shall procure advances from his landlord to enable him to make a crop on the land rented by him, and then willfully abandon the same without good cause and before paying for such advances; or if any landlord shall contract with a tenant or cropper to furnish him advances to enable him to make a crop, and shall willfully fail or refuse, without good cause, to furnish such advances according to his agreement, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. Any person employing a tenant or cropper who has violated the provisions of this section, with knowledge of such violation, shall be liable to the landlord furnishing such advances for the amount thereof, and shall also be guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. This section shall apply to the following counties only: Wayne, Lenoir, Greene, Johnston, Jones, Onslow, Craven, Cleveland, Sampson, Pitt, Duplin, Gates, Cumberland, Perquimans, Chowan, Robeson, Bladen, Nash, Harnett, Edgecombe, Hertford, Wilson, Rockingham, Pender, Currituck, Gaston, Northampton, Beaufort, Chatham, Tyrrell, Mecklenburg, Halifax, Caswell, Camden, Cabarrus, Columbus, Martin, Washington, Wake, Alexander, Montgomery, Pamlico, Rowan, Rutherford, Bertie, Vance, Warren, Lincoln, Randolph and Lee. (Rev., s. 3366; 1905, cc. 297, 383, 445, 820; 1907, c. 84, s. 1; 1907, c. 595, s. 1; 1907, cc. 8, 639, 719, 869; Ex. Sess. 1920, c. 26; 1925, c. 285, s. 2; 1931, c. 136.)

Cross References.—As to ejectment of tenant see section 2365 and notes. As to the relation of landlord and tenant generally see 8 Enc. Dig. 505 et seq., 14 Enc. Dig. 622 et seq.

Editor's Note.—This section was amended by Public Laws 1920 Ex. Sess., ch. 26, and Lee county added to the list of counties to which its provisions are applicable. In 1925, Public Laws 1925, ch. 285, section 2, Randolph County was added thereto. The Act of 1931 added Vance County.

Constitutionality of Section.—The provisions of this section contravene Article I, section 16, of our State Constitution, prohibiting imprisonment for debt, except in cases of fraud; and an indictment thereunder, without averment of fraud, will be quashed. State v. Williams, 150 N. C. 802, 63 S. E. 949; Minton v. Early, 183 N. C. 199, 111 S. E. 347.

Jurisdiction.—A court of a justice of the peace has final jurisdiction of a willful abandonment of crop in violation of this section. State v. Wilkes, 149 N. C. 453, 62 S. E. 430.

Indictment Insufficient.—An indictment under the provisions of this section which does not charge that the abandonment of the crop by tenant or cropper was "without cause" and "before paying for such advances," should be quashed as insufficient. State v. Williams, 150 N. C. 802, 63 S. E. 949.

Cited in concurring opinion of C. J. Stacy in State v. Yarboro, 194 N. C. 498, 506.

§ 4481. Local: Tenant neglecting crop; landlord failing to make advances; harboring or employing delinquent tenant.—If any tenant or cropper shall procure advances from his landlord to enable him to make a crop on the land rented by him, and then willfully refuse to cultivate such crops or negligently or willfully abandon the same without good cause and before paying for such advances; or if any landlord who induces another to become tenant or cropper by agreeing to furnish him advances to enable him to make a crop, shall willfully fail or refuse without good cause to furnish such advances according to his agreement; or if any person shall entice, persuade or procure any tenant, lessee or cropper, who has made a contract agreeing to cultivate the land of another, to abandon or to refuse or fail to cultivate such land, or after notice shall harbor or detain on his own premises, or on the premises of another, any such tenant, lessee or cropper, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. Any person who employs a tenant or cropper who has violated the provisions of this section, with knowledge of such violation, shall be liable to the landlord furnishing such advances for the amount thereof. This section shall apply only to the following counties: Wake, Hyde, Anson, Hertford, Sampson, Franklin, Union, Richmond, Moore, Lincoln, Rowan, Rutherford, Halifax, Rockingham, Vance, Lee, Stokes, Granville, Randolph, Person and Stanley. (Rev., s. 3367; 1905, c. 299, ss. 1-7; 1907, c. 84, s. 2; 1907, c. 238, s. 1; 1907, c. 595, s. 2; 1907, cc. 543, 810; Ex. Art. 43. Cruelty to Animals

§ 4483. Cruelty to animals; construction of section. — If any person shall willfully overdrive, overload, wound, injure, torture, torment, deprive of necessary sustenance, cruelly beat, needlessly mutilate or kill or cause or procure to be overdriven, overloaded, wounded, injured, tortured, tormented, deprived of necessary sustenance, cruelly beaten, needlessly mutilated or killed as aforesaid, any useful beast, fowl or animal, every such offender shall for every such offense be guilty of a misdemeanor. In this section, and in every law which may be enacted relating to animals, the words "animal" and "dumb animal" shall be held to include every living creature; the words "torture," "torment" or "cruelty" shall be held to include every act, omission or neglect whereby unjustifiable physical pain, suffering or death is caused or permitted; but such terms shall not be construed to prohibit lawful shooting of birds, deer and other game for human food. (Rev., s. 3299; Code, ss. 2482, 2490; 1891, c. 65; 1881, c. 34, s. 1; 1881, c. 368, ss. 1, 15; 1907, c. 42.)

Cross References.—See section 4494 and notes. As to cruelty to animals generally see 1 Enc. Dig. 352 et seq. 13 Enc. Dig. 67 et seq.

In General.—Anger does not excuse the killing when it was wilful and needless. State v. Neal, 120 N. C. 613, 27 S. E. 81. And under such circumstances the intent is immaterial. Id. In order to convict, however, there must be a finding that the act was "wilfully and unlawfully" done. State v. Tweedy, 115 N. C. 704, 20 S. E. 183. Unnecessary suffering knowingly and willfully permitted constitutes the offense. State v. Porter, 112 N. C. 887, 16 S. E. 915.

The Indictment.—The facts constituting torturing, tormenting or cruel conduct must be set out when such conduct is charged. State v. Watkins, 101 N. C. 702, 8 S. E. 346. A charge that defendant "did unlawfully and wilfully beat" was held sufficient in State v. Alleson, 90 N. C. 733.

Injury to Prevent Depredations.—The fact that cows (State v. Butts, 92 N. C. 784) or chickens (State v. Neal, 120 N. C. 613, 27 S. E. 81) were trespassing on defendant's property is not a defense to an action under this section, where the killing or wounding was unnecessary. See also, State v. Smith, 156 N. C. 628, 72 S. E. 321.

Illustrations.—Shooting pigeons for sport (State v. Porter, 112 N. C. 887, 16 S. E. 915) and poisoning chickens (State v. Bossee, 145 N. C. 579, 59 S. E. 879) have been held violations of the section.

Hitting a runaway horse with a rock, however, has been held insufficient to sustain a directed verdict—the question of the wilful purpose to injure being for the jury. State v. Isley, 119 N. C. 862, 26 S. E. 35.

Unnecessary to Show Dog Has Pecuniary Value.—It is unnecessary to show that a dog is of a pecuniary value to the owner to maintain an indictment for cruelty forbidden by the section. State v. Smith, 156 N. C. 628, 72 S. E. 321.

Applied in State v. Holt, 90 N. C. 749.

§ 4484. Instigating or promoting cruelty to animals.—If any person shall willfully set on foot, or instigate, or move to, carry on, or promote, or engage in, or do any act towards the furtherance of any act of cruelty to any animal, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (Rev., s. 3300; Code, s. 2487; 1891, c. 65; 1881, c. 368, s. 6.)

Cited in State v. Porter, 112 N. C. 887, 16 S. E. 915.

§ 4485. Bear-baiting, cock-fighting and similar amusements.—If any person shall keep, or use, or in any way be connected with, or interested in the management of, or shall receive money for the admission of any person to, any place kept or used for the purpose of fighting, or baiting any bull, bear, dog, cock, or other animal; or if any person shall encourage, aid or assist therein, or shall permit or suffer any place to be so kept or used he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (Rev., s. 3301; Code, s. 2483; 1891, c. 65; 1881, c. 368, s. 2.)

§ 4486. Conveying animals in a cruel manner.—If any person shall carry or cause to be carried in or upon any vehicle or other conveyance, any animal in a cruel or inhuman manner, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. Whenever an offender shall be taken into custody therefor by any officer the officer may take charge of such vehicle or other conveyance and its contents, and deposit the same in some safe place of custody. The necessary expenses which may be incurred for taking charge of and keeping and sustaining the vehicle or other conveyance shall be a lien thereon, to be paid before the same can be lawfully reclaimed; or the said expenses, or any part thereof remaining unpaid, may be recovered by the person incurring the same of the owner of such animal in an action therefor. (Rev., s. 3302; Code, s. 2486; 1891, c. 65; 1881, c. 368, s. 5.)

§ 4488. Disposal of carcasses of animals.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to permit knowingly the bodies of animals or fowls dying of disease of any kind to remain unburied or unburned on the land which such person, etc., owns, rents, or has charge of in any capacity, for the space of twenty-four hours after the death of said animal or fowl and it shall be unlawful for any such person, firm, or corporation, to remove said carcasses from the premises over which he shall have charge to the premises of any other person, firm or corporation, without the written permission of the person having charge of said premises and without burying the same as herein provided; such burying to be of such a depth as to prevent disinterment by prowling dogs. (1919, c. 36; 1927, c. 2.)

Editor's Note.—This section was amended by Public Laws of 1927, ch. 2, and the portion requiring written permission of the owner of the land, to which the carcass shall be removed and buried, was added.

§ 4489. Animals affected with glanders to be killed.—If the owner of any animal having the glanders or farcy shall omit or refuse, upon discovery or knowledge of its condition, to deprive the same of life at once, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (Rev., s. 3296; Code, s. 2489; 1891, c. 65; 1881, c. 368, s. 8.)

§ 4490. Hogs affected with cholera to be segregated and confined.—If any person having swine affected with the disease known as hog cholera, or any other infectious or contagious disease, who discovers the same, or to whom notice of the fact shall be given, shall fail or neglect for one day to secure the diseased swine from the approach of or contact with other hogs not so affected, by penning or otherwise securing and effectually isolating them, so that they shall not have access to any ditch, canal, branch, creek, river or other water-course which passes beyond the premises of the owners of such swine, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. (Rev., s. 3297; 1889, c. 173, s. 1; 1891, c. 67, ss. 1, 3; 1903, c. 106; 1899, c. 47; 1913, c. 120.)

§ 4491. Shipping hogs from cholera-infected territory.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation in any district or territory infected by cholera to bring, carry, or ship hogs into any stock-law section or territory, unless such hogs have been certified to be free from cholera either by the farm demonstration agent of the county or some other suitable person to be designated by the clerk of the superior court. Any violation of this section shall constitute a misdemeanor. (1917, c. 203.)

§ 4492. Distributing, selling or using hog-cholera virus without permission.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to distribute, sell or use virulent blood from cholera-infected hogs, or "virus," unless and until written permission has been obtained from the state veterinarian for such distribution, sale or use. Any person, firm or corporation guilty of violating the provisions of this section, or failing or refusing to comply with the requirements hereof, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than fifty nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense, and may be imprisoned, in the discretion of the court, not less than ten nor more than thirty days. The words, flag, standard, color or ensign, as used in this section, shall include any flag, standard, color, ensign, or any picture or representation of any of them, made of any substance or represented on any substance, and of any size, evidently purporting to be a flag, standard, color or ensign of the United States of America, or a picture or a representation of any of them, upon which shall be shown the colors, the stars and the stripes, in any number of either thereof, or by which the person seeing the same, without deliberation, may believe it to represent the flag, colors, standard or ensign of the United States of America.

The possession by any person other than a public officer, as such, of a flag, standard, color, ensign, article, substance, or thing, on which there is anything made unlawful by this section, shall be presumptive evidence that the same is in violation of this section. (1917, c. 271.)

Pollution of water or lands used for dairy purposes.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation owning lands adjoining the lands of any person, firm, or corporation which are or may be used for dairy purposes or for grazing milk cows, to dispose of or permit disposal of any animal, mineral, chemical, or vegetable refuse, sewage or other deleterious matter in such way as to pollute the water on the lands so used or which may be used for dairy purposes or for grazing milk cows, or to render unfit or unsafe for use the milk produced from cows feeding upon the grasses and herbage growing on such lands. This section shall not apply to incorporated towns maintaining a sewer system. Anyone violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned for not more than thirty days, or both, and each day that such pollution is committed or exists shall constitute a separate offense. Any such person, firm or corporation violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1913, c. 56.)

In General.—The section constitutes a valid exercise of the police power and is constitutional. State v. Perley, 173 N. C. 783, 92 S. E. 504.

The motive is immaterial and where the intent to violate the section is shown the defendant is punishable. Id.

Nothing herein contained shall apply to any person mutilating, defacing, pulling or tearing down, destroying or otherwise damaging notices, signs or advertisements put upon his own land or lands of which he may have charge or control, unless consent of such person to put up such notice, sign or advertisement shall have first been obtained, except those put up by an officer of the law in the performance of the duties of his office. (1919, c. 234; 1925, c. 283; 1927, c. 230, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—This section was amended by Public Laws 1925, ch. 283 and cartways and other roads used by the public included herein. At the same time the provision, giving the judge the right to revoke for twelve months the right to drive an automobile, of any one found guilty of violating this section, was added. The section was again amended in 1927 when the revocation of license was made mandatory upon the judge.

Jurisdiction of Municipal Court.—Where a statute creating a municipal court does not give it criminal jurisdiction over the offense described by this section, this jurisidiction is acquired by this section to the extent only of binding the defendant over to the superior court upon conviction. State v. Jones, 181 N. C. 543, 106 S. E. 827.

Policeman May Arrest without Warrant.—A policeman may arrest without a warrant, a person in his presence violating this section. State v. Loftin, 186 N. C. 205, 119 S. E. 209.

Sentence Not Reviewable on Appeal.—Where a statute leaves a punishment for its violation within the sound discretion of the trial court, the sentence imposed therein will not be reviewed by the Supreme Court on appeal where its exercise has not been grossly and palpably abused. State v. Jones, 181 N. C. 543, 106 S. E. 827.

§ 4506(a). Operation of motor vehicle by person under 16 years of age.—Any person who, being the owner, or in charge of any motor vehicle, authorizes or knowingly permits a person under the age of sixteen years to operate such motor vehicle along any public street or public highway in the state of North Carolina shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not in excess of the sum of fifty dollars ($50.00). The term "motor vehicle," as used in this section, shall be construed to mean those vehicles it is construed to mean in section two thousand five hundred and ninety-eight of the Consolidated Statutes. (1923, c. 202.)

Any person or persons violating the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction shall be imprisoned in the State's prison for a period of not less than one year or not more than ten years, in the discretion of the court. (1927, c. 64.)

Where there is no evidence tending to show that the defendant was in the automobile at the time it was captured, or that the defendant had any connection with the occupants of the automobile at the time it was captured, or that the prohibited device was attached to the automobile at the time the defendant was seen therein even if it be conceded that the evidence was sufficient to establish the defendant's ownership of the automobile to which the prohibited device was attached, such evidence was not sufficient to be submitted to the jury upon the issue of the defendant's güilt under this section. State v. Yates, 208 N. C. 194, 195, 179 S. E. 756.

As to usury generally, see 12 Enc. Dig. 134 et seq.; 14 Enc. Dig. 693 et seq. And see §§ 2305 et seq.

Editor's Note.—This section was broadened by the Public Laws of 1927, ch. 72, by the addition of the portion relating to the assignment of wages.

This section is constitutional. State v. Davis, 157 N. C. 648, 73 S. E. 130.

CHAPTER 83

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE

Art. 1. General Provisions

§ 4512. Statute of limitations for misdemeanors. —All misdemeanors, and petit larceny where the value of the property does not exceed five dollars, except the offenses of perjury, forgery, malicious mischief, and other malicious misdemeanors, deceit, and the offense of being accessory after the fact, now made a misdemeanor, shall be presented or found by the grand jury within two years after the commission of the same, and not afterwards: Provided, that in case any of the misdemeanors, hereby required to be prosecuted within two years, shall have been committed in a secret manner, the same may be prosecuted within two years after the discovery of the offender: Provided, further, that if any indictment found within that time shall be defective, so that no judgment can be given thereon, another prosecution may be instituted for the same offense, within one year after the first shall have been abandoned by the state. (Rev., s. 3147; Code, s. 1177; R. C., c. 35, s. 8; 1826, c. 11; 1907, c. 408.)

As to what are misdemeanors see sections 4171-4173 and notes.

General Consideration.—The time between the commission of the offense and the bringing into court of the presentment should be estimated in determining whether the prosecution is barred. State v. Cooper, 104 N. C. 890, 891, 10 S. E. 510. The time stated in the indictment does not govern, State v. Newsom, 47 N. C. 173, the state can go back two years prior thereto although the indictment marks the beginning of the prosecution. State v. Williams, 151 N. C. 660, 65 S. E. 908. The statute does not begin to run from an entry of nol. pros. "with leave." Id.

Meaning of Malicious Misdemeanors.—When, in this section, the Legislature used the words "other malicious misdemeanors," which immediately follow the words "malicious mischief," it evidently intended to describe offenses of which malice is a necessary ingredient to constitute the criminal act, as in the case of malicious mischief, and it was not the purpose to include within the exception from the operation of that section such offenses as would be misdemeanors, even in the absence of malice, and when malice, if present, would be only a circumstance of aggravation, which the Court might consider in imposing the punishment. State v. Frisbee, 142 N. C. 671, 675, 55 S. E. 722.

Meaning of "Secret Manner." — The exception in this section "offenses committed in a secret manner," clearly applies to crimes committed in such manner that the offender is unknown to the person injured. State v. Crowell, 116 N. C. 1052, 1057, 21 S. E. 502. See for example State v. Watts, 32 N. C. 369.

"Deceit" as Used in Section.—There has never been such an indictable offence as "deceit" but the meaning of this section has always been that misdemeanors, the gist of which was a malice or deceit, are within the exception. In State v. Christianbury, 44 N. C. 46, it was held that there being no such offence as "deceit" it would apply to "cheating by false token" of which deceit was the gist but would not include "conspiracy to cheat" the gist of which offence is the conspiracy and the cheating but an aggravation. That decision did not restrict deceit to "cheating by false token" but instanced that as an offence coming within the general description of misdemeanors by deceit. State v. Crowell, 116 N. C. 1052, 1056, 21 S. E. 502.

What Offences Barred.—Slandering an innocent woman is not barred within two years. State v. Claywell, 98 N. C. 731, 3 S. E. 920. No length of possession can bar an action to abate a public nuisance. State v. Holman, 104 N. C. 861, 10 S. E. 758. Seduction is not barred. State v. Crowell, 116 N. C. 1052, 21 S. E. 502.

A malicious assault can not be the basis of an action two years after commission. State v. Frisbee, 142 N. C. 671, 55 S. E. 722.

The section has no application to conspiracy which is a felony. State v. Mallett, 125 N. C. 718, 34 S. E. 651 or to bastardy proceeding which are controlled by § 260. State v. Perry, 122 N. C. 1043, 30 S. E. 139.

What Constitutes a Presentment.—See State v. Morris, 104 N. C. 837, 10 S. E. 454.

Trial on Second Bill after Two Years Barred.—Even an indictment within the time will not uphold a trial and conviction on a second bill found after the statutory period. State v. Tomlinson, 25 N. C. 32; State v. Hedden, 187 N. C. 803, 805, 123 S. E. 65.

Preliminary Warrants Not Included.—There is no saving clause in this section as to the effect of preliminary warrants before a justice of the peace or other committing magistrate, and the law must be construed and applied as written. There must be a presentment or indictment within two years from the time of the offense committed and not afterwards. State v. Hedden, 187 N. C. 803, 805, 123 S. E. 65.

Necessity for Pleading Statute.—For a person charged with the commission of a criminal offense to avail himself of the alleged running of the statute of limitations, he must either specifically plead it or in apt time bring it to the attention of the court. State v. Brinkley, 193 N. C. 747, 138 S. E. 138.

Whether or not the court below will allow the statute of limitations as a defence to the action, where the same has not been pleaded or mentioned until the argument before the jury, is a matter of discretion. Privett v. Calloway, 75 N. C. 23.

Wrong Name in Bill of Indictment.—A bill of indictment by a wrong name, which is pleaded to in abatement, and the plea found, is, nevertheless, the same cause of action, and the elapse of two years is no bar to prosecution. State v. Hailey, 51 N. C. 42.

§ 4513. Issue and return of criminal process.—All process, warrants and precepts, issued by any judge or justice of the peace, or clerk of any court, on any criminal prosecution, may issue at any time, and be made returnable to any day of the term of the court, to which such warrant, process, or percept is returnable. (Rev., s. 3148; Code, s. 1178; R. C., c. 35, s. 9; 1777, c. 115, s. 15.)

§ 4514. Date of receipt and service indorsed on process.—Every sheriff or other officer shall indorse on all process and subpœnas issuing in criminal cases, whether for the state or defendant, the day when such process and subpœnas came to hand, and also the day of their execution; and on failure of any sheriff or other officer to perform either of said duties he shall forfeit and pay the sum of ten dollars for every case of neglect, to be recovered for the use of the state, in the same manner as forfeitures are recovered against sheriffs by parties in civil suits for failure to make due return of process delivered to them. (Rev., s. 3149; Code, s. 1179; R. C., c. 35, s. 10; 1850-1, c. 57.)

§ 4515. Accused entitled to counsel.—Every person, accused of any crime whatsoever, shall be entitled to counsel in all matters which may be necessary for his defense. (Rev., s. 3150; Code, s. 1182; R. C., c. 35, s. 13; 1777, c. 115, s. 85.)

As to court's control of argument, see § 203.

A Constitutional Right.—In all criminal prosecution every man has the right * * * to have counsel for his defence. Const. Art. I, sec. 11. State v. Sykes, 79 N. C. 618, 619; see also State v. Hardy, 189 N. C. 799, 128 S. E. 152.

Stated in Powell v. Alabama, 287 U. S. 45, 63, 53 S. Ct. 55, 77 L. Ed. 158, 84 A. L. R. 527.

§ 4516. Fees allowed counsel assigned to defend in capital case.—Whenever an attorney is appointed by the judge to defend a person charged with a capital crime, he shall receive such fee for performing this service as the judge may allow, not to exceed twenty-five dollars; but the judge shall not allow any fee until he is satisfied that the defendant charged with the capital crime is not able to employ counsel. The fees so allowed by the judge shall be paid by the county in which the indictment was found. (1917, c. 247.)

§ 4517. Imprisonment to be in county jail.—No person shall be imprisoned by any judge, court, justice of the peace, or other peace officer except in the common jail of the county, unless otherwise provided by law: Provided, that whenever the sheriff of any county shall be imprisoned, he may be imprisoned in the jail of any adjoining county. (Rev., s. 3151; Code, s. 1174; R. C., c. 35, s. 6; 1797, c. 474, s. 3; 1879, c. 12.)

§ 4518. Post-mortem examinations directed.—In all cases of homicide, any officer prosecuting for the state may, at any time, direct a post-mortem examination of the deceased to be made by one or more physicians to be summond for the purpose; and the physicians shall be paid a reasonable compensation for such examination, the amount to be determined by the court and taxed in the costs, and if not collected out of the defendant the same shall be paid by the county. (Rev., s. 3152; Code, s. 1214; R. C., c. 35, s. 49.)

Section Valid.—This section is a valid exercise of the police power of the state. Withers v. Board, 163 N. C. 341, 79 S. E. 615.

Left to Discretion of Trial Judge.—The board of commissioners of the county are not parties to a proceeding under this section, nor are they entitled to any notice before such orders are made. The matter is left to the sound discretion of the trial judge, and unless such discretion is grossly abused, the Supreme Court will not interfere. Withers v. Board, 163 N. C. 341, 345, 79 S. E. 615.

§ 4519. Stolen property returned to owner.—Upon conviction of any felon for robbing or stealing any money, goods, chattels, or other estate of any description whatever, the person from whom such goods, money, chattels or other estate were robbed or stolen shall be entitled to restitution thereof; and the court may award restitution of the articles so robbed or stolen, and make all such orders and issue such writs of restitution or otherwise as may be necessary for that purpose. (Rev., s. 3153; Code, s. 2101; R. C., c. 35, s. 34, 21 Hen. VIII, c. 11.)

§ 4520. Magistrate may associate another with him.—Any magistrate, to whom any complaint may be made, or before whom any prisoner may be brought, as by law provided, may associate with himself any other magistrate of the same county; and the powers and duties herein mentioned may be executed by the two magistrates so associated. (Rev., s. 3154; Code, s. 1159; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 28.)

Section Constitutional.—This section is in harmony with the provision of the Constitution, Art. IV, sec. 12, conferring power upon the General Assembly to allot and distribute judicial powers. State v. Flowers, 109 N. C. 841, 13 S. E. 718.

§ 4521. Speedy trial or discharge on commitment for felony.—When any person who has been committed for treason or felony, plainly and specially expressed in the warrant of commitment, upon his prayer in open court to be brought to his trial, shall not be indicted some time in the next term of the superior or criminal court ensuing such commitment, the judge of the court, upon notice in open court on the last day of the term, shall set at liberty such prisoner upon bail, unless it appear upon oath that the witnesses for the state could not be produced at the same term; and if such prisoner, upon his prayer as aforesaid, shall not be indicted and tried at the second term of the court, he shall be discharged from his imprisonment: Provided, the judge presiding may, in his discrecretion, refuse to discharge such person if the time between the first and second terms of the court be less than four months. (Rev., s. 3155; Code, s. 1658; 1868-9, c. 116, s. 33; 1913, c. 2.)

Requirements Peremptory.—This section is peremptory in its requirements; and where one so committed has formally complied with the provisions of the statute, it is the duty of the court to discharge the prisoner. State v. Webb, 155 N. C. 426, 70 S. E. 1064. The proper remedy is by certiorari. Id.

Remedy Is by Certiorari.—A certiorari is the proper procedure to review the order of the lower court in refusing to discharge a prisoner from custody under the provisions of this section. State v. Webb, 155 N. C. 426, 427, 70 S. E. 1064.

Art. 2. Warrants

§ 4522. Who may issue warrant.—The following persons respectively have power to issue process for the apprehension of persons charged with any offense, and to execute the powers and duties conferred in this chapter, namely: The chief justice and the associate justices of the supreme court, the judges of the superior court, judges of criminal courts, presiding officers of inferior courts, justices of the peace, mayors of cities, or other chief officers of incorporated towns. (Rev., s. 3156, Code, s. 1132; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 1.)

Mayor Pro. Tem. May Issue.—The power conferred upon a mayor pro tem. "to exercise the duties" of mayor during his absence includes that of issuing warrants in criminal actions. State v. Thomas, 141 N. C. 791, 53 S. E. 522.

Section 9, ch. 569, Public Local Laws of 1913 provides that process of a municipal court "shall be issued by either the judge of said court or by the chief of police." State v. Turner, 170 N. C. 701, 86 S. E. 1019.

§ 4523. Complainant examined on oath.—Whenever complaint is made to any such magistrate that a criminal offense has been committed within this state, or without this state and within the United States, and that a person charged therewith is in this state, it shall be the duty of such magistrate to examine on oath the complainant and any witnesses who may be produced by him. (Rev., s. 3157; Code, s. 1133; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 2.)

Oath Essential.—This section requires the Justice, before issuing a warrant to examine the complainant on oath. Merrimon v. Commissioners, 106 N. C. 369, 371, 11 S. E. 267.

Examination Must Show Commission of Offence.—It must appear by this examination that an offense has been committed before any warrant is issued. State v. Moore, 136 N. C. 581, 48 S. E. 573.

Sufficiency of Evidence.—It is the duty of a magistrate, before issuing a warrant on a criminal charge, except in cases super visum, to require evidence on oath amounting to a direct charge or creating a strong suspicion of guilt. Welch v. Scott, 27 N. C. 72.

Complaint Need Not Be Written.—In State v. Bryson, 84 N. C. 780, Ashe, J., in construing the privisions of the act which is now embodied in this and the next section says that no written affidavit or complaint is required. State v. Peters, 107 N. C. 876, 879, 12 S. E. 74.

Same—No Special Form Required.—It is not expected nor required, in the absence of special provision to the contrary, that an affidavit or complaint should be in any particular form, or should charge the crime with the fullness or particularity necessary in an information or indictment. 12 Cyc., 294. State v. Gupton, 166 N. C. 257, 262, 80 S. E. 989.

Appellate Court Cannot Look Behind Warrant.—The appellate court "can only look at the warrant, which is the complaint," and "cannot look behind the warrant for objections lying in the defects or irregularities of the preliminary evidence." State v. Peters, 107 N. C. 876, 879, 12 S. E. 74; State v. Bryson, 84 N. C. 780.

§ 4524. Warrant issued; contents.—If it shall appear from such examination that any criminal offense has been committed, the magistrate shall issue a proper warrrant under his hand, with or without seal, reciting the accusation, and commanding the officer to whom it is directed forthwith to take the person accused of having committed the offense, and bring him before a magistrate, to be dealt with according to law. A justice of the peace or a chief officer of a city or town shall direct his warrant to the sheriff or other lawful officer of his county. (Rev., s. 3158; Code, s. 1134; 1901, c. 668; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 3.)

General Consideration. — It is not necessary that a warrant for assault should charge that it was issued upon a sworn complaint. State v. Price, 111 N. C. 703, 16 S. E. 414. The facts constituting the offense must be set out with certainty. State v. Jones, 88 N. C. 671. But the warrant may refer to the affidavit. State v. Yellowday, 152 N. C. 793, 67 S. E. 480, as they will be construed together. State v. Gupton, 166 N. C. 257, 80 S. E. 989.

Appearance waives a defect in a warrant State v. Cole, 150 N. C. 805, 63 S. E. 958. A warrant need not negative an exception in a statute. State v. Moore, 166 N. C. 284, 81 S. E. 294.

Amendment of Warrant.—On appeal to the superior court from a conviction before a justice of the peace, the court can allow an amendment of the warrant. State v. Koonce, 108 N. C. 752, 12 S. E. 1032; State v. Carble, 70 N. C. 62. It is discretionary with the court whether it will exercise the power. State v. Vaughan, 91 N. C. 532; State v. Crook, 91 N. C. 536. But a warrant can not be amended so as to charge a different offense. State v. Taylor, 118 N. C. 1262. 24 S. E. 526; State v. Vaughan, 91 N. C. 532, 535; State v. Cook, 61 N. C. 535.

An order directing an amendment to a warrant by the insertion therein of certain words is self-executing, and the words need not be actually inserted in the complaint or warrant. State v. Yellowday, 152 N. C. 793, 67 S. E. 480;

See also, State v. Winslow, 95 N. C. 649; State v. Davis, 111 N. C. 729, 16 S. E. 540; State v. Sharp, 125 N. C. 628, 634, 34 S. E. 264; State v. Yoder, 132 N. C. 1111, 1113, 44 S. E. 689.

Officer Protected when Warrant Defective.—See State v. Gupton, 166 N. C. 257, 262, 80 S. E. 989; State v. Jones, 88 N. C. 671.

§ 4525. Where warrant may be executed.—Warrants issued by any justice of the supreme court, or by any judge of the superior court, or of a criminal court, may be executed in any part of this state; warrants issued by a justice of the peace or by the chief officer of any city or incorporated town, may be executed in any part of the county of such justice, or in which such city or town is situated, and on any river, bay or sound forming the boundary between that and some other county, and not elsewhere, unless indorsed as prescribed in the section following. (Rev., s. 3159; Code, s. 1135; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 4.)

§ 4526. Warrant indorsed and served in another county.—If the person against whom any warrant is issued by a justice of the peace or chief officer of a city or town shall escape, or be in any other county out of the jurisdiction of such justice or chief officer, it shall be the duty of any justice of the peace, or any other magistrate within the county where such offender shall be, or shall be suspected to be, upon proof of the handwriting of the magistrate or chief officer issuing the warrant, to indorse his name on the same, and thereupon the person, or officer to whom the warrant was directed, may arrest the offender in that county: Provided, that an officer to whom a warrant charging the commission of a felony is directed, who is in the actual pursuit of a person known to him to be the one charged with the felony, may continue the pursuit without such indorsement. The justice of the peace or a chief officer of a city or town shall direct his warrant to the sheriff or other lawful officer of his county, and such warrant when so indorsed as herein prescribed shall authorize and compel the sheriff or other officer of any county in the state, in which such indorsement is made, to execute the same. (Rev., s. 3160; Code s. 1136; 1917, c. 30; 1901, c. 668; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 5.)

Restricted to Criminal Cases.—The provision of this section is restricted to criminal cases. Fisher v. Bullard, 109 N. C. 574, 13 S. E. 799.

Justice in County of Service Must Endorse.—A warrant issued in one county to be served in another is not given extraterritorial efficacy unless it has the endorsement of a justice of the peace or other authorized officer in the latter county. Stancill v. Underwood, 188 N. C. 475, 476, 124 S. E. 845.

§ 4527. Magistrate not liable for indorsing warrant.—No magistrate shall be liable to any indictment, action for trespass or other action for having indorsed any warrant pursuant to the provisions of the last section, although it should afterward appear that such warrant was illegally or improperly issued. (Rev., s. 3161; Code, s. 1137; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 6.)

Endorsing Officer Fully Protected.—If a warrant issues from competent authority and the extraterritorial efficacy provided by section 4526 is imparted to it in the county wherein the accused party was arrested, the justification is full to the officer and all who co-operated with him, and no inquiry is admissible into the circumstances under which it was issued. State v. James, 80 N. C. 370, 372.

§ 4528. Before what magistrate a warrant returned.—Persons arrested under any warrant issued for any offense, where no provision is otherwise made, shall be brought before the magistrate who issued the warrant; or, if he be absent, or from any cause unable to try the case, before the nearest magistrate in the same county; and the warrant by virtue of which the arrest shall have been made, with a proper return indorsed thereon and signed by the officer or person making the arrest, shall be delivered to such magistrate. (Rev., s. 3162; Code, s. 1143; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 12.)

Mayor Pro Tem.—A warrant may be returnable before a mayor pro tem. State v. Thomas, 141 N. C 791, 53 S. E. 522.

Authority of Magistrate Issuing Warrant. — The magistrate who issues the warrant has the authority to make the warrant returnable before himself or before some officer having like jurisdiction, such a recorder to conduct the preliminary hearing. State v. Lord, 145 N. C. 479, 59 S. E. 656.

Cited in State v. James, 78 N. C. 455, 457.

Art. 3. Search Warrants

§ 4529. In what cases issued, and where executed.—If any credible witness shall prove, upon oath, before any justice of the peace, or mayor of any city, or chief magistrate of any incorporated town, that there is a reasonable cause to suspect that any person has in his possession, or on his premises, any property stolen, or any false or counterfeit coin resembling, or apparently intended to resemble, or pass for, any current coin of the United States, or of any other state, province or country, or any instrument, tool or engine whatsoever, adapted or intended for the counterfeiting of any such coin; or any false and counterfeit notes, bills or bonds of the United States, or of the state of North Carolina, or of any other state or country, or of any county, city or incorporated town; or any instrument, tool or engine whatsoever, adapted or intended for the counterfeiting of such note, bill or bond, it shall be lawful for such justice, mayor or chief magistrate of any incorporated town to grant a warrant, to be executed within the limits of his county or of the county in which such city or incorporated town is situated, to any proper officer, authorizing him to search for such property, and to seize the same, and to arrest the person having in possession or on whose premises may be found such stolen property, counterfeit coin, counterfeit notes, bills or bonds, or the instruments, tools or engines for making the same, and to bring them before any magistrate of competent jurisdiction, to be dealt with according to law. (Rev., s. 3163; Code, s. 1171; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 38.)

At Common Law.—Warrants to search for stolen goods are authorized by the principles of the common law. State v. McDonald, 14 N. C. 468, 470.

§ 4530. Nature of warrant and procedure thereon.—Such search warrant shall describe the article to be searched for with reasonable certainty, and by whom the complaint is made, and in whose possession the article to be searched for is supposed to be; it shall be made returnable as other criminal process is by law required to be. and the proceedings thereupon shall be as required in other cases of criminal complaint. (Rev., s. 3164; Code, s. 1172; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 39.)

As to search warrants for deserting seamen see section 4473. As to constitutional prohibition against general warrants, see N. C. Const. Art. I, sec. 14.

Art. 4. Peace Warrants

§ 4531. Officers authorized to issue peace warrants.—The following magistrates have power to cause to be kept all the laws made for the preservation of the public peace, and in execution of that power to require persons to give security to keep the peace, in the manner provided in this chapter, namely: The chief justice and associate justices of the supreme court, the judges of the superior courts, and of any special courts which may hereafter be created, the justices of the peace, the mayors or other chief officers of all cities and towns. (Rev., s. 3165; Code, s. 1216; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 2, s. 1.)

A Criminal Action—A peace warrant is a criminal action prosecuted by the state, at the instance of an individual, to prevent an apprehended crime against his person or property, and is within the exclusive jurisdiction of a justice of the peace. State v. Oates, 88 N. C. 668; State v. Locust, 63 N. C. 574.

§ 4532. Complaint and examination.—Whenever complaint is made in writing, and upon oath, to any such magistrate that any person has threatened to commit any offense against the person or property of another, it shall be the duty of such magistrate to examine such complainant and any witnesses who may be produced on oath, to reduce such examination to writing, and to cause the same to be subscribed by the parties so examined. (Rev., s. 3166; Code, s. 1217; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 2, s. 2.)

Applicant Should Not Be Bound Over.—It is error for a justice of the peace to bind to the superior court an applicant for a peace warrant against whom no charge is made. State v. Bass, 75 N. C. 139.

§ 4533. Warrant issued.—If it shall appear from such examination that there is just reason to fear the commission of any such offense by the person complained of, it shall be the duty of the magistrate to issue a warrant under his hand, with or without a seal, reciting the complaint, and commanding the officer to whom it is directed forthwith to apprehend the person so complained of, and bring him before such magistrate or some other magistrate authorized to issue such warrant. (Rev., s. 3167; Code, s. 1218; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 2, s. 3.)

Warrant Should Contain Allegations.—A peace warrant in which is alleged no threat, fact or circumstance from which the court can determine whether the fear of the prosecutor is well founded, should be quashed. State v. Goram, 83 N. C. 664; State v. Cooley, 78 N. C. 538.

§ 4534. To whom warrant directed.—The warrant shall be directed to the sheriff, coroner or any constable, each of whom shall have power to execute the same within his county; and if no sheriff, coroner or constable can conveniently be found, the warrant may be directed to any person whatever, who shall have power to execute the same within the county in which it is issued. No justice of the peace, or mayor, or other chief officer of any city or town shall direct his warrant to any officer outside the county of said justice or chief officer. (Rev., s. 3169; Code, s. 1219; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 2, s. 4.)

Right of Private Person to Make Arrest.—A private person has no authority to make an arrest for a riot, rout, affray, or other breach of the peace, without warrant, except when such offenses are being committed in his presence; nor can a justice of the peace confer such authority by a mere verbal order or command. State v. Campbell, 107 N. C. 948, 12 S. E. 441; as to private persons making arrest see generally sections 4542, 4543.

Section Confers Extraordinary Power.—The power conferred by this section is the only extraordinary case in which a justice of the peace is authorized to depute one, who is not an officer, to execute process. Marsh v. Williams, 63 N. C. 371; State v. Jones, 48 N. C. 404; McKee v. Angel, 90 N. C. 60, 61, 62.

§ 4535. Defendant recognized to keep the peace.—Whenever any person complained of on a peace warrant is brought before a justice of the peace, such person may be required to enter into a recognizance, payable to the state of North Carolina, in such sum, not exceeding one thousand dollars, as such justice shall direct, with one or more sufficient sureties, to appear before some justice of the peace within a period not exceeding six months, and not depart the court without leave, and in the meanwhile to keep the peace and be of good behavior towards all the people of the state, and particularly towards the person requiring such security. (Rev., s. 3170; Code, ss. 894, 1220; 1879, c. 92, s. 9.)

Jurisdiction Given to Justices. — This section gives to justices of the peace exclusive original jurisdiction of peace warrants and proceedings thereunder. State v. Oates, 88 N. C. 668, 670.

§ 4536. Defendant discharged, or new recognizance required.—If the complainant does not appear, the party recognized shall be discharged, unless good cause be shown to the contrary. If the respective parties appear, the court shall hear their allegations and proofs, and may either discharge the recognizance taken or they may require a new recognizance, as the circumstances of the case may require, for such time as may appear necessary, not exceeding one year. (Rev., s. 3171; Code, s. 1226; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 2, s. 12.)

§ 4537. Defendant imprisoned for want of security.—If such recognizance is given, the party complained of shall be discharged; if such person fails to find such security, it shall be the duty of the magistrate to commit him to prison until he shall find the same, specifying in the mittimus the cause of commitment and the sum in which such security was required. (Rev., s. 3172; Code, s. 1221; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 2, s. 6.)

Prisoner Worked on Roads.—One committed under this section may be worked upon the roads. State v. Yandle, 119 N. C. 874, 25 S. E. 796.

§ 4538. How discharged from imprisonment.—Any person committed for not finding sureties of the peace as above provided, may be discharged by any magistrate upon giving such security as was originally required of such person, or by a justice of the supreme court, or judge of the superior or criminal court, by giving such other security as may seem sufficient. (Rev., s. 3174; Code, 1222; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 2, s. 7.)

§ 4539. Defendant may appeal.—In all proceedings on peace warrants the defendant may appeal from the decision of the justice of the peace to the superior court by giving the bond required by the justice of the peace to keep the peace, in addition to the appeal bond, when the case shall be heard by the judge holding the court in the county. (Rev., s. 3173; 1901, c. 66.)

Editor's Note.—Previous to the passage of this section it was several times held that there was no appeal in peace warrant proceedings from the justice of the peace to the superior court. See State v. Gregory, 118 N. C. 1199, 24 S. E. 712, citing State v. Walker, 94 N. C. 857 and State v. Lyon, 93 N. C. 575. This section makes these decisions obsolete.

§ 4540. Breach of peace in presence of court.—Every person who in the presence of any magistrate specified in the first section of this article, or in the presence of any court of record, shall make any affray, or threaten to kill or beat another, or to commit any offense against his person or property; and all persons who, in the presence of such magistrate or court, shall contend with hot and angry words, may be ordered by such magistrate or court, without any other proof, to give such security as above specified, and in case of failure so to do, may be committed as above provided. (Rev., s. 3168; Code, s. 1224; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 2, s. 9.)

§ 4541. Recognizance returned to superior court.—Every recognizance taken pursuant to the provisions of this article shall be transmitted by the magistrate taking the same to the next term of the superior court for the county in which the offense is charged to have been committed. (Rev., s. 3175; Code, s. 1223; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 2, s. 8.)

Art. 5. Arrest

§ 4542. Persons present may arrest for breach of peace.—Every person present at any riot, rout, affray or other breach of the peace, shall endeavor to suppress and prevent the same, and, if necessary for that purpose, shall arrest the offenders. (Rev., s. 3176; Code, s. 1124; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 1, s. 1.)

For a full treatment of arrest on criminal charges see 1 N. C. Enc. Dig. 951-963; 13 N. C. Enc. Dig. 176-180.

Authority Strictly Limited.—The authority given by this section to private persons to make arrests without warrant only extends to the offenses therein mentioned and committed under the conditions therein prescribed. State v. Campbell, 197 N. C. 948, 12 S. E. 441.

Same—Breach of Town Ordinance. — The violation of a town ordinance, even in the presence of a policeman, does not necessarily give him a right to arrest the offender. State v. Belk, 76 N. C. 10.

Same—After Offense Committed. — After the offenses—misdemeanors—mentioned above have been committed, and the offenders have dispersed, a private person has no authority of himself to arrest the offenders without warrant nor can he go out to make such arrest by the mere order of justice of the peace or any officer. State v. Campbell, 107 N. C. 948, 954, 12 S. E. 441.

Liability When Authority Exceeded.—If a private person, of his own purpose, without warrant, undertakes to make arrest of a party guilty of only a misdemeanor otherwise than in the cases and in the way pointed out by the section he at once becomes a trespasser, and the party whom he so undertakes to deprive of his liberty may resist him by such force as may be necessary to defend himself successfully. State v. Campbell, 107 N. C. 948, 954, 12 S. E. 441.

§ 4543. Arrest for felony, without warrant.—Every person in whose presence a felony has been committed may arrest the person whom he knows or has reasonable ground to believe to be guilty of such offense, and it shall be the duty of every sheriff, coroner, constable or officer of the police, upon information, to assist in such arrest. (Rev., s. 3177; Code, s. 1129; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 1, s. 6.)

Right of Private Person to Arrest.—A private person may arrest the felon without a warrant, and it is his duty to do so if he is present at the time the felony is committed. Martin v. Houck, 141 N. C. 317, 321, 54 S. E. 291. In such case, he may and ought to arrest and, as soon as practicable, take him before a proper officer, to the end that he may be duly held to answer for the offense. In such case, the private person would not be justified unless a felony had actually been committed. It is better and safer to obtain a warrant when this may be promptly done. State v. Roane, 13 N. C. 58; Brockway v. Crawford, 48 N. C. 433; State v. Bryant, 65 N. C. 327; State v. Shelton, 79 N. C. 605; Neal v. Joyner, 89 N. C. 287; State v. Campbell, 107 N. C. 948, 953, 12 S. E. 441; Martin v. Houck, 141 N. C. 317, 322, 54 S. E. 291.

As to what constitutes reasonable ground for believing that accused has committed a felony in the presence of the person making the arrest, see State v. Blackwelder, 182 N. C. 899, 109 S. E. 644.

Party Arresting Must State His Purpose. — A private citizen, attempting to arrest a felon without warrant, must make his purpose known, and for what offense. And unless he does so, the party attempted to be arrested has the right to resist the arrest. Neal v. Joyner, 89 N. C. 287, 289; State v. Garrett, 60 N. C. 144; State v. Belk, 76 N. C. 10; State v. McNinch, 90 N. C. 695; State v. Stancill. 128 N. C. 606, 610. 38 S. E. 926. And unless he notifies the felon of his purpose, he will be guilty of a trespass. State v. Bryant, 65 N. C. 327.

Force Permissible in Arrest.—Where a private person undertakes to arrest a felon or an escaped felon, and has made his purpose and reason for the arrest known, he must then proceed in a peaceable manner to make the arrest, and if he is resisted he may use such force as is necessary to overcome the resistance, if used for that purpose alone. 2 Am. and Eng. Enc., 906, note 2 But this is put upon the ground that the party attempting to make the arrest becomes personally involved, and he has the right to defend himself. State v. Stancill, 128 N. C. 606, 610, 38 S. E. 926.

No Right to Shoot Escaping Subject. — Where the attempted arrest is for a petty larceny, and the party runs off, the party attempting the arrest has no right to shoot and kill him. State v. Bryant, 65 N. C. 327; State v. Stancill, 128 N. C. 606, 610, 38 S. E. 926.

A Federal prohibition officer, acting under the National Prohibition Act, can derive no further authority to arrest an offender without a warrant than the federal statute itself provides; and no further power can be acquired by him by virtue of this section, permitting such to be done by a private person, in case of a felony, such as murder, rape, and the like, when the unlawful act has been committed in his presence. State v. Burnett, 183 N. C. 703, 110 S. E. 588.

§ 4544. When officer may arrest without warrant.—Every sheriff, coroner, constable, officer or police, or other officer, entrusted with the care and preservation of the public peace, who shall know or have reasonable ground to believe that any felony has been committed, or that any dangerous wound has been given, and shall have reasonable ground to believe that any particular person is guilty, and shall apprehend that such person may escape if not immediately arrested, shall arrest him without warrant, and may summon all bystanders to aid in such arrest. (Rev., s. 3178; Code, s. 1126; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 1, s. 3.)

Common Law Provisions. — At common law there is this distinction between a private individual and a constable; in order to justify the former in causing the imprisonment of a person, he must not only make out a reasonable ground of suspicion, but he must prove that an actual felony has been committed. Whereas, a constable having reasonable ground to suspect that a felony has been committed, is authorized to detain the party suspected until an inquiry shall be made by the proper authorities. Neal v. Joyner, 89 N. C. 287, 290.

An Emergency Measure — The arrest of a person by an officer without a warrant is allowed upon emergency. Hobbs v. Washington, 168 N. C. 293, 84 S. E. 391.

Powers of Police Officer.—A police officer was not known to the common law, and therefore he can exercise powers only within the town limits. Martin v. Houck, 141 N. C. 317, 321, 54 S. E. 291. And is guilty of assault when he arrests without a warrant outside such limits. Sossamon v. Cruse, 133 N. C. 470, 45 S. E. 757.

The superintendent of a convict gang is not such an officer as contemplated by this section. State v. Stancill, 128 N. C. 606, 38 S. E. 926.

Rearrest of Escaped Convict.—An escaped convict may be rearrested in any county of the State without new process, by the officer in charge of him, to compel him to complete the service of the sentence imposed by the court. State v. Finch, 177 N. C. 599, 99 S. E. 409.

Reasonable Ground for Belief Excuses Officer.—In making an arrest upon personal observation and without a warrant an officer will be excused, though no offense was perpetrated, if the circumstances are such as to reasonably warrant the belief that it had been. State v. Campbell. 182 N. C. 911, 914, 110 S. E. 86; State v. McNinch, 90 N. C. 695, 699. As to what constitutes reasonable ground see that catchline in preceding section.

Same—What Must Be Shown.—A peace officer may justify an arrest without a warrant, when he shows satisfactory reasons for his belief of the fact and the guilt of the suspected party, and that delay in procuring a warrant might enable the party to escape. In such case, proof of actual commission of the crime is not necessary. Neal v. Joyner, 89 N. C. 287.

Arrest of Participants in Indecent Show.—See Brewer v. Wynne, 163 N. C. 319, 322, 79 S. E. 629.

Officer Cannot Shoot at Fleeing Misdemeanant.—Where a person is fleeing from arrest, charged with a misdemeanor, and is out of the control of the officer, such officer is guilty of an assault if he shoots at the said person. Sossamon v. Cruse, 133 N. C. 470, 45 S. E. 757. And indeed the use of a pistol in attempting to arrest for a misdemeanor is excessive force. Id.

This section applies only to peace officers of the State, and in the enforcement of the State law, and does not affect the conduct or powers of Federal officers unless the principles therein are extended to such officers by a Federal statute, when in the enforcement of a valid Federal law. State v. Burnett, 183 N. C. 703, 110 S. E. 588.

Cited in State v. Macon, 198 N. C. 483, 487, 152 S. E. 407.

§ 4544(1). Sheriffs and deputies granted power to arrest felons anywhere in state.—When a felony is committed in any county in this State, and upon the commission of the felony, the person or persons charged therewith flees or flee the county, the sheriff of the county in which the crime was committed, and/or his bonded deputy or deputies, either with or without process, is hereby given authority to pursue the person or persons so charged, whether in sight or not, and apprehend and arrest him or them anywhere in the State. (1935, c. 204.)

§ 4545. House broken open to prevent felony.—All persons are authorized to break open and enter a house to prevent a felony about to be committed therein. (Rev., s. 3179; Code, s. 1127; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 1, s. 4.)

§ 4546. When officer may break and enter houses.—If a felony or other infamous crime has been committed, or a dangerous wound has been given and there is reasonable ground to believe that the guilty person is concealed in a house, it shall be lawful for any sheriff, coroner, constable, or police officer, admittance having been demanded and denied, to break open the door and enter the house and arrest the person against whom there shall be such ground of belief. (Rev., s. 3180; Code, s. 1128; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 1, s. 5.)

§ 4547. Persons summoned to assist in arrest.—Every person summoned by a judge, justice, mayor, intendant, chief officer of any incorporated town, sheriff, coroner or constable, to aid in suppressing any riot, rout, unlawful assembly, affray or other breach of the peace, or to arrest the persons engaged in the commission of such offenses, or to prevent the commission of any felony or larceny which may be threatened or begun, shall do so. (Rev., s. 3181; Code, s. 1125; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 1, s. 2.)

As to liability for failure to aid police officers, see section 4379.

Protection of Persons Assisting.—This section makes it imperative on the person so summoned to aid, whether he be present at the perpetration of the offense when summoned, or not. State v. Campbell, 107 N. C. 948, 953, 12 S. E. 441. The protection extends to persons aiding. State v. McMahan, 103 N. C. 379, 382, 9 S. E. 48.

Limits Imposed by Section. — The power conferred upon officers by this section is limited to the cases mentioned in the section, and while they are actually being perpetrated, or are imminent. It does not go to the extent of authorizing the persons thus summoned to make arrests, without warrant, where the offense has been accomplished and the offenders have dispersed. State v. Campbell, 107 N. C. 948, 12 S. E. 441.

§ 4548. Procedure on arrest without warrant.—Every person arrested without warrant shall be either immediately taken before some magistrate having jurisdiction to issue a warrant in the case, or else committed to the county prison, and, as soon as may be, taken before such magistrate, who, on proper proof, shall issue a warrant and thereon proceed to act as may be required by law. (Rev., s. 3182; Code, s. 1130; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 1, s. 7.)

Proper Compliance Protects Justice.—If the justice shall comply with this section by carefully examining the complainant, on oath, before issuing his warrant, few cases would arise in which he would not have judgment for his fees. Merrimon v. Commissioners, 106 N. C. 369, 371, 11 S. E. 267.

Liability of Officer for Wrongful Delay.—A warrant must be procured as soon after the arrest as possible and, where it appears that this was not done, the officer responsible for the arrest is personally answerable in damages. Hobbs v. Washington, 168 N. C. 293, 84 S. E. 391.

Art. 6. Fugitives from Justice

§ 4549. Outlawry for felony.—In all cases where any two justices of the peace, or any judge of the supreme, superior or criminal courts shall, on written affidavit, filed and retained by such justice or judge, receive information that a felony has been committed by any person, and that such person flees from justice, conceals himself and evades arrest and service of the usual process of the law, the judge, or the two justices, being justices of the county wherein such person is supposed to lurk or conceal himself, are hereby empowered and required to issue proclamation against him reciting his name, if known, and thereby requiring him forthwith to surrender himself; and also, when issued by any judge, empowering and requiring the sheriff of any county in the state in which such fugitive shall be, and when issued by two justices, empowering and requiring the sheriff of the county of the justices, to take such power with him as he shall think fit and necessary for the going in search and pursuit of, and effectually apprehending, such fugitive from justice, which proclamation shall be published at the door of the courthouse of any county in which such fugitive is supposed to lurk or conceal himself, and at such other places as the judge or justices shall direct; and if any person against whom proclamation has been thus issued, continue to stay out, lurk and conceal himself, and do not immediately surrender himself, any citizen of the state may capture, arrest and bring him to justice, and in case of flight or resistance by him, after being called on and warned to surrender, may slay him without accusation or impeachment of any crime. (Rev., s. 3183; Code, s. 1131; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 1, s. 8; 1866, c. 62.)

Cross References.—See generally chapter entitled extradition in the appendix. For full treatment of extradition see 6 N. C. Enc. Dig. 344 et seq.

Fugitive from Justice. — A fugitive from justice is one who, having committed a crime in one jurisdiction, flees therefrom in order to evade the law and escape punishment. State v. Hall, 115 N. C. 811, 20 S. E. 729.

Outlaws Must Be Warned. — "So careful is the law to protect those who have not been tried and convicted, that the 'outlaws' are entitled to be 'called upon and warned to surrender' before they are allowed to be slain." State v. Stancill, 128 N. C. 606, 611, 38 S. E. 926, in dissenting opinion by Cook, J.

§ 4550. Fugitives from another state arrested.—Any justice of the supreme court, or any judge of the superior court or of any criminal court, or any justice of the peace, or mayor of any city, or chief magistrate of any incorporated town, on satisfactory information laid before him that any fugitive or other person in the state has committed, out of the state and within the United States, any offense which, by law of the state in which the offense was committed, is punishable either capitally or by imprisonment for one year or upwards in any state prison, has full power and authority, and is hereby required, to issue a warrant for such fugitive or other person and commit him to any jail within the state for the space of six months, unless sooner demanded by the public authorities of the state wherein the offense may have been committed, pursuant to the act of congress in that case made and provided. If no demand be made within that time the fugitive or other person shall be liberated, unless sufficient cause be shown to the contrary. (Rev., s. 3184; Code, s. 1165; 1895, c. 103; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 34.)

Editor's Note.—See Editor's Note under section 4604. The same defendants, who were freed in the case discussed in that note were rearrested and held under the provisions of this section which then provided for the arrest of "any fugitive in the state" etc. Upon a petition by the defendants for habeas corpus it was decided in State v. Hall, 115 N. C. 811, 20 S. E. 729, that they were not fugitives and hence could not be held for extradition. This section has since been amended by adding after the words "any fugitive" the words "or other person" which seem to make the statute broad enough to cover a case like that above.

This section seems to have been superseded by § 4556(l).

In General.—This section prescribes the manner in which criminals escaping from other States may be restored to that having jurisdiction of the offense, and its directions can not be disregarded. It provides fully a method by which the crime may be punished, and at the same time guards and preserves the personal security of the citizen from lawless invasion. State v. Shelton, 79 N. C. 605, 608.

Process Necessary.—No one has authority, without process legally issued in this State, to arrest a person charged with crime in another state and fleeing here for refuge. Such an arrest makes the parties engaged in it guilty of an assault and battery. State v. Shelton, 79 N. C. 605.

Departure after Crime Is Flight from Justice.—Departure from a jurisdiction after the commission of the act, in furtherance of the crime subsequently consummated, is a flight from justice, within the meaning of the law. In re Sultan, 115 N. C. 57, 20 S. E. 375.

§ 4551. Record kept, and copy sent to governor.—Every magistrate committing any person under the preceding section shall keep a record of the whole proceedings before him, and immediately transmit a copy thereof to the governor for such action as he may deem fit therein under the law. (Rev., s. 3185; Code, s. 1166; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 35.)

See editor's note under § 4550, and see §§ 4556(a) et seq.

§ 4552. Duty of governor.—The governor shall immediately inform the governor of the state or territory in which the crime is alleged to have been committed, or the president of the United States, if it be alleged to have been committed within the District of Columbia, of the proceedings had in such case. (Rev., s. 3186; Code, s. 1167; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 36.)

See editor's note under § 4550, and see §§ 4556(a) et seq.

§ 4553. Person surrendered on order of governor.—Every sheriff or jailer in whose custody any person so committed shall be, upon the order of the governor, shall surrender him to the person named in such order. (Rev., s. 3187; Code, s. 1168; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 37.)

See editor's note under § 4550, and see §§ 4556(a) et seq.

§ 4554. Governor may employ agents, and offer rewards.—The governor, on information made to him of any person, whether the name of such person be known or unknown, having committed a felony or other infamous crime within the state, and of having fled out of the jurisdiction thereof, or who conceals himself within the state to avoid arrest, or who, having been convicted, has escaped and cannot otherwise be apprehended, may either employ a special agent, with a sufficient escort, to pursue and apprehend such fugitive, or issue his proclamation, and therein offer a reward, not exceeding four hundred dollars, according to the nature of the case, as in his opinion may be sufficient for the purpose, to be paid to him who shall apprehend and deliver the fugitive to such person and at such place as in the proclamation shall be directed. (Rev., s. 3188; Code, s. 1169; 1891, c. 421; R. C., c. 35, s. 4; 1800, c. 561; 1860, c. 28; 1868-9, c. 52; 1870-1, c. 15; 1871-2, c. 29; 1925, c. 275, s. 6.)

Editor's Note.—This section formerly contained at the end a clause authorizing the governor to issue warrants on the state treasurer for sufficient money to carry out the provisions of the section. This clause made the section an exception to section 7682 which provides that "no monies shall be paid out of the treasury except on the warrant of the auditor."

By sec. 6, ch. 275, Public Laws 1925 the provision authorizing warrants by the governor was stricken out. By the same act section 4556, which contained a similar provision was repealed. See Burton v. Furman, 115 N. C. 166, 171, 20 S. E. 443.

§ 4555. Officer entitled to reward.—Any sheriff or other officer who shall make an arrest of any person charged with crime for whose apprehension a reward has been offered, is entitled to such reward, and may sue for and recover the same in any court in this state having jurisdiction: Provided, that no reward shall be paid to any sheriff or other officer for any arrest made for a crime committed within the county of such sheriff or officer making such arrest: Provided further, that the foregoing proviso shall not apply to Wake county; and that in Wake county, upon conviction of convict of an escape, the reward paid to the sheriff or other officer for the apprehension of such escaped convict shall be taxed against such convict on the bill of costs. (1913, c. 132; 1917, c. 8.)

See 13 N. C. Law Rev., 15, as to whom an offer may be made.

Law Giving Reward to Sheriff Valid.—In view of this and the preceding section, Public Local Laws of 1925, ch. 318, s. 2 providing that the board of commissioners should pay a reward to the sheriff or other police officers for arresting violators of the prohibition law, is a valid exercise of the police power of the State and not contrary to public policy. Hutchins v. Board, 193 N. C. 660, 137 S. E. 711.

§ 4556. Expenses paid, in bringing fugitive from another state.—In all cases where the governor of the state has made a requisition on the governor of another state for any fugitive from justice and has sent an agent to receive such fugitive, it shall be lawful for the governor to issue a warrant on the state treasurer for the amount of money necessary to pay the expenses of the agent and other costs in the arresting of the fugitive from justice, to be paid by the treasurer of the state. (Rev., s. 3189; Code, s. 1170; 1870-1, c. 82.)

Editor's Note.—This section seems to have been superseded by § 4556(v).

Art. 6A. Extradition

§ 4556(a). Definitions. — Where appearing in this article, the term "Governor" includes any person performing the functions of Governor by authority of the law of this State. The term "Executive Authority" includes the Governor and any person performing the functions of Governor in a State other than this State. And the term "State," referring to a State other than this State, refers to any other State or territory organized or unorganized of the United States of America. (1931, c. 124, s. 1.)

§ 4556(b). Criminals to be delivered upon requisition.—Subject to the qualifications of this article, and the provisions of the Constitution of the United States controlling, and acts of Congress in pursuance thereof, it is the duty of the Governor of this State to have arrested and delivered up to the executive authority of any other State of the United States any person charged in that State with treason, felony, or other crime, as provided in section 4550, or abandonment of wife and/or children, who has fled from justice and is found in this State. (1931, c. 124, s. 2.)

§ 4556(c). Form of demand.—No demand for the extradition of a person charged with crime in another State shall be recognized by the Governor unless in writing and accompanied by a copy of an indictment found or by an information supported by affidavit in the State having jurisdiction of the crime, or by a copy of an affidavit made before a magistrate there, together with a copy of any warrant which was issued thereon. The indictment, information, or affidavit made before the magistrate must substantially charge the person demanded with having committed a crime under the law of that State; and the copy must be authenticated by the executive authority making the demand, which shall be prima facie evidence of its truth. (1931, c. 124, s. 3.)

§ 4556(d). Governor may investigate case. — When a demand shall be made upon the Governor of this State by the executive authority of another State for the surrender of a person so charged with crime the Governor may call upon the attorney general or any prosecuting officer in this State to investigate or assist in investigating the demand, and to report to him the situation and circumstances of the person so demanded, and whether he ought to be surrendered. (1931, c. 124, s. 4.)

§ 4556(e). What extradition papers must show. —A warrant of extradition must not be issued unless the documents presented by the executive authority making the demand show that the accused was present in the demanding State at the time of the commission of the alleged crime, and that he thereafter fled from that State, and is now in this State, and that he is lawfully charged by indictment found or by an information filed by a prosecuting officer and supported by affidavit to the facts, or by affidavit made before a magistrate in that State, with having committed a crime under the laws of that State, or that he has been convicted of crime in that State and has escaped from confinement or broken his parole. (1931, c. 124, s. 5.)

§ 4556(f). Issue of Governor's warrant of arrest; its recitals.—If the Governor shall decide that the demand should be complied with, he shall sign a warrant of arrest, which shall be sealed with the State seal, and be directed to a sheriff, marshal, coroner, or other person whom he may think fit to entrust with the execution thereof; and the warrant must substantially recite the facts necessary to the validity of issue. (1931, c. 124, s. 6.)

§ 4556(g). Manner and place of executing warrant.—Such warrant shall authorize the officer or other person to whom directed to arrest the accused at any place where he may be found within the State and to command the aid of all sheriffs and other peace officers in the execution of the warrant, and to deliver the accused subject to the provisions of this article, to the duly authorized agent of the demanding State. (1931, c. 124, s. 7.)

§ 4556(h). Authority of arresting officer. — Every such officer or other person empowered to make the arrest, shall have the same authority in arresting the accused to command assistance therein, as sheriffs and other officers have by law in the execution of any criminal process directed to them with the like penalties against those who refuse their assistance. (1931, c. 124, s. 8.)

§ 4556(i). Accused may apply for writ of Habeas Corpus.—No person arrested upon such warrant shall be delivered over to the agent whom the executive authority demanding him shall have appointed to receive him unless he has been informed of the demand made for his surrender and of the crime with which he is charged, and that he has the right to demand legal counsel; and if the prisoner, his friends, or counsel shall state that he or they desire to test the legality of the arrest, the prisoner shall be taken forthwith before a judge of a court of record in this State, who shall fix a reasonable time to be allowed him within which to apply for a writ of habeas corpus. And when such writ is applied for, notice thereof, and of the time and place of hearing thereon, shall be given to the public prosecuting officer of the county in which the arrest is made and in which the accused is in custody, and to the said agent of the demanding State. (1931, c. 124, s. 9.)

§ 4556(j). Penalty for noncompliance with preceding section.—Any officer who shall deliver to the agent for extradition of the demanding State a person in his custody under the Governor's warrant in disobedience to the last section or any agent for extradition who shall attempt to deprive the defendant of the benefits of section nine shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined (not more than one thousand ($1,000) dollars, or be imprisoned not more than six months, or both). (1931, c. 124, s. 10.)

§ 4556(k). Confinement in jail when necessary.—The officer or person executing the Governor's warrant of arrest, or the agent of the demanding State to whom the prisoner may have been delivered, may when necessary confine the prisoner in the jail of any county or city through which he may pass; and the keeper of such jail must receive and safely keep the prisoner until the person having charge of him is ready to proceed on his route, such person being chargeable with the expense of keeping. (1931, c. 124, s. 11.)

§ 4556(l). Arrest prior to requisition.—Whenever any person within this State shall be charged on the oath of any credible person before any judge or other magistrate of this State with the commission of any crime in any other State and with having fled from justice; or whenever complaint shall have been made before any judge or other magistrate in this State setting forth on the affidavit of any credible person in another State that a crime has been committed in such other State and that the accused has been charged in such State with the commission of the crime, and has fled therefrom and is believed to have been found in this State, the judge or magistrate shall issue a warrant directed to the sheriff of the county in which the oath or complaint is filed directing him to apprehend the person charged, wherever he may be found in this State, and bring him before the same or any other judge, court or magistrate who may be convenient of access to the place where the arrest may be made, to answer the charge or complaint and affidavit; and a certified copy of the sworn charge or complaint and affidavit upon which the warrant is issued shall be attached to the warrant. (1931, c. 124, s. 12.)

Where a justice of the peace of this State issues a warrant for the arrest of a person based upon an affidavit that such person was a fugitive from justice from another state, and the warrant is regular and valid, as provided by this section, in habeas corpus proceedings instituted prior to a hearing upon the warrant before the justice of the peace, an order remanding the petitioner to the custody of the sheriff who had arrested petitioner is not error, but petitioner is entitled to a hearing before the justice of the peace before he is committed to await the issuance of an extradition warrant. In re Mitchell, 205 N. C. 788, 172 S. E. 350.

A person arrested upon a warrant of a justice of the peace of this state, issued upon an affidavit that such person was a fugitive from justice from another state, as provided by this section, may not be lawfully delivered to the authorities of such other state until the Governor of this State has honored a requisition for such person from the Governor of such other state. Id.

§ 4556(m). Arrest without a warrant.—The arrest of a person may be lawfully made also by an officer or a private citizen without a warrant upon reasonable information that the accused stands charged with a crime punishable by death or life imprisonment or ten years in the State's Prison in the courts of another State; but when so arrested the accused must be taken before a judge or magistrate with all practicable speed and complaint must be made against him under oath setting forth the ground for the arrest as in the last section; and thereafter his answer shall be heard as if he had been arrested on a warrant. (1931, c. 124, s. 13.)

§ 4556(n). Commitment to await requisition; bail.—If from the examination before the judge or magistrate it appears that the person held is the person charged with having committed the crime alleged and that he probably committed the crime, and, except in cases arising under section 4556(f), that he has fled from justice, the judge or magistrate must commit him to jail by a warrant reciting the accusation for such a time specified in the warrant as will enable the arrest of the accused to be made under a warrant of the Governor on a requisition of the executive authority of the State having jurisdiction of the offense, unless the accused give bail as provided in the next section, or until he shall be legally discharged. (1931, c. 124, s. 14.)

§ 4556(o). Bail except in capital and life imprisonment cases; condition and requisites of bond. — Unless the offense with which the prisoner is charged is shown to be an offense punishable by death or life imprisonment under the laws of the State in which it was committed, the judge or magistrate must admit the person arrested to bail by bond or undertaking, with sufficient sureties, and in such sum as he deems proper, for his appearance before him at a time specified in such bond or undertaking, and for his surrender, to be arrested upon the warrant of the Governor of this State. (1931, c. 124, s. 15.)

4556(p). Discharge of accused where no arrest made within time specified.—If the accused is not arrested under warrant of the Governor by the expiration of the time specified in the warrant, bond or undertaking, the judge or magistrate may discharge him or may recommit him to a further day, or may again take bail for his appearance and surrender, as provided in section 4556(o); and at the expiration of the second period of commitment, or if he has been bailed and appeared according to the terms of his bond or undertaking, the judge or magistrate may either discharge him, or may require him to enter into a new bond or undertaking, to appear and surrender himself at another day. (1931, c. 124, s. 16.)

§ 4556(q). Forfeiture of bail.—If the prisoner is admitted to bail, and fails to appear and surrender himself according to the condition of his bond, the court, by proper order, shall declare the bond forfeited; and recovery may be had thereon in the name of the State as in the case of other bonds or undertakings given by the accused in criminal proceedings within this State. (1931, c. 124, s. 17.)

§ 4556(r). Accused held to answer charges in this State.—If a criminal prosecution has been instituted against such person under the laws of this State and is still pending, the Governor at his discretion either may surrender him on the demand of the executive authority of another State, or may hold him until he has been tried and discharged, or convicted and punished in this State. (1931, c. 124, s. 18.)

§ 4556(s). Govenor may recall warrant or issue alias.—The Governor may recall his warrant of arrest, or may issue another warrant whenever he deems proper. (1931, c. 124, s. 19.)

§ 4556(u). Manner of applying for requisition.—When the return to this State of a person charged with crime in this State is required, the prosecuting attorney (of the county in which the offense is committed) shall present to the Governor his written application for a requisition for the return of the person charged, in which application shall be stated the name of the person so charged, the crime charged against him, and the approximate time, place and circumstances of its committal, the State in which he is believed to be, including the location of the accused therein at the time the application is made, and certifying that in the opinion of the said prosecuting attorney the ends of justice require the arrest and return of the accused to this State for trial, and that the proceeding is not instituted to enforce a private claim. The application shall be verified by affidavit, shall be executed in duplicate and shall be accompanied by two certified copies of the indictment returned, or information and affidavit filed, or of the complaint made to the magistrate, stating the offense with which the accused is charged. The prosecuting officer may also attach such further affidavits and other documents in duplicate as he may deem proper to be submitted with such application. One copy of the application with the action of the Governor indicated by indorsement thereon, and one of the certified copies of the indictment or complaint or information and affidavit, shall be filed in the office of the Governor, to remain of record in that office. The other copies of all papers shall be forwarded with the Governor's requisition. (1931, c. 124, s. 21.)

§ 4556(v). Costs and expenses. — When the crime shall be a felony, the expenses shall be paid out of the State Treasury, on the certificate of the Governor and warrant of the Auditor; and in all other cases they shall be paid out of the county treasury in the county wherein the crime is alleged to be committed. The expenses shall be the actual travelling and subsistence costs of the agent of the demanding State, together with such legal fees as were paid to the officers of the State on whose Governor the requisition is made. In every case, the officer entitled to these expenses shall itemize the same and verify them by his oath for presentation, either to the Governor of the State, in proper cases, or to the board of county commissioners, in cases in which the county pays such expenses. (1931, c. 124, s. 22.)

§ 4556(w). Exemption from civil process. — A person brought into this State on extradition based on a criminal charge, shall not be subject to service of personal process in civil actions arising out of the same fact as the criminal proceeding to answer which he is returned, until he has been convicted in the criminal proceeding, or if acquitted, until he has had ample opportunity to return to the State from which he was extradited. (1931, c. 124, s. 23.)

§ 4556(x). No right of asylum.—After a person has been brought back to this State upon extradition proceedings, he may be tried in this State for other crimes which he may be charged with having committed here, as well as that specified in the requisition for his extradition. (1931, c. 124, s. 24.)

§ 4556(y). Interpretation.—This act shall be so interpreted and construed as to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law of those States which enact it. (1931, c. 124, s. 25.)

Art. 7. Preliminary Examination

§ 4557. Waiver of examination.—If any person arrested desires to waive examination and give bail, it is the duty of the officer making the arrest to take him before any magistrate of the county in which the offense is charged to have been committed, or before any judge of the supreme or superior court. (Rev., s. 3190; Code, ss. 1138, 1139; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, ss. 7, 8.)

As to bail in criminal proceedings see section 4574 et seq.

§ 4558. Procedure, when justice has not final jurisdiction.—In all cases where a justice of the peace has not final jurisdiction of the offense, he shall desist from any final determination of the action or complaint, and proceed as hereinafter provided. (Rev., s. 3191; Code, s. 896; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 4, s. 7; 1879, c. 302, s. 2.)

As to jurisdiction of justice in criminal actions see section 1481 and notes.

When Jurisdiction of Justice Ends.—The justice has no jurisdiction of a case after he had bound the defendant to court and taken his recognizance. State v. Lucas, 139 N. C. 567, 569, 51 S. E. 1021.

§ 4559. Duty of examining magistrate.—The magistrate before whom any such person shall be brought shall proceed, as soon as may be, to examine the complainant and the witnesses produced in support of the prosecution on oath, in the presence of the prisoner, in regard to the offense charged, and in regard to any other matters connected with such charge which such magistrate may deem pertinent. The defendant shall be allowed a reasonable time before the hearing begins in which to send for and advise with counsel. (Rev., s. 3192; Code, ss. 1144, 1145; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 13.)

Person Charged Must Be Present.—There can be no examination in the absence of the person charged. Lovick v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 129 N. C. 427, 434, 40 S. E. 191.

Rights of Accused.—The present wise and beneficent policy of the law allows a prisoner under arrest time for deliberation and an opportunity to obtain correct legal advice, so that the statements which he may make on an examination are made of his own free will and with full knowledge of the nature and consequences of his confessions. State v. Matthews, 66 N. C. 106, 111.

§ 4560. Testimony reduced to writing; right to counsel.—The evidence given by the several witnesses examined shall be reduced to writing by the magistrate, or under his direction, and shall be signed by the witnesses respectively. If desired by the person arrested, his counsel shall be present during the examination of the complainant and the witnesses on the part of the prosecution, and during the examination of the prisoner; and the prisoner or his counsel shall be allowed to cross-examine the complainant and the witnesses for the prosecution. (Rev., s. 3193; Code, ss. 1146, 1150; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, ss. 14, 19.)

As to the testimony being used as evidence see section 4572 and notes.

Exact Words Not Required to Be Written.—The magistrate is not required to write down the very words of the witness as they are uttered. It is sufficient if he puts down fully and accurately the testimony of the witness as he intends it upon the subject matter of inquiry. State v. Bridgers, 87 N. C. 562, 564.

Notes Not Conclusive.—The notes of evidence made by a committing magistrate upon the hearing are not conclusive as to the testimony of witnesses examined. State v. Hooper, 151 N. C. 646, 65 S. E. 613.

Magistrate Can Give Parol Testimony.—It is competent for a magistrate to state what a witness swore before him in regard to a homicide, although he afterwards committed the statement to writing. State v. Adair, 66 N. C. 298.

Use of Written Statement on Trial.—The written statement can only be referred to, to refresh his memory, and is properly treated as a memorandum, State v. Adair, 66 N. C. 298, unless the witness is dead, or too ill to be present, or insane, or has removed from the State at the instigation or connivance of the defendant or prosecutor. State v. King, 86 N. C. 603, 605.

§ 4561. Prisoner examined; advised of rights.—The magistrate shall then proceed to examine the prisoner in relation to the offense charged. Such examination shall not be on oath; and before it is commenced, the prisoner shall be informed by the magistrate of the charge made against him, and that he is at liberty to refuse to answer any question that may be put to him, and that his refusal to answer shall not be used to his prejudice in any stage of the proceedings. (Rev., s. 3194; Code, ss. 1145, 1146; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, ss. 14, 15.)

As to the right of a prisoner to testify as a witness see section 1799.

Purpose of Section.—It was intended by this section to safeguard the rights of the prisoner as guaranteed by the law, and to afford him every protection against imposition, oppression, or undue influence, so that what he may say in any investigation in regard to the accusation against him may be entirely voluntary. State v. Parker, 132 N. C. 1014, 1017, 43 S. E. 830. For the accused, without the caution, might, before the magistrate, feel compelled to answer questions put to him, and such answers as he might make, might not be voluntary. State v. Conrad, 95 N. C. 666, 670.

Prisoner Must Not Be Sworn.—It was the purpose and intent that the person under examination, who is accused of crime, should feel free to admit or deny his guilt, and the oath which is forbidden by statute deprives him of this perfect freedom. State v. Parker, 132 N. C. 1014, 1018, 43 S. E. 830.

Section Extends to Coroner's Inquest.—The reason of the section extends to an inquisition by a coroner. In this respect he is an examining magistrate. State v. Matthews, 66 N. C. 106.

Caution to Prisoner Is Essential.—This caution is not a mere matter of form: it is a substantial right, necessary for the protection of prisoners who are too poor to employ counsel and too ignorant to conduct their own defense. State v. Rorie, 74 N. C. 148, 150.

And in the opinion of the Court in State v. Matthews, 66 N. C. 106, "this caution is an essential part of the proceedings, and must be given to the prisoner under arrest to make his examination admissible in evidence." State v. Rorie, 74 N. C. 148, 150. Thus where a confession is made before the cautions required by the section were given it is inadmissible as evidence. State v. Matthews, 66 N. C. 106, 113.

Caution Applies to Whole Examination.—The purpose of the section is, that the prisoner shall be advised by the magistrate of his right to refuse to answer all questions that may be put to him as to the charge made against him, without prejudice, during the whole examination, and not simply so much of it as applies to him personally. State v. Conrad, 95 N. C. 666, 670.

When Caution to Be Given.—The commencement of the examination is properly, when, after the warrant of arrest is returned executed, the accused is present before the magistrate, and the latter having called and noticed the matter of the charge, proceeds to read the warrant or state the substance of the charge orally. It is then the caution to the accused is due, and ought to be given, because, then, the magistrate has taken official notice of the charge and the accused, and what he does and says, and then the latter must take notice of the magistrate and be under his jurisdiction and control; then he is before the court and his examination is begun. State v. Conrad, 95 N. C. 666, 669.

It is not necessary to competency of an extra judicial confession to a police officer that defendant be warned he is not compelled to answer. State v. Grier, 203 N. C. 586, 166 S. E. 595.

Exact Words of Section Not Required.—It is not necessary that a committing magistrate at the commencement of the examination of a prisoner shall use the precise words of the section in giving the caution therein prescribed, but it is sufficient if there be a substantial compliance with the requirement of the section. State v. Rogers, 112 N. C. 874, 17 S. E. 297; State v. DeGraff, 113 N. C. 688, 18 S. E. 507; State v. King, 162 N. C. 580, 581, 77 S. E. 301.

Same—What Is Sufficient.—Both the letter and spirit of the statute require that the defendant should be advised of is rights by the justice, to the effect that he is not required to testify; that he is at liberty to refuse to answer any question put to him, and that his refusal to answer shall not be used to his prejudice. State v. Parker, 132 N. C. 1014, 1018, 43 S. E. 830; State v. Simpson, 133 N. C. 676, 677, 45 S. E. 567; State v. Vaughan, 156 N. C. 615, 616, 71 S. E. 1089.

Same—Insufficient Compliance.—Where the prisoner was brought before the magistrate and he was told by that official that "he was charged with selling stolen corn, and that if he wanted to tell anything he could do so; but it was just as he chose." This was not sufficient compliance. State v. Rorie, 74 N. C. 148, 150.

Where Caution Omitted Testimony Not Admissible.—It is not said in terms that without the caution required to be given, the declarations, statements and confessions of the accused, made on the examination, shall not be competent as evidence against him, but this seems to be implied, and it has been so decided in numerous cases. State v. Matthews, 66 N. C. 106; State v. Rorie, 74 N. C. 148; State v. Spier, 86 N. C. 600; State v. Conrad, 95 N. C. 666, 669.

Trial Judge Must Find Proper Caution.—Where the record of a committing magistrate merely states that the prisoner was cautioned and the trial court holds such admission competent, with no other evidence before him except this statement, it is error, as the trial judge should have found as a fact whether the proper caution was given to the prisoner. State v. Parker, 132 N. C. 1014, 43 S. E. 830.

Where Prisoner Examined as Witness at Own Request.—Testimony given by a defendant when examined as a witness at his own request is admissible against him on another hearing or trial for the same or any other offense for such admissions and declarations do not come within either the language or the reason of this section. State v. Ellis, 97 N. C. 447, 2 S. E. 525; State v. Simpson, 133 N. C. 676, 45 S. E. 567, 568; State v. Hawkins, 115 N. C. 712, 20 S. E. 623.

§ 4562. Exclusion of witnesses at examination.—The witnesses produced on the part either of the prisoner or of the prosecution shall not be present at the examination of the prisoner; and while any witness is under examination the magistrate may exclude from the place in which such examination is had all witnesses who have not been examined, and may cause the witnesses to be kept separate and prevented from conversing with each other until they shall have been examined. (Rev., s. 3195; Code, s. 1149; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 18.)

As to exclusion of bystanders in trials for rape, see section 4636.

Judge Has Discretion to Exclude.—Exclusion is a matter of which the presiding judge must judge, and except in cases of abuse of his discretion, such order is not reviewable. Lee v. Thornton, 174 N. C. 288, 289, 93 S. E. 788; State v. Hodge, 142 N. C. 676, 682, 55 S. E. 791; State v. Lowry, 170 N. C. 730, 734, 87 S. E. 62; State v. Davis, 175 N. C. 723, 95 S. E. 48.

§ 4563. Answers in writing, read to prisoner, signed by magistrate.—The answer of the prisoner to the several interrogatories shall be reduced to writing by the magistrate, or under his direction. They shall be read to the prisoner, who may correct or add to them; and when made conformable to what he declares is the truth, shall be certified and signed by the magistrate. (Rev., s. 3196; Code, s. 1147; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 16.)

Seal Not Necessary.—This section does not require the examination of a committing magistrate to be certified under seal. State v. Pressley, 90 N. C. 730.

§ 4564. Witnesses for defendant examined.—After the examination of the prisoner is complete, his witnesses, if he have any, shall be sworn and examined, and he may have the assistance of counsel in such examination. (Rev., s. 3197; Code, s. 1148; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 17.)

§ 4565. Examination of prisoner not required in misdemeanors.—Nothing contained in the preceding sections shall be construed to require any magistrate, before whom a prisoner charged with a misdemeanor shall be brought, to take the examination of such prisoner, except where such magistrate shall deem it material so to do, or where such examination shall be required by the prisoner. (Rev., s. 3198; Code, s. 1153; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 22.)

As to the right of a prisoner to be examined as a witness, see section 1799.

§ 4566. When prisoner discharged.—If, upon examination of the whole matter, it shall appear to the magistrate either that no offense has been committed by any person or that there is no probable cause for charging the prisoner therewith, he shall discharge such prisoner. (Rev., s. 3199; Code, s. 1151; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 20.)

§ 4567. When prisoner held to answer charge.—If it shall appear that an offense has been committed, and that there is probable cause to believe the prisoner to be guilty thereof, if the offense be bailable, and the prisoner offers sufficient bail, such bail shall be taken and the prisoner discharged; if no bail be offered, or the offense be not bailable, the prisoner shall be committed to prison. (Rev., s. 3202; Code, ss. 1152, 1156; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, ss. 21, 25.)

As to bail generally, see section 4574 et seq. and notes.

When Jurisdiction of Justice Ends.—It was intended most surely that when the justice had fully performed the duties required of him, his jurisdiction as to the case should be at an end. If he makes a mistake, it must be corrected elsewhere—not in his court. State v. Lucas, 139 N. C. 567, 569, 51 S. E. 1021.

Same—Cannot Reverse His Decision.—Where a justice of the peace heard a warrant charging the defendant with an assault, with serious damage, and adjudged that the accused give bond for his appearance, and his bond was executed and accepted by the justice, the latter's power and jurisdiction ceased and his attempt to reverse his decision the next day and fine the defendant was a nullity. State v. Lucas, 139 N. C. 567, 51 S. E. 1021.

§ 4568. Witnesses against prisoner recognized.—The magistrate shall bind by recognizances the prosecutor and all the material witnesses against such prisoner to appear and testify at the next term of the court having jurisdiction for the county in which the offense is alleged to have been committed. (Rev., s. 3203; Code, s. 1152; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 21.)

See notes under next section.

§ 4569. Witnesses required to give security for appearance.—Whenever the magistrate is satisfied by the proof that there is good reason to believe that any such witness will not fulfill the conditions of the recognizances unless security be required, he may order the witness to enter into a recognizance with such sureties as he shall deem meet for his appearance at such court. (Rev., s. 3204; Code, s. 1154; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 23.)

Bond for Appearance before Justice Not Permitted.—There is no statute which authorizes a Justice of the Peace or magistrate to require of a witness to give bond for his appearance before such Justice or magistrate. Lovick v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 129 N. C. 427, 434, 40 S. E. 191.

And a Justice of the Peace, together with those advising him, who order a witness to give a bond to appear before a Justice, thereby become trespassers. Lovick v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 129 N. C. 427, 40 S. E. 191.

§ 4570. Investigation in case of lynching.—Whenever the solicitor of any judicial district ascertains that the crime of lynching has been committed in any county in his judicial district, it is his duty to go to such county at the earliest possible moment, and at once institute proceedings for the investigation of the crime before the coroner of the county, some judge of the superior court, or justice of the peace, and for the apprehension of the offender. In the performance of this duty he shall cause to be issued subpœnas or other process to compel the attendance of witnesses and examine such witnesses on oath as to their knowledge or information touching the crime being investigated. In all cases where, upon preliminary investigation, it appears probable that any person is guilty of the crime charged, it shall be the duty of the coroner, judge or justice before whom the case is heard to bind such person, with good security, for his appearance at the next ensuing term of the superior or criminal court of some county adjoining the county in which the crime was committed for trial, and in default of bail to commit him to the jail of such adjoining county for safekeeping, and all necessary witnesses shall be recognized to appear at such term as witnesses for the state. (Rev., s. 3200; 1893, c. 461, s. 2.)

For general note on anti-lynching law, see the Editor's Note to § 1266.

Venue in case of lynching is discussed in State v. Lewis, 142 N. C. 626, 55 S. E. 600. See also section 4600.

§ 4571. Witnesses in lynching not privileged.—In all investigations before a justice of the peace, coroner, judge, grand jury, or courts and jury, on the trial of the cause, as authorized by the preceding section or under existing law, no person shall be excused from testifying touching his knowledge or information in regard to the offense being investigated, upon the ground that his answer might tend to subject him to prosecution, pains or penalties, or that his evidence might tend to criminate himself; but no discovery made by such witness upon any such examination shall be used against him in any court or in any penal or criminal prosecution, and he shall, when so examined as a witness for the state, be altogether pardoned of any and all participation in any crime arising under the provisions of the preceding section, or under existing law, concerning which he is required to testify. (Rev., ss. 1638, 3201; 1893, c. 461, s. 5.)

Editor's Note.—Section 1800 provides for compelling witnesses to testify in certain criminal investigations and extends immunity to those thus testifying. As those provisions are analogous to the provisions of this section many of the notes thereunder will be useful in considering this section.

Witness Pardoned Though Testimony Does Not Incriminate.—Legislation in "abolition or oblivion of the offense" specified, applicable to all in a given class, is valid and therefore, when under this section, the defendant was summoned, sworn, and examined by and for the State touching an alleged lynching under investigation by the court, he shall be altogether pardoned of any and all participation therein under the statute or existing law, whether the evidence elicited from him tends to incriminate him or not. State v. Bowman, 145 N. C. 452, 59 S. E. 74.

Plea of Pardon as Motion to Quash.—It seems that for the purpose of an appeal, the plea of pardon may be considered and treated as a motion to quash, and so be brought within the direct provisions of section 4649. State v. Bowman, 145 N. C. 452, 455, 59 S. E. 74.

§ 4572. Proceedings certified to court; used as evidence.—All examinations and recognizances taken pursuant to the provisions of this chapter shall be certified by the magistrate taking the same to the court at which the witnesses are bound to appear, within twenty days after the taking of such examinations and recognizances: Provided, that any criminal case tried within twenty days before the sitting of criminal court shall be returned on Saturdays before the court convenes. The examinations taken and subscribed as herein prescribed may be used as evidence before the grand jury, and on the trial of the accused, provided he was present at the taking thereof and had an opportunity to hear the same and to cross-examine the depositing witness, if such witness be dead or so ill as not to be able to travel, or by procurement or connivance of the defendant has removed from the state, or is of unsound mind. (Rev., s. 3205; Code, s. 1157; 1913, c. 24; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 26.)

In General.—Our various statutes relating to the introduction of testimony at the second trial of evidence introduced in the preliminary hearing of a criminal action do not affect the common-law rule, but they are extensions of its principle, making it only necessary when the statutory provisions as to the making of the written record, its correction, signature by the witness, etc., have been complied with, to sufficiently identify the record for its admission as evidence upon the second trial. State v. Maynard, 184 N. C. 653, 113 S. E. 682.

Examinations Must Accord with Preceding Sections.—Where the examinations are offered as substantive evidence bearing upon the criminal charge, they are only admissible under this section, when taken according to the requirements of the preceding sections. State v. Pierce, 91 N. C. 606, 610; State v. Jordan, 110 N. C. 491, 495, 14 S. E. 752.

Reason for Witness Absence Must Appear.—In order to use the examination as substantive evidence it must be shown that witness is absent because of one of reasons given in this section. State v. Pierce, 91 N. C. 606, 610.

No foundation has been laid for the introduction of the evidence of a witness who merely does not respond to the obligations of the subpoena, and is simply proved to have "run away," and not that any effort has been made to secure his presence. State v. King, 86 N. C. 603, 605.

When Parol Evidence Admissible.—On the trial in the superior court it is competent for purposes of contradiction, to offer parol evidence as to what a witness testified to upon such preliminary examination. State v. Hooper, 151 N. C. 646, 65 S. E. 613; State v. Wright, 75 N. C. 439; State v. Roberts, 81 N. C. 605; State v. Lyon, 81 N. C. 600.

To authorize the introduction of parol evidence as to the confession of a prisoner before an examining magistrate, it must appear affirmatively that there was no examination recorded as required by law. State v. Parish, 44 N. C. 239; State v. Matthews, 66 N. C. 106, 110.

§ 4573. Penalty for failing to return.—If any magistrate shall refuse or neglect to return to the proper court any such examination or recognizance by him taken, he may be compelled by rule of court forthwith to return the same, and in case of disobedience of such rule, may be proceeded against by attachment as for contempt of court as provided by law. (Rev., s. 3206; Code, s. 1158; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 27.)

Art. 8. Bail

§ 4574. Officers authorized to take bail, before imprisonment.—Officers before whom persons charged with crime, but who have not been committed to prison by an authorized magistrate, may be brought, have power to take bail as follows:

1. Any justice of the supreme court, or a judge of a superior court in all cases.

2. Any justice of the peace or chief magistrate of any incorporated city or town, in all cases of misdemeanor, and in all cases of felony not capital. (Rev., s. 3209; Code, s. 1160; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 29; 1871-2, c. 37.)

For a full treatment of Bail in Criminal Prosecutions, see 2 N. C. Enc. Dig. 237-245; 13 N. C. Enc. Dig. 222.

Editor's Note.—In State v. Herndon, 107 N. C. 934, 12 S. E. 268, the meaning and effect of this and the following section are discussed at pages 939-944 by Merrimon, C. J., in a dissenting opinion. For the constitutional provision as to bail, see N. C. Const. Art. I, § 14. As to arrest and bail in civil cases, see §§ 767 et seq.

§ 4575. Officers authorized to take bail, after imprisonment.—Any justice of the supreme court or any judge of a superior court has power to bail persons committed to prison charged with crime in all cases; any justice of the peace or chief magistrate of any incorporated city or town has the same power in all cases where the punishment is not capital. (Rev., s. 3210; Code, s. 1161; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 30.)

In General.—This section means that any person charged (but not convicted) of any crime whatever may be admitted to bail if the judge, upon hearing the testimony upon a writ of habeas corpus, adjudges that, upon the facts developed, the petitioner is entitled to be released on bail. State v. Herndon, 107 N. C. 934, 936, 12 S. E. 268.

§ 4576. Recognizance filed with the clerk.—Whenever a prisoner is bailed by any officer under the preceding section, such officer shall immediately cause the recognizance taken by him to be filed with the clerk of the superior court of the county to which the prisoner is recognized. (Rev., s. 3211; Code, s. 1162; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 31.)

§ 4577. Bail allowed on preliminary examination.—If the offense charged in the warrant be not punishable with death, the magistrate may take from the person so arrested a recognizance with sufficient sureties for his appearance at the next term of the court having jurisdiction, to be held in the county where the offense is alleged to have been committed. (Rev., s. 3207; Code, s. 1139; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 8; 1871-2, c. 37, s. 1.)

Recognizance Explained.—The taking of a recognizance consists in making and attesting a memorandum of the acknowledgment of a debt due the State, and of the conditions on which it is to be defeated. State v. Edney, 60 N. C. 463; State v. Houston, 74 N. C. 549, 550.

A recognizance is a debt of record acknowledged before a court of competent jurisdiction, with condition to do some particular act. State v. Smith, 66 N. C. 620; State v. White, 164 N. C. 408, 410, 79 S. E. 297.

Same—A Matter of Record.—A recognizance is a matter of record, and can only be discharged by a record or something of equal solemnity. State v. Moody, 69 N. C. 529.

Same—Need Not Be Executed by Parties.—A recognizance need not be executed by the parties, but is simply acknowledged by them, and a minute of the acknowledgment is entered by the court. State v. Edney, 60 N. C. 463, 471; State v. White, 164 N. C. 408, 410, 79 S. E. 297.

Effect of a Recognizance.—A recognizance binds the sureties for the continued appearance of their principal, from day to day, during the term and at all stages of the proceeding, until he is finally discharged by the court, either for term or without day. He must answer its calls at all times and submit to its judgment. State v. Schenck, 138 N. C. 560, 565, 49 S. E. 917.

Bond with Conditions Is Satisfactory.—A bond with conditions, signed and sealed by the parties, is good as a recognizance. State v. Jones, 100 N. C. 438, 6 S. E. 655.

§ 4578. Duty of magistrate granting bail.—Any magistrate taking bail shall certify on the warrant the fact of his having let the defendant to bail, and shall deliver the same, together with the recognizance taken by him, to the officer or other person having charge of the prisoner, who shall deliver the same without unnecessary delay to the clerk of the court in which the prisoner has been recognized to appear. (Rev., s. 3212; Code, s. 1140; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 9.)

§ 4579. Sheriff or deputy may take bail.—When any sheriff or his deputy arrests the body of any person, in consequence of the writ of capias issued to him by the clerk of a court of record on an indictment found, the sheriff or deputy, if the crime is bailable, shall recognize the offender, and take sufficient bail in the nature of a recognizance for his appearing at the next succeeding court of the county where he ought to answer, which recognizance shall be returned with the capias; and the sheriff shall in no case become bail himself. (Rev., s. 3208; Code, s. 1180; R. C., c. 35, s. 11; 1797, c. 474, s. 4.)

§ 4580. Sheriff may take bail of prisoner in custody.—If any person for want of bail shall be lawfully committed to jail at any time before final judgment, the sheriff, or other officer having him in custody, may take sufficient justified bail and discharge him; and the bail bond shall be regarded, in every respect, as other bail bonds, and shall be returned and sued on in like manner; and the officer taking it shall make special return thereof, with the bond, at the first court which is held after it is taken. (Rev., s. 3228; Code, s. 1232; R. C., c. 11, s. 8.)

§ 4581. Bail on continuance before a justice.—Upon the continuance of any criminal action returned before any justice of the peace for trial, in which the justice is authorized to take bail on a finding of probable cause or in which he has final jurisdiction, it is the duty of the justice of the peace to take bond for his appearance, payable to the state, on the same being tendered by the accused, with such surety as in his opinion will be sufficient to insure the appearance of the accused for trial at a time and place mentioned in the bond. (Rev., s. 3213; 1889, c. 133.)

As to mortgage in lieu of security for appearance, see section 347.

Section Gives a New Remedy.—Before this section was passed a justice of the peace had no power to allow a party accused of an offense of which he had not final jurisdiction to give bail during the postponement of the examination. If any delay in the examination was necessary, the accused was to be kept in the custody of the sheriff or other officer of the law until the examination was resumed. State v. Jones, 100 N. C. 438, 6 S. E. 655; State v. Jenkins, 121 N C. 637, 641, 28 S. E. 413.

Art. 9. Forfeiture of Bail

§ 4582. In recognizance to keep the peace.—Every person who shall have entered into a recognizance to keep the peace shall appear according to the obligation thereof; and if he fail to appear the court shall forfeit his recognizance and order it to be prosecuted, in the manner provided by law, unless reasonable excuse for his default be given. (Rev., s. 3214; Code, s. 1225; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 2, s. 10.)

As to recognizance see also notes under section 4577.

Recognizance Binds to Three Things.—It is said by the highest authority that a recognizance (or bail bond) in general binds to three things; (1) to appear and answer either to a specified charge or to such matters as may be objected; (2) to stand and abide the judgment of the court; and (3) not to depart without leave of the court; and that each of these particulars are distinct and independent. State v. Schenck, 138 N. C. 560, 562, 49 S. E. 917; State v. Eure, 172 N. C. 874, 875, 89 S. E. 788.

When Time and Place Specified. — If the recognizance specify time and place the defendant cannot be held to be in default for not appearing at some other time or place. State v. Houston, 74 N. C. 174, 176.

Thus a recognizance, conditioned that the defendant appear at the court-house in C, on the eighth Monday after the fourth Monday in March, is not forfeited by the defendant's failure to appear on 22 February. State v. Houston, 74 N. C. 174.

Same—Effect of Subsequent Law.—A recognizance conditioned for the appearance of a party at one day, is not forfeited by his failure to appear at another day, to which the holding of the Court was changed by a law passed after the taking of the recognizance; the law containing no provision that recognizances should be returned and parties appear on that day. State v. Melton, 44 N. C. 426.

When Appearance at Next Term Specified. — A recognizance for the appearance of the defendant at the next term of the Court to be held for a given county is valid and binds the defendant to appear at the next term and at the court-house, although neither time nor place be specifically named; because every one knows, or is presumed to know, the time and place of holding the court. State v. Houston, 74 N. C. 176.

Same—If Term Not Held.—A defendant bound over to answer a criminal charge at a regular term of the Superior Court, which term is not held in consequence of the absence of the Judge, is required to attend at an intervening special term subsequently appointed and held. State v. Horton, 123 N. C. 695, 31 S. E. 218.

Continuance Does Not Release. — The continuance of a criminal case does not release the recognizance given for the appearance of the defendant. State v. Morgan, 136 N. C. 593, 48 S. E. 604.

Proceedings When Recognizance Broken.—Where the condition of a recognizance is broken it is competent for the justice to declare the same to be forfeited and order it to be prosecuted in the court having jurisdiction of the penal sum. State v. Oates, 88 N. C. 668.

Defendant Must Appear Until Discharged.—An appearance bond by its terms, and under the uniform ruling of the Court, requires that the defendant appear term after term until he is discharged on a verdict of acquittal or by order of the court. An appearance bond is in lieu of custody in jail, in which case the defendant could not be released until discharged by order of the court. State v. Eure, 172 N. C. 874, 89 S. E. 788.

Agreement by Solicitor Will Not Relieve.—An agreement by a solicitor for the state to discharge a defendant if he would become a state's witness against codefendant, will not relieve such defendant from a forfeited recognizance. State v. Moody, 69 N. C. 529.

Failure to Sign Warrant.—It is immaterial to the validity of an appearance bond given by defendant before the court and in custodia legis that the warrant for his arrest, in due form, was, inadvertently, not signed by the recorder. State v. Mitchell, 151 N. C. 716, 66 S. E. 202.

§ 4583. When recognizance deemed broken.—No recognizance taken under this chapter shall be deemed to be broken except in the failure of the principal in such recognizance to appear and answer according to the obligation thereof, unless such principle be convicted of some offense amounting in judgment of law to a breach of such recognizance. (Rev., s. 3215; Code, s. 1227; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 2, s. 12.)

Surety Not Relieved.—The liability of a surety upon an appearance bond is a continuing one until discharged by renewal of bond or production and surrender of principal. (See sections 4594, 4595.) He is not released by the principal being drunk and under arrest when his case was called in court and continued, and by the principal having since become a fugitive from justice under charge of a different offense. State v. Holt, 145 N. C. 450, 59 S. E. 64.

§ 4584. Recognizance prosecuted.—Whenever evidence of such conviction shall be produced in the court in which the recognizance is filed, it shall be the duty of such court to order the recognizance to be prosecuted, and the solicitor shall cause the proper proceedings to be thereupon taken. (Rev., s. 3216; Code, s. 1228; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 2, s. 13.)

Independent Proceeding Unnecesary.—The judgment that the recognizance has been forfeited must be entered in the court, and in the cause, in which said recognizance was filed and it is not required that the prosecution for the forfeiture of such recognizance shall be taken by an independent proceeding. State v. Sanders, 153 N. C. 624, 627, 69 S. E. 272.

Proceedings When Forfeiture Is Moved for.—When the forfeiture of a recognizance is moved for, if all the matters are of record, the judge decides without the intervention of a jury. But when the answer raises an issue of fact, the defendant is entitled to have the matter passed upon by a jury. State v. Sanders, 153 N. C. 624, 626, 69 S. E. 272, and cases cited.

Entry of Forfeiture Not Traversed by Answer to Scire Facias.—The entry of the forfeiture of a recognition in a criminal case cannot be contradicted or traversed by an answer or a plea to a scire facias issued to enforce the forfeiture. State v. Morgan, 136 N. C. 593, 48 S. E. 604.

Effect of Answer to Scire Facias.—Where the recognizance in a criminal case is entered on the records of the court as forfeited, and scire facias is issued to enforce the forfeiture, an answer denying the truth of the record, though informal, is equivalent to a motion to set aside the entry, when that appears to have been the intention of the defendants. State v. Morgan, 136 N. C. 593, 48 S. E. 604.

§ 4585. Notice of judgment nisi before execution.—No execution shall issue upon a forfeited recognizance, or to collect a fine imposed nisi, until a notice has issued against the person who has forfeited his recognizance or upon whom the fine has been imposed, and his sureties. (Rev., s. 3217; Code, s. 1208; R. C., c. 35, s. 43; 1777, c. 115, s. 48.)

For an act relating to docketing of judgments nisi upon forfeited recognizance applicable in Forsyth county only, see Public Laws of 1935, chapter 83.

Notice Must Be Given.—This section has made it imperative, that before suing out execution on a forfeited recognizance, a scire facias shall issue, and judgment be had thereon. State v. Mills, 19 N. C. 552, 554.

Object of Notice.—The object of a scire facias is to notify the cognizor to show cause, if any he have, wherefore the cognizee should not have execution of the same thereby acknowledged. State v. Mills, 19 N. C. 552, 554.

§ 4586. What notice must contain.—When any recognizance, acknowledged by a principal and sureties, shall be forfeited by two or more of the recognizors, the notice issued thereon shall be jointly against them all, designating which of them are principals and which sureties, and when they are bound in different sums, stating the amount forfeited by each one, and the clerk shall have no greater fee on such notice than is due when it is issued against one defendant. (Rev., s. 3218; Code, s. 1209; R. C., c. 35, s. 44; 1812, c. 836, s. 1.)

§ 4587. Service of notice.—All notices issuing upon forfeited recognizances shall be executed by leaving a copy with each of the defendants, or at his present place of abode. And in case he cannot be found, and has no known place of abode, and the matter be returned, then a notice shall issue, and on the like return the same shall be deemed duly served. (Rev., s. 3219; Code, s. 1210; R. C., c. 35, s. 45; 1812, c. 836, s. 2.)

§ 4588. Judges may remit forfeited recognizances.—The judges of the superior courts may hear and determine the petition of all persons who shall conceive they merit relief on their recognizances forfeited; and may lessen, or absolutely remit, the same, and do all and anything therein as they shall deem just and right and consistent with the welfare of the state and the persons praying such relief, as well before as after final judgment entered and execution awarded. (Rev., s. 3220; Code, s. 1205; R. C., c. 35, s. 38, 1788, c. 292, s. 1.)

Trial Judge Has Discretion.—The power given by this section is a matter of judicial discretion in the judges below, which cannot be reviewed except for some error in a matter of law or legal inference. State v. Moody, 74 N. C. 73, 75; State v. Morgan, 136 N. C. 593, 48 S. E. 604.

Court May Remit Penalty without Setting Aside Forfeiture.—Where a motion is made to set aside the entry of forfeiture of a recognizance, its refusal does not prevent the court from reducing or remitting the penalty. State v. Morgan, 136 N. C. 593, 48 S. E. 604.

Petition after Final Judgment.—A surety on a bail bond may under this section present a petition for relief to the judge of the superior court, notwithstanding that a final judgment has been rendered. State v. Bradsher, 189 N. C. 401, 127 S. E. 349.

The Superior Courts have authority, under this section, to lessen or remit forfeited recognizances, upon the petition of the party aggrieved, either before or after final judgment. State v. Moody, 74 N. C. 73.

Solicitor Has No Vested Right to Fee.—Under this section the solicitor has no vested right to his fee under an absolute judgment upon a forfeited recognizance which was subsequently set aside by the court in the exercise of his discretionary power. State v. King, 143 N. C. 677, 57 S. E. 516.

§ 4589. Money refunded by clerk.—The clerk of the superior court, on the remission of any forfeited recognizance which has been paid into his office, shall refund the same, or so much thereof as shall be remitted. (Rev., s. 3221; Code, s. 1206; R. C., c. 35, s. 39; 1795, c. 442, s. 1.)

§ 4590. Money refunded by treasurer.—If the money has been paid to the county treasurer, he shall refund it to the person entitled, on his producing an attested copy of the record from the clerk of the court, certifying that such recognizance has been remitted or lessened, signed with his own proper name, with the seal of the court affixed thereto. (Rev., s. 3222; Code, s. 1207; R. C., c. 35, s. 40; 1795, c. 442, s. 2.)

§ 4591. Forfeiture of bond before justice.—On the failure of the accused to appear at the time and place mentioned in any bond taken by any justice of the peace for a continuance of any cause pending before him, and answer the charge, or, having appeared, shall depart the court without leave thereof first had and obtained, it shall be the duty of the justice of the peace then presiding to enter judgment nisi against the principal and his sureties in the bond for the amount mentioned therein, if the sum does not exceed the sum of two hundred dollars; and immediately issue notice to the principal and the sureties in the bond, giving ten days time, specifying time and place, to appear and show cause, if any they have, why the judgment nisi shall not be made final. (Rev., s. 3223; 1889, c. 133, s. 2.)

§ 4592. Judgment final, rendered and enforced.—If the defendant shall fail to appear and show satisfactory reasons for not complying with the provisions of the bond, it shall then be the duty of the justice of the peace to render a final judgment thereon for the amount of the same, and immediately make and transmit to the clerk of the superior court a transcript thereof, which shall be entered upon the judgment docket of the court, and the clerk shall issue execution on the final judgment against the principal and his sureties for the collection of the amount thereof as in other judgments in behalf of the state. (Rev., s. 3224; 1889, c. 133, s. 3.)

§ 4593. Forfeiture over two hundred dollars before justice.—If the bond shall exceed the sum of two hundred dollars, and the accused shall fail to appear as therein provided to answer the charge, or, having appeared, shall depart the court without leave first had and obtained, it shall be the duty of the justice to have the accused called, and enter upon the bond that the defendant was called and failed to answer, and immediately return the original papers in the case, together with the bond, to the clerk of the court having jurisdiction to try such action, who shall immediately enter the case upon the criminal docket of his court and enter judgment nisi for the amount of the bond, and issue notice to the accused and his sureties to appear at the next term to show cause why the judgment should not be made final and proceeded in as other cases of forfeited bonds in behalf of the state in such court. The entry on the bond by the justice of the peace shall be prima facie evidence that the principal therein had been called and failed to answer. Nothing in this section shall be so construed as to prevent justices of the peace from remitting the penalty of the bond or the right of appeal from the justice of the peace to the superior court by the defendant or his surety. (Rev., s. 3225; 1889, c. 133, s. 4.)

§ 4594. Right of bail to surrender principal.—The bail shall have liberty, at any time before execution awarded against him, to surrender to the court from which the process issued, or to the sheriff having such process to return, during the session, or in the recess of such court, the principal, in discharge of himself; and such bail shall, at any time before such execution awarded, have full power and authority to arrest the body of his principal, and secure him until he shall have an opportunity to surrender him to the sheriff or court as aforesaid; and the sheriff is hereby required to receive such surrender, and hold the body of the defendant in custody as if bail had never been given: Provided, that in criminal proceedings the surrender by the bail, after the recognizance forfeited shall not have the effect to discharge the bail, but the forfeiture may be remitted in the manner provided for. (Rev., s. 3226; Code, s. 1230; R. C., c. 11, s. 5; 1777, c. 115, s. 20; 1848, c. 7.)

In General.—The conviction does not, by virtue of its own force, put the defendant in the custody of the court or of the sheriff. This is done, in our practice at least, by an order from the court, given of its own motion or on application of the solicitor, and the court, when it passes judgment upon a defendant and he appeals, can direct that he be not taken into custody immediately, but be permitted to find security for the costs of his appeal and for his appearance at the next term, and if he fails afterwards to appear, when called during the term, and perfect his appeal and give the necessary security for his appearance, or in default thereof to surrender himself in execution of the judgment, he may be called and his forfeiture entered. State v. Schenck, 138 N. C. 560, 564, 49 S. E. 917.

Compliance with Section Protects Surety.—Where a defendant surrenders his principal in open court in discharge of himself as bail, he is acting in the clear exercise of an undoubted legal right. Under this section the entry of the fact made upon the records of the Court was therefore proper, and the court could not by their subsequent action, deprive the defendant of the belief of it. Underwood v. McLaurin, 49 N. C. 17, 18.

When Condition of Bond Performed.—The condition of a bail bond is not performed by the appearance, conviction, and sentence of the defendant. The conviction does not, by virtue of its own force, put the defendant in the custody of the court or of the sheriff, but to exonerate the surety the defendant must submit to such punishment as shall be adjudged. State v. Schenck, 138 N. C. 560, 49 S. E. 917.

§ 4595. New bail given upon surrender; liability of sheriff.—Any person surrendered in the manner specified in the preceding section shall have liberty, at any time before final judgment against him, to give bail; and in case of such surrender, the sheriff shall take the bail bond or recognizance to the succeeding court; and in case the sheriff shall release such person without bail, or the bail returned be held insufficient, on exception taken, the same term to which such bail bond shall be returned, and allowed by the court, the sheriff, having due notice thereof in criminal cases, shall forfeit to the state the sum of one hundred dollars, to be recovered on motion in like manner as forfeitures for not returning process, and be subject to be indicted for misdemeanor in office; and it shall be the duty of the prosecuting officer to collect the forfeiture; and, in case of a release, the sheriff shall be liable for an escape, and may be prosecuted and punished as provided for in the chapter entitled Crimes. (Rev., s. 3227; Code, s. 1231; R. C., c. 11, s. 6; 1827, c. 40.)

§ 4596. Defenses open to bail.—Every matter which would entitle the principal to be discharged from arrest may be pleaded by the bail in exoneration of his liability. (Rev., s. 3229; Code, s. 1233; R. C., c. 11, s. 9.)

Art. 10. Commitment to Prison

§ 4597. Order of commitment.—Every commitment to prison of a person charged with crime shall state:

1. The name of the person charged.
2. The character of the offense with which he is charged.
3. The name and office of the magistrate committing him.
4. The manner in which he may be discharged; if upon giving recognizance or bail, the amount of the recognizance, the condition on the performance of which it shall be discharged, and the persons or magistrate before whom the bail may justify.
5. The court before which the prisoner shall be sent for trial. (Rev., s. 3230; Code, s. 1163; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 32.)

Verbal Order Invalid.—A verbal order of a justice of the peace sending a prisoner to jail, whether made before or after the examination on the warrant, is not a sufficient authority for the officer to whom the order is given. State v. James, 78 N. C. 455.

§ 4598. Commitment to county jail.—All persons committed to prison before conviction shall be committed to the jail of the county in which the examination is had, or to that of the county in which the offense is charged to have been comitted: Provided, if the jails of these counties are unsafe, or injurious to the health of prisoners, the committing magistrate may commit to the jail of any other convenient county. And every sheriff or jailer to whose jail any person shall be committed by any court or magistrate of competent jurisdiction shall receive such prisoner and give a receipt for him, and be bound for his safe-keeping as prescribed by law. (Rev., s. 3231; Code, s. 1164; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 2, s. 33.)

§ 4599. Commitment of witnesses.—If any witness required to enter into a recognizance, either with or without sureties, shall refuse to comply with such order, it shall be the duty of such magistrate to commit him to prison until he shall comply with such order, or be otherwise discharged according to law. (Rev., s. 3232; Code, s. 1155; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 3, s. 24.)

As to witnesses required to give security for appearance see section 4569.

Art. 11. Venue

§ 4600. In case of lynching.—The superior court of any county which adjoins the county in which the crime of lynching shall be committed shall have full and complete jurisdiction over the crime and the offender to the same extent as if the crime had been committed in the bounds of such adjoining county; and whenever the solicitor of the district has information of the commission of such a crime, it shall be his duty to furnish such information to the grand juries of all adjoining counties to the one in which the crime was committed from time to time until the offenders are brought to justice. (Rev., s. 3233; 1893, c. 461, s. 4.)

Cross References.—For a full treatment of Venue, see 12 N. C. Enc. Dig. 266-281; 15 N. C. Enc. Dig. 716-721. As to venue in civil cases, see §§ 463 et seq. As to removal for fair trial, see §§ 471 to 474.

Section Constitutional. — This section is a constitutional exercise of legislative power. State v. Lewis, 142 N. C. 626, 55 S. E. 600; State v. Rumple, 178 N. C. 717, 100 S. E. 622.

Purpose of Section.—Owing to the prejudice or sympathy which in cases of lynching usually and naturally pervades the county where that offense is committed, the General Assembly, upon grounds of public policy, deemed it wise to transfer the investigation of the charge to the grand jury of an adjoining county. State v. Lewis, 142 N. C. 626, 630, 55 S. E. 600.

Bill Need Not Be Found In County Where Offense Committed.—In an indictment for lynching it was error to quash the bill on the ground that it appeared on the face of the bill that the offense charged was not committed in the county in which the bill was found, but in an adjoining county. State v. Lewis, 142 N. C. 626, 55 S. E. 600.

§ 4601. In offenses on waters dividing counties.—When any offense is committed on any water, or water-course, whether at high or low water, which water or water-course, or the sides or shores thereof, divides counties, such offense may be dealt with, inquired of, tried and determined, and punished at the discretion of the court, in either of the two counties which may be nearest to the place where the offense was committed. (Rev., s. 3234; Code, s. 1193; R. C., c. 35, s. 24.)

§ 4602. Assault in one county, death in another.—In all cases of felonious homicide when the assault has been made in one county within the state, and the person assaulted dies in any other county thereof, the offender shall be indicted and punished for the crime in the county wherein the assault was made. (Rev., s. 3235; Code, s. 1196; R. C., c. 35, s. 27; 1831, c. 22, s. 1.)

No New Offense Created by Section.—This section received a judicial construction in S. v. Dunkley, 25 N. C. 116, and it was held that it did not create any new offense, but merely removed a difficulty which existed as to the place of the trial. State v. Hall, 114 N. C. 909, 919, 19 S. E. 602.

This section and the following were part of chapter 22 of the Public Laws 1831 and hence this construction applies equally to the following section.—Ed. Note.

Meaning of "assault" see note under following section.

§ 4603. Assault in this state, death in another.—In all cases of felonious homicide, when the assault has been made within this state, and the person assaulted dies without the limits thereof, the offender shall be indicted and punished for the crime in the county where the assault was made, in the same manner, to all intents and purposes, as if the person assaulted had died within the limits of this state. (Rev., s. 3236; Code, s. 1197; R. C., c. 35, s. 28; 1831, c. 22, s. 2.)

Section Is Valid.—The validity of sections similar to this seems to be undisputed, and indeed it has been held in many jurisdictions that such legislation is but in affirmance of the common law. State v. Hall, 114 N. C. 909, 913, 19 S. E. 602.

No new offense created by section, see note to preceding section.

Meaning of "Assault."—The assault mentioned in this section and the preceding section evidently means not a mere attempt, but such an injury inflicted in this State which results in death in another State. State v. Hall, 114 N. C. 909, 920, 19 S. E. 602.

Acts Causing Death Must Take Place in State.—This section plainly contemplates that every part of the offenses, except the death, must have occurred in this State. State v. Hall, 14 N. C. 909, 920, 19 S. E. 602.

Shooting Person in Adjoining State.—See next section and note thereto.

§ 4604. Person in this state injuring one in another.—If any person being in this state, unlawfully and willfully puts in motion a force from the effect of which any person is injured while in another state, the person so setting such force in motion shall be guilty of the same offense in this state as he would be if the effect had taken place within this state. (Rev., s. 3237; 1895, c. 169.)

Editor's Note.—This section was passed in 1895 as a result of the decision in State v. Hall, 114 N. C. 809, 19 S. E. 602. In that case, decided in 1894, the defendants while in North Carolina shot across the State line and killed a person in Tennessee and being indicted for murder in North Carolina it was held that they were not guilty of the crime charged in the absence of a statute like the present. Section 4603 was discussed and held not applicable since the stroke producing death was given not in North Carolina but in Tennessee.

§ 4605. In county where death occurs.—If a mortal wound is given or other violence or injury inflicted or poison is administered on the high seas of land, either within or without the limits of this state, by means whereof death ensues in any county thereof, the offense may be prosecuted and punished in the county where the death happens. (Rev., s. 3238; 1891, c. 68.)

Section Constitutional.—This section is constitutional and applies to foreigners as well as to citizens of this State who have inflicted moral wounds elsewhere. State v. Caldwell, 115 N. C. 794, 20 S. E. 523.

§ 4606. Improper venue met by plea in abatement; procedure.—Because the boundaries of many counties are either undetermined or unknown, by reason whereof high offenses go unpunished; therefore, for the more effectual prosecution of offenses committed on land near the boundaries of counties, in the prosecution of all offenses it shall be deemed and taken as true that the offense was committed in the county in which by the indictment it is alleged to have taken place, unless the defendant shall deny the same by plea in abatement, the truth whereof shall be duly verified on oath or otherwise both as to substance and fact, wherein shall be set forth the proper county in which the supposed offense, if any, was committed; whereupon the court may, on motion of the state, commit the defendant, who may enter into recognizance, as in other cases, to answer the offense in the county averred by his plea to be the proper county; and, on his prosecution in that county, it shall be deemed, conclusively, to be the proper county. But if the state, upon the plea aforesaid, will join issue, and the matter be found for the defendant, he shall be required to enter into recognizance as in other cases to answer the offense in the county averred by his plea to be the proper county, provided the offense be bailable; and, if not bailable, he shall be committed for trial in the county; and, if it be found for the state, the court in all offenses or misdemeanors shall proceed to pronounce judgment against the defendant, as upon conviction; and, in all cases of felony, the defendant shall be at liberty to plead to the indictment, and be tried on his plea of not guilty. (Rev., s. 3239; Code, s. 1194; R. C., c. 35, s. 25.)

Cross References.—As to venue in indictment for beating way on trains see section 3508. As to venue in indictment for receiving stolen goods see section 4250. As to venue in case of discrimination against the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad see section 3419.

Purpose of Section.—This section was evidently intended to provide relief in difficulties originating in doubt entertained in good faith as to the county in which the offense was committed, and should not be construed to modify the common law beyond the reasonable scope of its manifest purpose. State v. Mitchell, 202 N. C. 439, 445, 163 S. E. 581.

Power of Legislature.—Venue is under the control of the Legislature. State v. Woodward, 123 N. C. 710, 31 S. E. 219.

Broad Terms.—This section is very broad in its terms. State v. Outerbridge, 82 N. C. 618, 622.

Old Rule Reversed.—It reverses the rule which seems to have obtained on the trial of criminal cases before its enactment. State v. Lytle, 117 N. C. 799, 801, 23 S. E. 476.

Applies to All Crimes.—In felonies, as to misdemeanors, the objection can only be taken by plea in abatement. State v. Outerbridge, 82 N. C. 618, 622.

Same—Committed Within State.—The offenses referred to in this section are those committed within the borders of the State, in violation of the laws of the State, for our courts cannot take cognizance of the violation of the criminal laws of other States; and would have no right to recognize offenders to appear before their judicial tribunals. State v. Mitchell, 83 N. C. 674, 676.

Laws Regulating Jurisdiction Not a Part of Offense.—Laws conferring, withdrawing or limiting jurisdiction over pre-existing common law offenses do not become a constituent part of the offenses to which they apply. State v. Lewis, 142 N. C. 626, 630, 55 S. E. 600; State v. Williamson, 81 N. C. 540.

Crime Where Alleged.—Under this section, a criminal offense is deemed to have taken place in the county in which the indictment charges it had occurred, unless the defendant deny the same by the plea in abatement. State v. Oliver, 186 N. C. 329, 119 S. E. 370; State v. Allen, 107 N. C. 805, 11 S. E. 1016.

Averment of Venue in Indictment.—In an indictment for murder, the offence must be charged in the body of the bill, to have been committed within the district, over which the court has jurisdiction; it is not sufficient that the caption names the district. State v. Adams, 1 N. C. 56.

But the want of an averment of a proper and perfect venue is not fatal to a bill of indictment. State v. Williamson, 81 N. C. 540, 541.

The crime of offering a bribe to a juror is committed in the county where the offer is communicated to the juror, and the proper venue is the county in which the juror was serving and in which the defendant's offer was communicated to him by his wife, although defendant communicated with the juror's kinsmen and wife in the county of their residence. State v. Noland, 204 N. C. 329, 168 S. E. 412.

Objection to Venue Waived.—Objection to venue is waived unless objection is taken in apt time by plea in abatement. State v. Lytle, 117 N. C. 799, 23 S. E. 476; State v. Woodward, 123 N. C. 710, 31 S. E. 219; State v. Holder, 133 N. C. 709, 711, 45 S. E. 862.

Thus where a prisoner is charged with killing the deceased in the county in which the indictment is found, the State need not prove that the offense was committed in that county. Such allegation is to be taken as true unless the prisoner denies the same by plea in abatement. State v. Outerbridge, 82 N. C. 618.

Demurrer to Evidence Improper Remedy.—Under this section, an objection to venue must be taken by plea in abatement, and a demurrer to the evidence on this ground was properly overruled. State v. Burton, 138 N. C. 575, 576, 50 S. E. 214.

Plea in Abatement.—An indictment charging that defendant did feloniously embezzle certain certificates of deposit in the county in which the prosecution is instituted, held not subject to defendant's plea in abatement on the ground that the certificates of deposit were issued by a bank in another county and that such other county was the proper venue of the prosecution, since the indictment charges the embezzlement of the certificates of deposit and not the proceeds of the certificates. State v. Shore, 206 N. C. 743, 175 S. E. 116.

What Must Be Stated in Plea in Abatement.—In pleas in abatement the facts upon which the plea rests must be stated, and present matters which will defeat the further prosecution of the present action, if proven or admitted. Emry v. Chappell, 148 N. C. 327, 62 S. E. 411.

Jurisdiction of Person Acquired by Consent.—While the court's jurisdiction of the subject-matter of a criminal offense may not be acquired with the defendant's consent, it is otherwise as to the jurisdiction of his person; and where he asks and obtains a continuance of the action against him, he waives the court's want of jurisdiction of his person, and thereafter a plea in abatement comes too late. State v. Oliver, 186 N. C. 329, 119 S. E. 370.

Cited in State v. Ritter, 199 N. C. 116, 117, 154 S. E. 62.

§ 4606(a). Removal of indictment with consent of defendant; pleas.—Whenever an indictment, charging the commission of a capital or other felony, is returned a true bill, the judge holding the court in which such indictment is found shall have the power, with the written consent of the defendant or defendants charged in said bill, to remove such indictment for trial to some adjacent county prior to the arraignment or plea of the defendant or defendants in such indictment, without the presence in person of the defendant or defendants, and upon such removal the pleas of the defendant or defendants may be entered in such adjacent county. (1921, c. 12, s. 1.)

§ 4606(b). Jurisdiction of grand jury.—Upon the removal of any indictment under section 4606(a), if it shall be found that there is any defect in such indictment, the grand jury of the county to which the same is removed for trial shall have as full and ample jurisdiction and power to find another indictment for the same offense as would the grand jury of the county from which the indictment was removed. (1921, c. 12, s. 2.)

§ 4606(c). Baseball games; bribery of players, intentional losing of games, etc.—In all prosecutions under sections 4499(a) et seq., relating to the bribery of, and acceptance of bribes by, baseball players, umpires and officials, and the intentional losing of games, the venue may be laid in any county where the bribe was given, offered or accepted, or in which the baseball game was played in relation to which the bribe was offered, given or accepted, or the acts referred to in section 4499(e) committed. (1921, c. 23, s. 6.)

Art. 12. Presentment

§ 4607. No arrest nor trial on presentment.—No person shall be arrested on a presentment of the grand jury, or put on trial before any court, but on indictment found by the grand jury, unless otherwise provided by law. (Rev., s. 3240; Code, s. 1175; R. C., c. 35, s. 6; 1797, c. 474, s. 3; 1879, c. 12.)

As to exception to grand jurors, see section 2335 and notes; as to the indictment generally, see sections 4611 et seq.

Objections to Grand Jury.—In State v. Sharp, 110 N. C. 604, 14 S. E. 504, where there is a full discussion of objections to the competency of a grand jury, it is held that the fact that a son of the prosecutor was a member of the grand jury did not vitiate the indictment, though he had actively participated in finding the bill. State v. Pitt, 166 N. C. 268, 269, 80 S. E. 1060.

Where Foreman Interested in Prosecution.—A motion to quash a bill of indictment on the ground that the foreman of the grand jury was interested in the prosecution will be denied when it appears that the foreman took no part in passing upon the indictment and signed the bill under the direction of the grand jury and returned it in open court. State v. Pitt, 166 N. C. 268, 80 S. E. 1060.

Remedy When Grand Jury Defective.—If there be a defect in the accusing body, it is the right of the party indicted, by plea of abatement or by motion to quash, to avail himself of such defect; but it is required to be exercised at the earliest opportunity after bill found, which must be upon the arraignment when the party is first called upon to answer. State v. Griffice, 74 N. C. 316; State v. Haywood, 73 N. C. 437; State v. Baldwin, 80 N. C. 390, 391.

§ 4608. Names of witnesses indorsed on presentment.—When a presentment shall be made of any offense by a grand jury, upon the knowledge of any of their body, or upon the testimony of witnesses, the names of such grand jurors and witnesses shall be indorsed thereon. (Rev., s. 3241; Code, s. 1176; R. C., c. 35, s. 7; 1797, c. 474, s. 2.)

Failure to Mark Names of Witnesses on Bill.—Section 2336 providing that the foreman of the grand jury shall mark on the indictment the names of the witnesses sworn and examined before the jury is directory merely, and the omission of the foreman to comply therewith is no ground for quashing the bill, where the proof is that the witnesses were sworn. State v. Hines, 84 N. C. 810.

§ 4609. Subpœna for witnesses on presentment.—In issuing subpœnas for witnesses whose names are indorsed on presentments made by the grand jury, the clerk of the court shall name therein the first Tuesday of the term of court as the time for such witnesses to appear and give evidence. And no clerk shall issue a subpœna for any such witness to appear on Monday, except upon written order of the solicitor of the district. (1913, c. 168.)

Art. 13. Indictment

§ 4610. Waiver of bill of indictment.—No waiver of the finding and return into court of a bill of indictment in any criminal action shall be allowed in the superior courts of this state except in cases wherein the offenses charged is a misdemeanor which does not include or contain the element of fraud, deceit or malice; nor shall such waiver be made in any such action except upon a plea of guilty, or a submission, or a plea of nolo contendere by the defendant in the same. No such waiver of a bill of indictment shall be allowed by the court unless by the consent of the defendant's counsel in such action, who shall be one either employed by the defendant to defend him in the action or one appointed by the court to examine into the defendant's case and report as to the same to the court; which service by an attorney so appointed by the court shall be rendered without fee or reward. (1907, c. 71.)

Section Constitutional.—This section, authorizing the waiver of an indictment in the Superior Court by the defendant bound over from an inferior court, is constitutional and valid. Constitution, Art. IV, sec. 13. State v. Jones, 181 N. C. 543, 106 S. E. 827.

§ 4611. Bills returned by foreman except in capital cases.—Grand juries shall return all bills of indictment in open court through their acting foreman, except in capital felonies, when it shall be necessary for the entire grand jury, or a majority of them, to return their bills of indictment in open court in a body. (Rev., s. 3242; 1889, c. 29.)

Indictment to Be Returned in Open Court.—It is the returning of the bill or indictment, publicly, in open court and its being there recorded, that makes it effectual. State v. Cox, 28 N. C. 440.

Indictment Need Not Be Signed.—It has been often held that an indictment need not necessarily be signed by any one. State v. Mace, 86 N. C. 668; State v. Pitt, 166 N. C. 268, 269, 80 S. E. 1060; State v. Cox, 28 N. C. 440, 446.

No endorsement by the foreman or otherwise is essential to the validity of an indictment, which has been duly returned into court by the grand jury under this section, and entered upon its records. State v. Avant, 202 N. C. 680, 683, 163 S. E. 806.

§ 4612. Substance of judicial proceedings set forth.—In every indictment, information, or impeachment in which, by the common law, it may be necessary to set forth at length the judicial proceedings had in any case then or formerly pending in any court, civil or military, or before any justice of the peace, it is sufficient to set forth the substance only of the proceedings, or the substance of such part thereof as makes, or helps to make, the offense prosecuted. (Rev., s. 3243; Code, s. 1184; R. C., c. 35, s. 15.)

Power of Legislature.—The legislature has the undoubted right to modify old forms of bills of indictment, or establish new ones, provided the form established is sufficient to aprise the defendant with reasonable certainty of the nature of the crime of which he stands charged. State v. Harris, 145 N. C. 456, 458, 59 S. E. 115.

Purpose of Section.—The purpose of this section and section 4623 is to render unnecessary merely useless refinements and technicalities in pleading that once prevailed. State v. Murphy, 101 N. C. 697, 701, 8 S. E. 142.

Object of an Indictment.—The office of an indictment is to inform the defendant with sufficient certainty of the charge against him to enable him to prepare his defense. State v. Gates, 107 N. C. 832, 834, 12 S. E. 319.

Refinements Abolished.—The technical and useless refinements of the common law, formerly required in drawing bills of indictment in criminal cases, have been all abolished by statute. State v. Hawley, 186 N. C. 433, 119 S. E. 888. See also State v. Morrison, 202 N. C. 60, 161 S. E. 725.

Statement Required.—In every indictment, the facts and circumstance must be stated with such certainty that the defendant may judge whether they constitute an indictable offence or not. State v. Lewis, 93 N. C. 581. And thus where an indictment sets forth the substance of the offence charged "in a plain, intelligible and explicit manner," with such fullness as that the court could see that it was charged, and it gave the defendant such information as was necessary to enable him to make defence on the trial and in case of a subsequent prosecution, it is sufficient under this section and section 4623. State v. Murphy, 101 N. C. 697, 701, 8 S. E. 142.

Omission of Caption Does Not Vitiate.—While every indictment properly should have a caption, it is no part of the indictment, and its omission is no ground for arresting judgment, as has been often held. State v. Wasden, 4 N. C. 596; State v. Brickell, 8 N. C. 354; State v. Lane, 26 N. C. 113; State v. Dula, 61 N. C. 437; State v. Arnold, 107 N. C. 861, 864, 11 S. E. 990.

Mistake in Caption.—A misrecital of the county in the caption is not ground for arrest of judgment. State v. Sprinkle, 65 N. C. 463; State v. Arnold, 107 N. C. 861, 864, 11 S. E. 990.

Signature of Solicitor Not Requisite.—It is regular and orderly for the bill to be signed by the solicitor, but such signing is not essential to its validity. State v. Mace, 86 N. C. 668; State v. Cox, 28 N. C. 440; State v. Arnold, 107 N. C. 861, 864, 11 S. E. 990.

§ 4613. Bill of particulars.—In all indictments when further information not required to be set out therein is desirable for the better defense of the accused, the court, upon motion, may, in its discretion, require the solicitor to furnish a bill of particulars of such matters. (Rev., s. 3244.)

In General.—This provision as to a bill of particulars had prevailed previously as to civil proceedings, section 534, and was by this section made expressly applicable to criminal cases, to which the court had applied it in State v. Brady, 107 N. C. 822, 12 S. E. 325; State v. Stephens, 170 N. C. 745, 748, 87 S. E. 131.

Purpose of Section.—This section intended to make all indictments alike in regard to dispensing with the insertion of the means and methods by which any offense was committed. State v. Stephens, 170 N. C. 745, 748, 87 S. E. 131.

Object of Bill of Particulars.—The whole object of a bill of particulars is to enable the defendant to properly prepare his defense in cases where the bill of indictment, though correct in form and sufficient to apprise the defendant, in general terms, of the "accusation" against him, is yet so indefinite in its statements, as to the particular charge or occurrence referred to, that it does not afford defendant a fair opportunity to procure his witnesses or prepare his defense. State v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 149 N. C. 508, 511, 62 S. E. 1088.

State Confined to Particulars Stated.—The granting of a bill of particulars on an indictment for a criminal offense is to primarily inform the accused of the charges against him, and secondarily to inform the court, and while this is not strictly a part of the indictment, its effect is to confine the State in its evidence to the particulars stated, and it is reversible error to the prejudice of the defendant's rights for the court to admit, over his objection, evidence as to other criminal offenses not included in the bill to show the scienter or quo animo in relation to the particulars enumerated and coming within the scope of those generally charged in the indictment. State v. Wadford, 194 N. C. 336.

Former Details Not Now Charged in Indictment.—It is no longer charged whether a murder was committed with a knife or a pistol, nor the length and breadth and depth of a wound, and the same is true as to all other offenses. In lieu of this, we have adopted this section which provides for a bill of particulars. State v. Stephens, 170 N. C. 745, 747, 87 S. E. 131.

What Bill Will Not Supply.—A bill of particulars will not supply any matter required to be charged in the indictment, as an ingredient of the offense. State v. Long, 143 N. C. 670, 671, 676, 57 S. E. 349.

The provisions of this section cannot supply a deficiency in an indictment when the language of the indictment fails to adequately charge the essential concomitants of the offense. State v. Cole, 202 N. C. 592, 163 S. E. 594.

Granting Order Is within Court's Discretion.—The granting of an order for a bill of particulars is in the discretion of the court, and the question of sufficient compliance is likewise in the sound legal discretion of the trial judge. State v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 149 N. C. 508, 62 S. E. 1088.

Same—Amendment of Bill.—A bill of particulars, being no part of the indictment, is not subject to demurrer, and may be amended at any time, with permission of the court, on such terms or under such conditions as are just. Townsend v. Williams, 117 N. C. 330; State v. Wadford, 194 N. C. 336, 338.

A bill of particulars filed by order of court in a criminal action is not regarded as a part of the indictment, and with the court's permission may be amended at any time, and is not subject to demurrer, the office of such bill being to advise the court and the accused of specific occurrences for investigation. State v. Beal, 199 N. C. 278, 279, 154 S. E. 604.

Meaning of "Discretion."—The term "discretion," as used and contemplated in the statute, should be construed to mean the sound legal discretion of the trial court; it is well understood that the action of the lower court will not be reviewed or disturbed on appeal, unless there has been manifest abuse in the respect to defendant's prejudice. State v. Dewey, 139 N. C. 556; State v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 149 N. C. 508, 511, 62 S. E. 1088.

When Applied for.—Where the defendant thinks that an indictment, otherwise objectionable in form, fails to impart information sufficiently specific as to the nature of the charge, he may before trial move the court to order that a bill of particulars be filed, and the court will not arrest the judgment after verdict where he attempts to reserve his fire until he takes first the chance of acquittal. State v. Corbin, 157 N. C. 619, 621, 72 S. E. 1071; State v. Shade, 115 N. C. 757, 20 S. E. 537.

Indictment for Perjury.—Where the defendant in an action for perjury is in ignorance of the particulars of the offense charged, his remedy is by application to the court for a bill of particulars under this section if the indictment is in the form prescribed by section 4615. State v. Hawley, 186 N. C. 433, 119 S. E. 888.

Indictment for Malfeasance of Bank Officer.—It is within the sound discretion of the trial judge to try, seperately or collectively, the defendant, indicted under the provisions of section 4401, for some or all offenses committed by a series of checks on the bank, whereby he had unlawfully "abstracted" the funds of the bank; and where the indictment is sufficient for conviction, the defendant's remedy is by requesting a bill of particulars when he reasonably so desires. State v. Switzer, 187 N. C. 88, 121 S. E. 143.

What Constitutes Waiver of Right.—Where a bank employee is charged with the indictable offense of making false entries upon the books of the bank in fraud or deceit of "other persons to the jurors unknown," the defendant should make his motion to the discretion of the trial judge for a bill of particulars requiring the name of these unknown persons, and his failure to do so will be deemed a waiver of his right. State v. Hedgecock, 185 N. C. 714, 117 S. E. 47.

Motion to Quash Not Proper Remedy.—Where the criminal indictment sufficiently charges all the elements of the offense but is not as definite as the defendant may desire the defendant's remedy is by a motion for a bill of particulars, and not by a motion to quash. State v. Everhardt, 203 N. C. 610, 166 S. E. 738.

Cited in State v. Suncrest Lumber Co., 199 N. C. 199, 201, 154 S. E. 72.

§ 4614. Essentials of bill for homicide.—In indictments for murder and manslaughter, it is not necessary to allege matter not required to be proved on the trial; but in the body of the indictment, after naming the person accused, and the county of his residence, the date of the offense, the averment "with force and arms," and the county of the alleged commission of the offense, as is now usual, it is sufficient in describing murder to allege that the accused person feloniously, willfully, and of his malice aforethought, did kill and murder (naming the person killed), and concluding as is now required by law; and it is sufficient in describing manslaughter to allege that the accused feloniously and willfully did kill and slay (naming the person killed), and concluding as aforesaid; and any bill of indictment containing the averments and allegations herein named shall be good and sufficient in law as an indictment for murder or manslaughter, as the case may be. (Rev., s. 3245; 1887, c. 58.)

As to homicide generally, see notes under sections 4200 and 4201.

Section Constitutional.—The power of the Legislature to prescribe the form of indictment for murder is upheld in State v. Moore, 104 N. C. 743, 10 S. E. 183; State v. Brown, 106 N. C. 645; State v. Arnold, 107 N. C. 861, 864, 11 S. E. 990.

Willfully Not Necessary in Indictment for Murder.—The word "willfully" is not essential to the validity of an indictment for murder, neither at common law nor under this section. State v. Arnold, 107 N. C. 861, 11 S. E. 990; State v. Kirkman, 104 N. C. 911, 10 S. E. 312; State v. Harris, 106 N. C. 682, 11 S. E. 377, cited and approved.

What Is Sufficient under Section.—This section declares an indictment containing certain words "sufficient," but it does not make those words essential, nor by any reasonable construction can it be held to make technical and "sacramental" words which were not theretofore necessary in indictments for murder. State v. Arnold, 107 N. C. 861, 863, 11 S. E. 990.

Same—Form of Indictment Set Out.—The following is full and sufficient in the body of an indictment for murder: "The jurors for the State on their oaths present that A. B., in the county of E., did feloniously, and of malice aforethought, kill and murder C. D." And it is sufficient in an indictment for manslaughter to follow the same form, omitting the words "and with malice aforethought" and substituting "slay" in the stead of the word "murder." These forms contain, in the words of the statute, "every averment necessary to be proved." State v. Arnold, 107 N. C. 861, 863, 11 S. E. 990. This form also approved in State v. Sou. Ry. Co., 125 N. C. 666, 671, 34 S. E. 527.

An indictment charging the essential facts of murder as required by this section, is sufficient to sustain the court's charge based upon the evidence in the case relative to murder committed in the perpetration of robbery or other felony. State v. Fogleman, 204 N. C. 401, 168 S. E. 536.

Statements Not Necessary.—An indictment is not defective for failure to allege whether the person killed was a man or woman, or whether the mortal wound was inflicted by stabbing, shooting or killing. State v. Pate, 121 N. C. 659, 28 S. E. 354.

It is not necessary that an indictment for murder committed in the attempt to perpetrate larceny should contain a specific allegation of the attempted larceny, such allegation not having been necessary in indictments prior to the adoption of the section. State v. Covington, 117 N. C. 834, 23 S. E. 337.

The omission of the word "wound" in an indictment for murder was held not fatal, long before the adoption of the present short form of indictment for murder under this section. State v. Rinehart, 75 N. C. 58; State v. Ratliff, 170 N. C. 707, 709, 86 S. E. 997.

Variance in Time Not Fatal.—Where an indictment for murder charged the killing to have taken place December fifth and the evidence showed that, while the deceased was wounded on that day, he died three days thereafter, and before the bill of indictment was found. Held, that the variance was not fatal. State v. Pate, 121 N. C. 659, 28 S. E. 354.

Defendant Can Demand Bill of Particulars.—If a defendant desires fuller information upon which to prepare his defense than is required to be charged in the indictment, he should ask for a bill of particulars. State v. Long, 143 N. C. 670, 671, 57 S. E. 349. As to bill of particulars, see preceding section.

§ 4615. Form of bill for perjury.—In every indictment for willful and corrupt perjury it is sufficient to set forth the substance of the offense charged upon the defendant, and by what court, or before whom, the oath was taken (averring such court or person to have competent authority to administer the same), together with the proper averments to falsify the matter wherein the perjury is assigned, without setting forth the bill, answer, information, indictment, declaration, or any part of any record or proceedings, either in law or equity, other than aforesaid, and without setting forth the commission of authority of the court or person before whom the perjury was committed. In indictments for perjury the following form shall be sufficient, to wit:

The jurors for the state, on their oath, present, that A. B., of .....County, did unlawfully commit perjury upon the trial of an action in .....court, in .....County, wherein .....was plaintiff and.....was defendant, by falsely asserting, on oath (or solemn affirmation) (here set out the statement or statements alleged to be false), knowing the said statement, or statements, to be false, or being ignorant whether or not said statement was true. (Rev., ss. 3246, 3247; Code, s. 1185; R. C., c. 35, s. 16; 1842, c. 49, s. 1; 1889, c. 83.)

See § 4363 and notes thereto.

In General.—A person charged with perjury must be indicted by the grand jury and tried as the offense is a felony. A trial without an indictment is contrary to the Constitution, Art. 1, sec. 12. State v. Hyman, 164 N. C. 411, 79 S. E. 284.

But a defendant certainly can derive no just benefit from the insertion in the charge of the minutiae of what would constitute perjury. The use of such phraseology was indeed always illogical, and the experience of ages has been that it served not so much to enlighten the defendant as to the charge he was to meet, as to present a network of technicalities which hindered the trial of the cause upon its merits and very often caused a miscarriage of justice. State v. Gates, 107 N. C. 832, 834, 12 S. E. 319.

And thus the purpose of this section is to render unnecessary useless details and niceties, in charging the offense of perjury, that one time prevailed to the prejudice of the administration of criminal justice. State v. Robertson, 98 N. C. 751, 752, 4 S. E. 511.

This section dispenses with the necessity of setting forth the record of the indictment, on the train of which the false oath is alleged to have been taken, and only requires that the substance would be set forth, but it did not dispense with the necessity of making all the averments in an indictment for perjury which were all necessary to be proved, and it is necessary to prove in what court, or before whom, the oath was taken. State v. Lewis, 93 N. C. 581, 583.

Section Constitutional.—The form of indictment for perjury prescribed by this section is sufficient and legal. State v. Peters, 107 N. C. 876, 12 S. E. 74; State v. Hawley, 186 N. C. 433, 119 S. E. 888 overruling State v. Cline, 150 N. C. 854, 64 S. E. 591; State v. Gates, 107 N. C. 832, 12 S. E. 319.

Word "Feloniously" Not Necessary. — In the cases of State v. Bunting, 118 N. C. 1200, 24 S. E. 118 and State v. Shaw, 117 N. C. 764, 23 S. E. 246, which were indictments for perjury, it was expressly held that the term "feloniously" was required to make a good bill of indictment for this offense. Both of them, too, were on indictments instituted after the adoption of this section which established the form for indictment for perjury. The court, however, in rendering these decisions, was evidently not advertent to the statute above referred to, for the reason probably that it does not appear in the general Code of 1883, and was, therefore, not called to its attention; the statute having been enacted at a subsequent session and being chapter 83, Laws of 1889. State v. Harris, 145 N. C. 456, 458, 59 S. E. 115.

But this section does not make the word "feloniously" a part of the bill, and it does not appear in the form set out, and the same is, therefore, no longer required. State v. Harris, 145 N. C. 456, 457, 59 S. E. 115; State v. Holder, 153 N. C. 606, 609, 69 S. E. 66.

Sufficient Averment of Jurisdiction.—The jurisdiction of the justice of the peace of the complaint upon the examination whereof the alleged perjury was committed is sufficiently averred where it is averred, that the justice had power to administer the oath. State v. Davis, 69 N. C. 495.

Style of the Court.—The style of the court before which the perjury is alleged to have been committed must be legally set forth. State v. Street, 5 N. C. 156, 3 Am. Dec. 682.

Proceedings Not Set Out.—Where an indictment for perjury alleges that the false oath was taken before a justice of the peace upon the trial of a warrant, etc., it is not necessary to set forth the proceedings in which the false oath was alleged to have been made. State v. Roberson, 98 N. C. 751, 4 S. E. 511.

Indictment Need Not Charge Materiality of False Testimony.—Prior to the adoption of this section it was settled that in indictments for perjury the indictment must charge that the alleged false testimony was material to the issue. See State v. Davis, 69 N. C. 495; State v. Mumford, 12 N. C. 519. Since this section was passed however it has been repeatedly held that this need not appear in the indictment. See State v. Hawley, 186 N. C. 433, 435, 119 S. E. 888 and cases cited. The case of State v. Cline, 150 N. C. 854, 64 S. E. 591, though decided in 1909 evidently overlooked the provisions of this section as well as the cases previously construing it and held in accordance with the former view that the materiality of the false testimony must be charged in the indictment. This case was expressly overruled by the court in State v. Hawley, supra.—Ed. Note.

But the averment in a bill that defendant committed perjury includes the necessity for proving that the false testimony was material to the issue. State v. Cline, 146 N. C. 640, 61 S. E. 522.

That Oath was Willfully and Corruptly Taken. — An indictment for perjury which does not aver that the false oath was taken willfully and corruptly is defective. These terms must be applied to the act of swearing to express the wicked purpose with which such oath is taken. State v. Davis, 84 N. C. 787; State v. Carland, 14 N. C. 114.

Variance Held Fatal.—Where an indictment for perjury charged that the false oath was taken at one term of a court in a trial between A and B and the records of that court showed that at that term there was no trial between these parties, but the record showed that at a term other than the one alleged in the indictment there was such a trial, and the judge allowed this record to be introduced; It was held, to be error, and that the variance was fatal. State v. Lewis, 93 N. C. 581.

Not Quashed for Omissions. — Although an indictment for perjury, which fails to allege that the defendant "knew the said statement to be false," or that "he was ignorant whether or not said statement was false," is defective, the court should not quash it, but the defendant should be held until a proper indictment is had. State v. Flowers, 109 N. C. 841, 13 S. E. 718.

Surplusage. — Where perjury was alleged to have been committed in the trial of a "suit, controversy, or investigation," without a definite statement of the nature of the proceeding, the words, "suit, controversy, or investigation," under this section, may be regarded as surplusage in a bill of indictment charging perjury, and a motion to quash upon the ground that there was indefiniteness of statement of the nature of the proceeding will not be sustained. State v. Hawley, 186 N. C. 433, 119 S. E. 888.

An indictment for perjury, alleged to have been committed upon a trial in the court of a justice of the peace, is not defective because it sets out the name of the Justice before whom the case was tried. State v. Flowers, 109 N. C. 841, 13 S. E. 718.

No Change In Proof Required.—This section has merely simplified the form of the indictment for perjury, and the constituent elements of the offenses remain unchanged and required the same proof to establish the commission of the crime. State v. Peters, 107 N. C. 876, 12 S. E. 74; State v. Cline, 146 N. C. 640, 642, 61 S. E. 522.

§ 4616. Bill for subornation of perjury.—In every indictment for subornation of perjury, or for corrupt bargaining or contracting with others to commit willful and corrupt perjury, it is sufficient to set forth the substance of the offense charged upon the defendant, without setting forth the bill, answer, information, indictment, declaration or any part of any record or proceedings, and without setting forth the commission or authority of the court or person before whom the perjury was committed or was agreed or promised to be committed. (Rev., s. 3248; Code, s. 1186; R. C., c. 35, s. 17; 1842, c. 49, s. 2.)

§ 4617. Former conviction alleged in bill for second offense.—In any indictment for an offense which, on the second conviction thereof, is punished with other greater punishment than on the first conviction, it is sufficient to state that the offender was, at a certain time and place, convicted thereof, without otherwise describing the previous offense; and a transcript of the record of the first conviction, duly certified, shall upon proof of the identity of the person of the offender, be sufficient evidence of the first conviction. (Rev., s. 3249; Code, s. 1187; R. C., c. 35, s. 18.)

In General.—When a second conviction is punished with other or greater punishment then for a first conviction, the first conviction shall be charged as required by this section. State v. Davidson, 124 N. C. 839, 32 S. E. 957.

No Presumption of Second Conviction.—The first conviction of manufacturing or aiding and abetting in the manufacture of spirituous, etc., liquors is a misdemeanor, and the second is a felony, section 3409; and where the indictment does not charge a previous conviction it will be presumed that the defendant has not heretofore been convicted of the offense charged. State v. Clark, 183 N. C. 733, 110 S. E. 641.

§ 4618. Manner of alleging joint ownership of property.—In any indictment wherein it is necessary to state the ownership of any property whatsoever, whether real or personal, which belongs to, or is in the possession of, more than one person, whether such persons be partners in trade, joint tenants or tenants in common, it is sufficient to name one of such persons, and to state such property to belong to the person so named, and another or others as the case may be; and whenever, in any such indictment, it is necessary to mention, for any purpose whatsoever, any partners, joint tenants or tenants in common, it is sufficient to describe them in the manner aforesaid; and this provision shall extend to all joint-stock companies and trustees. (Rev., s. 3250; Code, s. 1188; R. C., c. 35, s. 19.)

Apparent Variance Cured.—Where property is charged in an indictment for larceny as belonging to A and another, and it is proved on the trial to be the property of A and B, a firm well known in the community, the apparent variance is cured by this section. State v. Capps, 71 N. C. 93.

Where A makes a crop of cotton on the plantation of B, under a verbal agreement that B is to have half of it, it was held, that in an indictment for larceny the cotton was properly charged to be the property of A and another. State v. Patterson, 68 N. C. 292.

Variance Not Cured.—Upon the trial of an indictment for injury to live stock, it was held, to be a variance where the property was laid in "L. S. and others," and the proof was that L. S. was the exclusive owner. State v. Hill, 79 N. C. 657.

Words "And Another or Others" Invalidates.—An indictment for larceny, which charges the thing taken to be the property of J. R. D. "and another or others" is fatally defective under this section. State v. Harper, 64 N. C. 129.

§ 4619. Description in bill for larceny of money.—In every indictment in which it is necessary to make any averment as to the larceny of any money, or United States treasury note, or any note of any bank whatsoever, it is sufficient to describe such money, treasury note, or bank note, simply as money, without specifying any particular coin or treasury note, or bank note; and such allegation, so far as regards the description of the property, shall be sustained by proof of any amount of coin, or treasury note, or bank note, although the particular species of coin, of which such amount was composed, or the particular nature of the treasury note, or bank note, shall not be proven. (Rev., s. 3251; Code, s. 1190; 1876-7, c. 68.)

Purpose of Section.—An indictment, before 1877, for stealing "money" without further description could not have been sustained, and the Legislature, to remedy the difficulty of describing and identifying bank bills. Treasury notes, etc., which may be stolen, passed this section. State v. Reese, 83 N. C. 637, 639.

Amount Should Be Charged.—The term "money," without anything added to make it more definite, is too loose in indictments, and it should be described at least by the amount, as to many dollars and cents. State v. Reese, 83 N. C. 637, 640.

Charge Sufficient. — The charge of the theft of "$5 in money of the value of $5" is good under this section and is sustained by the proof of the theft of any kind of coin or treasury or bank notes without proof of the particular kind of coin or treasury as bank note. State v. Carter, 113 N. C. 639, 18 S. E. 517.

Inasmuch as money is the measure of values a charge in an indictment of taking "ten dollars in money" is an allegation of taking "the value of ten dollars." State v. Brown, 13 N. C. 645, 18 S. E. 51.

Variance Allowed.—Where an indictment charged the larceny of "thirty dollars in money," and the proof was that defendant stole "three ten dollar bills" it was held, no variance. State v. Freeman, 89 N. C. 469.

§ 4620. Description in bill for embezzlement.—In indictments for embezzlement, except when the offense relates to a chattel, it is sufficient to allege the embezzlement to be of money, without specifying any particular coin or valuable security; and such allegation, so far as regards the description of the property, shall be sustained if the offender shall be proved to have embezzled any amount, although the particular species of coin or valuable security of which such amount was composed shall not be proved. (Rev., s. 3252; Code, s. 1020; 1871-2, c. 145, s. 2.)

As to embezzlement in general see sections 4268 et seq.

Sufficient Description of Property.—The description of the property embezzled, as "one note for five dollars in money of the value of five dollars," is sufficiently specific. State v. Fain, 106 N. C. 760, 11 S. E. 593.

Surplusage Which Does Not Vitiate.—An allegation in an indictment for embezzlement that the defendant "did steal, take, carry away" the property alleged to have been embezzled, is surplusage, and will not vitiate an indictment otherwise sufficient. State v. Fain, 106 N. C. 760, 11 S. E. 593.

Variance.—In a prosecution for embezzlement the failure of proof of embezzlement of the whole sum charged in the bill of indictment does not constitute a fatal variance between allegation and proof where there is proof of embezzlement of a sum less than that charged in the indictment. State v. Dula, 206 N. C. 745, 175 S. E. 80.

§ 4621. Intent to defraud; larceny and receiving.—In any case where an intent to defraud is required to constitute the offense of forgery, or any other offense whatever, it is sufficient to allege in the indictment an intent to defraud, without naming therein the particular person or body corporate intended to be defrauded; and on the trial of such indictment, it shall be sufficient, and shall not be deemed a variance, if there appear to be an intent to defraud the United States, or any state, county, city, town, or parish, or body corporate or any public officer in his official capacity, or any copartnership or member thereof, or any particular person. The defendant may be charged in the same indictment in several counts with the separate offenses of receiving stolen goods, knowing them to be stolen, and larceny. (Rev., s. 3253; Code, s. 1191; R. C., c. 35, ss. 21, 23; 1852, c. 87, s. 2; 1874-5, c. 62.)

As to larceny and receiving stolen goods see generally sections 4249 et seq. See note to § 224(e).

In General.—An indictment charging the employee with the indictable offense of making a false entry on the books of a bank for which he was employed need not necessarily specify all those whom he has thereby intended to defraud; and where it has named the officers of the bank and a depositor, "and other persons to the jurors unknown," it is sufficient to show that the false entry was entered to deceive the bank examiners in concealing his defalcation, who were present making an examination of his books, both under the common law and the statute. State v. Hedgecock, 185 N. C. 714, 117 S. E. 47.

Solicitor Need Not Elect Count.—On trial of an indictment for larceny and receiving, etc., the two counts relating to the same transaction and varied to meet the probable proofs, the court will not order the Solicitor to elect upon which count he will proceed. State v. Morrison, 85 N. C. 561.

General Verdict Correct.—A general verdict of guilty an indictment of two counts—one for stealing and the other for receiving stolen goods of a value less than five dollars—is correct and if one count is defective the judgment will be on the good count. State v. Bailey, 73 N. C. 70; State v. Leak, 80 N. C. 403.

§ 4622. Separate counts; consolidation.—When there are several charges against any person for the same act or transaction or for two or more acts or transactions connected together, or for two or more transactions of the same class of crimes or offenses, which may be properly joined, instead of several indictments, the whole may be joined in one indictment in separate counts; and if two or more indictments are found in such cases, the court will order them to be consolidated: Provided, that in such consolidating cases the defendant shall be taxed the solicitor's full fee for the first count, and a half fee for only one subsequent count upon which conviction is had or plea of guilty entered: Provided, this section shall not be construed to reduce the punishment or penalty for such offense or offenses. (1917, c. 168; 1921, c. 100.)

Editor's Note.—By ch. 100, Public Laws of 1921 the first proviso to this section, regarding the fees of the solicitor, was amended. The former wording provided that the defendant should be taxed half fees for each subsequent count upon which conviction was had. The amendment in addition to allowing the half fee on but one subsequent count added at the end of the proviso the words "or plea of guilty entered."

General Verdict Covers Several Counts.—Where there are several counts in a criminal complaint (called indictment in this case), and each is for a distinct offense, a general verdict of guilty will apply to each, and a judgment rendered as to each count will be sustained for the separate offense. State v. Mills, 181 N. C. 530, 106 S. E. 677.

Offenses of Same Class. — An indictment charging the defendant with "receiving stolen goods," etc., with evidence tending to show the receiving on several occasions, does not require the solicitor to select the count on which he would proceed, on defendant's motion, each offense being of the same class of crime. State v. Charles, 195 N. C. 868, 142 S. E. 486.

Entering Judgment on Each Offense upon General Verdict of Guilty.—Where the trial of two separate criminal indictments are consolidated by the judge and tried together as authorized by this section and a general verdict of guilty is returned by the jury, the verdict will apply to each indictment, and judgment pronounced on one of them, but execution suspended on terms agreed upon, and judgment and sentence entered as to the other, is not objectionable on the ground that only one judgment should have been entered, and held further, the sentences being concurrent, the defendant was not prejudiced. State v. Harvell, 199 N. C. 599, 600, 155 S. E. 257.

Obstructing Highway and Injury to Property.—It is not only proper but it is the duty of the court to consolidate cases where defendant is charged with obstructing a highway and with wanton injury to personal property by placing nails in the highway. State v. Malpass, 189 N. C. 349, 127 S. E. 248.

Delivering Liquor and Keeping for Sale.—Under this section consolidation of charges of delivering, and keeping for sale under the Turlington Act 3411 par. b. is proper. State v. Jarett, 189 N. C. 516, 127 S. E. 590.

Arson and House Burning.—Where the grand jury has found two separate indictments, one charging arson and the other the less offense of house burning, both arising from the same transaction, the two may be consolidated and a conviction of the less offense will be sustained on appeal. State v. Brown, 182 N. C. 761, 108 S. E. 349.

Housebreaking and Larceny.—When not subject to legal objection, a motion by the solicitor to consolidate two criminal actions for trial is addressed to the discretion of the trial judge, and where prosecutions for housebreaking and larceny on two occasions during the same night against two defendants are consolidated without objection, and the charges are so connected in time and place that evidence of guilt in one action is competent in the other, the order of the trial judge consolidating the actions will not be held for error on appeal. State v. Combs, 200 N. C. 671, 158 S. E. 252.

Murder of One Person and Assault upon Another. — Upon the trial under an indictment charging the prisoner with murder of M., it is reversible error to the defendant's prejudice for the trial court upon his own motion, after a substantial part of the evidence had been introduced to consolidate the action with another action under a separate indictment charging the prisoner with an assault with a deadly weapon upon D., the prisoner being afforded no opportunity to pass upon the impartiality of the jury upon the assault charge or an opportunity to plead to the charge. State v. Rice, 202 N. C. 411, 163 S. E. 112.

Burglary and Rape.—A motion, made before the introduction of any evidence, to require the State to elect between two separate counts in the bill of indictment, one charging burglary in the first degree and the other rape, is properly denied, the two offenses being of the same class, which under this section may be joined in one indictment in separate counts, and it being within the sound discretion of the trial court as to whether he should compel an election between the counts and, if so, at what stage of the trial. State v. Smith, 201 N. C. 494, 160 S. E. 577.

It is not error, under this section, for the trial court to refuse a separate trial on each two counts in an indictment charging defendants with conspiracy to rob and with murder committed in the attempt to perpetrate the robbery. State v. Green, 207 N. C. 369, 177 S. E. 120.

Cited in State v. Alridge, 206 N. C. 850, 852, 175 S. E. 191.

§ 4623. Bill or warrant not quashed for informality.—Every criminal proceeding by warrant, indictment, information, or impeachment is sufficient in form for all intents and purposes if it express the charge against the defendant in a plain, intelligible, and explicit manner; and the same shall not be quashed, nor the judgment thereon stayed, by reason of any informality or refinement, if in the bill or proceeding, sufficient matter appears to enable the court to proceed to judgment. (Rev., s. 3254; Code, s. 1183; R. C., c. 35, s. 14; 37 Hen. VIII, c. 8; 1784, c. 210, s. 2; 1811, c. 809.)

I. NATURE AND PURPOSE.

Purpose of Section.—As far back as State v. Moses, 13 N. C. 452, (at p. 464), Ruffin, C. J., speaking of this section says: "This law was certainly designed to uphold the execution of public justice by freeing the courts from those letters of forms, technically and refinement which do not concern the substance of the charge and the proof to support it. Many of the sages of the law had before called nice objections, of this sort a disease of the law and a reproach to the bench, and lamented that they were bound down to strict and precise precedents. . . . We think the legislature meant to disallow the whole of them and only require the substance, that is a direct averment of those facts and circumstances which constitute the crime to be set forth. It is to be remarked that the act directs the Court to proceed to judgment without regard to two things—one the form, the other refinement." State v. Hester, 122 N. C. 104, 1048, 29 S. E. 380. See State v. Barnes, 122 N. C. 1031, 29 S. E. 381, which uses the same language.

This section and section 4625 were passed to forbid refinements and technicalities which, without being any aid to the innocent, brought the administration of justice into disrepute. State v. Leeper, 146 N. C. 65, 658, 61 S. E. 585.

Quashing Indictments Not Favored.—Quashing indictments is not favored. It releases recognizances and set the defendant at large where, it may be, he ought to be held to answer upon a better indictment, though allowable, where it will put an end to the prosecution altogether, and advisable where it appears that the court has not jurisdiction, or where the matter charged is not indictable in any form. * * * It is, a general rule that no indictment which charges the higher offenses, as treason or felony or those crimes which immediately affect the public at large, as perjury, forgery, etc., will be thus summarily dealt with. * * * The example is a bad one, and the effect upon the public injurious, to allow the defendant to escape upon matters of form. State v. Flowers, 109 N. C. 841, 844, 13 S. E. 718. See State v. Colbert, 75 N. C. 368.

Approved Forms Should Be Followed.—This section was enacted to prevent miscarriage of justice, but not to encourage prosecuting officers to try experiments with new forms, or to excuse them from the duty of ascertaining and following those which have been approved by long use or by statute. The object of the statute in disregarding refinements and informalities is to secure trials upon the merits, and solicitors will best serve that end by observing approved forms so as not to raise unnecessary questions as to what are refinements and informalities and what are indispensable allegations. State v. Barnes, 122 N. C. 1031, 1038, 29 S. E. 381; State v. Marsh, 132 N. C. 1000, 1003, 43 S. E. 828.

II. GENERAL EFFECT.

Liberal Construction.—This section has received a very liberal construction, and its efficacy has reached and healed numerous defects in the substance as well as in form of indictment. State v. Carpenter, 173 N. C. 767, 770, 92 S. E. 373; State v. Smith, 63 N. C. 234, 236.

Plain, Intelligible and Explicit Charge Sufficient.—The current is all one way, sweeping away by degrees "informalities and refinements," until a plain, intelligible and explicit charge is all that is now required in any criminal proceeding. State v. Caylor, 178 N. C. 807, 809, 101 S. E. 627; State v. Smith, 63 N. C. 234. See also State v. Everhardt, 203 N. C. 610, 166 S. E. 738.

Same—Describing Property.—The description in an indictment must be in the common and ordinary acceptation of property, and with certainty sufficient to enable the jury to say that the article proved to be stolen is the same, and to enable the court to see that it is the subject of larceny, and also to protect the defendant in any subsequent prosecution for the same offense. State v. Campbell, 76 N. C. 261; State v. Nipper, 95 N. C. 653; State v. Martin, 82 N. C. 672; State v. Caylor, 178 N. C. 807, 808, 101 S. E. 627.

Following Words of Statute.—Where an indictment follows the words of a statute it is sufficient under this section. State v. Leeper, 146 N. C. 655, 658, 61 S. E. 585; State v. Harrison, 145 N. C. 408, 417, 59 S. E. 867. See also State v. Davis, 203 N. C. 47, 164 S. E. 732.

Rule Also Applied in Defendant's Favor.—Although the rule prohibiting reliance upon technicalities applies only against defendants, it is in accordance with the spirit of the section that it should be invoked in their favor also, for example as to the form of defendant's objection to the indictment. State v. Wood, 175 N. C. 809, 820, 95 S. E. 1050.

Motion in Arrest of Judgment.—A motion in arrest of judgment after conviction, on the ground that the bill of indictment is defective, will not be granted unless it appears that the bill is so defective that judgment cannot be pronounced upon it. State v. Francis, 157 N. C. 612, 72 S. E. 1041; State v. Ratliff, 170 N. C. 707, 709, 86 S. E. 997; State v. Sauls, 190 N. C. 810, 130 S. E. 848.

And where sufficient matter appears on the face of a bill of indictment to enable the court to proceed to judgment, an arrest of judgment is forbidden by this section. State v. Darden, 117 N. C. 697, 23 S. E. 106.

Indictment under Private Law.—Upon an indictment under a private statute, it is sufficient if the same is set forth by chapter and date and its material provisions incorporated in the indictment. State v. Heaton, 77 N. C. 505.

Does Not Supply Essential Averments.—By the many adjudications construing this section it has been definitely settled that the section neither supplies nor remedies the omission of any distinct averment of any fact or circumstance which is an essential constituent of the offense charged. State v. Cole, 202 N. C. 592, 598, 163 S. E. 594.

Where the indictment contains sufficient matter to enable the court to proceed to judgment a motion to quash for duplicity or indefiniteness is properly refused, and a motion to quash for redundancy or inartificiality is addressed to the sound discretion of the trial court. State v. Davis, 203 N. C. 13, 14, 164 S. E. 737.

Cited in State v. Beal, 199 N. C. 278, 294, 154 S. E. 604.

III. DEFECTS CURED.

A. In General.

Superfluous Words Disregarded.—The use of superfluous words in a bill of indictment will be disregarded. State v. Guest, 100 N. C. 410, 411, 6 S. E. 253; State v. Arnold, 107 N. C. 861, 11 S. E. 990; State v. Darden, 117 N. C. 697, 23 S. E. 106; State v. Piner, 141 N. C. 760, 53 S. E. 305; State v. Wynne, 151 N. C. 644, 645, 65 S. E. 459.

Variance Must Be Material to Vitiate.—A variance now, since this section was passed, to be fatal must be substantial and material. State v. Ridge, 125 N. C. 655, 34 S. E. 439.

Immaterial Words May Be Omitted.—The inadvertent omission of words not affecting the substances of the charge or prejudicing the defendant is not fatal. State v. Burke, 108 N. C. 750, 12 S. E. 1000, and cases there cited. State v. Ratliff, 170 N. C. 707, 709, 86 S. E. 997.

Endorsement by Grand Jury Unnecessary.—No endorsement on a bill of indictment by the grand jury is necessary. The record that it was presented by the grand jury is sufficient in the absence of evidence to impeach it. State v. McBroom, 127 N. C. 528, 37 S. E. 193, overruled. State v. Sultan, 142 N. C. 569, 54 S. E. 841; State v. Long, 143 N. C. 670, 671, 57 S. E. 349.

B. Omissions and Mistakes.

In the Complaint.—The omission of the name of the party in the complaint, against whom a criminal offense is charged, will not of itself invalidate the indictment, when the warrant of arrest thereto attached and referred to contains his name and clearly indicates him as the person charged, the complaint and warrant being read together, and in this way they are sufficient in form to proceed to judgment upon conviction. State v. Poythress, 174 N. C. 809, 93 S. E. 919.

In Describing a Lease.—In describing a lease the omission of the word "year" after the word "one", is one of the informalities cured by this section. State v. Walker, 87 N. C. 541, 543.

Incorrect Spelling.—Charging that one committed a crime in the "count aforesaid" instead of county aforesaid is an informality which is cured by this section. State v. Smith, 63 N. C. 234; State v. Evans, 69 N. C. 40, 42.

Wrong County in Caption.—A misrecital of the proper county in the caption of an indictment furnishes no ground for arrest of judgment, and it seems that such an indictment would have been sufficient even before this section adopted. State v. Sprinkle, 65 N. C. 463.

Name of Court Incorrect.—Describing the court in which the false oath is alleged to have been taken as "before Joseph Z. Pratt, a justice of the peace, in and for said county," instead of as "a court of a justice of the peace for township A, of Chowan County," is not a substantial variance from the true description, and is cured by this section. State v. Davis, 69 N. C. 495.

Ownership of Property in Arson. — In a prosecution for arson under §§ 4175, 4245, an indictment stating that the defendant procured another to burn a certain house owned by the defendant and another as tenants in common is sufficient, and the fact that the same parties owned other houses in like capacity is not ground for demurrer or quashal. State v. McKeithan, 203 N. C. 494, 166 S. E. 336.

C. Allegations Differing from Proof.

Names of Parties.—Where the indictment charged an assault, etc., upon "Lila" Hatcher, and the evidence tended to show that it was made upon "Liza" Hatcher, the variance is immaterial. State v. Drakeford, 162 N. C. 667, 78 S. E. 308.

Where indictment alleged that Thomas R. Robertson was defendant, and the proof was that "Thomas Robertson" was the defendant in said action and there was evidence of the identity of Thomas Robertson and Thomas R. Robertson, this is an informality cured by the section. State v. Hester, 122 N. C. 1047, 29 S. E. 380.

In an indictment for murder, the assault is charged to have been made on one "N. S. Jarrett," and in subsequent parts of the indictment he is described as "Nimrod S. Jarrett," Held, to be no variance. State v. Henderson, 68 N. C. 348.

Name of Article Stolen.—In an indictment for larceny, when the article stolen is described as a "calf" skin and is proven on the trial to be a "kip" skin. It was held to be no variance between the allegation and the proof. State v. Campbell, 76 N. C. 261.

§ 4624. No quashal for grand juror's failure to pay taxes or being party to suit.—No indictment shall be quashed nor shall judgment thereon be arrested by reason of the fact that any member of the grand jury finding such bills of indictment had not paid his taxes for the preceding year, or was a party to any suit pending and at issue. (1907, c. 36.)

§ 4625. Defects which do not vitiate.—No judgment upon any indictment for felony or misdemeanor, whether after verdict, or by confession, or otherwise, shall be stayed or reversed for the want of the averment of any matter unnecessary to be proved, nor for the omission of the words "as appears by the record" or of the words "with force and arms," nor for the insertion of the words "against the form of the statutes" instead of the words "against the form of the statute," or vice versa; nor for omission of the words "against the form of the statute," or "against the form of the statutes" nor for omitting to state the time at which the offense was committed in any case where time is not of the essence of the offense, nor for stating the time imperfectly, nor for stating the offense to have been committed on a day subsequent to the finding of the indictment, or on an impossible day, or on a day that never happened; nor for want of a proper and perfect venue, when the court shall appear by the indictment to have had jurisdiction of the offense. (Rev., s. 3255; Code, s. 1189; R. C., c. 35, s. 20; 7 Hen. VIII, c. 8.)

For further cases of defects which do not vitiate an indictment, see notes under section 4623 and under the statutes dealing with particular crimes.

In General.—The refined technicalities of the procedure at common law, in both civil and criminal cases, have most entirely if not quite, been abolished by our statute. State v. Hedgecock, 185 N. C. 714, 117 S. E. 47.

Section Cures Formal Defects.—This section is intended to cure only formal defects in the indictment after judgment, and not omissions of averments necessary to enable the court to give judgment intelligently. State v. Wise, 66 N. C. 120.

Locality May Be Omitted.—Formerly failure to allege and prove the locality, appropriate to the forum, was fatal, because essential to the jurisdiction, both in civil and criminal actions, but this has been wisely reversed by this section. State v. Long, 143 N. C. 670, 671, 675, 57 S. E. 349.

Other Expressions Omitted.—Omitting the statement, that the "prisoner, not having the fear of God before his eyes, but being moved and seduced by the instigations of the devil," and the further omission of an averment that the "deceased was in the peace of God and the State," are not fatal defects. State v. Howard, 92 N. C. 772, 778.

When Time Need Not Be Charged.—Where time is not of the essence of a crime, "the omission to charge any date" is immaterial by this section, though the allegation of time can do no harm. State v. Arnold, 107 N. C. 861, 864, 11 S. E. 990; State v. Peters, 107 N. C. 876, 883, 12 S. E. 74; State v. Taylor, 83 N. C. 602, 603; State v. Williams, 117 N. C. 753, 23 S. E. 250.

Thus time is not the essence of carrying a concealed weapon, and it may be shown at a previous time to that alleged in the bill. State v. Spencer, 185 N. C. 765, 117 S. E. 803.

Failure to specify a particular day in an indictment for abandonment is not fatal especially in view of an instruction that the jury should consider only such evidence as tends to show that the defendant violated the statute after a particular date. State v. Jones, 201 N. C. 424, 160 S. E. 468.

Conclusion Simplified.—The formal conclusion, "against the peace and dignity of the State," and "against the form of the statute," etc., are not necessary in an indictment for any offense whatever, but are mere surplusage. State v. Kirkman, 104 N. C. 911, 10 S. E. 312, overruling State v. Joyner, 81 N. C. 534; State v. Peters, 107 N. C. 876, 12 S. E. 74; State v. Sykes, 104 N. C. 694, 10 S. E. 191; State v. Dudley, 182 N. C. 822, 109 S. E. 63.

That an indictment concludes against the form of the statue instead of statute, is no ground for an arrest of judgment. State v. Smith, 63 N. C. 234.

An indictment concluding against the "force" instead of the "form" of the statute is sufficient under this section. State v. Davis, 80 N. C. 385.

Variance.—In a prosecution of defendant for being an accessory before the fact of murder, variance of a few days between the indictment and proof as to the day the murder was committed is not fatal under this section. State v. Gore, 207 N. C. 618, 178 S. E. 209.

Jurisdiction. — Where the jurisdiction of the court is not ousted on the face of the indictment the position that the court does not have jurisdiction is not available on a plea in abatement. State v. Davis, 203 N. C. 13, 14, 164 S. E. 737.

Art. 14. Trial before Justice

§ 4626. In cases of final jurisdiction.—When the justice is satisfied that he has jurisdiction, if no jury is asked for, he shall proceed to determine the case, and shall either acquit the accused or find him guilty, and sentence him to such punishment as the case may require, not to exceed in any case a fine of fifty dollars or imprisonment in the county jail for thirty days. (Rev., s. 3256; Code, s. 897; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 4, s. 8.)

As to jurisdiction of justice in criminal actions, see section 1481 and notes.

An Adversary Proceeding Intended.—It was contemplated there should be an adversary proceeding in all trials of criminal cases before a justice of the peace, especially when the justice assumes final jurisdiction. It was never intended that the accused should be also the accuser and the sole witness against himself. Such a proceeding would not conduce to the discovery of truth, and the detection and punishment of crime, which is the real object to be obtained, and would oftener than otherwise defeat the very ends of justice. State v. Moore, 136 N. C. 581, 582, 48 S. E. 573.

§ 4627. Trial by jury, if demanded.—If either the complainant or the accused shall ask for it, the justice shall allow a trial by jury, as is provided in civil actions before justices of the peace. (Rev., s. 3257; Code, s. 898; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 4, s. 9.)

See generally, the notes under Const., Art. I, section 13.

§ 4628. What submitted to jury.—In case a trial by jury is had, the justice shall submit to the jury in each case simply the question of the guilt or innocence of the accused of the offense charged, and shall enter the verdict on his docket, and adjudge accordingly. (Rev., s. 3258; Code, s. 899; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 4, s. 10.)

§ 4629. Commitment after judgment.—The commitment to the county prison shall set forth—

1. The name of the guilty person.
2. The nature of the offense of which he is convicted and the date of the trial.
3. The period of his imprisonment.
4. It shall be directed to the sheriff of the county, or to the keeper of the county jail, and shall direct him to keep the prisoner for the time stated, or until discharged by law.
5. The name of the constable or other officer required to execute it.
6. It shall be signed by the justice and be dated. (Rev. s. 3259; Code, s. 1238; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 4, s. 17.)

Legality of Custody.—When a prisoner legally sentenced is placed in charge of a special officer to convey to jail, the legality of his custody by the officer depends upon the validity of the special deputation of the officer, and not upon the sufficiency of the mittimus, which is to terminate his duties. State v. Armistead, 106 N. C. 639, 10 S. E. 872.

Same—Where Prisoner Taken from Officer.—It is a criminal offense to take, by force, from the custody of an officer a prisoner legally committed to his charge to convey to jail, and it is no defense that the mittimus does not comply, in all respects, with the requirements of this section. State v. Armistead, 106 N. C. 639, 10 S. E. 872.

Collusive Conviction Not a Bar.—The conviction of a person before a justice of the peace which is collusive and not adversary is not sufficient to sustain a plea of former conviction. State v. Moore, 136 N. C. 581, 48 S. E. 573.

§ 4631. Justice to make return of cases to superior court.—It is the duty of each justice of the peace on or before Monday of every term of the superior court of his county, to furnish the clerk of the court with a list of the names and offenses of all parties tried and finally disposed of by such justice of the peace, together with the papers in each case, in all criminal actions, since the last term of the superior court. The clerk of the court shall hand a copy of such list to the solicitor and to the grand jury at each term of court; and no indictment shall be found against any party whose case has been so finally disposed of by any justice of the peace: Provided, that this section shall not be deemed to extend or enlarge or otherwise affect the jurisdiction of justices of the peace, except as provided by law. (Rev., s. 3261; Code, s. 906; 1869-70, c. 110.)

As to liability for failure to comply with this section, see section 4385.

When Report Unnecessary.—A justice of the peace is not guilty of a violation of this section by failing to make report to the clerk of the superior court when there have been no criminal cases disposed of by him within the time therein prescribed. State v. Latham, 110 N. C. 490, 14 S. E. 390.

Art. 15. Trial in Superior Court

§ 4632. Prisoner standing mute, plea "not guilty" entered.—If any person, being arraigned upon or charged in any indictment for any crime, shall stand mute of malice or will not answer directly to the indictment, the court shall order the plea of "not guilty" to be entered on behalf of such person; and the plea so entered shall have the same force and effect as if such person had pleaded the same. (Rev., s. 3262; Code, s. 1198; R. C., c. 35, s. 29; R. S., c. 35, s. 16.)

Deaf Mutes.—Where, upon the arraignment of one for murder, it was suggested that the accused was a deaf mute, and was incapable of understanding the nature of a trial, and its incidents and his rights under it, it was held proper for a jury to be empanelled to try the truth of these suggestions, for the court to decline putting the prisoner on his trial. State v. Harris, 53 N. C. 136.

Changing Plea.—Whether a prisoner may retract a plea of guilty and enter a plea of not guilty, or vice versa, is a matter for the sound legal discretion of the trial court. State v. Branner, 149 N. C. 559, 63 S. E. 169.

Entry after Verdict.—It is no error in the court below, on a trial of a defendant for larceny, "as upon a plea of not guilty," and after a verdict of guilty, to amend the record by inserting the plea of "not guilty." State v. McMillan, 68 N. C. 440.

§ 4633. Peremptory challenges of jurors by defendant.—Every person on joint or several trial for his life may make a peremptory challenge of fourteen jurors and no more; and in all joint or several trials for crimes and misdemeanors, other than capital, every person on trial shall have the right of challenging peremptorily, and without showing cause, six jurors and no more. And to enable defendants to exercise this right, the clerk in all such trials shall read over the names of the jurors on the panel, in the presence and hearing of the defendants and their counsel, before the jury shall be impaneled to try the issue; and the judge or other presiding officer of the court shall decide all questions as to the competency of jurors. (Rev., s. 3263; Code, s. 1199; 1913, c. 31, s. 3; 1887, c. 53; R. C., c. 35, s. 32; 1871-2, c. 39; R. S., c. 35, ss. 19, 21; 1777, c. 115, s. 85; 1812, c. 833; 1801, c. 592, s. 1; 1826, c. 9; 22 Hen. VIII, c. 14, s. 6; 1935, c. 475, s. 2.)

Cross References.—As to challenges and disqualifications of jurors in general, see 8 N. C. Enc. Dig. 360 et seq.; 14 N. C. Enc. Dig. 606; as to challenge for cause, see section 2324 and notes; as to peremptory challenges in civil cases, see section 2331 and notes.

Editor's Note.—The number of jurors that may be challenged was increased from twelve and four to fourteen and six, respectively, by the Public Laws of 1935.

In General.—Every criminal, charged with a crime affecting his life, has a right to challenge a certain number of jurors, without assigning any cause, and as many more as he can assign a good cause for. State v. Patrick, 48 N. C. 443, 446.

A Right to Exclude.—The right of peremptory challenge is not a right to select but to exclude. State v. Smith, 24 N. C. 402; State v. Banner, 149 N. C. 519, 63 S. E. 84.

Purpose.—The legislative intent in the enactment of this section is to secure a reasonable and impartial verdict. State v. Ashburn, 187 N. C. 717, 122 S. E. 833. See note of this case under section 4634.

When Challenge Should Be Made.—"The time for a prisoner to make his challenge, is when the juror is tendered, and before the juror is sworn, or the oath is commenced." Joy on Jurors, 219. State v. Patrick, 48 N. C. 443, 447.

Peremptory Challenges Limited to Four.—A defendant, in an indictment for an offense other than capital, having only four peremptory challenges to jurors, cannot challenge a fifth juror peremptorily although he had first challenged one of the four for cause, which was properly disallowed. State v. Hargrave, 100 N. C. 484, 6 S. E. 185. This case was decided prior to the 1935 amendment. A defendant is now allowed six peremptory challenges.—Ed. Note.

Same—When Verdict of Manslaughter Asked.—Where, upon the trial of an indictment for murder, the solicitor states that he should ask only for a verdict of manslaughter, no special venire was necessary, and the defendant is not entitled to more than four peremptory challenges. State v. Hunt, 128 N. C. 584, 38 S. E. 473; State v. Caldwell, 129 N. C. 682, 40 S. E. 85.

Judge Determines Competency.—Triers are now dispensed with, and the judge determines the facts as well as the legal sufficiency of the challenge based upon them. State v. Kilgore, 93 N. C. 533, 534.

Waiver of Objection by Not Using Challenges.—If a juror is rejected upon an improper ground of challenge, made by the State, the prisoner cannot assign it for error, if a jury is obtained before he has exhausted his peremptory challenges. State v. Potts, 100 N. C. 457, 458, 6 S. E. 657; State v. Sultan, 142 N. C. 569, 54 S. E. 841.

Where several defendants are tried together for a crime other than a capital felony each is entitled to four (now six) peremptory challenges to the jury, and where the court has ruled that the defense was a joint defense and has allowed but four (now six) peremptory challenges for all the defendants, a new trial will be granted upon appeal. State v. Burleson, 203 N. C. 779, 166 S. E. 905.

Challenges Where Bills of Indictment Are Consolidated.—Where several bills of indictment against a defendant are consolidated for trial, the defendant is entitled to but four (now six) peremptory challenges to the jury as provided by this section and not to four (now six) peremptory challenges for each bill, the consolidated bills being treated as separate counts of the same bill. State v. Alridge, 206 N. C. 850, 175 S. E. 191.

§ 4634. Peremptory challenges by the state.—In all capital cases the prosecuting officer on behalf of the state shall have the right to challenge peremptorily six jurors for each defendant, but shall not have the right to stand any jurors at the foot of the panel. The challenge must be made before the juror is tendered to the prisoner, and if he will challenge more than six jurors he shall assign for his challenge a cause certain; and in all other cases of a criminal nature a challenge of four jurors shall be allowed in behalf of the state for each defendant, and challenge also for a cause certain, and in all cases of challenge for cause certain the same shall be inquired of according to the custom of the court. (Rev., s. 3264; Code, s. 1200; 1913, c. 31, s. 4; 1907, c. 415; 1887, c. 53; R. C., c. 35, s. 33; 1827, c. 10; 33 Edw. I, c. 4; 1935, c. 475, s. 3.)

See also, in connection with this section, the references and notes under section 4633.

Editor's Note. — The number of challenges was increased in capital cases from four to six jurors, and in other cases from two to four jurors by the Public Laws of 1935.

Construed with Section 2325.—The effect of section 2325, to permit a party to a criminal action to make inquiry as to the fitness and competency of a juror before the adverse party would be permitted to admit the cause and have him stood aside therefore, and this course cannot now be pursued, except where the challenging party, after making such inquiry, states that the juror is challenged for cause; and this section abolishing the established practice permitting the solicitor to place jurors, upon the trial of capital felony, at the foot of the panel, does not affect the application of section 2325, to the trial of such felonies. State v. Ashburn, 187 N. C. 717, 122 S. E. 833.

Judge Cannot Extend Time.—The discretionary power of the trial Judge in respect to challenges is confined to challenges for cause, and he has no more authority to extend the time for making peremptory challenges beyond the limit fixed by this section than he has to allow more than four (now six) of such challenges. State v. Fuller, 114 N. C. 885, 19 S. E. 797.

§ 4635. Challenge to special venire same as to tales jurors.—In the trial of all criminal cases, where a special venire shall be ordered, the same causes of challenge to the jurors summoned on the special venire shall be allowed as exist to tales jurors. (Rev., s. 3265; 1887, c. 53.)

See 11 N. C. Law Rev., 219.

§ 4636. Exclusion of bystanders in trials for rape.—In the trial of cases for rape and of assault with the intent to commit rape, the trial judge may, during the taking of the testimony of the prosecutrix, exclude from the court-room all persons except the officers of the court, the defendant and those engaged in the trial of the case; and upon the preliminary hearing before a justice of the peace of the offenses above named, that officer may adopt a like course. (1907, c. 21.)

§ 4636(a). Waiving jury trial; pleas; demurrer to evidence.—In all trials in the superior courts of this state, wherein the defendant stands charged with an offense not punishable with death, when represented by counsel, it shall be competent for the defendant to enter a conditional plea of guilty therein, or nolo contendere, if the court shall permit the latter plea; and thereupon, the court may hear and determine the matter, having the evidence recorded, if it be demanded by the defendant before, or at the time of entering plea. Upon the conclusion of the evidence for the state the defendant shall have the right to demur to the evidence, which demurrer shall have the same force and effect as such demurrers now have in the trial of criminal causes by jury, and in the event said demurrer is overruled, may again demur at the conclusion of all the evidence, with the like force and effect. When objection has been made and exception taken to the overruling of the demurrer, the defendant may appeal from final judgment and sentence of the court notwithstanding the plea theretofore entered. The judge shall pass upon the evidence with due regard of the weight and sufficiency thereof, as the same may be considered by a jury, and if he is satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty, he shall proceed to judgment and sentence upon the plea entered, and dispose of the case in like manner as upon conviction by a jury. If he is not so satisfied, he shall cause the plea to be stricken out and a verdict of not guilty entered: Provided, however, that, upon such plea, the judge hearing the matter may find the defendant guilty of any count or charge or decree of offense covered by the indictment or warrant, in the same manner as the jury may have been permitted to find in case of jury trial. (1933, cc. 23, 469.)

See 12 N. C. Law Rev., 371, for note on "Effect of Plea of Nolo Contendere."

§ 4637. Term expiring during trial extended.—In case the term of a court shall expire while a trial for felony shall be in progress, and before judgment shall be given therein, the judge shall continue the term as long as in his opinion it shall be necessary for the purpose of the case; and he may in his discretion exercise the same power in the trial of any other cause under the same circumstances, except civil actions begun after Thursday of the last week. (Rev., s. 3266; Code, s. 1229; 1893, c. 226; C. C. P., s. 397; R. C., c. 31, s, 16; 1830, c, 22.)

Section Constitutional. — This section is constitutional. State v. Monroe, 80 N. C. 373; State v. Jefferson, 66 N. C. 309; State v. Taylor, 76 N. C. 64; State v. Adair, 66 N. C. 298. See also Natl. Bank v. Gilmer, 116 N. C. 684, 700, 22 S. E. 2.

Expiration of Term No Ground for Discharging Jury.—The expiration of a term of court is no ground for discharging a jury before verdict for the term may be continued for the purposes of the trial. State v. McGimsey, 80 N. C. 377.

Special Term Extended.—Where a trial began on Wednesday of the last week of a special term and the jury had not agreed upon a verdict on Saturday night, it was not improper for the trial judge to open and conduct the regular term on Monday following and to continue the special term into that week for the purpose of receiving the verdict of the jury, since the rights of the parties were not prejudiced thereby. National Bank v. Gilmer, 116 N. C. 684, 22 S. E. 2.

Daily entries on the journal during the trial of a felony, stating the name of the case and that the court takes a recess "until 9:30 a. m. tomorrow," and the entry next day "court convened at 9:30 a. m. pursuant to recess," etc., in regular form, constitutes a sufficient compliance with this section. State v. Harris, 181 N. C. 600, 107 S. E. 466.

§ 4638. Justification as defense to libel.—Every defendant who is charged by indictment with the publication of a libel may prove on trial for the same the truth of the facts alleged in the indictment; and if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the jury that the facts are true, the defendant shall be acquitted of the charge. (Rev., s. 3267; Code, s. 1195; R. C., c. 35, s. 26.)

Truth of Entire Charge Must Be Proved.—Where the matter set out in the indictment is libellous, in order for the defendant to justify he must show that the entire charge imputed to the prosecutor is true. State v. Lyon, 89 N. C. 568.

General Report Insufficient.—In an indictment for a libel, it is not competent for the defendant to justify by proving that there was and long had been a general report in the neighborhood, of the truth of his charge. State v. White, 29 N. C. 180.

Proof of Specific Charge Necessary.—Proof of the general bad character of an officer in other matters of which he had taken cognizance, will not be received to establish the truth of libellous charge in reference to a particular matter. State v. Lyon, 89 N. C. 568.

§ 4639. Conviction of assault, when included in charge.—On the trial of any person for rape, or any felony whatsoever, when the crime charged includes an assault against the person, it is lawful for the jury to acquit of the felony and to find a verdict of guilty of assault against the person indicted, if the evidence warrants such finding; and when such verdict is found the court shall have power to imprison the person so found guilty of an assault, for any term now allowed by law in cases of conviction when the indictment was originally for the assault of a like character. (Rev., s. 3268, 1885, c. 68.)

Section Refers to Assault Generally.—This section does not describe the kind of assault, but refers to an assault generally and without regard to its degree of punishment under the law. State v. Smith, 157 N. C. 578, 584, 72 S. E. 853.

When Section Applicable.—This section and § 4640 are applicable only where there is evidence tending to show that defendant is guilty of a crime of lesser degree than that charged in the indictment. State v. Jackson, 199 N. C. 321, 325, 154 S. E. 402.

What Indictment Includes.—An indictment for any offense against the criminal law includes all lesser degrees of the same crime, known to the law; and conviction may be had of the lesser offense when the charge is inclusive of both. State v. Williams, 185 N. C. 685, 116 S. E. 736.

Same—Murder.—Under an indictment for murder, the defendant may be convicted either of murder in the first degree, murder in the second degree, or manslaughter, and even of assault with a deadly weapon, or simple assault 'if the evidence shall warrant such finding' when he is not acquitted entirely. State v. Williams, 185 N. C. 685, 688, 116 S. E. 736.

Same—Assault with Intent to Rape.—Under a bill of indictment charging an assault with an intent to commit rape, the lesser offense of assault and battery may be found to have been committed, and in such instance a special issue may be submitted to the jury, if necessary, so that, in accordance with the jury's finding, the court may determine the grade of the punishment. State v. Smith, 157 N. C. 578, 72 S. E. 853.

Duty of Judge.—Upon the trial under an indictment for murder it is the duty of the trial judge, under supporting evidence, to declare and explain the law upon the less offense of manslaughter, with the burden of proof on defendant, and a statement of the contentions of the parties, etc., with a mere announcement of the principle is insufficient. State v. Hardee, 192 N. C. 533, 135 S. E. 345.

Same—Failure to Charge Upon Lesser Degree.—The error of the judge in failing to charge on the supporting evidence, upon the lesser degree of the crime of rape, under a charge thereof in the indictment, is not cured by the verdict finding that the defendant was guilty of the greater degree of the crime charged in the indictment. State v. Williams, 185 N. C. 685, 116 S. E. 736.

Where the indictment is sufficient and the evidence is conflicting as to whether the defendant committed highway robbery or an assault with a deadly weapon, the jury may find for the lesser offense, and it is the duty of the trial judge to so instruct the jury, though a special request therefor has not been aptly tendered in writing. State v. Holt, 192 N. C. 490, 135 S. E. 324.

Effect of Simple Verdict of Guilty.—While this section permits a verdict for an assault when it is embraced in the charge of a greater offense, as rape or other felony, a verdict simply of "guilty," and not specifying a lower offense, is a verdict of guilty of the offense charged in the indictment. State v. Barnes, 122 N. C. 1031, 29 S. E. 381; State v. Lee, 192 N. C. 225, 227, 134 S. E. 458.

§ 4640. Conviction for a less degree or an attempt.—Upon the trial of any indictment the prisoner may be convicted of the crime charged therein or of a less degree of the same crime, or of an attempt to commit the crime so charged, or of an attempt to commit a less degree of the same crime. (Rev., s. 3269; 1891, c. 205, s. 2.)

Crime of Accessory Included.—The crime of accessory before the fact is included in the charge of the principal crime within the meaning of this section. State v. Simons, 179 N. C. 700, 703, 103 S. E. 5; State v. Bryson, 173 N. C. 803, 806, 92 S. E. 698, discussing and it seems overruling State v. Green, 119 N. C. 899, 26 S. E. 112.

Joinder Mere Surplusage.—Since this section was adopted the joinder in an indictment for an offense of a count for a lesser offense, or for an attempt to commit the same, is mere surplusage. State v. Brown, 113 N. C. 645, 18 S. E. 51.

Indictment for Attempt or Complete Offense.—An attempt to commit a crime is an indictable offense, and on proper evidence, a conviction may be sustained on a bill of indictment making a specific and sufficient charge thereof, or one which charges a complete offense. State v. Addor, 183 N. C. 678, 110 S. E. 650.

Intent Alone Not Sufficient.—The intent, though connected with preparations to commit a criminal offense, is not alone sufficient for a conviction of the attempt, unless connected with some overt act or acts towards the end in view that will, in the judgment of the one charged, and as matters appeared to him, result in the consummation of the contemplated purpose. State v. Addor, 183 N. C. 687, 110 S. E. 650.

Defendant Entitled to Complete Charge.—Under the provisions of this section when the bill of indictment is sufficient with the supporting evidence upon the trial, the defendant may be convicted of the criminal offense charged or of a lesser degree thereof, he is entitled to a charge from the court on all degrees of the crime thus encompassed by the indictment; and an error in failing to charge upon the lesser degrees of the crime is not cured by a verdict of conviction upon one of a greater degree. State v. Robinson, 188 N. C. 784, 125 S. E. 617. See also State v. Keaton, 206 N. C. 682, 175 S. E. 296.

Evidence Must Justify Conviction in Lesser Degree. — The principle upon which a defendant may be convicted upon a less degree of the same crime charged in the bill of indictment applies only where there is evidence of guilt of the less degree, and where burglary in the first and second degree is charged in the indictment, and the question as to guilt on the first count is withdrawn, and the evidence does not support the charge of second degree burglary, the defendant cannot be convicted of the lesser offense. State v. Spain, 201 N. C. 571, 160 S. E. 825.

The provisions of this section in regard to conviction of a less degree of the crime charged in a bill of indictment applies only where there is some evidence that a less degree of the crime had been committed, and where the State's uncontradicted evidence is to the effect that the crime of rape had been committed and the defendant relies solely upon an alibi, the refusal of the court to charge upon the lesser degrees of the crime or of an attempt is not error. State v. Smith, 201 N. C. 494, 160 S. E. 577.

Where all the evidence at the trial of a criminal action, if believed by the jury, tends to show that the crime charged in the indictment was committed as alleged therein, and there is no evidence tending to show the commission of a crime of less degree, it is not error for the court to fail to instruct the jury that they may acquit the defendant of the crime charged in the indictment and convict him of a crime of less degree. State v. Cox, 201 N. C. 357, 361, 160 S. E. 358.

This section does not confer upon a jury in the trial of a criminal action the power arbitrarily to disregard the uncontradicted evidence tending to show that the crime charged in the indictment was committed as alleged therein and in the absence of evidence to sustain such conviction, to convict the defendant of a crime of less degree. Id.

Failure to charge upon lesser degree see same catchline in the preceding section.

Charge as to Assault Unnecessary Where Homicide Admitted.—While under the provisions of this section the trial judge is required to charge upon evidence on the less degrees of the same crime concerning which the prisoner was being tried, it is not required that he charge upon the principles of an assault with a deadly weapon, where the prisoner is charged with murder, and the killing of the deceased by him has been admitted, and the judge has correctly charged upon the crime of manslaughter, the lowest degree of an unlawful killing of human being. State v. Luterloh, 188 N. C. 412, 124 S. E. 752.

Instructions as to Second Degree Murder Where Evidence Shows First Degree.—Where upon the trial for murder all the evidence tends to show that if the defendant is guilty, he is guilty of the crime of murder in the first degree, the failure of the trial court to charge upon the law of murder in the second degree or manslaughter is not error under this section. State v. Ferrell, 205 N. C. 640, 172 S. E. 186.

Same—Assault.—Where the evidence tended to show a simple assault by defendant on prosecuting witness and a later encounter between the parties in which defendant was armed with a deadly weapon, it was error under this section, for the court to charge the jury that they could convict defendant of assault with the intent to kill, or assault with a deadly weapon or not guilty, and refuse to charge the jury that they might convict defendant of simple assault. State v. Lee, 206 N. S. 472, 174 S. E. 288.

New Trial Must Be on Full Charge.—Upon an appeal from a conviction for a lesser offense than that charged in the indictment, a new trial, if granted, must be upon the full charge in the bill. State v. Matthews, 142 N. C. 621, 55 S. E. 342.

Sufficiency.—Indictment held sufficient in form to charge the offense of larceny. State v. McKnight, 196 N. C. 259, 260, 145 S. E. 281.

§ 4641. Burglary in first degree charged, verdict for second degree.—When the crime charged in the bill of indictment is burglary in the first degree, the jury may render a verdict of guilty of burglary in the second degree if they deem it proper so to do. (Rev., s. 3270; 1889, c. 434, s. 3.)

Conviction in Second Degree Unauthorized.—Where, in the trial of an indictment for burglary, the evidence showed that the house in which the crime was committed was actually occupied at the time, a conviction of burglary in the second degree is not authorized by this section, since a felonious entry under such circumstances is by section 4232 made burglary in the first degree. State v. Johnston, 119 N. C. 883, 26 S. E. 163.

Cited in State v. Ratcliff, 199 N. C. 9, 11, 153 S. E. 605.

§ 4642. Verdict for murder in first or second degree.—Nothing contained in the statute law dividing murder into degrees shall be construed to require any alteration or modification of the existing form of indictment for murder, but the jury before whom the offender is tried shall determine in their verdict whether the crime is murder in the first or second degree. (Rev., s. 3271; 1893, c. 85, s. 3.)

Object of Section.—The object of this section is, of course, to place it beyond doubt in what degree of murder the prisoner was convicted. State v. Wiggins, 171 N. C. 813, 817, 89 S. E. 58.

Applies to All Indictments for Murder.—This section applies to all indictments for murder, whether perpetrated by means of poisoning, lying in wait, imprisonment, starving, torture, or otherwise. State v. Matthews, 142 N. C. 621, 55 S. E. 342.

Jury Must Determine Degree.—For a conviction of murder in the first degree under this section and section 4200, the jury must find specially under the evidence that this degree of crime has been committed by the defendant, and the verdict must be received in open court in the presence of the presiding judge under Constitutional Mandate, Const., Art. I, sections 13, 17, which right may not be waived. State v. Bazemore, 193 N. C. 336, 137 N. C. 172.

By this section it is made the duty of the jury alone to determine in their verdict whether the crime is murder in the first or second degree. State v. Gadberry, 117 N. C. 811, 23 S. E. 477; State v. Bagley, 158 N. C. 608, 73 S. E. 995; State v. Murphy, 157 N. C. 614, 72 S. E. 1075. And the record must show that they have so done, in order that there may be a proper judgment. State v. Lucas, 124 N. C. 825, 827, 32 S. E. 962; State v. Truesdale, 125 N. C. 696, 34 S. E. 646.

Failure To Determine Degree.—Where the degree of murder is not expressed in the verdict, the judges should tell the jury to reconsider their finding, for the purpose of specifying the crime, and upon response being made by them of murder in the first degree, the verdict is properly recorded accordingly. State v. Bagley, 158 N. C. 608, 73 S. E. 995.

Judge May Exclude Second Degree in Charge.—When the entire evidence shows, and no other reasonable inference can be fairly drawn therefrom, that the murder was committed either by lying in wait or in an attempt to perpetrate a felony, and the controverted question is the identity of prisoner as the murderer, the trial judge does not commit error in charging the jury to render a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree or not guilty. State v. Wiggins, 171 N. C. 813, 817, 89 S. E. 58; State v. Spevey, 151 N. C. 676, 65 S. E. 995.

In prosecution for murder, defendant's premeditation and deliberation are questions of fact, to be determined by jury, under this section and section 4200, and not questions of law for judge, and must be proved beyond a reasonable doubt. State v. Newsome, 195 N. C. 552, 143 S. E. 187.

Verdict Construed According to Charge.—The verdict must be construed according to the charge and the evidence and when these make it certain beyond question, the law has been complied with. State v. Gilchrist, 113 N. C. 673, 18 S. E. 319. State v. Wiggins, 171 N. C. 813, 817, 89 S. E. 58.

Mere Killing Presumes Second Degree Murder.—Since the Act of 1893, the killing being proved, and nothing else appearing, the law presumes malice, but not premeditation and deliberation, and the killing is murder in the second degree. State v. Hicks, 125 N. C. 636, 639, 43 S. E. 247.

"In all indictments for homicide, when the intentional killing is established or admitted, the law presumes malice from the use of a deadly weapon, and the defendant is guilty of murder (now in the second degree) unless he can satisfy the jury of the truth of facts which justify or excuse his act, or mitigate it to manslaughter." State v. Lane, 166 N. C. 333, 339, 81 S. E. 620.

But a conviction of murder in the first degree may be had upon sufficient circumstantial evidence. State v. Bazemore, 193 N. C. 336, 137 S. E. 172; State v. Melton, 187 N. C. 481, 122 S. E. 17; State v. Matthews, 66 N. C. 106.

When First Degree Presumed.—A homicide committed in the perpetration of, or in an attempt to perpetrate, a robbery will be deemed murder in the first degree, the jury being governed by the evidence under proper instructions in finding that or a less offense. State v. Lane, 166 N. C. 333, 334, 81 S. E. 620.

Prisoner Cannot Object for Failure to Find First Degree.—Although the law raises the presumption of murder in the first degree, none the less if the jury convict of a less offense, it is within their power so to do under this section and the prisoner has no cause to complain that he was not convicted of the higher offense. State v. Matthews, 142 N. C. 621, 55 S. E. 342.

Evidence.—Where all the evidence at a trial for murder tends to show murder in the first degree in that the murder was committed by poisoning, starvation, lying in wait, imprisonment, torture, or in the perpetration or attempt to perpetrate a felony, the trial court may instruct the jury that they may render only one of two verdicts, murder in the first degree, or not guilty. But where the evidence tends to show that the killing was with a deadly weapon, and the State in one phase of its case relies on premeditation and deliberation, the presumption is that the murder was in the second degree, with the burden of proving premeditation beyond a reasonable doubt on the State, in order to constitute it murder in the first degree, and under these circumstances it is error for the trial court to fail to charge the jury that they might find the prisoner guilty of murder in the second degree. State v. Newsome, 195 N. C. 552, 143 S. E. 187.

Cited in State v. Gooding, 196 N. C. 710, 146 S. E. 806.

§ 4643. Demurrer to the evidence.—When on the trial of any criminal action in the superior court, or in any criminal court, the state has produced its evidence and rested its case, the defendant may move to dismiss the action or for judgment of nonsuit. If the motion is allowed, judgment shall be entered accordingly; and such judgment shall have the force and effect of a verdict of "not guilty" as to such defendant. If the motion is refused, the defendant may except; and if the defendant introduces no evidence, the case shall be submitted to the jury as in other cases, and the defendant shall have the benefit of his exception on appeal to the supreme court.

Nothing in this section shall prevent the defendant from introducing evidence after his motion for nonsuit has been overruled; and he may again move for judgment of nonsuit after all of the evidence in the case is concluded. If the motion is then refused, upon consideration of all of the evidence, the defendant may accept; and, after the jury has rendered its verdict, he shall have the benefit of such latter exception on appeal to the supreme court. If defendant's motion for judgment of nonsuit be granted, or be sustained on appeal to the supreme court, it shall in all cases have the force and effect of a verdict of "not guilty." (1913, c. 73; Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 32.)

As to demurrer to the evidence in civil cases, see section 567.

Compared with Section 567.—This section serves, and was intended to serve, the same purpose in criminal prosecutions as is accomplished by section 567, in civil actions. State v. Fulcher, 184 N. C. 663, 665, 113 S. E. 769; State v. Sigmon, 190 N. C. 687, 130 S. E. 854.

This section serves the same purpose in criminal prosecutions as § 567, serves in civil actions, and a motion for judgment of nonsuit under this section, must be made at the close of the State's evidence in order for a motion thereunder made at the close of all the evidence to be considered. State v. Norris, 206 N. C. 191, 173 S. E. 14.

Sufficiency of Evidence May Be Challenged if Motion Timely Made.—If the defendant, on trial for murder, wishes to challenge the sufficiency of the evidence to show premeditation and deliberation beyond a reasonable doubt, motion to nonsuit under this section, on the capital charge, should be lodged at the close of the State's case, exception noted, if overruled, and the motion renewed at the close of all the evidence, and exception again noted, if overruled. State v. Bittings, 206 N. C. 798, 802, 175 S. E. 299.

Motion Must Be Renewed.—A motion as of nonsuit upon the evidence will not be considered when it is not renewed after the conclusion of all the evidence as this section requires. State v. Helms, 181 N. C. 566, 107 S. E. 228.

Same—Waiver.—Where the defendant in a criminal action moves for the dismissal or for judgment as of nonsuit after the close of the State's evidence, and thereafter elects to introduce his own evidence, his failure to renew his motion after the whole evidence has been introduced is a waiver of his right to insist upon his first exception, and it is not subject to review in the Supreme Court on appeal. State v. Hayes, 187 N. C. 490, 122 S. E. 13.

See State v. Hargett, 196 N. C. 692, 146 S. E. 801, following the rule of State v. Hayes, 187 N. C. 490, 122 S. E. 13, as it appears under this catchline in the Code of 1927.

Only incriminating evidence need be considered upon defendant's motion as of nonsuit under this section, and contradictions in the inculpatory testimony and equivocations of some of the State's witnesses, which affects the weight or credibility of the evidence but not its competency, need not be taken into account in determining whether there is any competent evidence to sustain the allegations of the indictment. State v. Satterfield, 207 N. C. 118, 176 S. E. 466. See also, State v. Moses, 207 N. C. 139, 176 S. E. 267.

When Motion Denied.—A motion to dismiss or as of nonsuit upon the evidence in a criminal case, will be denied if the evidence is sufficient, considered in the light most favorable to the State, to prove guilt of the defendant beyond a reasonable doubt. State v. Sigmon, 190 N. C. 684, 130 S. E. 854.

Where evidence is conflicting in a criminal case and where, considering the evidence in the light most favorable to the State, the jury might find the defendant guilty, a motion as of nonsuit is properly denied. State v. Carr, 196 N. C. 129, 130, 144 S. E. 698.

Excepting to Entire Evidence.—Where a defendant in a a criminal action desires to except to the sufficiency to the evidence to convict him, his excepting, under this section, at the close of the State's evidence, and upon the overruling of his motion to nonsuit, excepting at the close of all the evidence brings his exception, to the Supreme Court on appeal, upon the sufficiency of the entire evidence to convict, and is the proper procedure for that purpose. State v. Kelly, 186 N. C. 365, 119 S. E. 755.

Consideration of Entire Evidence on Appeal.—In State v. Pasour, 183 N. C. 793, 794, 111 S. E. 779, the court said: "Both before and after he had introduced evidence, the defendant moved to dismiss the prosecution as in case of nonsuit, and duly excepted to the court's denial of his motion. The exceptions, therefore, require a consideration of the entire evidence."

An exception to a motion to dismiss in a criminal action taken after the close of the State's evidence, and renewed by defendant after the introduction of his own evidence, does not confine the appeal to the State's evidence alone, and a conviction will be sustained under the second exception if there is any sufficient evidence on the whole record of the defendant's guilt. State v. Brinkley, 183 N. C. 720, 110 S. E. 783.

Upon appeal from the denial of a motion as of nonsuit in a criminal action, review of the evidence is not confined to the State's evidence alone, but all the evidence in the State's favor, taken in the light most favorable to the State and giving it every reasonable intendment therefrom, will be considered, and where there is sufficient evidence of the defendant's guilt upon the whole record, the action of the trial judge in denying the motion of nonsuit will be upheld. State v. Lawrence, 195 N. C. 562, 146 S. E. 395.

A motion as of nonsuit in a criminal case at the close of the State's evidence, renewed after all the evidence has been introduced, does not confine its sufficiency to the time of the first motion, and will be denied if there is sufficient evidence in the State's behalf viewing all the evidence in its entirety. State v. Earp, 196 N. C. 164, 145 S. E. 23.

Same—Supreme Court Not to Weigh Evidence.—This section provides that if on the motion the judgment of nonsuit is allowed on appeal, "It shall, in all cases, have the force and effect of a verdict of not guilty." This is not, therefore, the case of a new trial for some error of the judge, but is a verdict by the court of not guilty, which theretofore was without precedent. But the statute certainly did not intend that the Supreme Court should weigh the evidence and render a verdict. State v. Cooke, 176 N. C. 731, 735, 97 S. E. 171.

Sufficiency of Evidence.—Upon a motion for judgment as of nonsuit, the evidence must be considered in the light most favorably to the State and the court will not pass upon its weight or the credibility of the witnesses. State v. Rountree, 181 N. C. 535, 106 S. E. 669.

The requirement that the evidence must be sufficient to convict beyond a reasonable doubt in criminal actions, is for the benefit of the defendant; and it requires the State to satisfy a jury to a moral certainty of the truth of the charge. State v. Sigmon, 190 N. C. 684, 130 S. E. 854.

On a motion for nonsuit in a criminal action, the evidence is to be taken in the light most favorable to the State, and it is entitled to the benefit of every reasonable intendment upon the evidence, and every reasonable inference to be drawn therefrom. State v. Fleming, 194 N. C. 42, 138 S. E. 342. See also State v. Lawrence, 196 N. C. 562, 146 S. E. 395; State v. Durham, 201 N. C. 724, 161 S. E. 398.

"In considering a motion to dismiss the action under the statute, we are merely to ascertain whether there is any evidence to sustain the indictment; and in deciding the question we must not forget that the State is entitled to the most favorable interpretation of the circumstances and all inferences that may fairly be drawn from them. S. v. Carlson, 171 N. C., 818, 89 S. E. 30; S. v. Rountree, 181 N. C. 535, 106 S. E. 669;" State v. Carr, 195 N. C. 129, 133, 144 S. E. 698.

Upon motion to dismiss under this section, it is required that the court ascertain merely whether there is any sufficient evidence to sustain the allegations of the indictment and not whether it be true nor whether the jury should believe it. State v. McLeod, 196 N. C. 542, 146 S. E. 409.

On a trial for the destruction of certain pages of a book in the office of the register of deeds, wherein the defendant's interest in so doing has been shown, it is required of the State to show that the offense was committed on the day the defendant had an opportunity to commit the offense, and a margin of several weeks, in which the offense might have been committed, during which time the books were open to the public generally, is insufficient evidence to be submitted to the jury, and defendant's motion as of nonsuit should have been allowed. State v. Swinson, 196 N. C. 100, 144 S. E. 555.

Upon a motion as of nonsuit in a criminal action, made at the close of the State's evidence and renewed at the close of all of the evidence, all the evidence, whether offered by the State or elicited from defendant's witnesses, will be considered in the light most favorable to the State, and it is entitled to every reasonable intendment thereon and every reasonable inference therefrom, and only evidence favorable to the State will be considered, the weight and credibility of the evidence being for the jury. State v. Ammons, 204 N. C. 753, 169 S. E. 631.

On motion to dismiss or judgment of nonsuit, the evidence is to be taken in the light most favorable to the State, and it is entitled to the benefit of every reasonable intendment upon the evidence and every reasonable inference to be drawn therefrom. . . . The evidence favorable alone to the State is considered—defendant's evidence is discarded. State v. Shipman, 202 N. C. 518, 524, 163 S. E. 657.

Upon motion as of nonsuit in a criminal action, under this section, the evidence is to be considered in the light most favorable to the State, and if there is any evidence tending to prove the fact of guilt or which reasonably conduces to its conclusion as a fairly logical and legitimate deduction, and not such as merely raises a suspicion or conjecture of guilt, it is for the jury to say whether they are convinced beyond a reasonable doubt of the fact of guilt. State v. Marion, 200 N. C. 715, 158 S. E. 406.

Same — Accident Rather than Homicide. — Evidence tending only to show, upon a trial for wife murder, that the prisoner unintentionally in his sleep, as a result of a bad dream, inflicted upon his wife a wound too slight to have caused her death, except that from its neglect of treatment it may have been possible for blood poisoning to have set in therefrom that caused her death, is insufficient in law to sustain a conviction of manslaughter, and defendant's motion as of nonsuit, should have been sustained, under this section. State v. Everett, 194 N. C. 442, 140 S. E. 22.

Same—Rape.—Evidence tending to show that the deceased was ravished by a person suffering from gonorrhea, and that she died from the assault and choking, with further evidence that the defendant had the disease and that his shoes fitted the tracks made at the time of the crime around the house of the deceased and at the place of the crime, is sufficient, taken with other evidence of guilt, to be submitted to the jury and to sustain their verdict thereon of murder in the first degree. State v. McLeod, 196 N. C. 542, 146 S. E. 409.

Same—Tending Only to Exculpate.—Where the State's evidence and that of the defendant are substantially to the same effect, in an action for an assault, and tend only to exculpate the defendant, his motion as of non-suit after all the evidence has been introduced, considering it as a whole, should be sustained. State v. Fulcher, 184 N. C. 663, 113 S. E. 769.

Same—Father Shielding Child.—The father may shield his child from assault of another to the extent necessary for the purpose without himself being guilty of an assault; and where he has done so, without the use of excessive force, as appears from all the evidence in the case, his motion as of nonsuit at the close of his evidence should be granted. State v. Fulcher, 184 N. C. 663, 11 S. E. 769.

Same—Recent Possession of Stolen Goods.—Evidence that a cotton mill had been broken into and that goods taken therefrom had been found in defendant's possession within an hour or two thereafter, with further evidence of his unlawful possession, is sufficient for conviction, under the provisions of section 4235, and defendant's demurrer to the State's evidence or motion for dismissal thereon, is properly overruled. State v. Williams, 187 N. C. 492, 122 S. E. 13.

Evidence that the defendants had assisted a prisoner to escape is held insufficient in State v. Pace, 192 N. C. 780, 136 S. E. 11 and the motion for judgment of nonsuit as provided in this section should have been granted.

Insufficient evidence for conviction of manslaughter. State v. Tankersley, 172 N. C. 955, 90 S. E. 781.

Evidence from which the jury might infer that stolen goods were thereafter in the constructive possession of defendant will not justify an inference that at such time defendant knew the goods to have been stolen, and where the evidence is sufficient to support only the first inference the defendant's motion as of nonsuit should be allowed under this section. State v. Anthony, 206 N. C. 120, 173 S. E. 47.

Same—Evidence Raising Suspicion Only.—Evidence that does no more than raise a suspicion, somewhat strong perhaps, of a homicide and the defendant's guilt, is not enough on a prosecution for murder and demurrer to the evidence will be sustained. State v. Carter, 204 N. C. 304, 305, 168 S. E. 204.

Same—Malicious Castration. — The direct evidence of the guilt of one of the defendants in a prosecution for malicious castration, and the circumstantial evidence as to the other's participation and guilt is held sufficient to overrule their motions as of nonsuit. State v. Ammons, 204 N. C. 753, 169 S. E. 631.

Same—Identity.—In a prosecution for homicide the evidence of the defendant's identity as the perpetrator of the crime is sufficient to be submitted to the jury, the weight and credibility of the wife's identification of the defendant being for their determination, and defendant's motion as of nonsuit on the ground that her testimony was based upon imagination and auto-suggestion was properly refused. State v. Fogleman, 204 N. C. 401, 168 S. E. 536.

Same—Conspiracy. — Where the direct circumstantial evidence in this case tends to show that defendant had quarreled with deceased and had entered into a conspiracy to kill him, that deceased was murdered and that all the conspirators, including the appealing defendant, were present, aiding and abetting in the commission of the crime, the evidence is sufficient to be submitted to the jury and motion for non-suit was properly overruled. State v. Brown, 204 N. C. 392, 168 S. E. 532.

Same—Assault with Intent to Kill.—In a prosecution, for a secret assault and battery with a deadly weapon with malice and intent to kill, evidence that there had been ill-feeling between the prosecuting witness and the defendant, that the prosecuting witness had seen and recognized the defendant standing outside a window in the witness's home, that the defendant appeared there suddenly at night and shot the prosecuting witness before he could do anything, and seriously wounded him, is sufficient to overrule defendant's motion as of nonsuit, and to show that the assault was done in a secret manner. State v. McLamb, 203 N. C. 442, 166 S. E. 507.

Same—Operation of Prohibited Mechanical Device.—Evidence tending to show that defendant was the owner of an automobile, and had been seen in same prior to its capture, and that when the automobile was subsequently captured it was being driven by others and had attached thereto a mechanical device for the emission of excessive smoke or gas, is insufficient to resist defendant's motion as of nonsuit under this section, in a prosecution under § 4506(b). State v. Yates, 208 N. C. 194, 179 S. E. 756.

Conflicting Evidence.—Where the prosecutor's goods have been stolen two days before, they are found in the defendant's possession, with conflicting evidence upon the question of his having stolen them, the cases can only be determined by the jury, and the defendant's motion under this section to dismiss must be denied. State v. Jenkins, 182 N. C. 818, 108 S. E. 767.

When the defendant on trial under a criminal indictment for recklessly driving his car and colliding with another car in which deceased was riding, on a public highway, causing her death, and there is both direct and circumstantial evidence that the defendant was driving the car at the time, which his own testimony and evidence of his witnesses contradicts, his motion as of judgments of nonsuit make at the close of the State's evidence and renewed after all the evidence is properly denied. State v. Leonard, 195 N. C. 242, 141 S. E. 736.

Variance. — The defendant in a criminal action may raise the question of a variance between the indictment and the proof by a motion to dismiss the prosecution as in case of nonsuit. This is clearly set forth in S. v. Gibson, 170 N. C. 697, 86 S. E. 774; S. v. Harbert, 185 N. C. 760, 118 S. E. 6; S. v. Harris, 195 N. C. 306, 141 S. E. 883; State v. Grace, 196 N. C. 280, 281, 145 S. E. 399.

Where an indictment in a criminal prosecution charges the defendant with having fraudulently obtained goods by means of a worthless check in violation of § 4283, and the defendant is convicted of having uttered a worthless check in violation of § 4283(a), the offenses are not the same, and there is a fatal variance between the indictment and proof, and the defendant's demurrer to the evidence will be sustained in the Supreme Court on appeal. State v. Martin, 199 N. C. 636, 155 S. E. 447.

Where there is a fatal variance between the indictment and the proof, it is proper to sustain the demurrer to the evidence, or to dismiss the action as in case of nonsuit. State v. Franklin, 204 N. C. 157, 158, 167 S. E. 569.

Effect of Reversal of Judgment of Guilty.—Under the provisions of this section the reversal of a judgment of guilty has the force and effect of a verdict of "not guilty." State v. Corey, 199 N. C. 209, 153 S. E. 923.

C. 735, 738, 172 S. E. 489.

§ 4644. New trial to defendant.—The courts may grant new trials in criminal cases when the defendant is found guilty, under the same rules and regulations as in civil cases. (Rev., s. 3272; Code, s. 1202; R. C., c. 35, s. 35; 1815, c. 895.)

Cross References.—For a complete treatment of the subject of new trial in criminal cases, see 4 N. C. Enc. Dig. 205-224; 13 N. C. Enc. Dig. 639-641; as to new trial in civil cases, see section 591 and notes.

Rule Similar at Common Law.—Independent of this section, the rule of the common law was the same and in Wharton's Criminal Law, sec. 3391, it is laid down that "at common law the court trying the case, is the sole tribunal by whom a new trial can be granted, and its refusal so to do being matter of discretion is no ground for a writ of error." State v. Bennett, 93 N. C. 503, 506.

New Trial Not Granted After Acquittal.—After a verdict of acquittal on a State prosecution, a new trial is not allowed by this section. State v. Taylor, 8 N. C. 462.

Newly Discovered Evidence.—A motion for new trial for newly discovered evidence will not be granted even in a civil case, where the evidence is merely cumulative or where it was withheld by the party moving. State v. Lilliston, 141 N. C. 857, 54 S. E. 427.

Motions for new trials for newly discovered evidence cannot be entertained in the Supreme Court in criminal cases. State v. Lilliston, 141 N. C. 857, 54 S. E. 427.

Disqualification of Jurors and Newly Discovered Evidence.—Where a judgment of the Supreme Court in a criminal case has been certified to the Clerk of the Superior Court, the case is in the latter court for execution of the sentence, and a motion for a new trial may be there entertained for disqualification of jurors and for newly discovered evidence. State v. Casey, 201 N. C. 620, 161 S. E. 81.

When Judgment Set Aside.—A judgment regularly entered at one term of the court, can not be set aside at a subsequent term, except in cases of surprise, mistake or excusable neglect. State v. Bennett, 93 N. C. 503.

§ 4645. Nol. pros. after two terms; when capias and subpœnas to issue.—A nolle prosequi "with leave" shall be entered in all criminal actions in which the indictment has been pending for two terms of the court and the defendant has not been apprehended and in which a nolle prosequi has not been entered, unless the judge for good cause shown shall order otherwise. The clerk of the superior court shall issue a capias for the arrest of any defendant named in any criminal action in which a nolle prosequi has been entered when he has reasonable ground for believing that such defendant may be arrested or upon the application of the solicitor of the district. When any defendant shall be arrested it shall be the duty of the clerk to issue a subpœna for the witnesses for the state indorsed on the indictment. (Rev., s. 3273; 1905, c. 360, ss. 1, 3, 4.)

Cross References.—As to nolle prosequi in general, see 4 N. C. Enc. Dig. 76-77; 13 N. C. Enc. Dig. 589; as to clerk's record of nolle prosequi with leave cases, see section 952, par. 35.

In General.—A nolle prosequi is merely a declaration on the part of the solicitor that he will not then prosecute the suit farther, and is not an acquittal, although its effect is to discharge the defendant without delay. Wilkinson v. Wilkinson, 159 N. C. 265, 74 S. E. 740.

Effect of Nol. Pros.—A nol. pros. in criminal proceedings does not amount to an acquittal, and the defendant may be arrested again upon the same bill and put to trial. State v. Thornton, 35 N. C. 256; State v. Faggart, 170 N. C. 737, 744, 87 S. E. 31; State v. Smith, 129 N. C. 546, 40 S. E. 1.

Discretion of Attorney General.—The attorney general has a discretionary power to enter a nolle prosequi, and the court will not interfere, unless the power be oppressively used. State v. Thompson, 10 N. C. 613; State v. Buchanan, 23 N. C. 59.

Permission of Court for New Capias.—Where a nolle prosequi has been entered in a criminal case, a capias will not issue as a matter of course upon the will of the prosecuting officer, but only upon permission of the court first obtained. State v. Thornton, 35 N. C. 256.

Same—When Unnecessary.—Where a "nolle prosequi with leave," is entered, it authorizes the clerk, at the request of the solicitor, to issue another capias. State v. Smith, 129 N. C. 546, 40 S. E. 1.

Does not start statute of limitations see under section 4512 catchline "Effect of Nol. Pros. with Leave."

§ 4646. Prisoner not to be tried in prison uniform.—It shall be unlawful for any sheriff, jailer or other officer to require any person imprisoned in jail to appear in any court for trial dressed in the uniform or dress of a prisoner or convict, or in any uniform or apparel other than ordinary civilian's dress, or with shaven or clipped head. And no person charged with a criminal offense shall be tried in any court while dressed in the uniform or dress of a prisoner or convict, or in any uniform or apparel other than ordinary civilian's dress, or with head shaven or clipped by or under the direction and requirement of any sheriff, jailer or other officer, unless the head was shaven or clipped while such person was serving a term of imprisonment for the commission of a crime.

Any sheriff, jailer or other officer who violates the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1915, c. 124.)

Art. 16. Appeal

§ 4647. Appeal from justice, trial de novo.—The accused may appeal from the sentence of the justice to the superior court of the county. On such appeal being prayed, the justice shall recognize both the prosecutor and the accused, and all the material witnesses, to appear at the next term of the court, in such sums as he shall think proper; and he may require the accused to give sureties for his appearance as aforesaid. In all cases of appeal, the trial shall be anew, without prejudice from the former proceedings. (Rev., s. 3274; Code, s. 900; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 4, s. 11; 1879, c. 92, s. 10.)

Cross Reference.—For full treatment of appeal in criminal cases, see 4 N. C. Enc. Dig. 230 et seq.; 13 N. C. Enc. Dig. 644 et seq; as to appeal by state, see section 4649 and note thereto; as to form and service of notice, see sec. 914 et seq. and notes there placed.

In General.—These provisions have reference to criminal cases wherein the magistrate gives judgment against a party charged with a criminal offense, and imposes on him a punishment by fine or imprisonment. This is apparent from the nature of the matter, and as well from the language employed. They refer to the conviction and sentence of defendants. State v. Lyon, 93 N. C. 575, 577.

Right of Appeal Has Been Modified.—The right of appeal to the Superior Court from conviction in a justice's court of a misdemeanor within the justice's jurisdiction, as provided by this section, has been modified by the statutes establishing and expanding the uniform system of recorders' courts, §§ 1546, 1596, and under the general provisions of § 1597, an appeal from a conviction of simple assault in a justice's court must first be taken to the recorder's court and not the Superior Court in the counties affected by the act. State v. Baldwin, 205 N. C. 174, 170 S. E. 645.

Judgment Must Be Final in Nature.—The appeal must be from a final judgment. State v. Seaboard Air Line R. R., 169 N. C. 295, 84 S. E. 283; State v. Bailey, 65 N. C. 426; State v. Pollard, 83 N. C. 598.

Appeal as Matter of Right.—Under this section, a defendant found guilty of an offense of which the justice of the peace has final jurisdiction and an order is made without defendant's consent that judgment be suspended upon payment of costs, need not resort to the circuitous remedy of a recordari but is entitled to an appeal to the superior court as a matter of right. State v. Griffin, 117 N. C. 709, 23 S. E. 164; as to recordaries substitute for an appeal, see section 630 and note thereto.

Right of Appeal Personal to Accused.—The right of appeal provided for by this section is for the benefit only of the person accused. State v. Powell, 86 N. C. 640; but so much of the judgment as is personal to the prosecutor and taxes him with the costs, may be appealed from. Id.

Appeal under Section Presents Trial de novo.—Where the defendant after trial and conviction before a justice of the peace, moved in arrest of judgment, which was refused, and he appealed to the superior court, it was held, that the appeal brought up the whole case, and the defendant under this section was entitled to a trial de novo. State v. Koonce, 108 N. C. 752, 12 S. E. 1032; but where the defendant restricts himself by a plea of guilty then there can be no acts left open for consideration by a jury and the case on appeal does not concern the whole case. State v. Warren, 113 N. C. 683, 684, 686, 18 S. E. 498.

After an appeal from a recorder's court to a Superior Court has been effected and appeal bond given, the recorder's court has no further jurisdiction over the case, the procedure being the same as under this section, and defendant appellant may not thereafter withdraw the appeal by notice given in the recorder's court. State v. Goff, 205 N. C. 545, 172 S. E. 407.

Bill of Indictment Unnecessary.—Upon an appeal from an inferior court from a conviction of a petty misdemeanor the necessity of a bill of indictment in the latter court is dispensed with, State v. Jones, 181 N. C. 543, 106 S. E. 827; State v. Quick, 72 N. C. 241, 242; but where the case is beyond the jurisdiction of the inferior court then an indictment is necessary. State v. McAden, 162 N. C. 575, 77 S. E. 298.

Amendment to Complaint.—Where the defendant has been separately tried before a justice of the peace for several indictable offenses, it is permissible for the superior court, on appeal, to allow an amendment to the complaint or warrant so as to make out complaint include the several offenses under different counts. State v. Mills, 181 N. C. 530, 106 S. E. 677.

Excessive Punishment by Public Justice.—A defendant is not entitled to a new trial because the punishment imposed by a police justice was excessive; the case should be remanded for resentence in conformity to law. State v. Black, 150 N. C. 866, 64 S. E. 778.

Appeal in Civil Cases.—See sec. 660 and notes thereto.

§ 4648. Justice to return papers and findings to superior court.—In every case in which an appeal shall be prayed the justice shall forthwith transmit to the clerk of the superior court of the county all papers in the case, together with a copy of the verdict, if any, of his determination of the facts if there shall have been no trial by jury, and of the sentence, in which shall be set forth all the facts found by him, as well as his finding of those which were alleged in the complaint and which were found by him not to be proved. (Rev., s. 3275; Code, s. 901; 1868-9, c. 178, subc. 4, s. 12.)

Cited in State v. Goff, 205 N. C. 545, 549, 172 S. E. 407.

§ 4649. When state may appeal.—An appeal to the supreme court may be taken by the state in the following cases, and no other. Where judgment has been given for the defendant—

1. Upon a special verdict.
2. Upon a demurrer.
3. Upon a motion to quash.
4. Upon arrest of judgment. (Rev., s. 3276; Code, s. 1237.)

For a comprehensive treatment of the subject-matter of the section including numerous illustrative cases, see 4 N. C. Enc. 238 et seq.

See 13 N. C. Law Rev., 321, for note on "Special Verdicts."

Bond Not Essential.—A bond, in the case of an appeal on the part of the state, is not necessary, a recognizance being sufficient. State v. M'Lelland, 1 N. C. 632; as to necessity of bond in appeal by defendant see note of State v. Patrick, 72 N. C. 217, under section 4650.

The word "demurrer" is used in this section in its usual and ordinary significance, as understood and defined in criminal pleading, and is not used in the sense of embracing "demurrer to evidence." State v. Moody, 150 N. C. 847, 64 S. E. 431.

Upon a demurrer to an indictment the state is allowed to appeal because it has the effect in criminal cases of opening the whole record to the court and under it the jurisdiction of the court may be challenged, as well as the sufficiency of the subject-matter of the indictment itself. State v. Moody, 150 N. C. 847, 64 S. E. 431; State v. McDowell, 84 N. C. 799, 802.

No Right of Appeal from Procedural Error. — The state has no right of appeal from the action of the trial judge in striking out a plea of guilty and entering erroneously a plea of not guilty and discharging the prisoner, upon a trial for an indictable offense. State v. Branner, 149 N. C. 559, 63 S. E. 169.

Overruling Motion to Amend Record.—No appeal lies by the state from an order overruling a motion to amend the record. State v. Swepson, 82 N. C. 541.

Taxing Prosecutor with Costs.—An appeal lies from the judgment of a justice of the peace taxing the prosecutor with costs, such taxing being in the nature of a civil judgment. State v. Morgan, 120 N. C. 564, 26 S. E. 634. See also note of State v. Powell, 86 N. C. 640, under section 4647.

The refusal of the court to mark one as prosecutor of record is not one of the cases enumerated in this section in which the state may appeal. State v. Moore, 84 N. C. 724.

General Verdict of Not Guilty.—In a criminal prosecution where there is a plea and general verdict of not guilty, the state has no right of appeal; such verdict ends the case, State v. Savery, 126 N. C. 1083, 36 S. E. 22 and cases cited; but under the section the state may appeal from a judgment for defendant on a special verdict. State v. Monger, 107 N. C. 771, 12 S. E. 250; State v. Lane, 78 N. C. 547; State v. Winston, 194 N. C. 243, 139 S. E. 240; as to distinction between general and special verdict, see section 585 et seq; notes placed.

Judgment Non Obstanti Veridicto. — Where there is a verdict convicting a defendant of a misdemeanor under the provisions of a statute prohibiting the drawing of a worthless check on a bank under certain conditions, and a judgment has been rendered in favor of the defendant non obstanto, verdicto, the State may appeal under the provisions of this section. State v. Yarboro, 194 N. C. 498, 140 S. E. 216.

Acquittal in Consequence of Erroneous Charge.—When a defendant has once been tried and acquitted upon an indictment good in form, no appeal lies even though the acquittal is in consequence of the erroneous charge of the presiding judge. State v. West, 71 N. C. 263.

Arrest of Judgment as to One of Two Defendants.—Where in a prosecution for murder two defendants were convicted of manslaughter, the state under sub-division 4 of this section, has a right to appeal from an arrest of judgment as to one of them. State v. Hall, 183 N. C. 806, 112 S. E. 431.

Remanding Case for Lighter Sentence.—This section does not include a ruling of the superior court remanding a case for the imposition of a lesser sentence. State v. Davidson, 124 N. C. 839, 32 S. E. 957.

If a warrant charges simple assault, the State has no right of appeal from a judgment of a justice of the peace acquitting the defendant, the justice having, in such cases, exclusive original jurisdiction. State v. Myrick, 202 N. C. 688, 163 S. E. 803.

The State may appeal from acquittal of defendant upon a special verdict, although the verdict is fatally defective in that it fails to find facts essential to an adjudication of defendant's guilt or innocence. State v. Gulledge, 207 N. C. 374, 177 S. E. 128.

Applied to an order quashing a bill of indictment in State v. Lancaster, 169 N. C. 284, 84 S. E. 529.

Stated in State v. Hinson, 123 N. C. 765, 31 S. E. 854; State v. Davidson, 124 N. C. 839, 32 S. E. 957; State v. Bowan, 145 N. C. 452, 59 S. E. 74; State v. Morris, 208 N. C. 44, 179 S. E. 19.

§ 4650. Appeal by defendant to supreme court.—In all cases of conviction in the superior court for any criminal offense, the defendant shall have the right to appeal, on giving adequate security to abide the sentence, judgment or decree of the supreme court; and the appeal shall be perfected and the case for the supreme court settled, as provided in civil actions. (Rev., s. 3277; Code, s. 1234; R. C., c. 4, s. 21; 1818, c 962, s. 4.)

Cross Reference.—For general treatment of proceedings for transfer of cause, see 4 N. C. Enc. Dig. 248 et seq; 13 N. C. Enc. Dig. 647 et seq. For full treatment as to perfection of appeal, see section 643 et seq., and notes there placed; as to essentials to transcript, see section 645 and note thereto; as to the undertaking on appeal, see section 646 and note thereto. See also section 4651.

Editor's Note.—The manner of perfecting appeals in criminal cases is precisely the same as that in civil cases, a full and comprehensive treatment of which may be found under the section above referred to.

Appeals in criminal cases are controlled by this section, and a defendant is entitled to appeal only from conviction in the Superior Court or some final judgment thereof, and an appeal from an order of the Superior Court remanding the case to the recorder's court will be dismissed. State v. Rooks, 207 N. C. 275, 176 S. E. 752.

Appeal or Substitute for Writ of Error.—At common law there was no appeal from the decision of any of the courts, high or low, and these decisions could only be reviewed by writ of error or writ of false judgment. In North Carolina appeals are used as a substitute for those writs. State v. Bailey, 65 N. C. 426, 428; State v. Webb, 155 N. C. 426, 70 S. E. 1064.

Bond Necessary.—An appeal by the defendant to the supreme Court will be dismissed where no appeal bond is filed, if there is no order allowing the appeal without such bond. State v. Patrick, 72 N. C. 217; State v. Spurtin, 80 N. C. 362. See section 4651.

Where the defendant appealed in three cases without giving appeal bond, and it appeared that he had obtained leave to appeal without bond in one case only, it was held that the other cases would be dismissed. State v. Hamby, 126 N. C. 1066, 35 S. E. 614.

Appeal "By Consent."—Where an appeal without bond or affidavit was allowed by consent it was held not to be in compliance with the section. State v. Kerns, 90 N. C. 650.

Judgment against Surety.—Where defendant in a criminal action is allowed to appeal upon filing a bond for his appearance at the next criminal term of the court with sufficient surety, but the stay bond required by this section is not filed, upon affirmance of the judgment of the Supreme Court, judgment may not be had against the surety on the appearance bond for the amount of the fine, and the recognizance may not be construed as a stay bond on the ground that the parties so intended. Current v. Church, 207 N. C. 658, 178 S. E. 82.

§ 4651. Defendant may appeal without security for costs.—In all cases of conviction in the superior courts, the defendant shall have the right to appeal without giving security for costs, upon filing an affidavit that he is wholly unable to give security for the costs, and is advised by counsel that he has reasonable cause for the appeal prayed, and that the application is in good faith.

And where it shall appear to the presiding judge that a defendant who has been convicted of a capital felony and who has prayed an appeal to the supreme court from the sentence of death pronounced against him upon such conviction is unable to defray the cost of perfecting his appeal on account of his poverty, it shall be the duty of the county in which the alleged capital felony was committed, upon the order of such judge, to pay the necessary cost of obtaining a transcript of the proceedings had and the evidence offered on the trial from the court reporter for the use of the defendant and the necessary cost of preparing the requisite copies of the record and briefs which the defendant is required to file in the supreme court under the rules of said court. The judge may fix the reasonable value of the services rendered in furnishing such transcript and preparing such copies of the record and briefs, and said copies of the record and briefs shall be prepared in the manner prescribed by the rules of the supreme court in pauper appeals. Provided, that this paragraph shall apply only to those cases in which counsel has been assigned by the court. (Rev., s. 3278; Code, s. 1235; 1869-70, c. 196, s. 1; 1933, c. 197.)

Cross Reference.—For general treatment of subject, see 4 Enc. Dig. 250 et seq.; as to appeals in forma pauperis in civil cases, see section 649 and note thereunder.

Editor's Note.—Public Laws of 1933, c. 197, added the last paragraph of this section, relating to appeals in capital felony to the Supreme Court.

Essentials of Affidavit Cannot Be Waived.—The court has no authority to dispense with, or the prosecutor to waive the requirements of this section in respect to the affidavit which the defendant must file. State v. Moore, 93 N. C. 500.

In State v. Duncan, 107 N. C. 818, 819, 12 S. E. 382, it is said: "It is not a matter of discretion with the court, but it is the right of the state to have an appeal dismissed where there is a failure to comply with either of the three essential requirements (of this section)." (parenthesis supplied); as to dismissal of appeal where no bond given or order allowing appeal without security, see note of State v. Patrick, 72 N. C. 217, under section 4650.

The affidavit is jurisdictional and may not be waived by the solicitor. State v. Stafford, 203 N. C. 601, 166 S. E. 734.

In order that the Supreme Court may have jurisdiction of an appeal in forma pauperis in a criminal action it is required that the application for leave to appeal be supported by an affidavit of the appellant showing that he is wholly unable to give the security required by § 4650; that he is advised by counsel that he has reasonable cause for appeal, and that the application is made in good faith, and where any of these three statutory requirements have not been complied with the appeal will be dismissed. State v. Marion, 200 N. C. 715, 158 S. E. 406.

Compared with Security in Civil Actions. — The requirements of this section for prosecuting an appeal without making deposit or giving security for costs in a criminal prosecution, are different from those in a civil action, but the requirements of both statutes, are jurisdictional, and unless complied with in all respects, the appeal is not properly in this Court. Powell v. Moore, 204 N. C. 654, 655, 169 S. E. 281.

Time of Perfecting Appeal. — Appeals under this section can be allowed only during term of court and by the judge. State v. Gatewood, 125 N. C. 694, 695, 34 S. E. 543, and if not perfected at this time the appeal is a nullity. State v. Dixon, 71 N. C. 204.

Proper Form Presumed.—If an order is made allowing a defendant to appeal as a pauper, and the affidavit and certificate of counsel are not in the record sent to the Supreme Court, it will be presumed that they were in due form. State v. Low, 103 N. C. 350, 351, 9 S. E. 411.

Signature of Judge Essential.—Where the order allowing an appeal in forma pauperis in criminal cases is not signed by the judge but by the clerk, the defect is jurisdictional, without power of the appellate court to allow amendment, and the appeal will be dismissed. State v. Parish, 151 N. C. 659, 65 S. E. 762.

Name of Advising Counsel Need Not Appear.—It is not necessary that an affidavit, filed under this section, should state the name of the counsel by whom the applicant is advised that he has reasonable grounds for appeal. State v. Perkins, 117 N. C. 697, 699, 23 S. E. 274. But it has been suggested that it would be proper to state the name of such counsel. State v. Divine, 69 N. C. 390.

Motion to Reinstate Appeal.—Where one of the essential elements has been omitted from the affidavit, a motion to reinstate the appeal by offering to file a bond or make a deposit should be made when the motion to dismiss was before the court, and after the case has been regularly dismissed, it is too late. State v. Martin. 172 N. C. 977, 90 S. E. 502

Failure to Prosecute According to Rules of Court. — Whether the Supreme Court acquires jurisdiction of an appeal in forma pauperis from a conviction of a capital felony when the affidavit for leave to appeal fails to state, as required by this section, that the "application is in good faith," quaere? and where the appeal has not been prosecuted as required by the Rules of Court the appeal will be dismissed upon the motion of the Attorney-General after an examination of the record proper for errors appearing upon its face. State v. Bynum, 199 N. C. 376, 154 S. E. 918.

Applied in State v. Starnes, 94 N. C. 973; State v. Wylde, 110 N. C. 500, 15 S. E. 5; State v. Atkinson, 141 N. C. 734, 53 S. E. 228.

Cited in State v. Brumfield, 198 N. C. 613, 152 S. E. 926.

§ 4652. Appeal granted; bail for appearance.—The affidavit required in the preceding section may be filed at any time during the term or within ten days from the adjournment of the term either with the Judge or the clerk, and it shall be the duty of the Judge or the Clerk on filing the affidavit to grant the appeal without security for costs, and for any bailable offense the Judge shall require the defendant to enter into recognizance in a reasonable sum to make his appearance at the first term of the Superior Court to be held in the county and to further answer the charge preferred. (Rev., s. 3279; Code, s. 1236; 1869-70, c. 196, s. 2; 1929, c. 236, § 1.)

Editor's Note.—The amendment of 1929 added the first provision of this section; namely, "the affidavit required in the preceding section may be filed at any time during the term or within ten days from the adjournment of the term either with the Judge or the Clerk."

§ 4653. Bail pending appeal.—When any person convicted of a misdemeanor and sentenced by the court, shall appeal, the court shall allow such person to give bail pending appeal. (Rev., s. 3280; Code, s. 1181; R. C., c. 35, s. 12; 1850-1, c. 2.)

In General.—But for this section an accused would have no right to bail pending an appeal. State v. Bradsher, 189 N. C. 401, 127 S. E. 349; as to right of sureties to surrender principal, see section 4594 et seq., and notes there placed.

§ 4654. Appeal not to vacate judgment; stay of execution.—In criminal cases an appeal to the supreme court shall not have the effect of vacating the judgment appealed from, but upon perfecting the appeal as now required by law, either by giving bond or in forma pauperis, there shall be a stay of execution during the pendency of the appeal. The clerk of the superior court shall, as soon as may be after execution is stayed, as provided in this section, notify the attorney-general thereof. Said notice shall give the name of defendant, the crime of which he was convicted, and, if the statutory time for perfecting the appeal has been extended by the agreement, the time of such extension. If for any reason the defendant should wish to withdraw his appeal before the same is docketed in the supreme court, he may go, or be taken, before the clerk of the superior court in which he was convicted, and said clerk shall enter such withdrawal upon the record of the case, and notify the sheriff, who shall proceed forthwith to execute the sentence. (Rev., s. 3281; 1887, c. 191, s. 1; 1887, c. 192, s. 4; 1919, c. 5.)

The effect of an appeal is to stay all proceedings in the lower court pending the disposition of the appeal, and where, after appeal bond has been given, the defendant makes motions before the Superior Court judge for a mistrial for prejudice of jurors and for a new trial for newly discovered evidence, the motions are coram non judice. State v. Casey, 201 N. C. 185, 187, 159 S. E. 337.

Clerk to Notify Attorney General of Appeal.—Where an appeal is taken in a criminal case and the execution of the judgment stayed under this section, the clerk of the Superior Court is required to notify the Attorney General of the appeal, and, if the statutory time for perfecting the appeal is extended, he should notify him of such extension. State v. Watson, 208 N. C. 70, 179 S. E. 455; State v. Etheridge, 207 N. C. 801, 178 S. E. 556.

Applied in State v. Casey, 201 N. C. 620, 161 S. E. 81; Current v. Church, 207 N. C. 658, 178 S. E. 82.

§ 4655. Judgment for fines docketed; lien and execution.—When the sentence in whole or in part directs the payment of a fine, the judgment shall be docketed by the clerk and be a lien on the real estate of the defendant in the same manner as judgments in civil actions, and executions thereon shall only be stayed, upon an appeal taken, by security being given in like manner as is required in civil cases. Should the judgment be affirmed upon appeal to the supreme court, the clerk of the superior court, on receipt of the certificate from the supreme court, shall issue execution on such judgment. (Rev., s. 3282; 1887, c. 191, s. 3.)

A judgment for a fine, duly docketed, constitutes a lien on the real estate of defendant, under this section, which lien attaches immediately upon the docketing of the judgment. See § 614. Osborne v. Board of Education, 207 N. C. 503, 177 S. E. 642.

Cited in Current v. Church, 207 N. C. 658, 178 S. E. 82.

§ 4656. Procedure upon receipt of certificate of supreme court.—The clerk of the superior court, in all cases where the judgment has been affirmed (except where the conviction is a capital felony), shall forthwith on receipt of the certificate of the opinion of the supreme court notify the sheriff, who shall proceed to execute the sentence which was appealed from. In criminal cases where the judgment is not affirmed the cases shall be placed upon the docket for trial at the first ensuing term of the court after the receipt of such certificate. (Rev., s. 3283; 1887, c. 192, s. 3.)

Art. 17. Execution

§ 4657. Death by administration of lethal gas.—Death by electrocution under sentence of law is hereby abolished and death by the administration of lethal gas substituted therefor. (1909, c. 443, s. 1; 1935, c. 294, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the amendment of 1935, this section provided for electrocution. The amendatory act provides that it shall not affect execution for crimes committed before its effective date.

v. Ferrell, 205 N. C. 640, 641, 172 S. E. 186; State v. Wall, 205 N. C. 657, 658, 172 S. E. 216.

§ 4658. Manner and place of execution.—The mode of executing a death sentence must in every case be by causing the convict or felon to inhale lethal gas of sufficient quantity to cause death, and the administration of such lethal gas must be continued until such convict or felon is dead; and the warden of the penitentiary of North Carolina or, in case of his death, inability or absence, a deputy warden shall be the executioner; and when any person, convict or felon shall be sentenced by any court of the state having competent jurisdiction to be so executed, such punishment shall only be inflicted within a permanent death chamber which the superintendent of the state penitentiary is hereby authorized and directed to provide within the walls of the North Carolina penitentiary at Raleigh, North Carolina. The superintendent of the state penitentiary shall also cause to be provided, in conformity with this article and approved by the governor and council of state, the necessary appliances for the infliction of the punishment of death in accordance with the requirements of this article. 1909, c. 443, s. 2; 1935, c. 294, s. 2.)

See note to section 4657.

Cited in State v. Brooks, 206 N. C. 113, 172 S. E. 879.

§ 4659. Sentence of death; prisoner taken to penitentiary.—Upon the sentence of death being pronounced against any person in the state of North Carolina convicted of a crime punishable by death it shall be the duty of the judge pronouncing such death sentence to make the same in writing, which shall be filed in the papers in the case against such convicted person, and a certified copy thereof shall be transmitted by the clerk of the superior court in which such sentence is pronounced to the warden of the state penitentiary at Raleigh, North Carolina, not more than twenty nor less than ten days before the time fixed in the judgment of the court for the execution of the sentence; and in all cases where there is no appeal from the sentence of death and in all cases where the sentence is pronounced against a prisoner convicted of the crime of rape it shall be the duty of the sheriff, together with at least one deputy, to convey to the penitentiary at Raleigh such condemned felon or convict forthwith upon the adjournment of the court in which the felon was tried, and deliver the convict or felon to the warden of the penitentiary: Provided, that in all cases where an appeal is taken from the death sentence by any person convicted of a crime punishable by death, except the crime of rape, such convicted felon or convict shall not be taken or conveyed to the penitentiary unless, in the judgment of the sheriff of the county in which the felon was tried and the solicitor prosecuting the felon, it shall be deemed necessary for the safety and safekeeping of the convicted person or felon during the pendency of the appeal. (1909, c. 443, s. 3.)

Judgment Must Be Written and Signed by Trial Judge.—The entry of judgment of the court on the verdict of guilty of a capital felony by the clerk of the court on its minutes and signed by the judge is not a sufficient compliance with the provisions of this section, its mandatory provisions requiring the judgment to be written and signed by the judge, and where it appears of record that he has failed so to do the case will be remanded. State v. Jackson, 199 N. C. 321, 322, 154 S. E. 402.

Death Sentence without Reference to Crime.—A judgment sentencing defendant to death for the commission of a capital felony, though making no reference to the trial or the crime of which the defendant was convicted, while not commended is held sufficient. State v. Taylor, 194 N. C. 738, 140 S. E. 728.

Where in a prosecution for murder the jury returns a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, the judgment of the court, which alone is certified to the warden of the State prison, under this section and §§ 4658, 4660, must recite that the defendant had been convicted of murder in the first degree, and where it recites that the prisoner had been convicted of murder, and sentences the prisoner to death by electrocution, the case will be remanded. State v. Langley, 204 N. C. 687.

When No Reference to Trial or Crime Is Made. — A judgment, while somewhat informal, because it made no reference to the trial or the crime of which the prisoner was convicted, is, nevertheless, sufficient to meet the requirements of this section. State v. Edney, 202 N. C. 706, 707, 164 S. E. 23.

§ 4660. A guard or guards or other person to be named and designated by the warden to execute sentence.—Some guard or guards or other reliable person or persons to be named and designated by the warden from time to time shall cause the person, convict or felon against whom the death sentence has been so pronounced to be asphyxiated as provided by this article and all amendments thereto. The electrocution [asphyxiation] shall be under the general supervision and control of the warden of the penitentiary, who shall from time to time, in writing, name and designate the guard or guards or other reliable person or persons who shall cause the person, convict or felon against whom the death sentence has been pronounced to be electrocuted [asphyxiated] as provided by this article and all amendments thereto. At such execution there shall be present the warden or deputy warden or some person designated by the warden in his stead; the surgeon or physician of the penitentiary and six respectable citizens, the counsel and any relatives of such person, convict or felon and a minister or ministers of the gospel may be present if they so desire, and the board of directors of the penitentiary may provide for and pay the fee for each execution not to exceed thirty-five dollars ($35.00). (1909, c. 443, s. 4; 1925, c. 123; 1935, c. 294, s. 3.)

Editor's Note.—Public Laws of 1935, chapter 294, provides that the word "electrocuted" first appearing in the section shall be deleted and the word "asphyxiated" substituted. The words appearing in brackets were inserted by the editor in order to maintain the sense of the section.

§ 4661. Certificate filed with clerk.—The warden, with the surgeon or physician of the penitentiary, shall certify the fact of the execution of the condemned person, convict or felon to the clerk of the superior court in which such sentence was pronounced, and the clerk shall file such certificate with the papers of the case and enter the same upon the records thereof. (1909, c. 443, s. 5.)

§ 4662. Notice of reprieve or new trial.—Should the condemned person, convict or felon be granted a reprieve by the governor or obtain a writ of error, or a new trial be granted by the supreme court of the state of North Carolina, or should the execution of the sentence be stayed by any competent judicial tribunal or proceeding, notice of such reprieve, new trial, appeal, writ of error or stay of execution shall be served upon the warden or deputy warden of the penitentiary by the sheriff of Wake County, in case such condemned person is confined in the penitentiary, or upon any sheriff having the custody of any such condemned person, also upon the condemned person himself. (1909, c. 443, s. 6.)

§ 4663. Judgment sustained on appeal, reprieve, time for execution.—In case of an appeal, should the Supreme Court find no error in the trial, or should the stay of execution granted by any competent judicial tribunal or proceeding, or reprieve by the Governor, have expired or terminated, such condemned person, convict or felon shall be executed, in the manner heretofore provided in this article, upon the third Friday after the filing of the opinion or order of the Supreme Court or other competent judicial tribunal as aforesaid, or, in case of a reprieve by the Governor, such condemned person, convict or felon shall be executed in the manner heretofore provided in this article upon the third Friday after the expiration or termination of such reprieve; and it shall be the duty of the clerk of the Supreme Court, and of any other competent tribunal as aforesaid, or the clerk thereof, to notify the warden of the penitentiary of the date of the filing of the opinion or order of such court or other judicial tribunal, and in case of a reprieve by the Governor, it shall be the duty of the Governor to give notice to the warden of the State Penitentiary of the date of the expiration of such reprieve. (1909, c. 443, s. 6; 1925, c. 55.)

AGRICULTURE

Art. 1. Department of Agriculture

Part 1. Board of Agriculture

§ 4666. Constitutional provision.—The general assembly shall establish a department of agriculture, immigration, and statistics, under such regulations as may best promote the agriculture interests of the state, and shall enact laws for the adequate protection and encouragement of sheep husbandry. (Rev., s. 3930; Const., Art. III, s. 17.)

General Considerations. — This section is identical with (and consequently not in conflict with) the constitutional provision. Art. III, sec. 17, which is not self-executing, but mandatory upon the legislature, hence, its incorporation in this act. Cunningham v. Sprinkle. 124 N. C. 638, 33 S. E. 138.

Appointment of Members.—Members of the board of agriculture are not constitutional officers, but being of legislative creation, are within the power of legislative appointment. They are not exclusively, nor of necessity, within the power of executive appointment. Cunningham v. Sprinkle, 124 N. C. 638, 33 S. E. 138.

Actions against Board.—The board of agriculture is a department of the state government and an action cannot be maintained against it without the consent of the state. Chemical Co. v. Board of Agriculture, 111 N. C. 135, 15 S. E. 1032.

§ 4667. Board of agriculture established; members; terms of office.—The department of agriculture, immigration, and statistics is hereby created and established and all the duties shall be performed by the commissioner of agriculture, as in this chapter provided for, with the advice of a board to be styled 'The Board of Agriculture.' The board of agriculture shall consist of the commissioner of agriculture, and five other members, said five other members to be appointed by the governor, by and with the consent of the senate. The commissioner of agriculture shall be the chairman of the board and shall preside at its meetings. In the appointment of the five members of the board, the governor shall take into consideration the different agricultural interests of the State and appoint one member who shall be a practical livestock grower to represent the livestock interests of the State; one who shall be a practical tobacco farmer to represent the tobacco farming interests; one who shall be a practical cotton grower to represent the cotton farming interests; one who shall be a practical truck farmer to represent the truck farming interests; and one who shall be a practical general farmer to represent all other general farming interests. The present governor, in appointing the five members to said board as herein provided for shall appoint three of said members for a term of two years and two of said members for a term of four years, and their successors shall be appointed for a term of four years.

All five members shall hold office until their successors are appointed and qualified. The commissioner of agriculture and the members of the board of agriculture shall be practical farmers engaged in their profession. (Rev., s. 3931; Code, s. 2184; 1901, c. 479, ss. 2, 4; 1907, c. 479, s. 1; 1931, c. 360, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The Act of 1931, which repealed the former section and substituted the above in lieu thereof, provided: "This Act shall in no degree be construed as affecting or limiting the authority of the Commissioner of Agriculture and the Board herein created to exercise all the authority and power now imposed upon the existing Commissioner of Agriculture and Board of Agriculture under the statutes, in relation to other subjects not specifically dealt with herein."

§ 4668. Compensation of members. — Each member of the board of agriculture shall receive five dollars for each day he attends a session of the board and for each day necessarily spent in traveling from and to his place of residence, and he shall receive also six cents a mile for the distance to and from Raleigh, by the usual direct route, for each meeting of the board which he attends, the same to be paid from the funds of the department. When attending any committee meeting each member of the committee, other than the chairman, shall receive the same per diem and mileage as is fixed for attending meetings of the board. (Rev. s. 3932; 1901, c. 479, s. 3; 1919, c. 247, s. 10½.)

§ 4669. Meetings of board. — The board of agriculture shall meet for the transaction of business in the city of Raleigh at least twice a year, and oftener if called by the commissioner of agriculture. (Rev., s. 3935; 1901, c. 479, s. 3; 1921, c. 24; 1931, c. 360, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—This section formerly set the specific date for one of the meetings on the second Wednesday in December. The Act of 1931 made no mention of any specific date.

§ 4670. Executive committee and finance committee.—The board shall elect from its numbers an executive committee of four, of which committee the commissioner shall also be ex officio a member and chairman. The board shall elect a finance committee of five from its numbers. The board shall prescribe the powers and duties of these committees, and the commissioner may call meetings of these committees whenever in his opinion such meetings are desirable for the good of the department. (Rev., s. 3936; 1907, c. 876, s. 1.)

§ 4671. Moneys received to be paid into state treasury.—All moneys arising from tonnage charges on fertilizers and fertilizing materials, inspection taxes on cottonseed meal and concentrated commercial feeding stuff, and from the sale of any property seized and condemned under the provisions of this chapter, and all other moneys which may come into the hands of the commissioner of agriculture or other officer, member or employee of the department of agriculture by virtue of this chapter, shall be paid into the state treasury by the commissioner of agriculture, and shall be kept on a separate account by the treasurer as a fund for the exclusive use and benefit of the department of agriculture. (Rev., s. 3937; Code, s. 2208; 1876-7, c. 174, s. 22.)

§ 4672. Power of board.—The board shall be empowered to hold in trust and exercise control over donations or bequests made to it for promoting the interests or purposes of the department; and shall have general supervision and control of the finances of the department; and shall regulate the salaries of all officers and employees other than those whose salaries are fixed by law. (Rev., s. 3933; 1901, c. 479, s. 3.)

As to operation of State Fair by board, see § 7534(dd).

§ 4673. May require bonds of officers.—Bonds may be required for such amounts as the board may think best for all officers of the department who handle funds. (Rev., s. 3934; 1901, c. 479, s. 14.)

§ 4674. Annual report.—The board shall annually make a report to the governor, to be transmitted by him to the general assembly the years when in session, of its work and matters relating thereto, which report shall contain a statement of all receipts and expenditures and the objects for which expended. (1907, c. 876, s. 2.)

Part 2. Commissioner of Agriculture

§ 4675. Election; term; vacancy.—The commissioner of agriculture shall be elected at the general election for other state officers, shall be voted for on the same ballot with such officers, and his term of office shall be four years, and until his successor is elected and qualified. Any vacancy in the office of such commissioner shall be filled by the governor, the appointee to hold until the next regular election to the office and the qualification of his successor. (Rev., s. 3938; 1901, c. 479, s. 4.)

§ 4676. To appoint secretary and other officials. —The commissioner of agriculture shall appoint a secretary and prescribe his duties, and shall appoint such employees as may be necessary to the efficient prosecution of the duties of the department of agriculture. He shall, subject to the approval of a majority of the board, appoint heads of divisions and their assistants. (Rev., s. 3939; 1901, c. 479, s. 4; 1913, c. 202.)

§ 4677. To investigate purchases, sources, and manufacture of fertilizer. — The commissioner of agriculture shall investigate all complaints made by purchasers of fertilizers, and render such services as he may be able in bringing about an adjustment and satisfactory settlement of such complaints. It shall be his duty to ascertain as near as may be the actual cost of blood tankage, fish-scrap, nitrate of soda, cotton-seed meal, and other materials from which ammonia or nitrogen is obtained; the cost of all phosphate rock, together with a description of the treatment with acids, the grinding and general manufacture of acid phosphate, and the actual cost thereof as near as may be, and to communicate with dealers, both in this country and in Germany, as to the cost of muriate of potash, kainit, and other sources of potash, and to publish the same in The Bulletin; but he shall not expose to the public the name of any manufacturer in this state who may give him information on this subject, nor shall he divulge any information concerning the private business of any corporation or company manufacturing fertilizers solely in this state: Provided, such corporation or company is not a part or branch of any trust or combination. He shall also make and publish in every fertilizer bulletin a price-list of the market value of all the materials of which fertilizers are made, and revise the same as often as may be necessary. (Rev., s. 3940; 1901, c. 479, s. 4.)

Part 3. Joint Committee on Agricultural Work

§ 4678. Committee authorized; membership; organization.—There is hereby authorized and legalized a joint committee to be known as "The Joint Committee for Agricultural Work," which shall be composed of four members of the board of agriculture and of four members of the board of trustees of the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering; and in addition thereto the governor of the state, the commissioner of agriculture, and the president of the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering shall be ex officio members of said committee. The governor shall be ex officio chairman of the committee. The committee may elect a chairman pro tem., who shall preside in the absence of the governor, and the committee shall make a report annually to the governor on the work in its charge. (1917, c. 223, s. 1.)

§ 4679. Selection and term of members.—The four members of the joint committee from each of the two boards shall be designated by the board of which they are members respectively, and shall serve on the committee during their terms as members of the board, unless excused from such service by their respective boards. The members already designated by the two boards for service on this committee shall continue to serve during their terms as board members. (1913, c. 68, s. 2.)

§ 4680. Purpose of the committee.—It shall be the purpose of the joint committee for agricultural work to prevent duplication and to maintain greater co-operation on the part of the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering and the State Department of Agriculture, Immigration and Statistics; and the joint committee shall have authority to settle any and all questions relative to jurisdiction or duplication of work that may be referred to it by either the president of the college or the Commissioner of Agriculture, and the decision of the joint committee not inconsistent with the law shall be binding on both institutions. The joint committee shall meet at least once each year at the call of the chairman to receive reports from the president of the college and the Commissioner of Agriculture on the relation of the two institutions with special reference to the research or any other work in which the two institutions are interested, and to make recommendations to the governing bodies of each that may tend to increase their coöperation in promoting agricultural improvement in the State. (1913, c. 18, ss. 3, 4; 1925, c. 142, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The section as amended by the Public Laws of 1925 is entirely new in form, although the purpose of the committee remains substantially the same. The provision for meetings and their purpose, and for settling by the committee if questions referred to it are new. A sentence allowing the employment of workers was omitted.

§ 4681. Funds for research work.—After the Board of Agriculture has provided for the work of its several departments each year in accordance with law, the remainder of the funds received by the Department of Agriculture shall be apportioned for agriculture research work, including such experiments, investigations and tests as may be deemed important.

(a) For the year nineteen hundred and twenty-five-twenty-six, the sum of sixty thousand dollars shall be appropriated for research work to be conducted for the Department of Agriculture by the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering, this being approximately the amount appropriated by the Board of Agriculture to the college for the year nineteen hundred and twenty-four-twenty-five, and the amount that the Board of Agriculture agrees to appropriate to the college for research work for the fiscal year nineteen hundred and twenty-five-twenty-six.

Ct. 495,) but the authority to make administrative rules is not a delegation of legislative power and such rules do not become legislation, because violations thereof are punished as "public offenses." United States v. Grinnand, 220 U. S. 506, 31 S. Ct. 480; State v. Sou. R. Co., 141 N. C. 486, 54 S. E. 294.

Cattle and Cattle Diseases.—The State Board of Agriculture has authority to make and enforce regulations for the quarantine of cattle and to prevent there transporation in view of preventing the spreading of contagious diseases. State v. Garner, 158 N. C. 630, 74 S. E. 458. And an owner permitting cattle to run at large in a no-fence county who wilfully allows cattle to stray across the line is guilty of a violation of the act. Id.

The third clause of this section confers power upon the commissioner to make regulations prohibiting the transportation of cattle. State v. Southern R. Co., 141 N. C. 846, 54 S. E. 294.

The provision to get rid of the ticks on cattle and prevent infection, is a reasonable and valid regulation. State v. Hodges, 180 N. C. 751, 105 S. E. 417.

Same—Judicial Notice of Quarantined District.—Where the quarantine regulations of the United States Department of Agriculture, relating to the transportation of cattle, which were adopted by the State Board of Agriculture, provided that no cattle originating in the quarantined district as therein described should be moved into "that part of Burke south of the Catawba River," this Court judicially knows that a shipment of cattle from Burlington to Morganton has been across the line fixed as a quarantine line. State v. Sou. R. Co., 141 N. C. 846, 54 S. E. 294.

§ 4688(a). Executive duties transferred from board to commissioner of agriculture.—In all laws, rules and regulations passed by the General Assembly of North Carolina and placed in the State Department of Agriculture for enforcement, where the context clearly states or implies the invocation of executive authority or executive action, such as selecting the workers of the department and appointing same, the execution of the regulations of the Board of agriculture and the enforcing of the laws of the General Assembly, and any other duties that are clearly executive in their nature, the words, "Board of Agriculture," whenever they occur in such connection, shall be and are hereby changed to "Commissioner of Agriculture" in all cases where executive and not legislative action is clearly indicated. (1925, c. 174, s. 1.)

Part 5. Coöperation of Federal and State Governments in Agricultural Work

§ 4689. Legislative assent to Adams act for experiment station.—Legislative assent be and the same is hereby given to the purpose of an act of congress approved March sixteenth, one thousand nine hundred and six, entitled "An act to provide for an increased annual appropriation for agricultural experiment stations, and regulating the expenditure thereof," known as the Adams act, and the money appropriated by this act be and the same is hereby accepted on the part of the state for the use of the agricultural experiment station, and the whole amount shall be used for the benefit of the said agricultural experiment station, in accordance with the act of congress making appropriations for agricultural experiment stations and governing the expenditure thereof. (1921, c. 201, s. 1.)

§ 4689(b). Instructions to tax-listers as to securing information; notice.—The county auditor or register of deeds shall include in his instructions to the tax-listers information for the securing of such statistical information. He shall give notice in all county newspapers, and in the advertisements for listing of taxes that each farmer shall be prepared to report the acreage of each crop grown to the tax-lister. (1921, c. 201, s. 2.)

§ 4689(c). Tax-listers' duties.—The tax-listers shall proceed to gather such statistics as the said commissioner of agriculture and the agricultural statistician may require, and the forms and reports when so completed, shall be returned to the department of agriculture on or before the third day of June and of July next ensuing. (1921, c. 201, s. 3.)

§ 4689(d). Failure to perform duties a misdemeanor; punishment.—The failure to properly perform any of the duties herein set forth shall be a misdemeanor, and subject to the penalties prescribed for such by law. (1921, c. 201, s. 4.)

A—In mixed fertilizers:

Total nitrogen, per cent (whole numbers only);

Water insoluble nitrogen, per cent;

Available phosphoric acid, per cent (whole numbers only);

(5) The sources from which such nitrogen, phosphoric acid, and potash are derived.

(6) Whether or not the brand will be sold with an open formula.

(c) The grade of any brand of mixed fertilizer shall not be changed during the year for which registration is made, but the guaranteed analysis may be changed in other respects and the sources of materials may be changed, provided prompt notification of such change is given to the commissioner and the change is noted on the container.

(d) The person offering for sale or selling any brand of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material shall not be required to register the same if it has already been registered under this article by a person entitled to do so and such registration is then outstanding.

(e) In the case of bone, tankage, mineral phosphates or other unacidulated phosphatic fertilizer materials in which the phosphoric acid is not shown by laboratory methods to be available but eventually becomes available in the soil, the phosphoric acid may be guaranteed as total phosphoric acid. If the term available phosphoric acid be used in the statement of analyses, it shall mean the sum of the water soluble and citrate soluble phosphoric acid, except that when applied to basic slag phosphates the term available shall mean that part of the phosphoric acid found available by the Wagner citric acid method as adopted by the association of official agricultural chemists.

§ 4689(5). Marking. — (a) Each person who sells or offers for sale mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material in this state shall mark upon each container or associate with each shipment or some document relative thereto the information required by items (1) to (4), both inclusive, of paragraph (b) and by paragraph (e) of section 4689-(4). Said information may either be branded or printed directly on the bag or other shipping container, or may be printed on a tag, label or certificate which shall be affixed to the shipping container or otherwise associated with the shipment as provided for in this section.

(b) If shipped in bags, barrels or other containers commonly used, said information shall be printed (1) either directly on the package, or (2) on tags to be affixed to the package by the manufacturer.

(c) If shipped in bulk by rail, said information shall be printed on a suitable label which shall be fastened on the inside wall of the car near the door.

(d) If shipped in bulk by boat, truck, wagon, or other vehicle, said information shall be attached to the copy of the invoice delivered to the purchaser or other receiver.

(e) If shipped in packages weighing five pounds or less, said information may be printed on the container in which the material is delivered to the purchaser, or upon a common shipping container in which the smaller packages are shipped.

(f) If the fertilizer is not registered for sale with an open formula, there may be attached to the bag or container a tag showing the sources from which the plant food is derived and any other information, which in the opinion of the commissioner accurately describes the materials used: Provided, that if any nitrate is claimed as an ingredient, the percentage of nitrate nitrogen shall be guaranteed on this tag.

(g) If the fertilizer is registered for sale with an open formula it is required that a separate tag be attached to the container which tag shall state only the formula, the brand name and the name and address of the person guaranteeing the registration.

(h) The statement on the open formula tag shall constitute a guarantee of the kinds and amounts of fertilizer materials in the container to which the tag is attached.

(i) If the analysis of any brand of fertilizer sold or offered for sale with an open formula shall show that this statement is false, the commissioner may revoke the right to sell or offer for sale such brand with an open formula for a period of two years.

§ 4689(6). Use of the term "high grade."—(a) The words "high grade" shall not appear upon any bag or other container of any mixed fertilizer which contains, by the guaranteed analysis, a total of less than twenty(20) per cent of available plant food. (1933, c. 324, s. 6.)

§ 4689(7). Tonnage tax.—(a) Inspection Tax on Fertilizer; Tax Tags.—For the purposes of defraying expenses of the inspection and of otherwise determining the value of mixed fertilizers and fertilizer materials in this state, there shall be paid to the department of agriculture a charge of twenty cents per ton on such mixed fertilizers and fertilizer materials, except those which are sold to a manufacturer for the sole purpose of use in the manufacture of fertilizers, which charge shall be paid before a delivery is made to agents, dealers, or consumers in this state. Each bag, barrel, or other container of such mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material shall have attached thereto a tag to be furnished by the department of agriculture stating that all charges specified in this section have been paid, and the commissioner, with the advice and consent of the board, is hereby empowered to prescribe a form for such tags, and to adopt such regulations as will insure the enforcement of this law. Whenever any manufacturer of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material shall have paid the charges required by this section, his goods shall not be liable to further tax, whether by city, town, or county: Provided, this shall not exempt the mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material from an ad valorem tax.

(b) Issuance of Tax Tags.—The tax tags required under this section shall be issued each year by the commissioner and be sold to persons applying for the same at the tax rate provided in paragraph (a) of this section. Tags left in the possession of persons registering mixed fertilizers or fertilizer materials at the end of any calendar year may be exchanged for tags of the succeeding year.

(c) Tax Tags on Shipments in Bulk.—If any manufacturer, dealer, agent or other seller of fertilizer shall desire to ship in bulk any mixed fertilizer or fertilizer materials, the said manufacturer or seller of fertilizer shall send with the bill of lading sufficient tax tags to pay the tax on the amount of goods shipped, and the agent of the railroad or other transportation company shall deliver the tags to the consignee when the goods are delivered. (1933, c. 324, s. 7.)

§ 4689(8). Inspection.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner, personally or by agents, duly authorized in writing, to make such inspection of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material in this state, to have such samples taken, and to have such analyses made as in his judgment may be necessary to ascertain whether or not persons offering, selling or distributing mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material are complying with the provisions of this article. (1933, c. 324, s. 8.)

§ 4689(9). Official sample; liability for deficiency or damage.—(a) Samples of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material complying with the definition set forth in paragraph (j) of section 4689(3) and taken as hereafter prescribed in paragraphs (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f) of this section shall constitute official samples.

(b) For purposes of analysis by the commissioner or his duly authorized chemists and for comparison with the guarantee supplied to the commissioner in accordance with sections 4689(4) and 4689(5), the commissioner, or an official inspector duly appointed by him, shall take an official sample of not less than one pound from containers of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material. No sample shall be taken from less than five (5) containers. If the lot comprises five (5) or more containers, portions shall be taken from each one up to a total of ten (10) containers and if there are more than ten (10) containers one additional portion shall be taken from each additional ton or fraction thereof included in the lot.

(c) In sampling mixed fertilizers or fertilizer materials in bulk, either in a factory or a car, at least ten portions shall be drawn and these from different places so as fairly to represent the pile or car lot.

(d) In sampling, a core sampler shall be used that removes a core from the bag or other package from top to bottom, and the cores taken shall be mixed on clean oil cloth or paper, and if necessary shall be reduced after thoroughly mixing, by quartering, to the quantity of sample required. The composite sample taken from any lot of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material under the provision of this paragraph shall be placed in a tight container and shall be forwarded to the commissioner with proper identification marks.

(e) The commissioner may modify the provisions of this section to bring them into conformity with any changes that may hereafter be made in the official methods of and recommendations for sampling mixed fertilizers or fertilizer materials which shall have been adopted by the association of official agricultural chemists. Thereafter, such methods and recommendations shall be used in all sampling done in connection with the administration of this article in lieu of those prescribed in paragraphs (b), (c) and (d) of this section.

(f) All samples taken under the provisions of this section shall be taken from original unbroken bags or containers, the contents of which have not been damaged by exposure, water, or otherwise.

(g) The commissioner shall refuse to analyze all samples except such as are taken under the provisions of this section and of section 4689(10).

(h) No suit for damages claimed to result from the use of any lot of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material may be brought unless it shall be shown by an analysis of a sample taken and analyzed, in accordance with the provisions of this article, that the said lot of fertilizer as represented by a sample or samples taken in accordance with the provisions of this section and section 4689(10) do not conform to the provisions of this article with respect to the composition of the mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material, unless it shall appear to the commissioner that the manufacturer of the fertilizer in question has, in the manufacture of other goods offered in this state during such season, employed such ingredients as are outlawed by the provisions of this article, or unless it shall appear to the commissioner that the manufacturer of such fertilizer has offered for sale during that season any kind of dishonest or fraudulent goods.

(i) In the trial of any suit or action wherein there is called in question the value of composition of any lot of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material, a certificate signed by the fertilizer chemist and attested with the seal of the department of agriculture, setting forth the analysis made by the chemists of the department of any sample of said mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material, drawn under the provisions of this section or section 4689(10) and analyzed by them under the provisions of the same, shall be prima facie proof that the fertilizer was of the value and constituency shown by said analysis. And the said certificate of the chemist shall be admissible in evidence to the same extent as if it were his deposition taken in said action in the manner prescribed by law for the taking of depositions. (1933, c. 324, s. 9.)

§ 4689(10). Samples by purchaser or consumer.—Any purchaser or consumer may take and have a sample of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material analyzed if taken in accordance with the following rules and regulations:

(a) At least five (5) days before taking a sample, the purchaser or consumer shall notify the manufacturer or seller of the brand in writing, at his permanent address, of his intention to take such a sample and shall request the manufacturer or seller to designate a representative to be present when the sample is taken.

(b) The sample shall be drawn in the presence of the manufacturer, seller or a representative designated by either party together with two disinterested freeholders; or in case the manufacturer, seller or representative of either refuses or is unable to witness the drawing of such a sample, a sample may be drawn in the presence of three disinterested freeholders: Provided, any such sample shall be taken with the same type of sampler as used by the inspector of the department of agriculture in taking samples and shall be drawn, mixed and divided as directed in paragraphs (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f) of section 4689(9), except that the sample shall be divided into two parts each to consist of at least one (1) pound. Each of these is to be placed into a separate, tight container, securely sealed, properly labeled and one sent to the commissioner for analysis and the other to the manufacturer. A certified statement in a form which will be prescribed and supplied by the commissioner must be signed by the parties taking and witnessing the taking of the sample. Such certificate is to be made and signed in duplicate and one copy sent to the commissioner and the other to the manufacturer or seller of the brand sampled. The witnesses of the taking of any sample, as provided for in this section, shall be required to certify that such sample has been continuously under their observation from the taking of the sample up to and including the delivery of it to an express agency, a postoffice or to the office of the commissioner. No sample may be taken under the provisions of this section except within thirty (30) days after the actual delivery to the consumer.

(c) Samples drawn in conformity with the requirements of this section shall have the same legal status in the courts of the state as those drawn by an official inspector of the department as provided for in section 4689(9). (1933, c. 324, s. 10.)

§ 4689(11). Chemical analyses.—(a) The commissioner shall have the power at all times and in all places to have collected by an authorized inspector samples of any mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material offered for sale in the state and to have the same analyzed.

(b) The official methods of analysis prescribed by the association of official agricultural chemists shall be followed in making the chemical analyses provided for in this section. (1933, c. 324, s. 11.)

§ 4689(12). Plant food deficiency.—(a) Whenever the commissioner shall be satisfied that any fertilizer is five (5) per cent and not more than ten (10) per cent in value below the analysis guaranteed under section 4689(4) or claimed by the marking required under section 4689(5) in the total value of the sum of the nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash, it shall be his duty to require that twice the value of the deficiency be paid by the manufacturer of such mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material to any person who purchases for his own use said deficient analysis fertilizer; and should any fertilizer fall more than ten (10) per cent below the value of the guaranteed plant food, it shall be the duty of the commissioner to assess three times the value of such deficiency against the manufacturer of the mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material and require the same to be paid to the consumer of such mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material, and the commissioner may seize any fertilizer belonging to such manufacturer if the deficiency shall not be paid within thirty (30) days after notice to such manufacturer. If the commissioner shall be satisfied that such deficiency in plant food was due to the intention of the manufacturer of the same to defraud, then he shall assess and collect from the said manufacturer double the amount which he would have assessed and collected as hereinbefore provided, and pay the same over to the consumer of such mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material. Any excess of any ingredient above the guarantee shall not be credited to the deficiency of any other ingredient if the deficiency is more than fifteen (15) per cent; and the penalty for deficiencies arising in this connection shall be four times the value of such deficiencies, such deficiencies to be assessed and paid as hereinbefore provided. In fixing the penalties mentioned in this section, or any other sections of this article, the commissioner shall estimate them by the wholesale price at the factory at the time of contract. If any manufacturer shall resist such collection or payment the commissioner shall immediately publish the analysis and facts in the bulletin, and in one or more newspapers in the state, to be selected by him: Provided, that if the analysis made by the chemists of the department shall show more than twelve and one-half (12.5) per cent deficiency in the whole, the purchaser may, in lieu of accepting the penalty as provided by law, cancel the contract or purchase; but he must within five (5) days after receipt of said analysis notify the seller of his intention to cancel the contract and his refusal to keep the said fertilizer.

(b) The commissioner, in determining for administrative purposes whether or not any mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material is deficient in plant food, shall be guided solely by the official sample as defined in section 4689(3) and as provided for in paragraphs (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f) of section 4689(9) and the samples taken under the provisions of section 4689(10). (1933, c. 324, s. 12.)

§ 4689(13). Chlorine content. — If the chlorine content of any lot of fertilizer as found by official analysis shall exceed the maximum percentage by more than twenty-five (25) per cent of the guaranteed amount and not more than fifty (50) per cent, the person guaranteeing the registration, or his agent, shall be liable for a penalty equal to ten (10) per cent of the value of the lot of fertilizer from which the sample was taken. If the excess of chlorine is more than fifty (50) per cent and not more than one hundred (100) per cent the penalty shall be twenty (20) per cent of the value, and if the excess is more than one hundred (100) per cent the penalty shall be fifty (50) per cent of the value of the lot of fertilizer from which the sample was taken. All penalties assessed under this section shall be paid to the purchaser or consumer of the lot of fertilizer represented by the sample analyzed. (1933, c. 324, s. 13.)

§ 4689(14). Commercial value. — The approximate retail value per pound and per unit of the various ingredients of mixed fertilizers and fertilizer materials, namely, nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash, may be computed by the commissioner and be used to establish the relative value of the mixed fertilizers and fertilizer materials sold or offered for sale in this state. The commissioner is authorized to furnish such relative values to any persons engaged in the manufacture or sale of mixed fertilizers or fertilizer materials in this state upon application and to publish the same under the provisions of section 4689(21). (1933, c. 324, s. 14.)

§ 4689(15). Minimum plant food content.—(a) No superphosphate, no fertilizer with a guarantee of two plant food ingredients, or no complete mixed fertilizer shall be sold or offered for sale for fertilizer purposes within this state, which contains less than 14 per cent of plant food, excepting potash in combination with lime which shall contain not less than two (2) per cent of potash soluble in water. This shall not apply to natural animal or vegetable products not mixed with other materials.

(b) No nitrate of soda containing less than fourteen and one-half (14.5) per cent of nitrogen and no sulphate of ammonia containing less than nineteen and one-half (19.5) per cent of nitrogen shall be registered, sold or offered for sale in this state.

(c) This section shall not apply to the sale or offer for sale of fertilizer materials to a fertilizer manufacturer for manufacturing purposes. (1933, c. 324, s. 15.)

§ 4689(16). Fillers.—It shall be unlawful for any person to manufacture, offer for sale or sell in this state any mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material containing any substance used as a filler that is injurious to crop growth or deleterious to the soil, or to use in such mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material as a filler any substance that contains inert plant food material or any other substance for the purpose or with the effect of deceiving or defrauding the purchaser. (1933, c. 324, s. 16.)

§ 4689(17). Materials containing unavailable plant food.—(a) It shall be unlawful for any person to offer for sale or to sell in this state for fertilizer purposes any raw or untreated leather, hair, wool, waste, hoof, horn, or similar nitrogenous materials, the plant food content of which is largely unavailable, either as such or mixed with other fertilizer materials.

(b) This section shall not apply to the substances mentioned in paragraph (a) when they have been treated or processed in such manner as to make available the plant food constituents contained therein.

(c) This section shall not apply to the substances mentioned in paragraph (a) which are shipped, offered for sale or sold to manufacturers of fertilizer. (1933, c. 324, s. 17.)

§ 4689(18). Deception and fraud.—It shall be unlawful for any person to make any false or misleading representation in regard to any mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material shipped, sold or offered for sale by him in this state, or to use any misleading or deceptive trade mark or brand name in connection therewith. The commissioner is hereby authorized to refuse registration for any mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material with respect to which this section is violated. The sale or offer for sale of any mixture of nitrogenous fertilizer materials under a name or other designation descriptive of only one of the components of the mixture shall be considered deceptive or fraudulent. (1933, c. 324, s. 18.)

§ 4689(19). Sales of materials to consumers. — Nothing in this article shall abridge the right of a consumer of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material to buy materials from any manufacturer or dealer for his own use: Provided, the tonnage tax has been paid thereon, if subject thereto, and that the provisions of this article otherwise in respect to such materials have been complied with. (1933, c. 324, s. 19.)

§ 4689(20). Reports of shipments. — It is required of each person registering mixed fertilizers and fertilizer materials under this article that he furnish the commissioner with a written statement of the tonnage of each grade of fertilizer sold by him in this state. Said statements shall include all sales for the periods of January first to and including June thirtieth and of July first to and including December thirty-first of each year. These statements are to be made within 30 days of the expiration dates of each of these periods. (1933, c. 324, s. 20.)

§ 4689(21). Publications.—The commissioner is authorized to publish at such time and in such form as he may deem proper information concerning the production and use of mixed fertilizers and fertilizer materials, and shall publish an annual report which shall contain a statement of money received and expended from the sale of tax tags and appropriately classified statistics of fertilizer sales in the state. Reports of the department chemists' findings based on official samples of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material sold within the state as compared with the guaranteed analyses registered under sections 4689(4) and 4689(5) shall be published by the commissioner as promptly as possible after the completion of analyses, or at least annually. (1933, c. 324, s. 21.)

§ 4689(22). Regulations.—For the enforcement of this article, the commissioner is authorized to prepare and issue such regulations as may be necessary, and to coöperate with any department or agency of the government of the state as he may elect in their enforcement. (1933, c. 324, s. 22.)

§ 4689(23). Misdemeanors.—Each of the following offenses shall be a misdemeanor and any person upon conviction thereof shall be punished as provided by law for the punishment of misdemeanors:

(a) The violation of any one of the following provisions of this article: Section 4689(16); paragraph (a) of section 4689(17); and section 4689(18).

(b) The filing with the commissioner of any false statement of fact in connection with the registration under section 4689(4) of any mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material.

(c) Forcibly obstructing the commissioner or any official inspector authorized by the commissioner in the lawful performance by him of his duties in the administration of this article.

(d) Knowingly taking a false sample of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material for use under any provision of this article; or knowingly submitting to the commissioner for analysis a false sample thereof; or making to any person any false representation with regard to any mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material sold or offered for sale in this state for the purpose of deceiving or defrauding such other person.

(e) The fraudulent tampering with any lot of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material so that as a result thereof any sample of such mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material taken and submitted for analysis under this article may not correctly represent the lot; or tampering with any sample taken or submitted for analysis under this article, if done prior to such analysis and disposition of the sample under the direction of the commissioner.

(f) The delivery to any person by the fertilizer chemist or his assistants or other employee of the commissioner of a report that is willfully false and misleading on any analysis of mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material made by the department in connection with the administration of this article. (1933, c. 324, s. 23.)

§ 4689(24). Penalties for unauthorized sale, sale without tax tags, and misuse of tax tags:

(a) Forfeiture for Unauthorized Sale, Release from Forfeiture.—All fertilizers and fertilizer materials sold or offered for sale contrary to the provisions of this article as stated in paragraphs (a), (c) and (f) of section 4689(4); (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f) and (g) of section 4689(5) and section 4689(6) shall be subject to seizure, condemnation, and sale by the commissioner. The net proceeds of such sale shall be placed to the credit of the state treasurer for the use of the department of agriculture. The commissioner, however, may in his discretion, release the fertilizers so seized and condemned upon payment of the required tax or charge, a fine of ten dollars ($10.00), and all costs and expenses incurred by the department in any proceeding connected with such seizure and condemnation, and upon compliance with all other requirements of this article.

(b) Method of Seizure and Sale of Forfeiture.—Such seizure and sale shall be made under the direction of the commissioner by any officer or agent of the department. The sale shall be made at the courthouse door in the county in which seizure is made, after thirty (30) days' advertisement in some newspaper published in such county, or if no newspaper is published in such county, then by like advertisement in a newspaper published in the nearest county thereto having a newspaper. The advertisement shall state the brand name or name of the goods, the quantity, and why seized and offered for sale.

(c) Sale without Tag; Misuse of Tag; Penalty; Forfeiture.—Every merchant, trader, manufacturer, broker, or agent who shall sell or offer for sale any mixed fertilizer or fertilizer material without having attached thereto such tags as are required by paragraphs (a) and (c) of section 4689(7), or who shall use the required tags a second time to avoid the payment of the tonnage charge, and every person who shall aid in the fraudulent selling or offering for sale of any such fertilizer, shall be liable to a penalty of the price paid the manufacturer for each separate bag, barrel, or package sold, or offered for sale, or removed, said penalty to be recovered by the commissioner by suit brought in the name of the state, and any amount so recovered shall be paid, one-half to the informer and one-half to the state treasurer for the use of the department of agriculture. If any such fertilizer shall be condemned as provided by law, it shall be the duty of the commissioner to have an analysis made of the same and cause printed tags or labels expressing the true chemical ingredients thereof to be put upon each tag, barrel, or package, and shall fix the commercial value at which it may be sold. It shall be unlawful for any person to sell or offer for sale or remove any such fertilizer or for any agent of any railroad or other transportation company to deliver any such fertilizer in violation of this section. Any person who shall sell or offer for sale or remove any fertilizer in violation of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1933, c. 324, s. 24.)

Art. 2. Commercial Fertilizers

§ 4690. Packages to be branded with specified particulars; copy to be filed.—All persons, companies, manufacturers, dealers, or agents, before selling or offering for sale in this state any commercial fertilizer or fertilizer material, shall brand or attach to each bag, barrel, or package, the brand name of the fertilizer, the weight of the package, the name and address of the manufacturer, and the guaranteed analysis of the fertilizer, giving the valuable constituents of the fertilizer in minimum percentages only, and also the sources of nitrogen or ammonia and potash: Provided, that the materials supplying nitrogen or ammonia shall be divided into two classes, namely, mineral and organic; and the percentage of nitrogen or ammonia coming from either of these classes shall be guaranteed, but allowing a variability of one-fourth of one per cent for goods containing two per cent of ammonia or under, and a variability of one-third of one per cent for goods containing two to three per cent ammonia, and a variability of one-half of one per cent for goods containing over three per cent ammonia; and the several materials in each of these two classes shall be named on the bag or on a tag attached thereto, and it shall be permissible for the manufacturer to substitute one or more materials in either class of approximately equal agricultural value for another material of the same class: Provided further, that where there is a contract or agreement between the manufacturer and a purchaser of fertilizer that the fertilizer will be manufactured by the use of certain definite sources and amounts of ammonia and potash, the fertilizer must be manufactured from these materials without the substitution of other materials, and failure on the part of the manufacturer to comply with this requirement shall render such manufacturer liable to the purchaser for damages as is now prescribed by law, and in addition thereto the manufacturer shall pay to the purchaser a penalty equal to one-fourth of the purchase price of such fertilizer. These items shall be branded or printed on the bag or package in the following order:

1. Weight of each package in pounds.
2. Brand name or trade-mark.
3. Guaranteed analysis.
4. Available phosphoric acid,.....Per cent.
5. Nitrogen (or equivalent in ammonia).... per cent.
6. Potash,.....per cent.
7. Name and address of the manufacturer.
8. A plainly printed tag, or brand, or print on percentage of watersoluble nitrogen.
9. Where potash is claimed as sulphate it must be derived from high-grade commercial sulphate of potash.

In bone-meal, tankage, or other products, where the phosphoric acid is not available to laboratory methods, but becomes available on the decomposition of the products in the soil, the phosphoric acid shall be claimed as total phosphoric acid, unless it be desired to claim available phosphoric acid also, in which latter case the guarantee must take the form above set forth. In the case of bone-meal and tankage, manufacturers may brand on the bags information showing the fineness of the product, provided it takes a form approved by the department of agriculture. A copy of the brand or stamp on the bag or other package, or on the label attached thereto (all of which must comply with the above requirements), shall be filed with the department of agriculture on or before delivery of such fertilizer to dealers, agents, and consumers in this state, which brand or stamp shall be uniformly used during the fiscal year for which tags have been issued. Such brand, label, or stamp shall truly set forth the data required above. (1917, c. 143, s. 1; 1923, c. 182.)

Editor's Note.—The two provisional sentences the first paragraph of this section are new with the acts of 1925.

For discussion of the section, see 1 N. C. Law Rev. 301.

In General.—This and the following new sections make elaborate and minute provisions with the view of insuring a correct analysis of these important commodities and in protection both of the manufacturer and vendor and of the purchaser and consumer. Fertilizing Co. v. Thomas, 181 N. C. 274, 282, 106 S. E. 835; Fertilizer Works v. Aiken, 175 N. C. 398, 95 S. E. 657.

The section is constitutional. State v. Oil Co., 154 N. C. 635, 70 S. E. 741. Its purpose is to protect the Public from sale of worthless fertilizers. Id.

Warranty of Contents.—Manufacturers and vendors of commercial fertilizers impliedly warrant that they contain the ingredients specified on the tags placed on the bags, according to the requirements of the statute. Swift & Company v. Aydlett, 192 N. C. 330, 135 S. E. 141.

Compliance with Statute Warranted.—When plaintiffs as manufacturers, dealers or agents sold to defendant commercial fertilizers, they must be held to have warranted that they had complied with the statute, and that the articles delivered, as commercial fertilizers were truthfully branded as required by the statute. Swift v. Etheridge, 190 N. C. 162, 167, 129 S. E. 453.

The rule of caveat emptor, as applied at common law in the sale of articles of personal property, is not applicable to the sale of commercial fertilizers in this State. Swift v. Etheridge, 190 N. C. 162, 164, 129 S. E. 453; Swift & Co. v. Aydlett, 192 N. C. 330, 135 S. E. 141.

The burden of proof is upon the manufacturer to show, in his action against the purchaser for the purchase price, that the goods were at least merchantable, and that the ingredients used in their manufacture were in accordance with the specifications upon the tags placed on the bags under the requirements of this section. Swift & Company v. Aydlett, 192 N. C. 330, 135 S. E. 141.

A waiver by the purchaser of any demand for damages on account of any deficiencies in the ingredients of fertilizers, except such as may be ascertained in the manner specified in the statute, is valid and enforcible under the present law. Armour Fertilizer Works v. Aiken, 175 N. C. 399, 95 S. E. 657.

Application.—This section was applied as to warranty of analysis, in Guano Co. v. Live-Stock Co., 168 N. C. 442, 443, 84 S. E. 774. It was applied to breach of warranty, in Carter v. McGill, 168 N. C. 507, 508, 84 S. E. 802, and to breach of contract to furnish with certain quality of cotton-seed meal to be used as fertilizer, in Carson v. Bunting, 154 N. C. 530, 70 S. E. 923.

If the contents of the bags or packages delivered to defendant by plaintiffs were not, in fact commercial fertilizers, of the analysis guaranteed on each bag or package, as required, there was no consideration for the note given for the purchase price of the articles brought by defendant, and plaintiffs are not entitled to recover on said note. Swift v. Etheridge, 190 N. C. 162, 167, 129 S. E. 453.

§ 4690(a). Certification of fertilizer laboratories.—Commissioner of agriculture, or his authorized agent, shall, upon the application of any commercial laboratory that analyzes fertilizer or fertilizer materials, make such examination as he shall consider fit of the work of said laboratory, and when, in his opinion, the examination shall show the work of the said laboratory to be accurate and reliable, he shall certify said laboratory to that effect.

To those manufacturers requesting names of certified laboratories, the commissioner of agriculture shall supply such information. (1933, c. 551.)

§ 4691. Rules to enforce statute; violation misdemeanor.—The board of agriculture is empowered and directed to make such rules and reglations as are necessary to a proper carrying into effect of the provisions of this article, and to provide for all such tags as manufacturers may demand, upon paying the tax therefor. Any person wilfully violating any of the regulations made by the board of agriculture in connection with the provisions of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3821; 1901, c. 479, s. 4, subsec. 9.)

§ 4692. Sources of ingredients to be disclosed to department.—There shall be delivered to the department a statement of the materials or sources from which the phosphoric acid, nitrogen, and potash are each derived in each brand of goods registered. The department of agriculture shall, under rules which it may formulate, furnish to any person applying for the same the sources of nitrogen, potash, and available phosphoric acid contained in any brand of fertilizer registered with the department. If the source of the ingredient is changed, notification thereof shall be promptly furnished to the department. (1917, c. 143, s. 2.)

§ 4693. Brand names; registration; duplication of brand.—If the same fertilizer is sold under more than one name, a statement shall be furnished to the commissioner as to what brands are identical. A brand name entered by one person shall not be allowed to be registered by another; and no brand or name shall be allowed to be registered which is so nearly similar to another as to lead to uncertainty, confusion or fraud. The person whom the records of the department show to have first registered the name shall be permitted to retain it, subject, however, to appeal to the board to determine who is entitled to the brand; but the action of the board shall be without prejudice to the legal rights of the parties to the brand or trade-mark. No brand or name once registered shall be changed to a lower grade at any subsequent registration. The commissioner shall publish a list of brands or trade-marks registered with the department. (1917, c. 143, s. 3.)

§ 4694. Use of terms "high grade" and "standard".—The words "high grade" shall not appear upon any bag or other package of any complete fertilizer which complete fertilizer contains, by its guaranteed analysis, less than eight per cent available phosphoric acid, two and forty-seven one-hundredths per cent nitrogen (equivalent to three per cent ammonia), and two per cent potash; that the word "standard" shall not appear upon any bag or package of any complete fertilizer which contains, by its guaranteed analysis, less than eight per cent available phosphoric acid, one and sixty-five one-hundredths per cent nitrogen (equivalent to two per cent ammonia), and two per cent potash or a grade or analysis of equal total commercial value; that the words "high grade" shall not appear upon any bag or package of any acid, phosphate with potash which shall contain, by its guaranteed analysis, less than thirteen per cent available phosphoric acid and one percent potash, or a grade or analysis of equal total commercial value; that the word "standard" shall not appear upon any bag or other package of acid phosphate with potash which shall contain, by its guaranteed analysis, less than eleven per cent available phosphoric acid and one per cent potash, or a grade or analysis of equal total commercial value; that the words "high grade" shall not appear upon any bag or other package of any plain acid phosphate which shall contain, by its guaranteed analysis, less than sixteen per cent available phosphoric acid; and, lastly, that the word "standard" shall not appear upon any bag or other package of any plain acid phosphate which shall contain, by its guaranteed analysis, less than fourteen per cent of phosphoric acid. It is further hereby provided that no complete fertilizer, acid phosphate with potash, and phosphate with nitrogen, or plain acid phosphate, shall be offered for sale in this state which contains less than twelve per cent of total plant food, namely, available phosphoric acid, nitrogen, or potash, either singly or in combination, except potash in combination with lime, which shall contain not less than two per cent of potash: Provided, that in mixed fertilizers there shall be claimed not less than one per cent of potash and eighty-two one hundredths per cent of nitrogen (equivalent to one per cent ammonia) when one or both are present in the same mixture; and also, that mixed fertilizers known as superphosphates and containing only phosphoric acid and ammonia may have only ten per cent of plant food, and shall be known as "high grade" when containing six per cent of phosphoric acid and four per cent of ammonia.

No commercial fertilizer shall be sold or offered or exposed for sale or use within this state as to which the words "high grade" or "standard" are prohibited by this section, unless the words "low grade" are printed in two-inch letters in a conspicuous place upon the package of said commercial fertilizer. (1917, c. 143, s. 4.)

§ 4695. Sale below guaranteed quality; duty of commissioner; purchaser's option.—Whenever the commissioner of agriculture shall be satisfied that any fertilizer is five per cent below the guaranteed value in plant food it shall be his duty to assess such deficiency against the manufacturer of the fertilizer and require that twice the value of the deficiency be made good to any person who purchases for his own use such low-grade fertilizer; and should any fertilizer fall as much as ten per cent below the guaranteed value in plant food it shall be his duty to assess three times the value of such deficiency against the manufacturer of the fertilizer and require the same to be paid to the consumer of such fertilizer; and the commissioner may seize any fertilizer belonging to such manufacturer if the deficiency shall not be paid within thirty days after notice to such manufacturer. If the commissioner shall be satisfied that such deficiency in plant food was due to the intention of the manufacturer of same to defraud, then he shall asses and collect from the said manufacturer double the amount of the deficiency which he would have assessed and collected as hereinbefore provided, and pay the same over to the consumer of such fertilizer. Any excess of any ingredient above the guarantee shall not be credited to the deficiency of any other ingredient if the deficiency is more than fifteen per cent: that is, excess of phosphoric acid or ammonia, or potash, cannot be credited to the deficiency in any other of these ingredients, and in assessing deficiencies arising in this connection the deficiency shall be assessed at four times the value of such deficiencies, such deficiencies to be assessed and paid as hereinbefore provided. In fixing the penalties mentioned in this section, or any other section of this article, the commissioner of agriculture shall estimate them by the wholesale price at the factory at the time of contract. If any manufacturer shall resist such collection or payment, the commissioner shall immediately publish the analysis and facts in the bulletin and in one or more newspapers in the state, to be selected by him. The agricultural department shall secure sufficient chemists and assistants, and provide the necessary equipment to enable the department to make a report of the chemical analysis of all fertilizer samples sent to the department by the purchaser or consumer, within twenty days from the time the same is received by the department, and they shall so make reports unless otherwise requested by the sender, and shall also publish a bulletin of all analyses on the first of each month for the preceding month: Provided, that if the analysis made by the department shall show more than twelve and one-half per cent deficiency in the whole, the purchaser may, in lieu of accepting the penalty as provided by law, cancel the contract of purchase; but he must within five days after receipt of said analysis notify the seller of his intention to cancel the contract and his refusal to keep the said fertilizer. (1917, c. 143, s. 5; 1919, c. 120, s. 1.)

Section Not Interfering with Contractual Rights.—The provisions of this section do not and were not intended to interfere with the rights and remedies of parties as stipulated and provided for in their personal dealings. Towlinson v. Morgan, 166 N. C. 557, 82 S. E. 953.

Measure of Damages. — For sale of fertilizing material deficient in quality an abatement in the price is the measure of damages. Fertilizer Works v. McLawborn, 158 N. C. 274, 73 S. E. 883.

In action for sale of fertilizing material, deficient in quality, the damages, when recoverable, are limited to the difference between the value of the article delivered and its value or market price if it had been such as it was warranted to be. Guano Co. v. Live-Stock Co., 168 N. C. 442, 84 S. E. 774; Fertilizer Works v. McLawhorn, 158 N. C. 274, 73 S. E. 883; Carson v. Bunting, 154 N. C. 530, 70 S. E. 923; Towlinson v. Morgan, 166 N. C. 557, 82 S. E. 953.

Admissibility of Evidence—Worthless Fertilizer.—In an action by the seller for the purchase price defendant can prove the worthlessness of the fertilizer sold. Carter v. McGill, 168 N. C. 507, 84 S. E. 802.

Same—Determination of the Value of Crop.—Determination of the value of crop, under proper circumstances, is admissible in evidence to show a breach of warranty of the quality of fertilizer sold. Towlinson v. Morgan, 166 N. C. 557, 559, 82 S. E. 953.

§ 4696. Certain ingredients prohibited.—It shall be unlawful to sell or offer for sale in this state any fertilizer or fertilizer material which contains hair, hoof meal, horn, leather scraps, or other deleterious substances not available as food for plants, but in which fertilizer or fertilizer material such forbidden materials aid in making up the required or guaranteed analysis. Whenever the analysis by the department shall show the presence of any of these unlawful materials in goods registered for sale, publication shall be made in the next monthly bulletin and in one or more newspapers, to be selected by the commissioner, giving the name and brand of the goods and the unlawful substance contained in its composition. No manufacturer or seller of such goods shall be allowed to collect pay for same, and when payment has been made it shall be returned by the seller to the purchaser. A copy of the bulletin containing the statement of the presence of unlawful material in the named goods shall be evidence in any court in this state in bar of payment and for recovery of money paid for goods so named. The presence of any forbidden material shall vitiate the whole: Provided, that the manufacturers who desire to use any such material may do so under such regulations as the board may prescribe.

Any person who shall wilfully sell or offer for sale any fertilizer or fertilizer material containing the substances declared by this section to be deleterious shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3818; 1901, c. 479, s. 9; 1917, c. 143, s. 6.)

§ 4697. Collection and analysis of samples; analysts' certificate as evidence.—The department of agriculture shall have the power at all times and at all places to have collected by its inspector samples of any commercial fertilizer or fetilizer material offered for sale in the state, and have the same analyzed; and such samples shall be taken from at least ten per cent of the lot from which they may be selected: Provided, that no sample shall be drawn from less than ten bags of any one lot or brand.

The samples must be drawn in the presence of either the agent or seller or dealer, or some other representative of the manufacturer: Provided, that when the agent or seller or dealer, or local representative of the manufacturer, is not present or refuses to act, two disinterested persons may act as witnesses.

The purchaser or consumer, or the agent of either, may take fertilizer samples under the following rules and regulations: When any purchaser or consumer, or agent of either, desires to take a sample of any fertilizer or fertilizer material, he may take such sample according to the rules prescribed by the department of agriculture in the presence of a county or local representative designated by the manufacturer, and notice of which shall be given by the manufacturer on the bill of lading, or, in case there is no county or local representative, or he is unable to serve for any cause, in the presence of an agent, seller, or dealer of the manufacturer and two disinterested freeholders or, in case the agent, or seller, or dealer or local representative of the manufacturer refuses to witness the drawing of such sample, a sample may be drawn in the presence of three disinterested freeholders: Provided, such sample or samples shall be drawn with the same kind of instrument used by the inspectors of the department of agriculture in taking samples, the sample to be thoroughly mixed as prescribed by the rules of the department of agriculture, divided into two parts, each part to be placed in a suitable vessel, securely sealed, properly labeled, and one part sent to the department of agriculture for analysis, and the other part to the manufacturer; and a suitable statement shall be signed by the parties taking, or witnessing the taking of the sample covering the matter; such statement or statements to be also sent to the department of agriculture and the manufacturer.

The department of agriculture shall make additional rules and regulations under and by which the purchaser or consumer, or agent of either, may take the sample or samples of fertilizer or fertilizer material as herein provided, and forward the same to the department for analysis under the provisions of this article: Provided, that no sample may be taken except within thirty days after the actual delivery to the consumer except by the state fertilizer inspector.

In the trial of any suit or action wherein there is called in question the value or composition of any fertilizer, a certificate signed by the state chemist and attested with the seal of the department of agriculture, setting forth the analysis made by the state chemist of any sample of said fertilizer drawn under the provisions of this article, and analyzed by him under the provisions of the same, shall be prima facie proof that the fertilizer was of the value and constituency shown by his said analysis. And the said certificate of the state chemist shall be admissible in evidence to the same extent as if it were his deposition taken in said action in the manner prescribed by law for the taking of depositions. The department shall refuse to analyze any sample of commercial fertilizer that is not drawn and forwarded to the department in accordance with the regulations which it may adopt for the carrying out of this article: Provided, that no suit for damages from results of use of fertilizer may be brought except after chemical analysis showing deficiency of ingredients, unless it shall appear to the department of agriculture that the manufacture of said fertilizer in question has, in the manufacture of other goods offered in this state during such season, employed such ingredients as are outlawed by the provisions of this article, or unless it shall appear to the department of agriculture that the manufacturer of such fertilizer has offered for sale during that season any kind of dishonest or fraudulent goods.

Nothing in this article shall impair the right of contract. (1917, c. 143, s. 7; 1919, c. 120, ss. 2. 3.)

Constitutionality.—This section, does not impair the right of contract, and is constitutional and valid. Armour Fertilizer Works v. Aiken, 175 N. C. 398, 95 S. E. 657; American Fertilizing Co. v. Thomas, 181 N. C. 274, 106 S. E. 835, cited and approved. Jones v. Union Guano Co., 183 N. C. 338, 111 S. E. 612; Pearsall & Co. v. Eakins, 184 N. C. 291, 114 S. E. 291; Swift & Co. v. Aydlett, 192 N. C. 330, 135 S. E. 141.

When Section Controls. — This section makes adequate provisions for damages, with further stipulations allowing either party to make further agreement for their reasonable and lawful protection, unless the latter is taken advantage of, this section is controlling. Fertilizer Works v. Aiken, 175 N. C. 398, 95 S. E. 657.

Analysis Made Conclusive by Contract.—Where it appears from the contract of sale of fertilizer that the vendor's warranty was that the goods should come up to the analysis upon the bags, and any deficiency should be determined by the analysis of the State Chemist under our statute, which should be conclusive as to damages claimed by the purchasers, and by this test the fertilizer has bees found to be free from borax or other matter deleterious to crops, parol evidence tending to show that the fertilizer furnished did contain borax from the appearance or condition of the crop, is properly excluded upon an allegation of fraud, whether it comes from expert witnesses or others, as the analysis, under the agreement of the parties, is conclusive as to the ingredients of the fertilizer, and as to the recovery of damages to the crop it is a bar. Fertilizing Co. v. Thomas, 181 N. C. 274, 106 S. E. 835.

Where a seller of fertilizer to a dealer warrants the goods only to be according to a given analysis, but not as to results, the law will not imply a further warranty that the fertilizers should be good for the purposes for which they were sold. Hampton Guano Co. v. Hill Live-Stock Co., 168 N. C. 442, 443, 84 S. E. 774.

Where the provisions of this section as to the State analysis of commercial fertilizers, etc., have not been complied with, the purchaser is not prevented from setting up his defense that the commodity sold was unfit for fertilizing his crop, for which purpose it had been sold and bought. Swift & Company v. Aydlett, 192 N. C. 330, 135 S. E. 141.

Evidence of Deficiency.—In order to recover damages to the crops caused by the use of fertilizer containing harmful deficiency of its ingredients, contrary to the seller's warrant, this section, with its recent amendments, requires evidence of its analysis, showing the alleged deficiency, made by the State Agricultural Department, and whether sold upon a special contract, not waiving the benefit of the section, or under the protection of the section alone, such evidence is essential to defendant's recovery upon a counterclaim set up by him in plaintiff's action upon the note for the purchase price. Pearsall & Co. v. Eakins, 184 N. C. 291, 114 S. E. 291.

Differences in crops raised in several years may be shown by parol evidence in defending an action for the purchase price of fertilizer claimed to be deficient. Swift & Company v. Aydlett, 192 N. C. 330, 135 S. E. 141. And evidence of the effect of the fertilizer upon the crop is competent in an action upon the breach of warranty of sale. Guano Co. v. Live-Stock Co., 168 N. C. 442, 443, 84 S. E. 774.

The rule excluding evidence of the inferiority of fertilizers bought from the manufacturer and used in making the crop, unless the latter had had it analyzed by the State chemist, does not apply to evidence tending to show in this way that the fertilizer was valueless and not that which the manufacturer had contracted to sell. Swift & Company v. Aydlett, 192 N. C. 330, 135 S. E. 141.

While the certificate of the State Chemist showing an analysis of fertilizer is made prima facie evidence of the constituency of the fertilizer under this section such certificate is not admissible unless the samples of fertilizer are taken in accordance with the statute, but when objection to the admission of such certificate is withdrawn, error in its admission, if any, is cured, and Held, under the facts of this case, there was sufficient evidence of damage to crops from the use of such fertilizer to be submitted to the jury. Godwin v. Kennedy, 196 N. C. 244, 145 S. E. 220.

Same—Exclusion of Parol Evidence.—A contract for the sale of fertilizer specifying that the customer could only recover the difference between the contract price and the actual value of the goods in case of deficient analysis, to be determined by the State Agricultural Department from samples furnished by the customer, which analysis shall be conclusive as the best and only test, both by this section and the contract, excludes parol evidence as to the effect the fertilizer had upon the crop grown upon the land, or as to the fertilizer containing an injurious element which the analysis and certificate made by the State Chemist expressly excluded. Fertilizing Co. v. Thomas, 181 N. C. 274, 106 S. E. 835.

Measure of Damages.—See note to sec. 4695.

While the vendor and purchaser of a commodity may agree upon the rule or measure of damages in relation to the latter's recovery upon the former's breach of warranty, express or implied, it will not apply where the goods sold are entirely valueless, and the consideration for the contract has completely failed. Swift & Company v. Aydlett, 192 N. C. 330, 135 S. E. 141.

Application.—See note to sec. 4690.

§ 4698. Tax tags on shipments in bulk.—If any manufacturer, dealer, agent, or other seller of fertilizer shall desire to ship in bulk any fertilizer or fertilizer material to an amount of five tons or more, the said manufacturer or seller of fertilizer shall send with the bill of lading sufficient tax tags to pay the tax on the amount of goods, and the agent of the railroad or other transportation company shall deliver the tags to the consignee when the goods are delivered. The said shipper shall also notify the commissioner of agriculture of the points to and from which the goods are shipped and the date of forwarding: Provided, the analysis thereof and the source or sources from which the same are derived and the other regulations required of shippers in bags shall apply to the said shippers in bulk. (1917, c. 143, s. 8.)

§ 4699. Carriers to furnish statements of fertilizers transported.—It shall be lawful for the department of agriculture to require the officers, agents, or managers of any railroad, steamboat, or other transportation company transporting fertilizers or fertilizer material for delivery in this state to furnish monthly statements of the quantity of such fertilizers, with the names of the consignor and consignee, delivered on their respective lines at any and all points within the state; and the department is hereby empowered to compel such officers, agents, or managers to submit their books for examination, if found expedient to do so. Persons failing to furnish statements as required by this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., s. 3819; 1901, c. 479, s. 10; 1917, c. 143, s. 9.)

§ 4700. Forfeiture for unauthorized sale; release from forfeiture.—All fertilizers and fertilizer material sold or offered for sale contrary to the provisions of this article shall be subject to seizure, condemnation, and sale by the commissioner. The net proceeds of such sale shall be placed in the general fund of the department. The commissioner, however, may, in his discretion, release the fertilizers so seized and condemned upon payment of the required tax or charge, a fine of ten dollars, and all cost and expenses incurred by the department in any proceedings connected with such seizure and condemnation, and upon compliance with all other requirements of this article. (1917, c. 143, s. 10.)

§ 4701. Method of seizure and sale on forfeiture.—Such seizure and sale shall be made under the direction of the commissioner by any officer or agent of the department. The sale shall be made at the courthouse door in the county in which the seizure is made, after thirty days advertisement in some newspaper published in such county, or if no newspaper is published in such county, then by like advertisement in a newspaper published in the nearest county thereto having a newspaper. The advertisement shall state the brand or name of the goods, the quantity, and why seized and offered for sale. (1917, c. 143, s. 11.)

§ 4702. Inspection tax on fertilizer; tax tags.—For the purpose of defraying expenses connected with the inspection of fertilizers and fertilizer material in this state, there shall be paid to the department of agriculture a charge of twenty cents per ton on such fertilizers and fertilizer material, except that which is sold to a manufacturer for the sole purpose of use in the manufacture of fertilizers, for each fiscal year ending November thirtieth, which shall be paid before a delivery to agents, dealers, or consumers in this state; but the commissioner, with the advice and consent of the board, shall have discretion to exempt such natural material as may be deemed expedient. Each bag, barrel, or other package of such fertilizer or fertilizer material shall have attached thereto a tag stating that all charges specified in this section have been paid, and the commissioner, with the advice and consent of the board, is hereby empowered to prescribe a form of such tags, and to adopt such regulations as will insure the enforcement of this law. Whenever any manufacturer of fertilizer or fertilizer material shall have paid the charges required by this section his goods shall not be liable to further tax, whether by city, town, or county: Provided, this shall not exempt from ad valorem tax. (1917, c. 143, s. 12.)

Action to Secure Tax Wrongfully Collected.—The Board of Agriculture is a department of the State Government, and an action against it to recover money alleged to have been wrongfully collected by it as a license tax cannot be maintained, the State not having given its consent to be sued in that respect. Lord, etc., Chemical Co. v. Board, 111 N. C. 135, 15 S. E. 1032.

Property Tax.—This section will not be so construed as to relieve manufacturers of fertilizers or fertilizing material, paying this inspection tax, from the payment of property tax required by the Constitution. Pocomoke Guano Co. v. Biddle, 158 N. C. 212, 73 S. E. 996.

§ 4703. Sale without tag; misuse of tag; penalty; forfeiture.—Every merchant, trader, manufacturer, broker, or agent who shall sell or offer for sale any commercial fertilizer or fertilizer material without having attached thereto such labels, stamps, and tags as are required by law, or who shall use the required tags a second time to avoid the payment of the tonnage charge, and every person who shall aid in the fraudulent selling or offering for sale of any such fertilizer, shall be liable to a penalty of the price paid the manufacturer for each separate bag, barrel, or package sold, or offered for sale, or removed, to be recovered by the commissioner of agriculture by suit brought in the name of the state, and any amount so recovered shall be paid, one-half to the informer and one-half to the state treasurer for the use of the department of agriculture. If any such fertilizer shall be condemned as provided by law, it shall be the duty of the department to have an analysis made of the same and cause printed tags or labels expressing the true chemical ingredients thereof to be put upon each bag, barrel, or package, and shall fix the commercial value at which it may be sold. It shall be unlawful for any person to sell or offer for sale or remove any such fertilizer, or for any agent of any railroad or other transportation company to deliver any such fertilizer in violation of this section, and any person who shall sell or offer for sale or remove any fertilizer in violation of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., ss. 3820, 3822; 1901, c. 479, ss. 5, 8; 1917, c. 143, s. 13; 1919, c. 13, s. 3.)

Constitutionality.—This section is not in conflict with the constitution. Goodwin v. Fertilizer Works, 119 N. C. 120, 25 S. E. 795.

The penalty is restricted to those who "shall sell or offer for sale" without complying with the terms of the statute. It has no application against the purchaser who buys for his own use. Johnson v. Carson, 161 N. C. 371, 77 S. E. 307.

Party Plaintiff.—Under this section the person suing for the penalty, and not the Department of Agriculture or the State, is the proper party plaintiff. Goodwin v. Fertilizer Works, 119 N. C. 120, 25 S. E. 795.

Judicial Notice of Violation of Section.—Courts will take judicial notice of the violation of the provisions of this article and upon allegation and proof thereof permit recovery, though not specially pleaded. Carson v. Bunting, 154 N. C. 530, 70 S. E. 923.

For sufficiency of indictment for the violation of this section, see State v. Oil Co., 154 N. C. 635, 70 S. E. 741.

Art. 2A. Insecticides and Fungicides

§ 4703(a). Rules and standards.—The department of agriculture shall have power to make rules, regulations and adopt standards to carry out the designs and purposes of this article. (1927, c. 53, s. 1.)

§ 4703(b). Registration.—Before any manufacture or dealer shall sell, offer or expose for sale in this State any paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide he shall register with the Department of Agriculture the name of each brand of said preparation, the name and address of the manufacturer or dealer, the minimum per cent of each and every toxic chemical or compound present, and the specific name of each active ingredient used in its manufacture and the weight of the packages in which the material is packed. The words "paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate and other insecticides and fungicides" mentioned and used in this article, shall apply only to insecticides and fungicides used on cotton, tobacco, all field crops, gardens, orchards, fruits, etc., for the control or destruction of insect life and fungus diseases. (1927, c. 53, s. 2.)

§ 4703(c). Labels to be affixed.—Every lot, package or parcel of paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate, or any other insectitude or fungicide, offered or exposed for sale within this State, shall have affixed thereto a tag or label, in a conspicious place on the outside thereof containing a legible and plainly printed statement in the English language clearly and truly certifying

(a) the net weight of the lot, package or parcel;

(b) the name, brand or trademark;

(c) the name and address of the manufacturer, importer, jobber, firm, association, corporation dealer or person, etc., responsible for placing the commodity on the market;

(d) the minimum per cent of each and every toxic chemical or compound present.

(e) the specific name of each active ingredient used in its manufacture. (1927, c. 53, s. 3.)

§ 4703(d). Refusal and cancellation of registration.—The Commissioner shall have the power to refuse to register any paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide under a name, brand or trademark, which would be misleading or deceptive. Should any paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide be registered in the State and it is afterward discovered that such registration is in violation of any of the provisions of this article, the Commissioner shall cancel such registration. (1927, c. 53, s. 4.)

§ 4703(e). Tax per hundred pounds.—All manufacturers and dealers, for the purpose of defraying the expenses connected with the enforcement of this act, shall pay to the Department of Agriculture the sum of ten cents per hundred pounds for paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate and all other insecticides and fungicides, manufactured for sale or sold in this State. (1927, c. 53, s. 5.)

§ 4703(f). Tax stamps.—Manufacturers and dealers who have registered their brands in compliance with section 4703(b) of this article, shall forward to the Commissioner a request for tax stamps, stating that the said stamps are to be used on brands of paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide registered and sold in accordance with this article and said request shall be accompanied with the inspection tax, whereupon it shall be the duty of the Commissioner to issue stamps to parties applying who shall attach said stamps to each lot, package or parcel, at shipping or selling point. All manufacturers and dealers are hereby forbidden to attach stamps described by this section to any lot, package or parcel of paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide which has not been previously registered as required in section 4703(b) and which is not in accordance with all the provisions of this article. The Department of Agriculture is hereby empowered to adopt a form for said stamps. (1927, c. 53, s. 6.)

§ 4703(g). Sales in small packages.—It shall not be required of manufacturers or dealers to place upon or attach to any package of paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any insecticide or fungicide a tax stamp when sold in packages weighing five pounds or less. (1927, c. 53, s. 7; 1929, c. 196, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—Prior to the amendment this section applied when the packages weighed less than one pound.

§ 4703(h). Statement mailed; what shown.—Every manufacturer and dealer who has registered paris green, calcium arsenate or lead arsenate or any poisonous insecticide or fungicide for sale within the state of North Carolina shall mail to the commissioner on forms provided by the commissioner, within forty-eight hours of each sale, shipment or delivery into or within North Carolina, a statement showing the official name of the insecticide or fungicide, the guaranteed analysis, the quantity and the name and address of the purchaser to whom sold, and the initials and numbers of the car, if sold in car lots. (1927, c. 53, s. 8; 1933, c. 233.)

Editor's Note.—Public Laws of 1933, c. 233, substituted the word "poisonous" for the word "other" between the words "any" and "insecticide."

§ 4703(i). Entrance for inspection or sampling; analysis.—The Commissioner in person, or by deputy, shall have the power to enter into any car, warehouse, store, building, boat, vessel or place supposed to contain insecticides or fungicides, for the purpose of inspection or sampling, and shall have the power to take samples for analysis from any lot, package or parcel of insecticides or fungicides. It shall be unlawful for any person to oppose entrance of said Commissioner or deputy, or in any way interfere with the discharge of his duty. All analyses shall be made by the official methods of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists of the United States, and shall be made by chemists of the Department of Agriculture. (1927, c. 53, s. 9.)

§ 4703(j). Use of stamp a second time; adulterated and misbranded articles; injunction.—It shall be unlawful for any manufacturer or dealer to sell or offer for sale any paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate, or any other insecticides or fungicides without having attached thereto such tax stamps as are required by law, or, to use the required tax stamp a second time to avoid the payment of the tax, or, to sell adulterated or misbranded paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate, or any other insecticides and fungicides. Paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate and all other insecticides and fungicides shall be deemed to be misbranded if it carries any false or misleading statement upon or attached to the lot, package or parcel, or, if any false or misleading statements concerning its value are made on the lot, package or parcel, or in any printed advertising matter issued by the manufacturer or dealer that registered paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate, or any other insecticide or fungicide, or if the number of net pounds set forth upon the package, lot, or parcel is not correct. It shall be the duty of the Attorney-General when requested by the Commissioner, to institute suit to enjoin any manufacturer, or dealer, resident or non-resident, from manufacturing or selling or soliciting orders for the sale of paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate, or any other insecticide or fungicide, for use in this State without complying with all the provisions in this act, which injunction may be issued without bond or advance cost. (1927, c. 53, s. 10.)

§ 4703(k). Seizure of articles.—Any paris green, calcium arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide sold, offered or exposed for sale within this State in violation of any provisions of the article shall be liable to seizure at the instance of the Commissioner. Upon complaint being filed by the Commissioner in person or by duly authorized deputy, with any district judge or a justice of the peace, describing the paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide and the place where it is believed paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide is sold, offered or exposed for sale in violation of the law, such district judge or justice of the peace shall issue his warrant directing the sheriff or any of his deputies to search such place, and if the law is being violated to seize the paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate, or any other insecticide or fungicide, and it shall be the duty of the officer to whom such warrant is delivered to search the place described in the warrant and to seize all paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide found there in violation of the law, and if the admission into such place is refused, the officer executing said warrant is hereby authorized to force open the same. If it shall appear at the hearing before the district judge or a justice of the peace, who issued said writ, that the paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate, or any other insecticide or fungicide was sold, exposed or offered for sale in violation of any provisions of this article, said paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide shall be condemned and delivered to an officer or agent of the Commissioner, to be destroyed or to be sold at his discretion. The sale shall be made at the court-house in the county in which the seizure is made. Said paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide shall be sampled and subjected to analysis if necessary or tagged, or branded and otherwise brought into compliance with the requirements of this article, before being sold. The Commissioner, however, may, in his discretion, release the paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide seized or condemned upon the payment of the required tax or charge and all costs and expenses incurred in any proceedings connected with such seizure and condemnation, and upon compliance with all other requirements of this article. (1927, c. 53, s. 11.)

§ 4703(l). Copy of analysis in evidence.—A copy of the analysis made by any chemist of the Department of Agriculture of any paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide certified to by him shall be admissible as evidence in any court of the State on trial of any issue involving the merits of the insecticides and fungicides covered by this article. (1927, c. 53, s. 12.)

§ 4703(m). Articles in transit.—Nothing contained in this article shall interfere with paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide or fungicide passing through the State in transit nor shall apply to the delivery of materials to manufacture paris green, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate or any other insecticide of fungicide for manufacturing purposes. (1927, c. 53, s. 13.)

§ 4703(n). Violation of act.—Any manufacturer or dealer violating any provision or section in this article or any rule, regulation or standard of the Department of Agriculture promulgated under this article shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than fifty dollars nor more than two hundred and fifty dollars for each offense. (1927, c. 53, s. 14.)

§ 4703(o). Effect of decision of unconstitutionality.—If any clause, sentence, paragraph, or part of this article, shall, for any reason, be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such judgment shall not affect, impair, or invalidate the remainder of this article, but shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, paragraph, or any part thereof, directly involved in the controversy in which such judgment has been rendered. (1927, c. 53, s. 15.)

Art. 3. Cotton-Seed Meal

§ 4704. Cotton-seed meal defined; inspection tax.—Cotton-seed meal is a product of the cotton seed only, composed principally of the kernel with such portion of the fiber or hull and oil as may be left in the course of manufacture of cotton-seed oil, and when sold for use as fertilizer or feed shall be subject to an inspection tax of twenty cents per ton and be subject to inspection as other fertilizers or fertilizing materials, unless sold to manufacturers for use in manufacturing fertilizers or feed. (1917, c. 242, s. 1.)

§ 4705. Bags to be branded with specified particulars.—All cotton-seed meal offered for sale, unless sold to manufacturer for use in manufacturing fertilizers or feed, shall have plainly branded on the bag containing it, or on the tag attached thereto, the following data:

1. Cotton-seed meal (with brand and grade).

2. Weight of package.
3. Ammonia and protein.
4. Name and address of manufacturer. (1917, c. 242, s. 2.)

What Constitutes "Unlawful Removal."—Under this and following sections unlawful removal relates to those who "sell or offer for sale any cotton-seed meal without having the proper tags attached," and not the farmer, for whom protection the statutes were enacted, so as to make him liable for removing from the depot bags of cotton-seed meal, to be used under his crops, and which had been brought by and shipped him for that purpose. Johnson v. Carson, 161 N. C. 372, 77 S. E. 307.

Penalty.—Violation of this section subjects the seller to penalty prescribed by section 4703. Carson v. Bunting, 154 N. C. 530, 70 S. E. 923.

§ 4706. Grades and standards established.—No person, firm, or corporation shall offer for sale any cotton-seed meal except as provided in the preceding section, graded and classed as follows:

1. Prime cotton-seed meal by analysis must contain at least seven and one-half per cent of ammonia or thirty-eight and fifty-six one-hundredths per cent of protein.

2. Good cotton-seed meal by analysis must contain at least seven per cent of ammonia, or thirty-six and no one-hundredths per cent of protein.

3. Ordinary cotton-seed meal by analysis must contain at least six and one-half per cent of ammonia, or thirty-three and forty-four hundreths per cent of protein. (1917, c. 242, s. 3.)

The purpose of these sections is to promote agriculture by insuring the sale of fertilizers containing plant food in certain proportions and of sufficient quality and quantity and to protect those who cultivate the soil from imposition and fraud. State v. Faulkner, 175 N. C. 787, 789, 95 S. E. 171.

§ 4707. Rules to enforce statute; misdemeanor.—The board of agriculture is empowered and directed to make such rules and regulations as are necessary to a proper carrying into effect of the provisions of this article, and to provide for all such tags as manufacturers may demand, upon paying the tax therefor. Any person wilfully violating any of the regulations made by the board of agriculture in connection with the provisions of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1917, c. 242, s. 4.)

§ 4708. Sales without tag; misuse of tag; penalty; forfeiture.—Every merchant, trader, manufacturer, or agent who shall sell or offer for sale any cotton-seed meal without having attached thereto such labels, stamps, and tags as are required by law, or who shall use the required tag a second time to avoid the payment of the tonnage charge, and every person who shall aid in the fraudulent selling or offering for sale of any cotton-seed meal, shall be liable to a penalty of the price paid the manufacturer for each separate bag, barrel, or package sold, offered for sale, or removed, to be recovered by the commissioner of agriculture by suit brought in the name of the state, and any amount so recovered shall be paid one-half to the informant and one-half to the state treasurer for the use of the department of agriculture. If any such cotton-seed meal shall be condemned, as provided by law, it shall be the duty of the department to have an analysis made of the same; cause printed tags or labels expressing the proper grade to be put upon each bag, barrel, or package, and shall fix the commercial value at which it may be sold; and it shall be unlawful for any person to sell, offer for sale, or remove any such cotton-seed meal, or for any agent of any railroad or other transportation company to deliver any such cotton-seed meal in violation of this section. (1917, c. 242, s. 4.)

See notes to section 4705, as to damages, see notes to section 4695.

§ 4709. Sales contrary to act a misdemeanor.—Any person, firm, or corporation who shall sell or offer for sale or shall act as agent of or broker for the manufacturer of or dealer in any cotton-seed meal contrary to the provisions above set forth shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Rev., 3814; 1917, c. 242, s. 5; 1919, c. 13, s. 2.)

In General. — The fact that neither knowledge of the defect nor an intent to defraud is made an element in the criminal offense is strong reason for confining the statute to the manufacturer, who should be held to have knowledge of the composition of the fertilizer he offers for sale, and to the owner, not a manufacturer, and his agent with authority to sell, who have the opportunity to test the fertilizer before they sell it. State v. Faulkner, 175 N. C. 787, 790, 95 S. E. 171.

For violation of this section, see State v. Oil Co., 154 N. C. 635, 70 S. E. 741.

§ 4710. Forfeiture for unauthorized sale; release from forfeiture.—All cotton-seed meal sold or offered for sale contrary to the provisions above set forth shall be subject to seizure, condemnation, and sale by the commissioner of agriculture. The net proceeds from such sale shall be placed in the general fund of the department and accounted for upon its books. The commissioner, however, shall have the discretion to release the meal so seized and condemned upon compliance with the law as set forth above and the payment of all costs and expenses incurred by the department in any proceedings connected therewith. (1917, c. 242, s. 5.)

§ 4711. Method of seizure and sale on forfeiture.—Such seizure and sale shall be made under the direction of the commissioner of agriculture by an officer or agent of the department; the sale to be made at the courthouse door in the county in which the seizure is made, after thirty days advertisement in some newspaper published in said county, or if no newspaper is published in said county, then by like advertisement in a newspaper published in the nearest county thereto having a newspaper. The advertisement shall state the grade of the meal, the quantity, why seized and offered for sale. (1917, c. 242, s. 5.)

§ 4712. Collection and analysis of samples.—The department of agriculture shall have the same authority and powers for taking and analyzing samples of cotton-seed meal as are provided in case of commercial fertilizers and fertilizer materials; and the same procedure as to law and regulations shall be followed in taking such samples of cotton-seed meal as are prescribed and followed for taking samples of fertilizer and fertilizer materials. (1919, c. 271.)

See section 4697, and notes.

§ 4713. Sales below guaranteed quality; duties of commissioner.—When the commissioner of agriculture shall be satisfied that any cotton-seed meal is five per cent below the guaranteed analysis, it shall be his duty to assess twice the value of said deficiency against the manufacturer, and if said cotton-seed meal shall fall as much as ten per cent below the guaranteed analysis it shall be his duty to assess three times the value of said meal and require that his findings of said deficiency be made good to all persons who, in the opinion of the commissioner, have purchased the said meal; and the commissioner may seize any meal belonging to said company, to the value of the deficiency, if the deficiency shall not be paid within thirty days after notice to the company. If the commissioner shall be satisfied that the deficiency in analysis was due to intention or fraud of the manufacturer, then the commissioner shall assess and collect from the manufacturer twice the amount above provided for and pay over the same to parties who purchased said meal. That if any manufacturer shall resist such collection or payment, the commissioner shall immediately publish the analysis and the facts in the bulletin and in such newspapers in the state as he may deem necessary. (1917, c. 242, s. 7.)

For a full discussion of this subject see notes to and cases cited under section 4697.

§ 4714. Adulteration prohibited.—It shall be unlawful for any manufacturer to adulterate cotton-seed meal in the process of manufacture or otherwise. (1917, c. 242, s. 8.)

Art. 4. Pulverized Limestone and Marl

§ 4715. Board of agriculture authorized to make and sell lime to farmers.—The North Carolina board of agriculture is authorized and directed, for the purpose of furnishing marl or limestone to the farmers of the state, to make such arrangements as they deem advisable for this purpose, and to this end may lease or purchase oyster shells in large quantities and beds of limestone, and erect machinery suitable for the preparation of the material for use by the farmers; and any lime so prepared and any by-products shall be sold for agricultural purposes to the citizens of the state at a reasonable cost which shall produce an amount of money sufficient to maintain and operate the plant. (1919, c. 182, s. 1.)

§ 4716. Convict labor authorized.—With the approval of the governor, when requested by the board of agriculture, the superintendent of the penitentiary may furnish a superintendent with a squad of able-bodied convicts, not to exceed fifty, to do such work as the commissioner, with the authority of the board, may deem necessary to mine, prepare, load and dispose of the material. The board shall pay the state quarterly such amount as shall be agreed upon by the superintendent of the penitentiary and the board of agriculture for their work, out of the proceeds of the sales, and the state shall guard, feed, clothe, and work such convicts: Provided, that after the first year's operations the expenses of the work shall not exceed the amount of the sales. (1919, c. 182, s. 2.)

§ 4717. Power to make regulations; reports required.—The board of agriculture is authorized to make all regulations necessary to execute the provisions of this article and shall report annually to the governor and furnish him itemized statements of the receipts and expenditures, which shall be published in the report of the commissioner of agriculture to the legislature. (1919, c. 182, s. 3.)

§ 4718. Analyses and guaranty.—All pulverized limestone and marl sold or offered for sale for agricultural purposes in the state shall have the analyses guaranteed by the manufacturers. These analyses shall show the percentage of calcium carbonate and the percentage of magnesium carbonate in the finished product. (1919, c. 182, ss. 4, 5.)

§ 4719. Percentage of carbonates required.—Limestone or marl offered or exposed for sale to the farmers of the state for agricultural purposes must show an average of at least seventy per cent calcium carbonate; domolitic limestone at least fifty per cent calcium carbonate; and a total carbonates equivalent of not less than eighty per cent; and shell marl at least sixty per cent calcium carbonate. (1919, c. 182, s. 6.)

§ 4721. Manufacturers to register and file statement of analysis.—All manufacturers of ground limestone and marl who shall offer any of their goods for sale in this state shall annually register with the commissioner of agriculture, along with a statement of the analysis of the finished product, a statement showing the name and general average composition of the raw material—limestone, domolitic limestone, marl, etc., from which the finished product is manufactured. (1919, c. 182, s. 8.)

§ 4722. Inspection of factories and shipped products.—The commissioner and board of agriculture are authorized, empowered and directed to inspect all quarries, grinderies, and other places of manufacture, as well as all consignments of pulverized limestone and marl shipped into North Carolina for agricultural purposes, with a view to enforcing the provisions of this article. (1919, c. 182, s. 9.)

§ 4723. Violation of article a misdemeanor.—All persons or firms failing to register their goods before the first of July each year, or failing to comply with the provisions of this article, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, on conviction, shall be fined not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars for the first offense, and not less than one hundred dollars for each subsequent offense. (1919, c. 182, s. 10.)

Art. 5. Commercial Feeding Stuffs

§ 4724. Packages to be marked with statement of specified particulars.—Every lot or parcel of concentrated commercial feeding stuff sold, offered or exposed for sale within this state shall have affixed thereto or printed thereon, in a conspicuous place on the outside thereof, a legible and plainly printed statement in the English language clearly and truly certifying the weight of the package; the name, brand, or trade-mark under which the article is sold; the name and address of the manufacturer, jobber, or importer; the names of each and all ingredients of which the article is composed; a guarantee that the contents are pure and unadulterated, and a statement of the maximum percentage it contains of crude fiber, and the percentage of crude fat, and the percentage of crude protein, and the percentage of carbohydrates, allowing one per cent of nitrogen to equal six and one-fourth per cent of protein, all four constituents to be determined by the methods in use at the time by the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists of the United States. (1909, c. 149, s. 1.)

Implied Warranty.—Under the provisions of sections 4724, 4726, 4731, there is an implied warranty that foodstuff sold for cattle is reasonably fit for the purpose intended, and that it is not composed of harmful or deleterious substances that will produce injury or death to the cattle fed therewith. Poovy v. International Sugar Co., 191 N. C. 722, 133 S. E. 12.

§ 4725. Weight of packages prescribed.—All concentrated commercial feeding stuffs shall be in standard-weight bags or packages of twenty-five, fifty, seventy-five, one hundred, one hundred twenty-five, one hundred fifty, one hundred seventy-five, and two hundred pounds. (1909, c. 149, s. 1.)

§ 4726. "Concentrated commercial feeding stuffs" defined.—The term "concentrated commercial feeding stuffs" shall be held to include all feeds used for live stock and poultry, except hays, straws, and corn stover, when the same are not mixed with other materials, nor shall it apply to the whole seeds or grains of cereals when not mixed with other materials. (1909, c. 149, s. 2.)

See cases cited under section 4724.

§ 4727. Copy of statement and sample filed for registration.—Each and every manufacturer, importer, jobber, agent, or seller, before selling, offering or exposing for sale in this state any concentrated commercial feeding stuff, shall, for each and every feeding stuff bearing a distinguished name or trade-mark, file for registration with the commissioner of agriculture a copy of the statement required in section 4724 above, and accompany said statement, on request, by a sealed glass jar or bottle containing at least one pound of such feeding stuff to be sold, exposed or offered for sale, which sample shall correspond within reasonable limits to the feeding stuff which it represents in the percentages of crude protein, crude fat, crude fiber, and carbohydrates which it contains. (1909, c. 149, s. 3.)

§ 4728. Agent released by statement of manufacturer.—When a manufacturer, importer, or jobber of any concentrated commercial feeding stuffs files a statement, as required by the preceding section, no agent or seller of such manufacturer, importer, or jobber, shall be required to file such statement. (1909, c. 149, s. 4.)

§ 4729. Power to refuse or to cancel registration.—The commissioner of agriculture shall have the power to refuse the registration of any concentrated commercial feeding stuff under a name which would be misleading as to the materials of which it is composed, or when the names of each and all ingredients of which it is composed, are not stated, or where it does not comply with the standards and rulings adopted by the board of agriculture. Should any concentrated commercial feeding stuffs be registered and it is afterwards discovered that they are in violation of any of the provisions of this article the commissioner of agriculture shall have the power to cancel such registration. (1909, c. 149, s. 5.)

§ 4730. Inspection tax on feeding stuffs; tax tags.—Each and every manufacturer, importer, jobber, agent, or seller of any concentrated commercial feeding stuff, as defined above in this article, shall pay to the commissioner of agriculture an inspection tax of twenty cents per ton for each ton of such commercial feeding stuff sold, offered or exposed for sale or distributed in this state, and shall affix to or accompany each car shipped in bulk, and to each bag, barrel, or other package of such concentrated commercial feeding stuff, a tag or stamp to be furnished by the commissioner of agriculture stating that all charges specified in this section have been paid: Provided, whenever any concentrated commercial feeding stuff, as herein above defined, is kept for sale in bulk, stored in bins or otherwise, the manufacturer, dealer, jobber, or importer keeping the same for sale shall keep on hand cards of proper size, upon which the statement required in section 4724 is plainly printed; and if the feeding stuff is sold at retail in bulk, or if it is put up in packages belonging to the purchaser, the manufacturer, dealer, jobber, or importer shall furnish the purchaser with one of said cards upon which is or are printed the statement or statements described in this section, together with sufficient tax tags or stamps to cover same: Provided, that the inspection tax of twenty cents per ton shall not apply to whole seeds and grains when not mixed with other materials. It is further provided that, upon demand, said inspection tags or stamps shall be redeemed by the department issuing said tags or stamps, upon surrender of same, accompanied by an affidavit that the same have not been used: Provided, said tags or stamps shall be returned for redemption within the time fixed by the board of agriculture: Provided further, that nothing in this article shall be construed to restrict or prohibit the sale of concentrated commercial feeding stuff in bulk to each other by importers, manufacturers, or manipulators who mix concentrated commercial feeding stuff for sale. The commissioner of agriculture is hereby empowered to prescribe the form of such tax tags or stamps. (1909, c. 149, s. 6.)

Feeding Stuff below Grade and without Bags.—Upon a purchase of feeding stuff, below grade and without tags it is the duty of the purchaser to do what he reasonably can to lessen his loss, and the measure of his damages is the difference in value of the goods as it actually is and which it should have been under his contract, and such other expenses as were actually incurred by him in handling it. Jenentte & Co. v. Hay etc., Co., 158 N. C. 156, 157, 73 S. E. 884.

The commissioner of agriculture, however, may in his discretion release the feeding stuff so withdrawn when the requirements of the provisions of this article have been complied with, and upon payment of all costs and expenses incurred by the department of agriculture in any proceedings connected with such seizure and withdrawal. § 4733. Collection and analysis of sample.—The commissioner of agriculture, together with his deputies, agents, and assistants, shall have free access to all places of business, mills, buildings, carriages, cars, vessels, and packages of whatsoever kind used in the manufacture, importation, or sale of any concentrated commercial feeding stuff, and shall have power and authority to open any package containing or supposed to contain any concentrated commercial feeding stuff, and, upon tender and full payment of the selling price of said samples, to take therefrom, in the manner hereinafter prescribed, samples for analysis; and he shall annually cause to be analyzed at least one sample so taken of every concentrated commercial feeding stuff that is found, sold, or offered or exposed for sale in this state under the provisions of this article. Said sample, not less than one pound in weight, shall be taken from not less than ten bags or packages, or if there be less than ten bags or packages, then the sample shall be taken from each bag or package, if it be in bag or package form, or if such feeding stuff be in bulk, then it shall be taken from ten different places of the lot. The sample or samples taken shall be kept a reasonable length of time by the department of agriculture, and on demand a portion of such sample or samples shall be furnished to the manufacturer, importer, or jobber of his feeds for examination by the chemists or other experts of said manufacturer, importer, or jobber. The department of agriculture is hereby authorized to publish from time to time in reports or bulletins the results of the analysis of such sample or samples, together with such additional information as circumstances advise: Provided, however, that if such sample or samples as analyzed differ from the statement prescribed in section 4724 above, then, at least thirty days before publishing the results of such analysis, written notice sall be given of such results to the manufacturer, importer, agent, or jobber of such stock, if the name and address of such manufacturer, jobber, or importer be known: Provided further, that if the analysis of any such sample does not differ within reasonable limits from the statement prescribed in section 4724 above appearing upon the goods, the manufacturer shall be considered as having complied with the requirements of this article. (Rev., s. 3808; 1909, c. 149, s. 9.)

§ 4736. Refusal to comply with the article or hindering its enforcement.—Any manufacturer, importer, jobber, agent, or dealer who refuses to comply with the requirements of the provisions of this article, or any manufacturer, importer, jobber, agent, or dealer or person who shall impede, obstruct, hinder, or otherwise prevent any chemist, inspector, or other authorized agent in the performance of his duty in connection with the provisions of this article, shall be guilty of a violation of such provisions. (1917, c. 241, s. 8; 1929, c. 194, s. 8.)

§ 4819. Standard of purity; test.—No standard of purity shall be maintained for vegetable seeds [or] flower seeds, but each package must show on the tag or label the exact nature of its contents. (1917, c. 241, s. 9; 1921 c. 235, s. 2; 1929, c. 194, s. 9; 1935, c. 380, s. 3.)

Editor's Note.—Under this section, it was formerly required that the seeds have a "reasonable percentage of viability," vesting the power to determine what is a "reasonable percentage of viability" in the commissioner of agriculture. The change was effected by Public Laws 1921, ch. 235.

Public Laws of 1935 directs that the words "flower seeds" be inserted after the words "vegetable seeds." The word "or" appearing in brackets was inserted by the editor for the sake of clarity.

§ 4822. Withdrawal of seeds lacking viability.—Seed not having a reasonable viability, or that are extremely impure, notwithstanding they may be properly labeled, shall be withdrawn from sale when, in the opinion of the commissioner, such withdrawal is in the interest of normal crop production. (1917, c. 241, s. 12; 1929, c. 194, s. 12.)

§ 4823. Procurement and analysis of samples.—It shall be the duty of the said commissioner, either by himself or his duly authorized agents, to inspect, examine, and make analysis of and test any agricultural or vegetable or flower seeds sold, offered or exposed for sale or distribution within the State for seeding purposes, at such time and place and to such extent as he may determine. The commissioner and his agents shall have free access, at all reasonable hours, upon and into any premises or structures to make examination of any agricultural seeds, whether such seeds are upon the premises of the owner or consignee of such seeds or on the premises or in the possession of any warehouse, elevator, railroad or steamship company; and he is hereby given authority in person, or by his analysts, inspectors, or assistants, upon notice to the dealer, his agent, or the representative of any warehouse, elevator, railroad, or steamship company, if present, to take for analysis a composite sample of such agricultural or vegetable seeds from a parcel, package, or lot or other container, or number of parcels, packages, lots, or other containers. Said sample shall be thoroughly mixed and divided into two samples of at least two ounces each and securely sealed. One of said samples shall be left with or on the premises of the vendor, or party in interest, and the other retained by said commissioner, or analyst or agent, for analysis.

§ 4824. Publication of results.—It shall be the duty of the Commissioner of Agriculture to publish, or cause to be published, at the end of the year, the results of the examinations and tests made of any samples of agricultural or vegetable seeds, or mixtures of agricultural seeds, received from private individuals, or drawn as provided for in section twelve, together with any other information he may deem advisable: Provided, that the rules for analysis shall conform to the best known methods of examining and testing agricultural and vegetable seeds. (1917, c. 241, s. 14; 1929, c. 194, s. 14.)

§ 4828. Notice of charge to accused; hearing; duty of attorney-general.—No prosecutions for violations of this article, if such violations are based on tests or analysis, shall be instituted except in the manner following: When the commissioner of agriculture finds that this article has been violated, as shown by test examination or analysis, he shall give notice to the person or firm in whose hands the seeds were found, designating a time and place for a hearing. This hearing shall be private, and the person or firm involved shall have the right to introduce evidence, either in person, by agent or attorney. Editor's Note.—Formerly, under this section, the privilege of having samples tested free of charge was extended only to citizens not in the business of selling seeds, the latter being required to pay a fee of fifty cents for each sample tested, and no provision was made for individuals or firms outside the state. The change was effected by Public Laws 1921, ch. 235.

Out of the proceeds of the sale the sheriff shall pay the cost of publishing the notices of the tick eradication process, including dipping, cost of feeding and caring for the animals and cost of the sale which shall include one dollar and fifty cents in the case of each sale to said sheriff. The surplus, if any, shall be paid to the owner of the animal if he can be ascertained. If he cannot be ascertained within thirty days after such sale, then the sheriff shall pay such surplus to the county treasurer for the benefit of the public school fund of the county: Provided, however, that if the owner of the animal shall, within twelve months after the fund is turned over to the county treasurer, as aforesaid, prove to the satisfaction of the board of county commissioners of the county that he was the owner of such animal, then, upon the order of said board, such surplus shall be refunded to the owner. § 4895(22). Application of law.—This law shall not apply for the year of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five to such cities, towns or counties as may now have a law similar to this law. Nor shall any owner, who can present to the rabies inspector absolute proof that his dog, or dogs, have been vaccinated for the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five prior to the enactment of this law be required to again vaccinate his dog, or dogs, for said year. (1935, c. 122, s. 22.)

§ 4895(23). Violation made misdemeanor.—Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this law or any provision of any regulation of quarantine established thereunder shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be subject to a fine of not less than ten ($10.00) dollars or more than fifty ($50.00) dollars, or to imprisonment of not less than ten (10) days or more than thirty (30) days in the discretion of the court. (1935, c. 122, s. 23.)

§ 4895(24). Present dog tax limited. — No county, city or town shall levy any additional taxes on dogs other than the tax now levied. (1935, c. 122, s. 24.)

§ 4895(25). Funds for initial set up and temporary administration of law.—The department of agriculture is hereby authorized, with the approval of the budget bureau, to incur and pay out of the available agricultural fund, not otherwise appropriated, such sums as may be necessary to provide for the initial set up and temporary administration of the rabies law authorized by the general assembly of North Carolina to be administered by the department of agriculture. Any money collected under the provisions of this law in excess of the cost of operations and enforcement shall become a part of the agricultural fund of the State of North Carolina. (1935, c. 190.)

Art. 16. Crop Pests

§ 4896. Crop pest commission.—The board of agriculture shall be the crop pest commission. (1909, c. 90, s. 1.)

§ 4897. Powers and duties of commission; establish regulations.—The board of agriculture shall, from time to time, as it may deem necessary, prepare and publish a list of dangerous crop pests, known to be within the state, or liable to be introduced, and shall also publish methods for exterminating such pests as it may deem capable of being economically exterminated, for repressing such as cannot be economically exterminated, and for preventing their spread within the state. It may also adopt regulations not inconsistent with the laws or constitutions of this state and of the United States, for preventing the introduction of dangerous crop pests from without the state, and for governing common carriers in transporting plants liable to harbor such pests to and from the state; which regulations shall have the force of law. Any violation of any such regulations shall be a misdemeanor, and the person violating the same shall upon conviction be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court. (Rev., s. 3980; 1897, c. 264, s. 2; 1909, c. 90, s. 1.)

§ 4898. Crop pests declared nuisance; method of abatement.—No person shall knowingly and wilfully keep upon his premises any plant infested by any dangerous crop pest, listed and published as such by the board of agriculture, or permit dangerous weed pests to mature seed or otherwise multiply upon his land, except under such regulations as the board of agriculture may prescribe. All such infested plants and premises are hereby declared public nuisances. The owner of such plants or premises shall, when notified to do so by the board of agriculture, take such measures as may be prescribed to eradicate such pests. If such action is not taken, or is improperly executed within ten days after such notification, the board of agriculture shall cause such premises to be freed from such pests by the best available method. The cost of such work shall be a lien upon the premises, and may be recovered, together with cost of action, before any court having jurisdiction. The notice shall be written and mailed to the usual or known address, or left at the ordinary place of business of the owner or his agent. No damages shall be awarded the owner of such premises for entering thereon and destroying or otherwise treating any infested plant or crop, when done by the order of the board of agriculture. (Rev., s. 3981; 1897, c. 264, s. 3; 1909, c. 90, s. 1.)

§ 4899. Right to enter and inspect premises.—Whenever the board of agriculture has reason to suspect that any pest, listed as dangerous, exists in any portion of the state, it shall cause an investigation to be made by some person capable of determining the specific identity of such pest, and, if it be found to exist, the board of agriculture shall further appoint a competent person as its agent to inspect such infested premises, and to take such measures for treating the same as the board may direct. Any duly authorized agent of the board of agriculture shall have authority to enter upon and inspect any premises between the hours of sunrise and sunset during every working day of the year. (Rev., s. 3982; 1897, c. 264, s. 4; 1909, c. 90, s. 1.)

§ 4900. Preventing inspection or hindering execution of article a misdemeanor.—If any one shall seek to prevent inspection of his premises as provided in the preceding section, or shall otherwise interfere with any agent of the commission, or board of agriculture while in performance of his duties under the preceding section, he shall, upon conviction, be fined not less than five nor more than fifty dollars for each offense, or may be imprisoned for not less than ten nor more than thirty days. (Rev., s. 3713; 1907, c. 876.)

See section 4688 par. 4.

§ 4900(a). Purchase of calcium arsenate for poisoning boll weevil.—The state commissioner of agriculture is authorized to purchase in the open markets, upon the best terms and prices obtainable, such amounts of calcium arsenate as in his judgment will be needed for use by the farmers of this state in poisoning the cotton boll weevil, and to store the same in state warehouses in the various towns and communities of the state in such quantities as in his judgment will be needed. (1923, c. 194, s. 1.)

§ 4900(b). Sales of calcium arsenate. — The commissioner of agriculture is authorized, either by himself or his agents, to sell for cash tc the farmers of North Carolina the said calcium arsenate. (1923, c. 194, s. 2.)

§ 4900(c). Purpose of preceding sections; resale at profit.—It is the avowed purpose of the two preceding sections that the calcium arsenate provided for herein is to be sold and delivered directly to the farmers of this state, at actual cost plus the actual cost of handling, and is not to be handled for speculative purposes, nor sold to dealers for resale at a profit; and any person or persons who shall purchase from the state commissioners of agriculture, calcium arsenate and resell the same at a greater price than actual cost shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction be punished by fine or imprisonment at the discretion of the court. The commissioner of agriculture is hereby authorized to use any funds not otherwise appropriated in putting into effect the provisions of this law, which shall only be in force for the years one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three and one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four. (1923, c. 194, ss. 3, 4.)

Art. 17. Cotton Grading

§ 4901. Federal standards recognized. — The standards or grades of cotton established or which may be hereafter established by the secretary of agriculture by virtue of acts of congress shall be recognized as the standards in transactions by and between citizens of this state in transactions relating to cotton. (1915, c. 23, s. 1.)

§ 4902. Duplicates of federal samples may be used. — The commissioner of agriculture shall obtain from the secretary of agriculture a duplicate of each of these samples as represent cotton produced in this state for the use of the citizens of the state who may desire to use them in settlement of any disputed transaction. (1915, c. 23, s. 2.)

§ 4903. Expert graders to be employed.—The North Carolina department of agriculture and the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering, acting together as provided in part 3 of article 1 of this chapter, entitled "Joint Committee on Agricultural Work," or separately, shall have authority to employ expert cotton graders to grade cotton in this state under such rules and regulations as they may adopt. The above institutions may seek the aid of the United States department of agriculture in the prosecution of this work, and shall have authority to enter into such contracts or arguments as shall be mutually agreeable in furtherance of the object and purpose of this article. (1915, c. 175, s. 1.)

§ 4904. County commissioners to coöperate.— Any board of commissioners of any county in North Carolina is authorized and empowered to coöperate with either, or both, of the above-named institutions in aid of the purposes of this article; and shall have authority to appropriate such sums of money as the said board shall deem wise and expedient. (1915, c. 175, s. 2.)

§ 4905. Grading done at owner's request; grades as evidence.— The expert grader employed by either of the above-named institutions, or by the United States government, shall have full right, power, and authority to grade any cotton in North Carolina upon the request of the owner of said cotton; and said graders shall grade and classify, agreeable to and in accordance with the standards or grades of cotton which are now or may hereafter be established by the secretary of agriculture by virtue of any act of congress. The grade, or classification, pronounced by said expert graders of all cotton graded by them shall be prima facie proof of the true grade or classification of said cotton, and shall be the basis of all cotton sales in this state. (1915, c. 175, s. 3.)

§ 4906. Grader's certificate admissible as evidence.—In the event of any dispute or trial pending in any of the courts of this state, the certificate of any expert grader, employed as above provided, and acknowledged or proven before any clerk of the superior court of any county in the state, shall be admissible in evidence as to the grade or classification of cotton graded or classified by said expert. (1915, c. 175, s. 4.)

§§ 4907 to 4925: Superseded by §§ 4925(a) to 4925(u).

§ 4925(a). Purpose of law.—In order to protect the financial interests of North Carolina by stimulating the development of an adequate warehouse system for our great staple crop, cotton, in order to enable growers of cotton more successfully to withstand and remedy periods of depressed prices, in order to provide a modern system whereby cotton may be more profitably and more scientifically marketed, and in order to give this important crop the standing to which it is justly entitled as collateral in the commercial world, a cotton warehouse system for the state of North Carolina is hereby established as hereinafter provided. (1921, c. 137, s. 1).

Editor's Note.—This section supersedes section 4907.

Proper Parties in Action to Enforce Section. — The governor of the state, the State Board of Agriculture, and the state warehouse superintendent are proper parties plaintiff in action against the members of the State Tax Commission to require them to provide and enforce the machinery for the collection of the tax provided by this article. Bickett v. Tax Commission, 177 N. C. 433, 99 S. E. 415.

For a full discussion of the purpose and application of the former sections, see Bickett v. Tax Commissions, 177 N. C. 433, 99 S. E. 415.

§ 4925(b). Board of agriculture administers law, makes rules, appoints superintendent.—The provisions of this article shall be administered by the state board of agriculture, through a suitable person to be selected by said board, and known as the state warehouse superintendent. In administering the provisions of this article the board of agriculture is empowered to make and enforce such rules and regulations as may be necessary to make effective the purposes and provisions of this act, and to fix and prescribe reasonable charges for storing cotton in the local warehouses and publish the same from time to time as they may deem necessary. (1921, c. 137, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—This section supersedes section 4908.

§ 4925(c). Employment of officers and assistants. — The board of agriculture shall have authority to employ a warehouse superintendent and necessary assistants, local managers, examiners, inspectors, expert cotton classers, and such other employees as may be necessary in carrying out the provisions of this article, and fix and regulate their salaries and duties. (1921, c. 137, s. 3).

Editor's Note.—This section supersedes section 4909.

Editor's Note.—This section supersedes section 4910.

Liability for Loss as Affected by Negligence.—The larceny or loss of the cotton from a warehouse through no fault of the warehouseman does not relieve the warehouseman's bond of liability for a warehouseman, is an insurer. Lacy v. Hartford Acci., etc., Co., 193 N. C. 179, 181, 136 S. E. 359.

Fraudulent Negotiation of Warehouse Receipt. — Where the superintendent of a warehouse delivers cotton, takes the endorsed receipts and instead of cancelling them negotiates a loan for his own benefit pledging the receipts as collateral, this is a clear breach of his duty for which an action on his bond will lie. Lacy v. Globe Indemnity Co., 189 N. C. 24, 126 S. E. 316.

§ 4925(e). Fund for support of system; collection and investment.—In order to provide a sufficient indemnifying or guarantee fund to cover any loss not covered by the bonds hereinbefore mentioned, in order to provide the financial backing which is essential to make the warehouse receipt universally acceptable as collateral, and in order to provide that a state warehouse system intended to benefit all cotton growers in North Carolina shall be supported by the class it is designed to benefit, it is hereby declared: That on each bale of cotton ginned in North Carolina during the period from the ratification of this bill until June thirty, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-two, twenty-five (25) cents shall be collected through the ginner of the bale and paid into the state treasury, to be held there as a special guarantee or indemnifying fund to safeguard the state warehouse system against any loss not otherwise covered. The state tax commission shall provide and enforce the machinery for the collection of this tax, which shall be held in the state treasury to the credit of the state warehouse system. Not less than ten per centum of the entire amount collected from the per bale tax shall be invested in United States government or farm loan bonds or North Carolina bonds, and the remainder may be invested in amply secured first mortgages to aid and encourage the establishment of warehouses operating under this system, such investments to be made by the board of agriculture with the approval of the governor and attorney-general: Provided such first mortgages shall be for not more than one-half the actual value of the warehouse property covered by such mortgages, and run not more than ten years: Provided further, that the interest received from all investments shall be available for the administrative expense of carrying into effect the provisions of this law, including the employment of such persons and such means as the state board of agriculture in its discretion may deem necessary: Provided further, that the guarantee fund, raised under the provisions of sections 4907 to 4925, shall become to all intents and purposes a part of guarantee fund to be raised under this law and subject to all the provisions hereof. (1921, c. 137, s. 5; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 28.)

Editor's Note.—This section supersedes section 4911.

Constitutionality of Taxation under Section. — The tax, contemplated under this section, being uniform upon those of the class designated, and being laid upon a trade, whether that of cotton ginning or farming, is within the authority conferred on the Legislature to further "tax trades," etc., and is constitutional. Bickett v. Tax Commissions, 177 N. C. 433, 99 S. E. 415.

Loss Due to Failure to Issue Receipt May Be Recovered from State Treasurer.—A recovery may not be had against the State Treasurer out of the fund accumulated under this section, for a loss resulting to plaintiff by failure of a warehouse to issue official receipts for cotton to plaintiff as agreed, the receipts having been issued to the holder of a lien against the cotton and the warehouse having refused delivery of the cotton to plaintiff upon his demand, since the purpose of the act is to make warehouse receipts acceptable as collateral, and plaintiff is not the holder of the receipts. Northcutt v. People's Bonded Warehouse Co., 206 N. C. 842, 175 S. E. 165. This case construes this section as it stood before the 1921 revision, but is applicable in its present form.—Ed. Note.

Recovery on Bond.—Where a warehouse superintendent fraudulently negotiates spent warehouse receipts and the bona fide holder thereof recovers from the indemnifying fund provided by this section, the state may recover on the bond of the superintendent. The bond is the fund primarily liable. Lacy v. Globe Indemnity Co., 189 N. C. 24, 126 S. E. 316.

§ 4925(f). Registration of gins; gin records and reports; payment of tax. — Each person, firm, partnership, or corporation undertaking, the business of operating a cotton gin within the state shall, before ginning any cotton grown in the years one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one and one thousand nine hundred and twenty-two, make application to the state commissioner of agriculture for a certificate of registration, which application shall show the number of the certificate, the name under which the gin is commonly known, the name of the owner and of the operator or manager, with postoffice address of each, and the township and county in which the gin is located. It shall be the duty of the commissioner of agriculture to require the registration of all gins operating within the state, and to furnish the said certificates of registration, numbered serially, free upon application; and each person, firm, partnership, or corporation receiving the said certificate of registration shall post it conspicuously in the gin to which it applies. For failure to make application and secure such certificate of registration, and to post same as required in this section, before beginning operation, each person, firm, partnership, or corporation, shall be subject to a penalty of five dollars ($5) for each and every day such gin shall be operated prior to securing and posting such certificate of registration. The penalty herein provided for shall be recovered by the state in a civil action to be brought by the state commissioner of agriculture in any court of competent jurisdiction, and it shall be the duty of the attorney-general to prosecute all such actions. Each person, firm, partnership, or corporation operating a gin shall keep a record, on forms furnished or approved by the commissioner of agriculture, showing the names and addresses of the owners of the cotton ginned, the number of bales ginned, and the date of each ginning; and each such operator of a gin shall report the number of bales ginned, and pay the tax levied in section 4925(e) to the state tax commission at least once every thirty days after beginning operation, and shall send a true copy of the report to the commissioner of agriculture. (1921, c. 137, s. 6.)

§ 4925(g). Qualifications of warehouse manager.—No man shall be employed as manager of a warehouse unless the members of the board of county commissioners and the president of some bank in the county in which the warehouse is operated shall certify to the state warehouse superintendent that the person desiring to be warehouse manager is in their opinion a man of good character, competent, and of good reputation, deserving the confidence of the people. (1921, c. 137, s. 7).

Editor's Note.—This section supersedes section 4912.

§ 4925(h). Warehouse superintendent to accept federal standards. — The state warehouse superintendent shall accept as authority the standards and classifications of cotton established by the federal government. (1921, c. 137, s. 8).

Editor's Note.—This section supersedes section 4915.

§ 4925(i). Duties of superintendent; manner of operating warehouse system.—The state warehouse superintendent shall have the power to lease for stated terms property for the warehousing of cotton: Provided, no rent shall be paid until the for stated terms property for the warehousing of leased shall have been paid from the income of the warehouse so leased, and in no case shall the state be responsible for any rent except from the income of such warehouse so leased in excess of operating expenses; and said superintendent shall fix the terms upon which private or corporate warehouses may obtain the benefits of state supervision and operation. And it shall be his especial duty to foster and encourage the erection of warehouses in the various cotton-growing counties of the state for operation under the terms of this law, and to provide an adequate system of inspection, and of rules, forms, and reports to insure the security of the system, such matters to be approved by the state board of agriculture. The violation of such rules by any officer of the system shall be a misdemeanor. Cotton may be stored in such warehouses by any person owning cotton, and receive all the benefits accruing from such state management; and the person herein permitted to store cotton in any such warehouse shall pay to the manager of the warehouse such sum or sums for rent or storage as may be agreed upon, subject to section 4925(b), by the manager and such person desiring to store cotton therein: Provided further, that, subject to the approval of the state warehouse superintendent and the local manager, but not to the exclusion of cotton offered for storage in accordance with this law, the storage of other commodities may be permitted in the warehouse, which storage of other commodities shall not otherwise be subject to this law: Provided further, that for such other commodities so stored as are graded and standardized in conformity with the grades and standards heretofore or hereafter to be promulgated by the board of agriculture acting under the provisions of the "An act to provide for the establishment of standard packages, grades, state brands, and for other purposes," the same being chapter three hundred twenty-five of the Public Laws of one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, negotiable warehouse receipts of form and design approved by the board of agriculture may be issued, such receipts in no way to be supported or guaranteed by the indemnifying fund provided for in section 4925(e). (1921, c. 137, s. 9.)

Editor's Note.—This section supersedes section 4916.

§ 4925(j). Power of superintendent to sue or to be sued; liability for tort.—The said superintendent shall also have the power to sue, or to be sued, in the courts of this state in his official capacity, but not as an individual, except in case of tort or neglect of duty, when the action shall be upon his bond. Suits may be brought in the county of Wake or in the county in which the cause of action arose. (1921, c. 137, s. 10.)

Editor's Note.—This section supersedes section 4917.

§ 4925(k). Cotton to be graded, stapled, and weighed; negotiable receipts; authentication of receipts.—As soon as possible after any lint cotton, properly baled, is received for storage, the local manager shall, if not previously done, have it graded and stapled by a federal or state classifier and legally weighed. Official negotiable receipts of the form and design approved by the board of agriculture shall be issued for such cotton under the seal and in the name of the state of North Carolina, stating location of warehouse, name of manager, the mark on said bale, weight, grade, and length of staple, so as to be able to deliver on surrender of the receipt the identical cotton for which it was given. Provided, on request of the depositor, a negotiable receipt may be issued omitting the statement of grade and staple; such receipt to be stamped on its face: "not graded or stamped on request of the depositor." The warehouse manager shall fill in the said receipt, which shall be signed by him and by the state warehouse superintendent or his duly authorized agent: Provided, that if the local manager cannot issue a negotiable receipt complete for such cotton, he shall issue a non-negotiable memorandum receipt therefor, said memorandum receipt to be taken up and marked "Canceled" by the local manager upon the delivery of the negotiable receipt issued for said cotton: Provided further, that if the official negotiable receipt be issued for cotton of which the manager is owner, either solely or jointly in common with others, the fact of such ownership must appear on the face of the receipt: Provided further, that no responsibility is assumed by the state warehouse system for fluctuations in weight due to natural causes. (1921, c. 137, s. 11; 1925, c. 225.)

Editor's Note.—This section supersedes section 4918 in part. The first proviso appearing in this section was inserted by the 1925 amendment.

Former section 4918, superseded by this section, specifically stated that official receipts would carry "absolute title to the cotton." It may thus be doubted whether official receipts could be issued in the name of the owner, when the cotton was encumbered by a lien. Northcutt v. People's Bonded Warehouse Co., 206 N. C. 842, 175 S. E. 165. Although this case construes former section 4918 it would seem applicable to the instant section.—Ed. Note.

Warehouseman as Insurer.—Where under a contract of bailment the bailee receives certain bales of cotton and stores them in his warehouse, under agreement to return the identical bales upon return of the warehouse receipts in the manner provided in the contract, the liability of the bailee is that of insurer, and it is liable in damages when it is prevented by theft from performing its contract, though without negligence on its part. Lacy v. Hartford Acci., etc., Co., 193 N. C. 179, 136 S. E. 359.

Same—Liabilty to State.—Under the provisions of the statute to provide improved marketing facilities for cotton, and the rules and regulations made by the State Board of Agriculture under section 4925(b), and the warehouse receipts, made negotiable by this section, the warehouseman's liability to the State after it has paid the bailor for his stolen cotton, or the one entitled by the proper transfer of the certificate, is not dependent upon the exercise of due care by the warehouseman, or the absence of negligence by its employees or agents, for within the intent and meaning of the statute the liability of the warehouseman is that of insurer. Lacy v. Hartford Acci., etc., Co., 193 N. C. 179, 136 S. E. 359.

§ 4925(l). Transfer of receipt; issuance and effect of receipt.—The official negotiable receipt issued under section 4925(k) for cotton so stored is to be transferable by written assignment and actual delivery, and the cotton which it represents to be deliverable only upon a physical presentation of the receipt, which is to be marked "Canceled," with date of cancellation, when the cotton is taken from the warehouse. The said official negotiable receipt carries absolute title to the cotton, it being the duty of the local manager accepting same for storage to satisfy himself as to the title to the same by requiring the depositor of the cotton to sign a statement appearing on the face of the official receipt to the effect that there is no lien, mortgage, or other valid claim outstanding against such cotton, and any person falsely signing such a statement shall be punished as provided for false pretenses in section four thousand two hundred and seventy-seven. (1921, c. 137, s. 12.)

Editor's Note.—This section supersedes section 4918 in part.

§ 4925 (m). Issuance of false receipt a felony; punishment.—The manager of any warehouse, or any agent, employee, or servant, who issues or aids in issuing a receipt for cotton without knowing that such cotton has actually been placed in the warehouse under the control of the manager thereof shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction be punished for each offense by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for a period of not less than one or more than five years, or by a fine not exceeding ten times the market value of the cotton thus represented as having been stored. (1921, c. 137, s. 13.)

Editor's Note.—This section supersedes section 4919.

§ 4925(n). Delivery of cotton without receipt or failure to cancel receipt.—Any manager, employee, agent, or servant who shall deliver cotton from a warehouse under this law without the production of the receipt therefor, or who fails to mark such receipt "Canceled" on the delivery of the cotton, shall, upon conviction, be punished by a fine not more than ten thousand dollars ($10,000), or imprisonment not more than five years, or both fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (1921, c. 137, s. 14.)

Editor's Note.—This section supersedes section 4920.

§ 4925(o). Rules for issuance of duplicate receipts.—The state warehouse superintendent, or his duly authorized agent, and the manager of the local warehouse is authorized to issue a duplicate receipt for a lost or destroyed receipt, due record of the original receipt being found upon the books of the warehouse, only upon affidavit of the owner of the original that the original receipt has been lost or destroyed, and by giving the state warehouse superintendent bond with approved security in an amount equal to the double value of the cotton represented by the original receipt, said value to be estimated at the highest market price of middling cotton during the preceding two years, to indemnify the state warehouse superintendent and the local manager from loss or damage, and any cost of litigation. (1921, c. 137, s. 15.)

Editor's Note.—This section supersedes section 4921.

§ 4925(p). State not liable on warehouse debts; tax on cotton continued if losses sustained.—No debt or other liability shall be created against the state by reason of the lease or operation of the warehouse system created by this act or the storage of cotton therein, it being the purpose of this law to establish a self-sustaining system to operate as nearly as practicable at cost, without profit or loss to the state, except that expenses of supervision may be paid by the board of agriculture. While it is believed that the provisions and safeguards mentioned in this law, including the bonds required of all officers and supplemental indemnifying or guarantee fund mentioned in section 4925(e), will insure the security of the system beyond any reasonable possibility of loss, nevertheless, in order to establish the principle that this system should be supported by those for whose especial financial benefit it is established, it is hereby provided that in the eventuality that the system should suffer at any time any loss not fully covered by the aforementioned bonds and indemnifying fund, such losses shall be made good by having the state tax commission repeat for another twelve months selected by it the special levy on ginned cotton, as prescribed in section 4925(e), for the two years ending June thirtieth of the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three. (1921, c. 137, s. 16.)

Editor's Note.—This section supersedes section 4922.

§ 4925(q). Insurance of cotton; premiums; lien for insurance and storage charges.—The superintendent shall insure, or shall require the local manager to insure and keep insured for its full value, upon the best terms obtainable, by individual or blanket policy, all cotton on storage. In case of loss, the superintendent shall collect the insurance due and pay the same, ratably, to those lawfully entitled to it, insurance policies to be in the name of the state and the premium collected from the owners of the cotton, the state to have a lien on the cotton for insurance and storage charges as in the case of other public warehouses in the state. (1921, c. 137, s. 17.)

Editor's Note.—This section supersedes section 4923.

§ 4925(r). Superintendent to negotiate loans on receipts and sell cotton for owners. — The state warehouse superintendent, in addition to the duties hereinbefore vested in him, is also permitted and empowered, upon the request of the owner or owners of the warehouse receipts and cotton stored in such warehouses to aid, assist, and coöperate, or as the duly authorized agent of such owner or owners (which authorization shall be in writing), to secure and negotiate loans upon the warehouse receipts. And upon like written request or authorization of said owner or owners, and his or their duly authorized agent, he may sell and dispose of such warehoused cotton for such owner or owners, either in the home or foreign markets, as may be agreed upon between such owner or owners and the said superintendent, in writing. And for said loan or sales the said superintendent shall charge reasonable and just commissions, without discrimination, all of which shall be accounted for and held as part of the fund for the maintenance and operation of the state warehouse system: Provided however, that the state incurs no liability whatever for any act or representation of the superintendent in exercising any of the permissions or powers vested in him in this section: Provided further, that the bond of the superintendent will be liable for any unfaithful or negligent act of his by reason of which the owner or owners of such warehoused cotton suffers damage or loss. (1921, c. 137, s. 18.)

Editor's Note.—This section supersedes section 4924.

§ 4925(s). Compliance with United States warehouse law.—The state warehouse superintendent may, upon approval of the board of agriculture, operate or cause to be operated, subject to the United States warehouse act, any or all of the warehouses leased by him under the provisions of this law, and he is authorized to comply with said United States warehouse act and the regulations thereunder. (1921, c. 137, s. 19.)

AGRICULTURAL DEVELOPMENT DISTRICTS

§ 4959. Clerk's power to establish; public use. —The clerk of the superior court (hereinafter called the "clerk" of "the court") of any county of the state of North Carolina shall have jurisdiction, power, and authority to establish agricultural development districts in his county for the purpose of clearing and putting in suitable condition for the beginning of cultivation good grades of lands, forested or cut-over, suitable for agriculture, and it is hereby declared that the said development shall be considered a public benefit and conducive to the public welfare. (1917, c. 131, s. 1.)

§ 4960. Landowners' petition and deposits.— Whenever a petition signed by all the landowners in a proposed agricultural development district shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the superior court of any county in which a part of said lands is located, setting forth and certifying the following:

1. That it is their desire and intention to form an agricultural development district (hereinafter called "the district") of an area aggregating not less than one thousand acres, and that it is their purpose, when cleared and put into condition for cultivation, to sell the said land to settlers on long time and at reasonable prices.

2. They shall deposit with the clerk—

a. A certified check for not less than one thousand dollars, plus ten cents per acre for each additional acre in the proposed district, from which funds the clerk shall from time to time meet the actual expenses of examining and verifying and other expenses incidental to forming the district.

b. A complete map of the lands to be included in the district.

c. A soil map showing the types of soils.

d. A drainage map showing the natural drainage of the lands, and any proposed system of drainage it is intended to establish.

e. Certificates of title by a reputable attorney of the county.

f. An estimate of the cost of improvements under the plan submitted.

g. A certificate that the lands when improved will have a market value of at least twice the amount of the total cost of the proposed improvement. (1917, c. 131, s. 2.)

§ 4961. Viewers' appointment. — The clerk shall then appoint a board of viewers (hereinafter called "the viewers"), composed of three members, one a competent civil engineer and the other two practical agriculturists, to examine the lands and data submitted to the clerk by the landowners, and report as to the facts being virtually as stated, or to give their opinion as to any variations. (1917, c. 131, s. 2.)

§ 4962. Viewers' report.—Their written report shall be filed within two weeks from the date of their appointment. The clerk shall consider this report. If the viewers report that the project is not practicable or will not be for the public welfare, and the clerk shall approve such findings, the petition shall be dismissed at the cost of the petitioners. (1917, c. 131, s. 2.)

§ 4963. Plan submitted to state geologist.—If the viewers report that the project is practicable, and that it will be for the public welfare and conducive to the general welfare of the community, and the court shall so find, then all of the data and reports of the proceedings shall be submitted to the state geologist, who shall designate:

1. An engineer to survey and approve of the boundaries and drainage and road plans.
2. An attorney of reputation to examine and approve of the chains of title submitted.
3. A forester to make an estimate of the cost of clearing.
4. A soil expert to report on the availability of the land for agricultural purposes. (1917, c. 131, s. 3.)

§ 4964. District established, if geologist approves.—The state geologist shall consider these reports, data, and plans, and, if he approves the same, shall so certify to the clerk of the court, who shall then declare the district established. (1917, c. 131, s. 3.)

§ 4965. Board of agricultural development commissioners appointed.—After the said district shall have been declared established as aforesaid, and the complete plans therefor approved, the clerk shall appoint two persons, one of whom shall be a landowner of the district, the other a practical agriculturist of good character, not a landowner of the district, and these two shall choose a third, who may or may not be a landowner of the district, and the three so appointed and chosen shall be designated as the Board of Agricultural Development Commissioners of ..... District. (1917, c. 131, s. 4.)

§ 4966. Commissioners incorporated; powers; officers; superintendent's bond. — Such commissioners when so appointed and chosen shall be immediately created a body corporate under the name and style of the Board of Agricultural Development Commissioners of .... District (hereinafter called "the commissioners" or "the board of commissioners"), with the right to hold property and convey the same, to sue and be sued, and shall possess such other powers as usually pertain to corporations. They shall organize by electing from among their number a chairman and vice-chairman. They shall also elect a secretary, within or without their body, and shall adopt by-laws for the government of their proceedings. The treasurer of the county in which the proceedings are instituted shall be ex officio treasurer of such board of commissioners. Such board of commissioners shall adopt a seal, which it may alter at pleasure. They shall have and possess such powers as are herein granted. The name of such district shall constitute a part of its corporate name. The commissioners shall appoint a competent person as superintendent of construction; such person shall furnish a bond, to be approved by the commissioners, in the penal sum of ten thousand dollars, conditioned upon the honest and faithful performance of his duties. Such bond shall be in favor of the board of commissioners. In the event of any vacancy in the membership of the board of commissioners the remaining members shall fill such vacancy, subject to the approval of the court. (1917, c. 131, s. 4.)

§ 4967. Classification of lands according to benefits.—It shall be the further duty of the viewers to personally examine the lands in the district and classify them with reference to the benefits they will receive from the improvements to be made. The land benefits shall be separated into five classes. The land receiving the highest benefit shall be marked Class A; that receiving the next highest benefit, Class B; that receiving the next highest benefit, Class C; that receiving the next highest benefit, Class D; and that receiving the smallest benefit, Class E. The holdings of any one landowner need not necessarily be all in one class, but the number of acres in each class shall be ascertained, though its boundary need not be marked on the ground or shown on the map. The total number of acres owned by one person in each class and the total number of acres benefited shall be determined, and the total number of acres in each class in the entire district shall be ascertained and presented in tabulated form. The scale of assessment upon the several classes of land returned by the viewers shall be in the ratio of five, four, three, two, and one; that is to say, as often as five cents per acre is assessed against the land in Class A, four cents per acre shall be assessed against the land in Class B, and three cents per acre in Class C, and two cents per acre in Class D, and one cent per acre in Class E. This shall form the basis of assessment for benefits to the lands of the district. (1917, c. 131, s. 5.)

§ 4968. Appeal from viewers' report. — Any party aggrieved may, within ten days after the confirmation of the viewers' report, appeal to the superior court in term-time. Such an appeal shall be taken and prosecuted as now provided in special proceedings. Such an appeal shall be based and heard only upon such exceptions theretofore filed by the complaining party, either as to issue of law or fact, and no additional exceptions shall be considered by the court upon the hearing of the appeal. (1917, c. 131, s. 6.)

§ 4969. Letting contract for construction. — The commissioners shall cause notice to be given for two consecutive weeks in some newspaper published in the county wherein said district is located, and such additional publication elsewhere as they deem expedient, of time and place of letting the work of construction, and in such notice they shall specify the approximate amount of work to be done, the time fixed for the completion thereof, and the date appointed for the letting. They, together with the superintendent of the district shall convene and let to the lowest responsible bidder, either as a whole or in part, or in sections, as they deem most advantageous for the district, the proposed work. The landowners may bid on the work, and in the event of their securing the contract, the work shall be done at actual cost, it being distinctly understood that the landowners are to receive no profit from said contract, and any saving effected shall inure to the benefit of the district. No bids shall be entertained that exceed the estimated cost, except for good and satisfactory reasons it shall be shown that the original estimate was erroneous. The commissioners shall have the right to reject all bids and advertise again the work, if in their judgment the interest of the district will be subserved by so doing. The successful bidder shall be required to enter into a contract with the board of commissioners, and to execute a bond for the faithful performance of such contract, with sufficient surety, in favor of the board of commissioners for the use and benefit of the district, in an amount equal to twenty-five per centum of the estimated cost of the work awarded to him. In canvassing bids and letting the contract the superintendent of construction shall act only in an advisory capacity to the board of commissioners. The contract shall be based on the plans and specifications submitted by the commissioners in a report, and confirmed by the court, the original of which shall remain on file in the office of the clerk and and shall be open to the inspection of all prospective bidders. All bids shall be sealed and shall not be opened except under authority of the commissioners, and on the date therefor appointed for the opening of bids. All bids must be accompanied by a certified check for three per centum of the amount of the bid. (1917, c. 131, s. 7.)

§ 4970. Payment for work done.—The superintendent of construction shall make monthly estimates of the amount of work done and shall furnish one copy to the contractor and file the other with the secretary of the board of commissioners, and the commissioners shall within five days after filing of such estimate meet and direct the secretary to draw a warrant in favor of the contractor for ninety per centum of the work done according to the specifications and contract; and upon the presentation of such, properly signed by the chairman or vice-chairman and secretary, to the treasurer of the district, he shall pay the amount due thereon. When the work is fully completed and accepted by the superintendent, he shall make an estimate for the whole amount due, including the amounts withheld on the previous monthly estimates, which shall be paid from the fund as before provided. In the event that the landowners receive the contract, the monthly payments shall cover only the actual cost of the work, as certified by the superintendent of construction, to whose certific tes shall be attached all payrolls and vouchers. If any contractors to whom said work shall have been let shall fail to perform the same according to the terms specified in his contract, action may be had in behalf of the commissioners against such contractor and his bond in the superior court, for damages sustained in the district, and recovery made against such contractor and his sureties. In such an event the work shall be advertised and relet in the same manner as the original letting. (1917, c. 131, s. 8.)

§ 4971. Record book kept by clerk.—The clerk shall provide a suitable book to be known as the Record Book of the Agricultural Development Commissioners of ..... District, in which he shall cause to be recorded every petition, motion, order, record, judgment, or finding of the board of commissioners in every transaction which may come before it, in such a way as to make a complete and continuous record of the case; copies of all the maps and plans are to be furnished by the commissioners, and marked by the clerk "Official Copy," which shall be kept on file by him in his office, and one of the copies shall be pasted or otherwise attached to his record. (1917, c. 131, s. 9.)

§ 4972. Assessment rolls; preparation; contents; execution.—After the classification of the land and ratios of assessment of the different classes to be made thereon has been confirmed by the court, the commissioners shall ascertain the total cost of improvement, including all incidental expenses, and shall certify under the hand of the chairman and secretary of the board of commissioners to the clerk the said total cost, and said certificate shall be forthwith recorded in the record book and open to the inspection of any land owner in the district. The commissioners shall immediately prepare in duplicate assessment rolls or agricultural improvement tax lists, giving therein the names of the owners of the land in the district as ascertained from the public records, a brief description of the several tracts of land assessed, and the assessment against each tract of land. The first of these assessment rolls shall provide assessments sufficient for the payment of interest on the bond issue to accrue the third year after their issue and the installment of principal to fall due at the expiration of the third year after the date of issue, together with such amounts as shall have to be paid for the collection and handling of the same. The second assessment roll shall make like provision for the fourth year, and in like manner assessment roll shall make provision for each succeeding year during the life of the bonds. Each of the said assessment rolls shall specify the time when collectible, and shall be numbered in their order, and the amounts assessed against the several tracts of land shall be in accordance with the benefits received, as shown by the classification and ratio of the assessment made by the viewers. These assessment rolls shall be signed by the clerk and by the secretary of the board of commissioners. (1917, c. 131, s. 10.)

§ 4973. Filing and collection of assessment rolls; to be lien on land.—One copy of each of said assessment rolls shall be filed in the record book and one copy shall be delivered to the sheriff or other county tax collector, after the clerk has appended thereto an order directing the collection of said assessment, and the said assessment shall thereupon have the force and effect of a judgment as in the case of the state and county taxes. These assessments shall constitute a first and paramount lien, second only to state and county taxes, upon the land assessed for the payment of the bonds and interest thereon as they become due, and shall be collected in the same manner, by the same officers, as the state and county taxes are collected. (1917, c. 131, s. 10.)

§ 4974. When assessments due; sale of delinquent lands.—The said assessments shall be due and payable on the first Monday in September each year, and if the same shall not be paid in full by the thirty-first day of December following, it shall be the duty of the sheriff to sell the land or lands so delinquent. The sale of lands for failure to pay such assessments shall be made at the courthouse door in the county in which the lands are located, between the hours of ten o'clock in the forenoon and four o'clock in the afternoon, on the first Monday of February of each year; and if for any necessary cause the sale cannot be made on that date, the sale may be continued from day to day for not exceeding four days, or the land may be readvertised and sold on the first Monday in March succeeding, during the same hours, without any order therefor. In all other respects, except as to the time of the sale of the land, the existing laws as to the collection of state and county taxes shall have application to the collection of assessments under this article. (1917, c. 131, s. 10.)

§ 4975. Settlement by tax collector.—It shall be the duty of the sheriff or tax collector to pay over to the county treasurer promptly the moneys so collected by him upon said tax assessments, to the end that the said treasurer may have funds in hand to meet the payment of interest and principal due upon outstanding bonds as they mature. (1917, c. 131, s. 10.)

§ 4976. Payment of interest and installments on bonds; county treasurer's liability.—It shall be the duty of the county treasurer, and without any previous order from the commissioners, to provide and pay the installments of interest at the time and place as evidenced by the coupons attached to said bonds, and also to pay the annual installments of principal due on said bonds at the time and place as evidenced by said bonds; and the said county treasurer shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject, on conviction, to fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court, if he shall neglect or fail to make prompt payment of said interest and principal of said bonds, and shall likewise be liable in a civil action for all damages which may accrue to the board of commissioners or holders of said bonds, to either or both of which a right of action is hereby given. (1917, c. 131, s. 10.)

§ 4977. New assessment on sale of land. — When any land in the district is sold the court shall assess the new owner thereof, and deduct the amount of the new assessment from the assessment of the former owner and correct the assessment rolls accordingly. (1917, c. 131, s. 10.)

§ 4978. Advertisement of intention to issue bonds.—The commissioners shall give notice for three weeks, by publication in some newspaper published in the county in which the district or a part of the district is situated, and shall also post a written or printed notice at the door of the courthouse and at five conspicious places in the district, reciting that they propose to issue bonds for the payment of the total cost of improvement, giving the amount of the bonds to be issued, the rate of interest they are to bear, and the time when payable. Any landowner in the district not wanting to pay interest on the bonds may within fifteen days after the publication of said notice pay to the county treasurer the full amount for which his land is liable, to be assessed from the classification sheet and certificate of the board of commissioners, showing the total cost of improvements, and have his lands released from liability to be assessed for such improvements. (1917, c. 131, s. 11.)

§ 4979. Landowner's waiver.—Each and every person owning land in the district who shall fail to pay to the county treasurer the full amount for which his land is liable as aforesaid, within the time above specified, shall be deemed as consenting to the issuance of the bonds, and in consideration of the right to pay his proportion in installments, he hereby waives his right of defense to the payment of any assessment which may be levied for the payment of the bonds because of any irregularity or defect in the proceedings prior to this time, except in the case of an appeal as hereinbefore provided, which is not affected by this waiver. (1917, c. 131, s. 12.)

§ 4980. Bond issue. — At the expiration of fifteen days after the expiration of the notice of the bond issue, the board of commissioners may issue bonds of the district for an amount equal to the total estimated cost of the improvements, less such amounts as shall have been paid in in cash to the county treasurer, plus an amount sufficient to pay interest on the bond issue for the three years next following the date of the issue: Provided, that the total principal amount of the bonds to be issued shall not exceed fifty dollars per acre for the land to be improved.

These bonds shall bear six per cent interest per annum, payable semiannually, and shall be paid in the twenty equal installments. The first installment of the principal shall mature at the expiration of three years from the date of issue, and one installment for each succeeding year for nineteen additional years. The commissioners shall sell these bonds at not less than par and apply the proceeds to the payment of interest on said bonds for the three years next following the date of issue, and the payment of other expenses of the district provided for in this chapter. The proceeds from such bonds shall be for the exclusive use of the district specified on their face. The bonds shall be numbered by the board of commissioners and recorded in the record book, which record shall set out specifically the lands embraced in the district on which the tax has not been paid in full, which land is to be assessed as hereinbefore provided. If any installment of principal or interest represented by said bonds shall not be paid at the time and in the manner when the same shall be due and payable, and such default shall continue for a period of six months the holder or holders of such bond or bonds upon which default has been made shall have a right of action against said district, or the board of commissioners of said district, wherein the court may issue a writ of mandamus against said district, its officers, including the tax collector and treasurer, directing the levying of a tax or specific assessment as herein provided and the collection of the same in such sum as may be necessary to meet any unpaid installment of principal and interest and the cost of said action; and such other remedies are hereby vested in the holder or holders of such bond or bonds in default as may be authorized by law; and the right of action is hereby vested in the holder or holders of such bond or bonds upon which default has been made authorizing them to institute suit against any officer on his official bond for failure to perform any duty imposed by the provisions of this chapter. The official bonds of the tax collector and the county treasurer shall be liable for the faithful performance of the duties herein assigned them. Such official bonds may be increased by the board of county commissioners. (1917, c. 131, s. 13.)

§ 4981. Fees allowed sheriff and treasurer.—The fee allowed the sheriff or the tax collector for collecting the tax as prescribed in this chapter shall be two per centum of the amount collected, and the fee allowed the county treasurer for disbursing the revenue obtained from the sale of the bonds shall be one per centum of the amount disbursed: Provided, no fee shall be allowed to sheriff or other tax collector, or to the county treasurer, for collecting or receiving the revenue obtained from the sale of said bonds, nor for disbursing the revenue raised for paying off said bonds: Provided further, that in those counties where the sheriff, tax collector, and treasurer are on a salary basis, no fee whatever shall be allowed for collecting or disbursing the funds of the district. (1917, c. 131, s. 13, (2d).)

§ 4982. Fees and expenses under chapter. — Any engineer employed under the provisions of this chapter shall receive such compensation for his services as shall be fixed and determined by the commissioners. The viewers, other than the engineer, shall receive five dollars per day; the rodman, axeman, chainman, and other laborers shall receive not to exceed two dollars per day. All other fees and costs incurred under the provisions of this chapter shall be the same as are usual for like services in other cases. . Said costs and expenses shall be paid, by order of the court, out of the funds provided for that purpose, and the board of commissioners shall issue warrants therefor when funds shall be in the hands of the treasurer. Any engineer, viewer, superintendent of construction, or other person appointed under this chapter may be removed by the court, upon petition, for corruption, neglect of duty, or other good and satisfactory cause shown. (1917, c. 131, s. 14.)

§ 4983. Liberal construction; defects in proceeding.—The provisions of this chapter shall be liberally construed to promote the objects herein declared and for the general welfare of the state. The collection of assessments shall not be defeated, whether proper notices have been given, by reason of any defect in the proceedings occurring prior to the order of the court confirming the final report of the commissioners; but such orders shall be conclusive and final that all prior proceedings were regular and according to law, unless they were appealed from. If on appeal the court shall deem it just and proper to release any person, or modify his assessment or liability, it shall in no manner affect the rights and legality of any other person than the appellant, and the failure to appeal from the order of the court within the time specified shall be a waiver of any illegality in the proceedings, and the remedies provided for in this chapter shall exclude all other remedies. (1917, c. 131, s. 15.)

§ 4984. Statutes repealed; saving clause.—All laws in conflict with this chapter are hereby repealed: Provided, that proceedings now pending by virtue of any statute now or hereafter in force in this state or in any county shall not be affected by this chapter, but that such proceedings may be continued in accordance with such statute, or in accordance with the provisions of this chapter. (1917, c. 131, s. 16.)

ARCHITECTS

§ 4985. Architecture defined.—For the purpose of this chapter, architecture is defined to be the art of designing for the safe sanitary construction of buildings for public and private use, as taught by the various colleges of architecture recognized by the American Institute of Architects. (1915, c. 270, s. 9.)

§ 4986. State board of architectural examination and registration; creation; membership; vacancies.—There shall be a state board of architectural examination and registration, consisting of five members, to be appointed by the governor in the following manner, to wit: Within thirty days after the ninth day of March, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, the governor shall appoint five persons who are reputable architects residing in the state of North Carolina, who have been engaged in the practice or architecture at least ten years. The five persons so appointed by the governor shall constitute the board of architectural examination and registration, and they shall be appointed for one, two, three, four, and five years, respectively. Thereafter, in each year, the governor in like manner shall appoint one licensed architect to fill the vacancy caused by the expiration of the term of office, the term of such new members to be for five years. If vacancy shall occur in the board for any cause, the same shall be filled by the appointment of the governor. (1915, c. 270, s. 1.)

§ 4987. Oath of members.—Each member of the state board of architectural examination and registration shall, before entering upon the discharge of the duties of his office, take and file with the secretary of state an oath in writing to properly perform the duties of his office as a member of said board, and to uphold the constitution of North Carolina and the constitution of the United States. (1915, c. 270, s. 2.)

§ 4988. Organization of board; officers; treasurer's bond.—The said board shall, within thirty days after its appointment by the governor, meet in the city of Raleigh, at a time and place to be designated by the governor, and organize by electing a president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, each to serve for one year. Said board shall have power to make such by-laws, rules, and regulations as it shall deem best, provided the same are not in conflict with the laws of North Carolina. The treasurer shall give bond in such sum as the board shall determine, with such security as shall be approved by the board, said bond to be conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties of his office and for the faithful accounting of all moneys and other property as shall come into his hands. (1915, c. 270, s. 1.)

§ 4989. Seal of board.—The board shall adopt a seal for its own use. The seal shall have the words "Board of Architectural Examination and Registration, State of North Carolina," and the Secretary shall have charge, care, and custody thereof. (1915, c. 270, s. 5.)

§ 4990. Meeting of board; quorum. — The board shall meet once a year in July of each succeeding year, for the purpose of electing officers and transacting such other business as may properly come before it. Due notice of such annul meeting, and the time and place thereof, shall be given to each member by letter, sent to his last postoffice address at least ten days before the meetings, and thirty days notice of such annual meeting shall be given in some newspaper published in the city of Raleigh, at least once a week for four weeks preceding such meeting. Three members of the board shall constitute a quorum. (1915, c. 270, s. 1.)

§ 4991. Record of proceedings and of registration.—The secretary shall keep a record of the proceedings of the board and registration for all applicants for registration and admission to practice architecture, giving the name and location of the institution or place of training where the applicant was prepared for the practice of architecture, and such other information as the board may deem proper and useful. This registration shall be prima facie evidence of all matters recorded therein. (1915, c. 270, s. 1.)

§ 4992. Examination and certificate of applicant.—Any person hereafter desiring to be registered and admitted to the practice of architecture in the state shall make a written application for examination to the board of architectural examination and registration, on a form prescribed by the board, giving his name, age (which shall not be less than twenty-one years), his residence, and such evidence of his qualification and proficiency as may be prescribed by said board, which application shall be accompanied by twenty-five dollars. If said application is satisfactory to the board, then the applicant shall be entitled to an examination to determine his qualifications. If the result of the examination of any applicant shall be satisfactory to the board, then the board shall issue to the applicant a certificate to practice architecture in North Carolina. Any person failing to pass such examination may be reëxamined at any regular meeting of the board without additional fee. (1915, c. 270, s. 3; 1919, c. 336, s. 1.)

§ 4993. Refusal, revocation, or suspension of certificates.—Said board may refuse to grant certificate to any person convicted of a felony, or who, in the opinion of the board, has been guilty of gross, unprofessional conduct, or who is addicted to habits of such character as to render him unfit to practice architecture. The board of architectual examination and registration may suspend for a period or revoke the certificate of admission to practice, and forbid practice by any architect upon conviction, after a fair and impartial trial, of any dishonest practice, unprofessional conduct, or incompetence. For the purpose of such trial, the board shall have full power to subpœna and examine witnesses under oath as to the facts of the case. Any architect against whom charges are preferred shall have not less than sixty days notice before the trial of his case, and shall have the right to have witnesses subpœnaed in his behalf, and of being heard in person and by counsel. Any such trial shall be open to the public: Provided, that a notice and copy of this chapter shall be mailed by the secretary of the state board of architectural examination and registration to each architect in and out of the state to whom a certificate has been issued under this chapter. (1915, c. 270, s. 5; 1919, c. 336, s. 3.)

§ 4994. Examination fees; expenses of board.—All examination fees shall be paid in advance to the treasurer of said board of architectural examination and registration. The state of North Carolina shall not be liable for the compensation of any members or officers of said board. All expenses incurred by said board in the necessary discharge of their duties shall be paid out of funds derived from examination fees herein provided for, and shall be paid by the treasurer upon warrant drawn by the secretary and approved by the president. The said board shall have the power to determine what are necessary expenses and to fix the salaries of the respective officers. (1915, c. 270, s. 6.)

§ 4996. Holding out as architect without having certificate, provisos.—Any person not registered under this chapter who shall advertise or put up a sign or card or other device, or in any other way hold himself out to the public as an architect, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars: Provided, however, that nothing herein shall prevent any person from making plans or data for buildings for themselves or other persons, if the person so furnishing such plans or data shall not hold himself out as an architect; and Provided further, that nothing in this chapter shall prevent the procuring of plans and specifications from an architect residing outside of this state. Nonresident architects who come within the state to do business shall be subject to the same examination and upon same terms and conditions as resident applicants, unless such nonresident architects are permitted to engage in business in this state under the terms of the preceding section. (1915, c. 270, s. 4.)

§ 4997. Seal of registered architect; plans to bear seal.—Every architect who shall have obtained from said board a certificate, shall have a seal which must contain the name of the architect, his place of business, and the words "Registered Architect, of North Carolina," and he shall stamp all drawings and specifications issued from his office, for use in this state, with an impression of said seal. (1915, c. 270, s. 7.)

§ 4998. County record of registered architects, fees.—Every person holding a certificate of said board to practice architecture shall have said certificate recorded in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county in which he resides or has his principal office. Said clerk shall record the same in a book to be kept by him, entitled "Record of Architecture," and the clerk shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar for recording such certificate: Provided, however, that in any counties where the clerk is on a salary and not on a fee basis, then the said fee of one dollar shall be paid into the county treasury. It shall be unlawful for any person to hold himself out as an architect until said certificate shall have been recorded, and any person found guilty of holding himself out as an architect without registration of his certificate, as aforesaid, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined not more than fifty dollars, in the discretion of the court. (1915, c. 270, s. 8.)

AUCTIONEERS

§ 4999. Application of chapter.—The provisions of this chapter extend only to sales of such articles of goods, wares, and merchandise as are the ordinary subject of traffic and sale by merchants and traders.

This chapter does not affect any sale (1) by auction of goods, wares, and merchandise made pursuant to and in execution of any order, decree, or judgment of the court of the United States or of this state; or (2) made in consequence of any assignment of property and estate for benefit of creditors; or (3) made by executors, administrators, collectors, or guardians; or (4) made pursuant to any law touching the collection of any tax or duty, or sale of any wrecked goods; or (5) extend to any article the product of the agriculture of this state, in its natural or unmanufactured state; or (6) to any species of stock or domestic animals; or (7) to any article of household furniture or farming utensils which have been in use. (Rev., s. 220; Code, s. 2284; R. C., c. 10, s. 6.)

Auctioneer is the agent of both buyer and seller, and the entry on his lists, taken in connection with the advertisement, is a compliance with the statute of frauds. Cherry v. Long, 61 N. C. 466; Woodruff v. Trust Co., 173 N. C. 546, 92 S. E. 496; Dickerson v. Summons, 141 N. C. 325, 53 S. E. 850.

Authority of auctioneer to vary conditions of sale confirmed as agent of hirer. Satterfield v. Smith, 33 N. C. 60.

Authority of Auctioneer to Explain Conditions.—An advertisement of a sale of property by an auctioneer may be explained at the time of sale. Rankin v. Matthews, 29 N. C. 286.

Liability of Surety.—Since it is the duty of an auctioneer to pay over to his employer the proceeds of sales made by him, sureties on his official bond, which is conditioned that he will do whatsoever the law requires, are liable to his employers for proceeds of sale which he withholds. Comm'rs v. Holloway, 10 N. C. 234.

Bidders presumed to be acquainted with terms when the terms of auction are advertised or otherwise published. Christmas v. Jenkins, 3 N. C. 395.

§ 5000. Appointment; bond.—No person shall exercise or conduct the trade or business of an auctioneer in this state or offer to conduct any such trade or business described in this chapter unless such person shall hold a license issued by the insurance commissioner, and no license shall issue to any person who is not a resident of the state of North Carolina, and has not been a bona fide resident for at least two years prior to the date when such application for license is filed with the insurance department. The license shall issue only upon the filing of a bond in the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000.00), with such conditions and sureties as may be required and approved by the insurance commissioner. The license shall expire on the first day of April following, unless the authority is sooner revoked by the insurance commissioner and such authority shall be subject to revocation at any time by such officer for cause appearing to him sufficient. The fees for each license shall be two hundred dollars ($200.00): Provided, that the provisions of this law shall not apply to any auctioneers or sales at public auction other than auction sales of jewelry and silverware, and auctioneers conducting or engaged in such sale. (Rev., s. 217; Code, s. 2281; 1889, c. 40; 1891, c. 576; R. C., c. 10, s. 1; 1923, c. 243, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The Act of 1923, ch. 243 takes auction sales other than sales of jewelry and silverware, and auctioneers engaged in such sales out of the provisions of this section; makes two years bona fide residence a prerequisite to application for a license; raises the bond required to $5,000 and the license fee to $200. The insurance commissioner is given power to revoke a license for failure to comply with the terms of the act, or for other cause. See 1 N. C. Law Rev. 302.

§ 5000(a). Requirements of law and of insurance commissioner; false statement.—No person who shall conduct the business of an auctioneer in the state shall fail to comply with any provision of the law or any requirement of the insurance commissioner pursuant to the law, and no such person shall make or cause to be made any false statement in any report required of him, and upon any violation of any section of this chapter, the insurance commissioner may revoke his license to do business in this state. (1923, c. 243, s. 2.)

§ 5000(b). Punishment for violation of law.—Any person violating any of the provisions of this chapter shall be punished by a fine not exceeding two hundred dollars or by imprisonment in jail or worked on the roads for not exceeding two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment. (1923, c. 243, s. 3.)

§ 5000(c). License tax by counties and municipalities.—Nothing in this law shall be construed to take away from the counties, cities or towns of this state any right or rights which they may now have, or may hereafter have, to levy a license tax on persons exercising or conducting the trade or business of an auctioneer. (1923, c. 243, s. 4.)

§ 5001. Account semiannually; pay over moneys received.—It is the duty of such auctioneers, on the first days respectively of October and April, to render to the clerks of the superior court of their respective counties a true and particular account in writing of all the moneys made liable to duty by law, for which any goods, wares, or merchandise may have been sold at auction, and also at private sale, where the price of the goods, wares, and merchandise sold at private sale was fixed or agreed upon or governed by any previous sale at auction of any goods, wares, and merchandise of the same kind; which account shall contain a statement of the gross amount of sales by them made for each particular person or company at one time, the date of each sale, the names of the owners of the goods, wares, and merchandise sold, and the amount of the tax due thereon, which tax they shall pay as directed by law. The statement shall be subscribed by them and sworn to before the clerk of the said court, who is hereby authorized to administer the oath. And it is their further duty to account with and pay to the person entitled thereto the moneys received on the sales by them made. (Rev., s. 218; Code, s. 2282; R. C., c. 10, s. 2.)

§ 5002. Acting without appointment; penalty.—No person shall exercise the trade or business of an auctioneer by selling any goods, wares, or merchandise by auction or by any other mode of sale whereby the best or highest bidder is deemed to be the purchaser, unless such person is appointed an auctioneer pursuant to this chapter, on pain of forfeiting to the state for every such sale the sum of two hundred dollars, which shall be prosecuted to recovery by the solicitor of the district. (Rev., s. 219; Code, s. 2283; R. C., c. 10, s. 5.)

§ 5003. Commissions; one per cent to town.—Auctioneers are entitled to such compensation as may be agreed upon, not exceeding two and a half per cent on the amount of sales; and auctioneers of incorporated towns shall retain and pay one per cent of the gross amount of sales to the commissioners or other authority of their respective towns. (Rev., s. 221; Code, s. 2285; R. C., c. 10, s. 7.)

Auctioneer's Fee Payable out of Trustee's Commissions.—See Duffy v. Smith, 132 N. C. 38, 43 S. E. 501.

CHAPTER 87A

AUTOPSIES

§ 5003(1). Limitation upon right to perform autopsy.—The right to perform an autopsy upon the dead body of a human being shall be limited to cases specially provided by statute or by direction or will of the deceased; cases where a coroner or the majority of a coroner's jury deem it necessary upon an inquest to have such an autopsy; and cases where the husband or wife or one of the next of kin or nearest known relative or other person charged by law with the duty of burial, in the order named and as known, shall authorize such examination or autopsy. (1931, c. 152; 1933, c. 209.)

Editor's Note.—Prior statutes dealing with post mortem examinations are sections 1020, 4518, and 6786. The right of burial belongs to the surviving relations in the order of inheritance. See Floyd v. R. R., 167 N. C. 55, 83 S. E. 12 (1914), 9 N. C. Law Rev. 348.

Public Laws 1933, c. 209, deleted a clause reading "for the purpose of ascertaining the cause of death," which formerly appeared at the end of this section.

CHAPTER 87B

BARBERS

§ 5003 (a). Necessity for certificate of registered barber or apprentice.—No person or combination of persons shall for pay, either directly or indirectly, practice or attempt to practice barbering as hereinafter defined in the State of North Carolina without a Certificate of Registration either as a Registered Apprentice or as a Registered Barber issued pursuant to the provisions of this chapter by the State Board of Barber Examiners hereinafter established. (1929, c. 119, s. 1.)

Constitutionality.—This chapter, known as the Barber's Act, relates to the public health and is constitutional as a valid exercise of the police power of the State. State v. Lockey, 198 N. C. 551, 152 S. E. 693.

Application.—The provisions of this chapter apply to proprietor barbers, as in this case the owner and operator of a one-chair barber shop. State v. Lockey, 198 N. C. 551, 152 S. E. 693.

§ 5003 (b). What constitutes practice of barbering.—Any one or combination of the following practices, when done for pay, shall constitute the practice of barbering in the purview of this chapter:

(a) Shaving or trimming the beard, or cutting the hair.

(b) Giving facial or scalp massages, or treatments with oils, creams, lotions and other preparations either by hand or mechanical appliances.

(c) Singeing, shampooing or dyeing the hair or applying hair tonics.

(d) Applying cosmetic preparations, antiseptics, powders, oils, clays and lotions to the scalp, neck or face. (1929, c. 119, s. 2.)

§ 5003 (c). Qualifications for issuance of certificates of registration.—No person shall be issued a certificate of Registration as a Registered Apprentice by the State Board of Barber Examiners. hereinafter established.

(a) Unless such person is at least seventeen years of age.

(b) Unless such person passes a satisfactory physical examination prescribed by said Board of Barber Examiners.

(c) Unless each person has completed at least a six months' course in a reliable Barber School or College approved by said Board of Barber Examiners.

(d) Unless such person passes the examination prescribed by the Board of Barber Examiners and pays the required fees hereinafter enumerated. (1929, c. 119, s. 3.)

§ 5003 (d). Registered Apprentice must serve under Registered Barber before opening shop.—No Registered Apprentice, registered under the provisions of this chapter, shall operate a barber shop in the State, but must serve his period of apprenticeship under the direct supervision of a Registered Barber, as required by § 5003 (e). Provided, however, that no Apprentice nor any person who may qualify as an Apprentice, who is operating a barber shop at the time this bill is enacted into law, shall be affected by the restriction herein relating to the ownership and operation of barber shops by Apprentices, until January first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty. (1929, c. 119, s. 4.)

§ 5003 (e). Period of apprenticeship; affidavit; qualifications for certificate as Registered Barber.—Any person to practice barbering as a Registered Barber, must have worked as a Registered Apprentice for a period of at least eighteen months under the direct supervision of a Registered Barber, and this fact must be demonstrated to the Board of Barber Examiners by the sworn affidavit of three Registered Barbers, or such other methods of proof as the Board may prescribe and deem necessary. A Certificate of Registration as a Registered Barber shall be issued by the Board hereinafter designated, to any person who is qualified under the provisions of this act, or meets the following qualifications:

(a) Who is qualified under the provision of section three of this act;

(b) Who is at least nineteen years of age;

(c) Who passes a satisfactory physical examination as prescribed by said Board;

(d) Who has practiced as a Registered Apprentice for a period of eighteen months, under the immediate personal supervision of a Registered Barber; and

(e) Who has passed a satisfactory examination, conducted by the Board, to determine his fitness to practice barbering, such examination to be so prepared and conducted, as to determine whether or not the applicant is possessed of the requisite skill in such trade, to properly perform all the duties thereof, including the liability of the applicant in his preparation of tools, shaving, hair-cutting, and all the duties and services incident thereto, and has sufficient knowledge concerning diseases of the face, skin and scalp, to avoid the aggravation and spreading thereof in the practice of said trade. (1929, c. 119, s. 5.)

§ 5003 (f). State Board of Barber Examiners; appointment and qualifications; governor; term of office and removal.—A board to be known as the State Board of Barber Examiners is hereby established to consist of three members appointed by the Governor of the State. Each member shall be an experienced barber, who has followed the practice of barbering for at least five years in the State. The members of the first Board appointed shall serve for six years, four years and two years, respectively, after appointed, and members appointed thereafter shall serve for six years. The Governor, at his option, may remove any member for good cause shown and appoint members to fill unexpired terms. (1929, c. 119, s. 6.)

§ 5003 (g). Office; seal; officers and secretary; bond.—The Board shall maintain a suitable office in Raleigh, North Carolina, and shall adopt and use a common seal for the authentication of its orders and records. Said Board shall elect its own officers, and in addition thereto, shall elect a full time Secretary, which Secretary shall receive an annual salary not to exceed three thousand dollars, such salary as well as all other expenses of said Board, to be paid only out of the revenue derived from fees collected under the provisions of this act. Said full time Secretary shall keep and preserve all the records of the Board, issue all necessary notices to the barbers of the State, and perform such other duties, clerical and otherwise, as may be imposed upon him by said Board of Barber Examiners. Said full-time Secretary shall turn over, as required by law, all moneys collected by him, and render full, itemized and detailed reports therewith, as required by law. He shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, execute to the State of North Carolina, a satisfactory bond, with a duly licensed bonding company in this State as surety, or other acceptable surety, such bond to be in the penal sum of not less than ten thousand dollars, and conditioned upon the faithful performance of the duties of his office. (1929, c. 119, s. 7.)

§ 5003(h). Salary and expenses; annual report to Governor.—Each member of the Board of Barber Examiners, as herein created, shall receive for his services the sum of ten dollars per day for each day actually spent in the performance of his duties, and shall be reimbursed for his actual necessary expenses incurred in the discharge of his duties, both per diem allowance and expenses, to be paid only from the funds derived from the fees collected in the administration of this act. The Board shall report annually to the Governor a full statement of its receipts and expenditures, and a full statement of its work during the year, together with such recommendations as it may deem expedient. (1929, c. 119, s. 8.)

§ 5003 (i). Application for examination; payment of fee.—Each applicant for an examination shall:

(a) Make application to the Board on blank forms prepared and furnished by the full-time Secretary, such application to contain proof under the applicant's oath of the particular qualifications of the applicant.

(b) Pay to the Board the required fee.

(c) All applications for said examination must be filed with the full-time Secretary at least thirty days prior to the actual taking of such examination by applicants. (1929, c. 119, s. 9.)

Purpose of Fees—Constitutionality.—The fees prescribed for barbers who are subject to the provisions of this chapter are for the expenses and enforcement of the act, which is necessary to the public health and welfare, and not an annual occupation tax imposed for revenue, and the payment of the barber's license tax under the Revenue Act does not affect the obligation to pay the fees prescribed by the Barber's Act, and assessment of the fees thereunder is constitutional. State v. Lockey, 198 N. C. 551, 552, 152 S. E. 693.

§ 5003 (j). Board to conduct examinations not less than four times each year.—The Board shall conduct examinations of applicants for Certificates of Registration to practice as Registered Barbers, and of applicants for Certificate of Registration to practice as Registered Apprentices, not less than four times each year, at such times and places as will prove most convenient, and as the Board may determine. The examination of applicants for Certificates of Registration as Registered Barbers and Registered Apprentices shall include such practical demonstration and oral and written test as the Board may determine. (1929, c. 119, s. 10.)

§ 5003 (k). Issuance of certificates of Registration. — Whenever the provisions of this chapter have been complied with, the Board shall issue, or have issued, a Certificate of Registration as a Registered Barber or as a Registered Apprentice, as the case may be. (1929, c. 119, s. 11.)

§ 5003 (l). Barbers from other states; temporary permits. — Persons who have practiced barbering in another state or county, and who move into this State, shall prove and demonstrate their fitness to the Board of Barber Examiners, as herein created, before they will be issued a Certificate of Registration to practice barbering, but said Board may issue such temporary permits as are necessary. (1929, c. 119, s. 12.)

§ 5003 (m). Procedure for registration. — The procedure for the Registration of present practitioners of barbering shall be as follows:

(a) If such person has been practicing barbering for a shorter period of time than eighteen months, he shall, upon paying the required fee, and making an affidavit to that effect to the Board of Barber Examiners, be issued a Certificate of Registration as an Apprentice.

(b) If such person has been practicing barbering in the State of North Carolina for more than eighteen months, he shall upon paying the required fee and making an affidavit to that effect, to the Board of Barber Examiners, be issued a Certificate of Registration as a Registered Barber.

(c) All persons, however, who are not actively engaged in the practice of barbering, at the time this chapter is enacted into law, shall be required to take the examination herein provided, and otherwise comply with the provisions of this chapter before engaging in the practice of barbering. (1929, c. 119, s. 13.)

§ 5003 (n). Fees.—The fee to be paid by an applicant for a Certificate of Registration to practice barbering, as an apprentice is three dollars and such fee must accompany his application. The annual license fee of an Apprentice shall be one dollar and fifty cents. The fee to be paid by an applicant for an examination to determine his fitness to receive a Certificate of Registration as a Registered Barber is five dollars. The annual license fee of a Registered Barber shall be three dollars. All licenses, both for Apprentices and for Registered Barbers, shall be renewed as of the thirtieth day of June of each and every year, and such renewals for Apprentices, shall be one dollar and fifty cents, and for Registered Barbers three dollars. The fee for registration of an expired Certificate for Registered Barber shall be five dollars, and registration of expired Certificate of an Apprentice shall be three dollars. The fees herein set out are not to be increased by the Board of Barber Examiners, but said Board may regulate the payment of said fees and prorate the license fees in such manner as it may deem expedient. (1929, c. 119, s. 14.)

§ 5003 (o). Persons exempt from provisions of chapter. — The following persons are exempt from the provisions of this chapter while engaged in the proper discharge of their professional duties.

(a) Persons authorized under the laws of the State to practice medicine and surgery.

(b) Commissioned medical or surgical officers of the United States Army, Navy, or Marine Hospital Service.

(c) Registered nurses.

(d) Students in schools, colleges and universities, who follow the practice of barbering upon the school, college, or university premises, for the purpose of making a part of their school expenses.

(e) Undertakers.

(f) Persons practicing hair dressing and beauty culture in hairdressing and beauty shops patronized by women. (1929, c. 119, s. 15.)

§ 5003(p). Rules for sanitation in barber shops and schools; inspection; posting rules.—The state board of barber examiners shall have authority to make reasonable rules and regulations for the sanitary management of barber shops and barber schools and for the administration of the provisions of this chapter, and to enforce said rules and regulations. The sanitary rules and regulations so prescribed to be approved by the state board of health. Any member of the board, and its agents and assistants, shall have authority to enter upon and inspect any barber shop or barber school at any time during business hours in the performance of the duties conferred or imposed by this chapter. A copy of the rules and regulations adopted by the board of barber examiners shall be furnished by said board to the owner or manager of each barber shop or barber school in the state, and such copy shall be posted in a conspicuous place in each barber shop or barber school, together with the rating of the inspection so made. (1929, c. 119, s. 16; 1931, c. 32; 1933, c. 95, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—The Act of 1931, which struck out the former section and inserted the above in lieu thereof, provided: "This act shall apply to all towns of five hundred population or over, according to the latest Federal Census: And, Provided further, that this act shall apply to Bladen and Catawba counties regardless of the population of towns: Provided further, that the provisions of this act shall apply to all cities and towns of Robeson County, Caldwell County, Cumberland County, Harnett County, and Sampson County, irrespective of population."

This Act was amended by Public Laws 1931, c. 346, so that its provisions "shall apply to all cities and towns in Cabarrus County, whether incorporated or not, with a population of five hundred or more according to the latest Federal Census."

While Public Laws 1931 c. 32 referred to only one section of this chapter, it would seem that it was the intent of the legislature that the provision quoted above supersede section 5003(w).

Public Laws of 1933, c. 95, omitted a proviso, formerly appearing at the end of this section, requiring reports by the State Board of Barber Examiners of violation of the health and sanitary laws.

Section 3 of c. 95 of the Public Laws of 1933 provides: "Section two, chapter thirty-two, Public Laws, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one, and section twenty-three of chapter one hundred and nineteen of the Public Laws of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, be and the same are hereby repealed. This act shall not apply to persons occasionally doing barber's work at a distance of five miles or more from any town, whether incorporated or not: Provided, the provisions of this act shall not apply to any person who shall perform the services of a barber for members of his own family or for persons with whom he is in the relation of employer or employee or landlord and tenant: Provided, this act shall not apply to the Counties of Alleghany, Bertie, Camden, Clay, Carteret, Dare, Davie, Duplin, Gates, Hertford, Hoke, Hyde, Jones, Lincoln, Martin, Mitchell, Pamlico, Person, Pender, Rockingham, Stokes, Tyrrell, Wilkes and Yadkin." (1933, c. 95, § 3.)

Public Laws of 1935, chapter 341, amends section 3 of chapter 95, Public Laws of 1933, by striking out the words "Rockingham, Lincoln, Mitchell, Stokes, Bertie and Martin from the list of excepted counties.

§ 5003 (q). Certificates to be displayed.—Every holder of a Certificate of Registration shall display it in a conspicuous place adjacent to or near his work chair. (1929, c. 119, s. 17.)

§ 5003 (r). Renewal or restoration of certificates.—Every Registered Barber and every Registered Apprentice, who continues in active practice or service, shall annually, on or before June thirtieth of each year, renew his Certificate of Registration and pay the required fee. Every Certificate of Registration, which has not been renewed during the month of June in any year, shall expire on the first day of July in that year. A Registered Barber or a Registered Apprentice, whose Certificate of Registration has expired, may have his Certificate restored immediately upon payment of the required restoration fee. Any Registered Barber who retires from the practice of barbering for not more than five years, may renew his Certificate of Registration upon payment of the required restoration fee. (1929, c. 119, s. 18.)

§ 5003(s). Disqualifications for certificate. — The Board may either refuse to issue or renew, or may suspend or revoke, any Certificate or Registration for any one or combination of the following causes:

1. Conviction of a felony shown by certified copy of the record of the court of conviction.
2. Gross malpractice or gross incompetency.
3. Continued practice by a person knowingly having an infectious or contagious disease.
4. Advertising by means of knowingly false or deceptive statements.
5. Habitual drunkenness or habitual addiction to the use of morphine, cocaine or other habit-forming drugs.
6. The commission of any of the offences described in § 5003 (u), sub-divisions three, four and six. (1929, c. 119, s. 19.)

§ 5003(t). Notice; public hearing; appeal.—The Board may neither refuse to issue nor refuse to renew, nor suspend, or revoke any Certificate of Registration, however, for any of these causes, unless the person accused has been given at least twenty days' notice in writing of the charge against him and a public hearing by the Board.

Upon the hearing of any such proceeding, the Board may administer oaths and may procure by its subpoena, the attendance of witnesses and the production of relevant books and papers.

Any barber in the State whose case has been passed upon by the Board of Barber Examiners shall have the right and is hereby given the right to appeal to the Superior Court of the State, which Court may in its discretion reverse or modify any order made by the said Board of Barber Examiners. (1929, c. 119, s. 20.)

§ 5003(u). Misdemeanors. — Each of the following constitutes a misdemeanor, punishable upon conviction by a fine of not less than ten dollars, nor more than fifty ($50.00) dollars:

1. The violation of any of the provisions of section 5003(a).
2. Permitting any person in one's employ, supervision or control to practice as an apprentice unless that person has a certificate of registration as a registered apprentice.
3. Permitting any person in one's employ, supervision or control, to practice, as a barber unless that person has a certificate as a registered barber.
4. Obtaining or attempting to obtain a certificate of registration for money other than required fee, or any other thing of value, or by fraudulent misrepresentations.
5. Practicing or attempting to practice by fraudulent misrepresentations.
6. The wilful failure to display a certificate of registration as required by section 5003(q).
7. The wilful and continued violation of the reasonable rules and regulations adopted by the state board of barber examiners for the sanitary management of barber schools. (1929, c. 119, s. 21; 1933, c. 95, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—Public Laws of 1933, c. 95, changed in subsection 7 the words "State Board of Health" to "State Board of Barber Examiners."

§ 5003 (v). Board to keep record of proceedings; data on registrants.—The Board shall keep a record of its proceedings relating to the issuance, refusal, renewal, suspension, and revocation of Certificates of Registration. This record shall also contain the name, place of business and residence of each Registered Barber and Registered Apprentice, and the date and number of his Certificate of Registration. This record shall be open to public inspection at all reasonable times. (1929, c. 119, s. 22.)

§ 5003 (w). To what localities chapter applies. —The provisions of this chapter shall apply only to those barber shops maintained and operated in those cities and towns of the State with a population of two thousand or more, as shown by United States census of nineteen hundred and twenty, and to shops maintained and operated within a distance of one mile from the boundary limits of such cities and towns: Provided, that in towns of less population barbers may willingly come into the Association, be bound by its regulations and protected by its benefits: Provided, further, this chapter shall apply to all cities and towns in the County of Bladen and in the County of Wayne irrespective of population, and shall be of county-wide application to Alexander and Wilkes Counties. (1929, c. 119, s. 23; 1931, cc. 205, 323.)

Editor's Note. — The Acts of 1931 added Alexander,

Wayne and Wilkes counties to this section, which would seem to be superseded by Public Laws 1931, c. 32, except as to the counties specifically named. See note to § 5003(p).

Classification Not Arbitrary or Unreasonable.—The classification of barbers made by this section is not an arbitrary or unreasonable one either as relating only to certain persons among the taxpayers or to only certain individuals among the barbers themselves in accordance with the population of the cities and towns in which they carry on their business, and the act bears equally on all of the class and is available to all barbers who are qualified and desire to come under its provisions, and the act is not a discrimination forbidden by the State Constitution nor by the Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution. State v. Lockey, 198 N. C. 551, 152 S. E. 693.

§ 5003 (x). Valid parts of chapter upheld.—If any section of this chapter shall be declared unconstitutional for any reason, the remainder of this chapter shall not be affected thereby. (1929, c. 119, s. 24.)

§ 5003(y). Davie county exempted from barbers law.—Davie county is hereby exempted from the provisions of chapter one hundred and nineteen public laws one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, and all amendments thereto, the same being an act regulating the practice of barbering in North Carolina. (1933, c. 183, s. 1.)

§ 5006. Powers and duties of board.—The board shall have the following powers and duties, to-wit:

Employment of children under fourteen regulated.—No child under the age of fourteen years shall be employed or permitted to work in or about or in connection with any mill, factory, cannery, workshop, or manufacturing establishment. No child under the age of fourteen years shall be employed or permitted to work in or about or in connection with any laundry, bakery, mercantile establishment, office, hotel, restaurant, barber shop, boot-black stand, public stable, garage, place of amusement, brick yard, lumber yard, or any messenger or delivery service, public works, or any form of street trades, except in cases and under regulations prescribed by the commission herein created: Provided, the employments in this section enumerated shall not be construed to include bonafide boys' and girls' canning clubs recognized by the Agricultural Department of this State, or vocational training classes authorized by the State Board of Education, and such canning clubs and vocational classes are hereby expressly exempted from the provisions of this article. (1919, c. 100, s. 7; 1924, c. 74.)

Effect of Decisions on Acts of 1903 and 1907.

1. The statute is constitutional.
2. It applies to employment of factories and manufacturing establishments, and to no other.
3. The employment of a child under twelve years of age in a factory or manufacturing establishment is negligence per se.
4. Such negligence is proximate, if the child is injured as the result of his employment.
5. There is no presumption of risk by the child.
6. The negligence of the parent, if any, in permitting the employment, cannot be imputed to the child.
7. In addition to the usual presumption against contributory negligence, there is a presumption that the child has not the capacity to appreciate the danger of his employment.
8. This presumption may be rebutted. Pettit v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 156 N. C. 119, 127, 72 S. E. 195.

Messenger or Delivery Service Included.—This section does prohibit the employment of "any one under 14 years of age" in messenger or delivery service. Pettitt v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 186 N. C. 9, 16, 118 S. E. 840.

Does Not Apply to Volunteer Workman.—Where the plaintiff, a boy under fourteen, is a mere volunteer injured in the performance of a simple and ordinary task, this section has no application. Reaves v. Catawba Mfg., etc., Co., 206 N. C. 523, 174 S. E. 413.

§ 5033. Prohibited employments of children under sixteen.—No person under sixteen years of age shall be employed or permitted to work in any of the places of occupations referred to in the preceding section for more than eight hours in any one day or forty-eight hours or six days in any one week, or after the hours of seven p. m. or before the hours of six a. m., and no person under sixteen years of age shall be employed or permitted to work in or about or in connection with any quarry or mine, or oiling or cleaning hazardous machinery in motion, or in running elevators, or around exposed electric wires, or in the manufacture, preparation or use of any poisonous substance or gas, or explosive: Provided, the Child Welfare Commission shall designate and define Hazardous Machinery in the purview of this act: Provided further, no machinery except such as is specifically mentioned herein shall be deemed hazardous until so determined by the Child Welfare Commission: Provided further, the eight-hour day limitation in this action shall not apply to any boy between fourteen and sixteen years of age who is the sole support of himself and/or a widowed mother to be determined by the Local County Child Welfare Officer, and for whom the agent of the State Child Welfare Commission states that an eight-hour day job can not be found.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent male persons under sixteen years of age and over fourteen years of age from distributing newspapers, magazines and periodicals on fixed routes, provided, that such persons shall not be employed, nor suffered to work after eight o'clock P. M. and before five o'clock A. M., and that the hours of work and the hours in school do not exceed eight hours in any one day, and: Provided, further, that such persons shall not be suffered to work, nor be employed more than four hours per day, nor more than twenty-four hours per week. (1919, c. 100, s. 6; 1924, c. 129, s. 2; 1927, c. 251; 1931, cc. 125, 391.)

Editor's Note.—By Public Laws 1927, ch. 251 this section as it formerly stood was repealed, and a section was substituted in lieu thereof. The first 1931 amendment added the exemption as to news boys and the other made considerable change in the first paragraph of this section. See note under § 5031 the hour of employment, the age of the child, etc., are all changed, while the first proviso is new in toto.

In or About or in Connection with Quarry.—In Campbell Contracting Co. v. Maryland Casualty Co., 21 Fed. (2d) 909, 910, it is said: "We cannot agree with the contention that a boy operating a hoist, that by means of a cable pulls cars loaded with stone out of a quarry 150 to 175 feet distant, and whose duty it was upon signal to have the whistle blown, warning of a blast, and whose further duty it was to warn passersby, was not working 'in or about or in connection with a quarry.' "

Violation of Section Must Be Shown to Be Proximate Cause of Injury.—In order to make an employer liable in damages for an injury sustained by an employee between 14 and 16 years of age being required to work more than 8 hours a day in violation of this section, it must be shown that the violation of the statute was a proximate cause of injury complained of. Williamson v. Old Dominion Box Co., 205 N. C. 350, 171 S. E. 335.

§ 5033(a). Night work of females between ages of 16 and 18 prohibited. — No female person between sixteen and eighteen years of age shall be employed, permitted, or suffered to work in any mill, factory, cannery, or manufacturing establishment after nine (9) o'clock in the evening, or before six (6) o'clock in the morning. Any person, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine or imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court. This section shall be enforced in the same manner and by the same officers as laws regulating the employment of persons under sixteen years of age. (1931, c. 112.)

§ 5034. Age certificates.—No child under the age of sixteen years shall be employed in any of the ways enumerated in this article unless at the time of such employment the employer shall in good faith procure, rely upon, and place on file a certificate issued in such form and under such conditions and by such persons as the said commission herein provided for shall prescribe, showing that the person is of legal age for such employment, and the laws and rules made by the State Child Welfare Commission under authority of this article have been complied with. The possession of such certificate by an employer shall be prima facie evidence that he has complied with the requirements and obligations of this article when employing such child. No person shall knowingly make a false statement or present false evidence in, or in relation to any such certificate, or application therefor, or cause any false statement to be made which may result in the issuance of an improper certificate of employment. (1919, c. 100, s. 10; 1924, c. 74.)

See note under § 5031.

Editor's Note.—The Laws of 1924, chap. 74 struck out all of the old section and inserted this one in its stead with substantially the same provisions.

As to effect of failure to have age certificate, in violation of act of 1903, see Rolin v. Tobacco Co., 141 N. C. 300, 53 S. E. 891.

Reliance upon Age Certified.—Where an employer, before employing a boy between 14 and 16 years of age, procures and in good faith relies upon a certificate duly issued by a county welfare officer authorizing such employment, as provided by this section, the employment of the minor is not unlawful, and the decision in McGowan v. Ivanhoe Mfg. Co., 167 N. C. 192, 82 S. E. 1028, (treated under § 5032) is not applicable to an action brought by the minor to recover for an injury sustained in the course of his employment. Williamson v. Old Dominion Box Co., 205 N. C. 350, 171 S. E. 335.

§ 5035. Commission may employ agents.—The Commission shall have authority to appoint and employ such agents for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this article as may be found to be necessary, and they may use the county superintendent of public welfare or chief school attendance officer or truant officer of the several counties for the purpose of carrying out such provisions, and they may use the agents specially designated for carrying out the provisions of this article to aid in carrying out the provisions of the general compulsory school attendance law under subchapter (IX) of the chapter on education. And all agents and officials enumerated in this section shall make complete report of all official acts done in compliance with this chapter on blanks furnished by the State Child Welfare Commission. (1919, c. 100, s. 9; 1924, c. 74.)

See note under § 5031.

§ 5036. Inspection by agents; obstruction unlawful.—For the purpose of securing the proper enforcement of the provisions of this article and of the laws relating to seats for women employees, and the laws requiring separate toilets for sexes and races, the commission, or its duly authorized agents, shall have authority to enter and inspect, at any time, mines, quarries, mills, factories, canneries, workshops, manufacturing establishments, laundries, bakeries, mercantile establishments, offices, hotels, restaurants, barber shops, boot-black stands, public stables, garages, places of amusement, brick yards, lumber yards, and other places of employment; and it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to refuse permission to enter, obstruct, or prevent any duly authorized agent of the commission in his effort to make the inspection herein provided for. (1919, c. 100. s. 8.)

See note under § 5031.

§ 5037. Expenses of commission. — The state treasurer shall honor all warrants for necessary expenses incurred by the commission for meeting the salaries and expenses of any agents employed by the commission in the enforcement of this article and the necessary expenses so incurred by the commission in carrying out the provisions of this article, out of funds not otherwise appropriated, such expenses so incurred shall not exceed the sum of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) per annum, and all necessary printing shall be paid out of the general fund of the State not otherwise appropriated. (1919, c. 100, s. 11; 1924, c. 74.)

See note under § 5031.

Editor's Note.—By Public Laws 1924, ch. 74 the maximum amount of expenses to be annually incurred under this section is raised from six to twenty thousand dollars.

§ 5038. Violations of this article and of certain other laws a misdemeanor.—Any person, firm, or corporation violating any of the provisions of this article, or of the laws relating to seats for women employees or of the laws requiring separate toilets for sexes and races, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished by fine or imprisonment, or both, within the discretion of the court. (1919, c. 100, s. 12.)

As to compulsory education of children, see sections 5758-5762.

Art. 2. Juvenile Courts

§ 5039. Exclusive original jurisdiction over children.—The superior courts shall have exclusive original jurisdiction of any case of a child less than sixteen years of age residing in or being at the time within their respective districts:

1. Who is delinquent or who violates any municipal or state law or ordinance or who is truant, unruly, wayward, or misdirected, or who is disobedient to parents or beyond their control, or who is in danger of becoming so; or

2. Who is neglected, or who engages in any occupation, calling, or exhibition, or is found in any place where a child is forbidden by law to be and for permitting which an adult may be punished by law, or who is in such condition or surrounding or is under such improper or insufficient guardianship or control as to endanger the morals, health, or general welfare of such child; or

3. Who is dependent upon public support or who is destitute, homeless, or abandoned, or whose custody is subject to controversy.

When jurisdiction has been obtained in the case of any child, unless a court order shall be issued to the contrary, or unless the child be committed to an institution supported and controlled by the state, it shall continue for the purpose of this article during the minority of the child. The duty shall be constant upon the court to give each child subject to its jurisdiction such oversight and control in the premises as will conduce to the welfare of such child and to the best interest of the state. (1919, c. 97, s. 1.)

As to domestic relations court, see §§ 1461(f) et seq.

Editor's Note.—The apprentice Law, Revisal, ch. 4, and the Juvenile Delinquent Law, Public Laws 1915, ch. 222, and all other laws inconsistent with this act are repealed and substituted by this article.

See note of Clegg v. Clegg, 186 N. C. 28, 118 S. E. 824, under sec. 2241.

Constitutionality.—This section and the section following in this article are held to be a constitutional and valid enactment. State v. Burnett, 179 N. C. 735, 102 S. E. 711; In re Coston, 187 N. C. 509, 122 S. E. 183.

Purpose. — This section does not deal with delinquent children as criminals, but as wards of the state, and undertakes to give the control and environment that may lead to their reformation and enable them to become law-abiding and useful citizens, and a support and not a hinderance to the commonwealth and the objection that the statute ignores or unlawfully withholds the right to a trial by jury can not be sustained. State v. Brunett, 179 N. C. 735, 102 S. E. 711.

Sections Interdependent.—The child's welfare act, Public Laws of 1919, ch. 97, and this and the following sections thereof, establishing the juvenile courts were enacted as a whole, and the sections are interrelated and interdependent, and the intent thereof is so to be interpreted. State v. Ferguson, 191 N. C. 668, 132 S. E. 644.

Repeal of Ch. 122, Laws of 1915.—This section and the following section of this article establishing a juvenile court, repeal ch. 122, Laws of 1915, and State v. Newell, 172 N. C. 933, 90 S. E. 594, has no application. State v. Burnett, 179 N. C. 735, 102 S. E. 711.

Capability of Committing Crimes—Duration of Jurisdiction.—Where the jurisdiction of the juvenile court has once attached it remains during the minority of the youthful offender, for the purpose of his correction and reformation. State v. Coble, 181 N. C. 554, 107 S. E. 132; In re Coston, 187 N. C. 509, 122 S. E. 183.

Exclusive Criminal Jurisdiction.—The juvenile court, as a separate part of the Superior Court, is given by this section, among other things, the sole power to investigate charges of misdemeanors, and of felonies with punishment not exceeding a ten-year imprisonment, made against children between the ages of fourteen and sixteen years at the time of the offense committed, and excludes the jurisdiction of the justice of the peace to bind them over to the Superior Court in such instances. State v. Coble, 191 N. C. 554, 107 S. E. 132.

This section gives exclusive original jurisdiction to the Superior Court where the custody of a child less than sixteen years of age is in question and establishes the juvenile courts as separate, though not necessarily independent parts of the Superior Courts for the administration of the act, and makes the clerks of the Superior Courts judge of the juvenile courts. In re Hamilton, 182 N. C. 44, 108 S. E. 385.

The adjudication of one other than the parent or guardian of the child, of causing the delinquency of a female child under sixteen years of age, etc., must be had in the juvenile courts as having statutory original jurisdiction over the parties and subject-matter. State v. Ferguson, 191 N. C. 668, 132 S. E. 664.

Same—Assault with Deadly Weapon.—The juvenile court has exclusive jurisdiction over investigation a charge of an assault with a deadly weapon, inflicting a serious injury, made by a child within sixteen years of age, and where a justice of the peace has assumed jurisdiction and bound the defendant over to the Superior Court, the case will, on motion, be removed to the juvenile Court, to be proceeded with as the statute directs, though at the latter date the offender's age may be more than sixteen years. State v. Coble, 181 N. C. 554, 107 S. E. 132.

Resume of Result.—By this section and the following section of this article in case of children under the age of sixteen years charged with being delinquent by reason of the violation of the criminal laws of the state, it is provided and intended to be provided in effect: (a) that children under fourteen years of age are no longer indictable as criminals, but must be dealt with as wards of the state, to be cared for, controlled and disciplined with a view to their reformation. (b) That in case of children between fourteen and sixteen years of age, and as to felonies, whenever the punishment can not exceed ten years, they may if the instance requires it, be bound over to the Superior Court to be prosecuted under the criminal law appertaining to the charge. (c) That in case of children from fourteen to sixteen years of age as to felonies, whenever the punishment is ten years and over they are amenable to prosecution for crime as in case of adults. State v. Burnett, 179 N. C. 735, 102 S. E. 711.

Where the father of a minor child brings a writ of habeas corpus in the Superior Court for the custody of the child, the respondent being the maternal grandmother of the child in whose care the child was left by its mother, the Superior Court has original jurisdiction, and the respondent's motion to transfer the hearing from the Superior Court to the juvenile court is properly overruled. In re Ten Hoopen, 202 N. C. 223, 162 S. E. 619.

§ 5040. Juvenile courts created; part of superior court.—There shall be established in each county of the state a separate part of the superior court of the district for the hearing of cases coming within the provisions of this article. Such part of the superior court shall be called the juvenile court of ..... county.

The clerk of the superior court of each county in the state shall act as judge of the juvenile court of the district for the hearing of cases coming within the provisions of this article in which case the child or children concerned therein reside in or are at the time within such county. Proceedings in such cases may be initiated before such judges, and in hearing such cases such judge shall comply with all the requirements and conform to the procedure provided in this article: Provided, that in counties, where the county seat is a city containing twenty-five thousand inhabitants, or more, the board of commissioners of such counties shall have the right in their discretion to coöperate with the governing body of such city in the election of a judge of a juvenile court provided for in section 5062, which judge when so elected shall perform all the duties, and possess all the powers and jurisdiction conferred by this article upon the clerk of superior court, as well as that conferred upon the judge of the juvenile court of such cities by this article such judge to be so elected by the joint action of the govering bodies of such city and county shall hold office for the term of one year, and until his successor shall be duly elected, and the county availing itself of the provisions of this section shall pay said judge for services rendered the county (outside of city) such sum as the county commissioners of said county shall deem just and proper. (1919, c. 97, s. 2; Ex. Sess. 1920, c. 85.)

Editor's Note.—The provisional clause, in the second paragraph under this section, with regard to the election of a juvenile court judge in a city containing twenty-five thousand inhabitants, or more, is new with Public Laws. Ex. Sess. 1920, ch. 85.

For an act excepting Buncombe county from the provisions of this section and establishing a juvenile court in the county, see Public Laws of 1935, chapter 220.

§ 5041. Definitions of terms.—The term "court" when used in this article without modification shall refer to the juvenile court to be established in each county as herein provided. The term "judge" when used in this article shall refer to the clerk of the superior court acting as judge of the juvenile court. The term "child" shall mean any minor less than sixteen years of age. The term "adult" shall mean any person sixteen years of age or over. (1919, c. 97, s. 3.)

The Word "Child."—The provision of sec. 3, ch. 97, Public Laws 1919, that the meaning of the word "child" shall be one "less than eighteen years of age," and the term "adult" shall mean any person eighteen years old or over, intended, from the interpretation of the entire chapter, that to come within the provision of the act the child should be a minor under the age of sixteen years. The discrepancy is cured by this section. State v. Coble, 181 N. C. 554, 107 S. E. 132.

§ 5042. Sessions of court; records; general provisions.—Sessions of the court shall be held at such times and in such places within the county as the judge shall from time to time determine. In the hearing of any case coming within the provisions of this article the general public may be excluded and only such persons admitted thereto as have a direct interest in the case. Sessions of the court shall not be held in conjunction with any other business of the superior court, and children's cases shall not be heard at the same time as those against adults.

The court shall maintain a full and complete record of all cases brought before it, to be known as the juvenile record. All records may be withheld from indiscriminate public inspection in the discretion of the judge of the court, but such record shall be open to inspection by the parents, guardians, or other authorized representatives of the child concerned. No adjudication under the provisions of this article shall operate as a disqualification of any child for any public office, and no child shall be denominated a criminal by reason of such adjudication, nor shall such adjudication be denominated a conviction.

This article shall be construed liberally and as remedial in character. The powers hereby conferred are intended to be general and for the purpose of effecting the beneficial purposes herein set forth. It is the intention of this article that in all proceedings under its provisions the court shall proceed upon the theory that a child under its jurisdiction is the ward of the state and is subject to the discipline and entitled to the protection which the court should give such child under the circumstances disclosed in the case. (1919, c. 97, s. 4.)

§ 5043. Petition to bring child before court.—Any person having knowledge or information that a child is within the provisions of this article and subject to the jurisdiction of the court, may file with the court a petition verified by affidavit, stating the alleged facts which bring such child within such provisions. The petition shall set forth the name and residence of the child and of the parents, or the name and residence of the person having the guardianship, custody, or supervision of such child, if the same be known or ascertained by the petitioner, or the petition shall state that they are unknown, if that be the fact. (1919, c. 97, s. 5.)

§ 5044. Issuance of summons; travelng expenses allowed.—Upon the filing of the petition or upon the taking of a child into custody, the court may forthwith, or after an investigation by a probation officer or other person, cause to be issued a summons signed by the judge or the clerk of the court directed to the child, unless such child has been taken into custody, and to the parents, or, in case there is no parent, to the person having the guardianship, custody, or supervision of the child, or the person with whom the child may be, requiring them to appear with the child at the place and time stated in the summons to show cause why the child should not be dealt with according to the provisions of this article.

The judge may in his discretion authorize the payment if necessary traveling expenses incurred by any witness or person summoned or otherwise required to appear at the hearing of any case coming within the provisions of this article. Such expenses, when approved by the judge of the superior court, shall be a charge upon the county in which the petition is filed. (1919, c. 97, s. 6.)

§ 5045. Custody of child may be immediate.—If it appears from the petition that the child is embraced within subdivision one of the first section of this article, or is in such condition or surroundings that the welfare of the child requires that its custody be immediately assumed, the court may endorse or cause to be endorsed upon the summons a direction that the officer serving the same shall at once take such child into his custody.

In the case of any child who has been taken into custody or pending the final disposition of any case, the child may be released in the custody of a parent or other person having charge of the child or in the custody of a probation officer or other person appointed by the court, to be brought before the court at the time designated. Any child embraced in this article may be admitted to bail as provided by law. When not released as herein provided such child, pending the hearing of the case, shall be detained in such place of detention as hereinafter provided for. (1919, c. 97, s. 7.)

§ 5046. Service of summons.—Service of summons shall be made personally by reading to and leaving with the persons summoned a true copy thereof: Provided, that if the court is satisfied that reasonable but unsuccessful effort has been made to serve the summons personally upon any of the parties named therein, or if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court that it is impracticable to serve a summons personally upon any of them, the court may make an order providing for service of the summons by registered mail or by publication or otherwise in such manner as the judge shall determine. It shall be sufficient to confer jurisdiction if service is effected at any time before the time fixed in the summons for the return thereof; but the court, if requested by the child or a parent, or, in case there is no parent, by the person having the guardianship, custody or supervision of the child, shall not proceed with the hearing earlier than three days after the service. Failure to serve a summons upon any person other than said child shall not impair the jurisdiction of the court to proceed in cases arising under subdivision one of the first section of this article, provided that for good cause shown the court shall have made an order dispensing with such service.

If the person summoned as herein provided shall fail without reasonable cause to appear and abide the order of the court or bring the child, he may be proceeded against as for contempt of court. In case the summons cannot be served or the party served fails to obey the same, and in any case when it shall be made to appear to the court that such summons will be ineffectual, or that the welfare of the child requires that he shall be brought forthwith into the custody of the court, a warrant may be issued on the order of the court either against the parent or guardian or other person having custody of the child or with whom the child may be, or against the child himself.

The sheriff or other lawful officer of the county in which the action is taken shall serve all papers as directed by the court, but the papers may be served by any person delegated by the court for that purpose. (1919, c. 97, s. 8.)

When Summons to Parents Unnecessary.—Where the juvenile court has examined into the condition of a child and has adjudged that the child is of wandering or dissolute parents, and living with its poor and dependent grandparents, who had acquiesced in the investigation and its results, it is unnecessary to the valid adjudication fixing the child as a ward of the State and taking its custody accordingly, that the parents should have been notified to be present at the investigation, though such course is to be commended when the child is living with its parents or under their control, or is living at the time within the jurisdiction of the court. In re Coston, 187 N. C. 509, 122 S. E. 183.

§ 5047. Hearing; disposition of child.—Upon the return of the summons or other process or after any child has been taken into custody, at the time set for the hearing, the court shall proceed to hear and determine the case in a summary manner. The court may adjourn the hearing from time to time and inquire into the habits, surroundings, condition and tendencies of the child so as to enable the court to render such order or judgment as shall best conserve the welfare of the child and carry out the objects of this article. In all cases the nature of the proceedings shall be explained to the child and to the parents or the guardian or person having the custody or the supervision of the child. At any stage of the case the court may, in its discretion, appoint any suitable person to be the guardian ad litem of the child for the purposes of the proceeding.

The court, if satisfied that the child is in need of the care, protection or discipline of the state, may so adjudicate, and may find the child to be delinquent, neglected, or in need of more suitable guardianship. Thereupon the court may—

1. Place the child on probation subject to the conditions provided hereinafter; or

2. Commit the child to the custody of a relative or other fit person of good moral character, subject, in the discretion of the court, to the supervision of a probation officer and the further orders of the court; or

3. Commit the child to the custody of the state board of charities and public welfare, to be placed by such board in a suitable institution, society or association as described in subsection four of this section, or in a suitable family home and supervised therein; or

4. Commit the child to a suitable institution maintained by the state or any subdivision thereof, or to any suitable private institution, society or association incorporated under the laws of the state and approved by the state board of charities and public welfare authorized to care for children, or to place them in suitable family homes; or;

5. Render such further judgment or make such further order of commitment as the court may be authorized by law to make in any given case.

6. If a child of fourteen years of age be charged with a felony for which the punishment as now fixed by law cannot be more than ten years in prison his case shall be investigated by the probation officer and the judge of the juvenile court as provided for in this article, unless it appear to the judge of the juvenile court that the case should be brought to the attention of the judge of the superior court, in which case the child shall be held in custody or bound to the next term of the superior court as now provided by law. (1919, c. 97, s. 9; 1929, c. 84, s. 1.)

As to authority of courts to commit offenders to reformatory, see section 7322.

Editor's Note.—The amendment of 1929 added the words "in a suitable institution, society or association as described in subsection 4 of this section" which appears in subsection 3.

Legislation Justified.—The Legislature has no unlimited and arbitrary power over minors in respect to detaining them in reformatories, and enactments relating thereto are justified only upon the idea that the child is without parental care, and that his environments are such that he may reach manhood without restraint or training under corrupting influences, unless the State, as parens patriae, performs the duty which devolves primarily upon the parent. In re Watson, 157 N. C. 340, 72 S. E. 1049.

Trial by Jury.—The constitutional right of trial by jury does not extend to an investigation into the status and needs of a child upon the question as to whether he should be sent to a reformatory for his own good as well as the good of the community in the interest of good citizenship, nor does the restraint therein put upon the child amount to a deprivation of his liberty without due process of law, nor is it a punishment for crime. In re Watson, 157 N. C. 340, 72 S. E. 1049.

Habeas Corpus.—When a child is placed and detained in a reformatory under order of court, without notice to the parent or giving him an opportunity to be heard, the parent may have the legality of the detention inquired into upon his petition for a writ of habeas corpus. In re Watson, 157 N. C. 340, 72 S. E. 1049.

Sentence—Order of Detention Only.—An act creating a reformatory is "for the training and moral development of the criminally delinquent children of the State," and in its general scheme and purposes is for the benefit of a child therein detained. Hence, the provisions in the act that the child committed thereto must be "convicted" and sentenced" by the court, does not mean that detention therein is an imprisonment as a punishment for a crime, but that the "conviction" is merely evidence that the child needs the care and nurture of the State, and that the sentence is an order of detention. In re Watson, 157 N. C. 340, 72 S. E. 1049.

§ 5048. Child to be kept apart from adult criminals; detention homes.—No child coming within the provisions of this article shall be placed in any penal institution, jail, lockup, or other place where such child can come in contact at any time or in any manner with any adult convicted of crime and committed or under arrest and charged with crime. Provisions shall be made for the temporary detention of such children in a detention home to be conducted as an agency of the court for the purposes of this article, or the judge may arrange for the boarding of such children temporarily in a private home or homes in the custody of some fit person or persons subject to the supervision of the court, or the judge may arrange with any incorporated institution, society or association maintaining a suitable place of detention for children for the use thereof as a temporary detention home.

In case a detention home is established as an agency of the court it shall be furnished and carried on as far as possible as a family home in charge of a superintendent or matron who shall reside therein. The judge of the juvenile court may, with the approval of the state board of charities and public welfare, appoint a matron or superintendent or both and other necessary employees for such home in the same manner as probation officers are appointed under this article, their salaries to be fixed and paid in the same manner as the salaries of probation officers. The necessary expense incurred in maintaining such detention home shall be a public charge.

In case the judge shall arrange for the boarding of children temporarily detained in private homes, a reasonable sum for the board of such children while temporarily detained in such homes shall be paid by the county in which such child shall reside or may be found.

In case the judge shall arrange with any incorporated institution, society or association, for the use of a detention home maintained by such institution, society or association, he shall enter an order which shall be effectual for that purpose and a reasonable sum shall be appropriated by the county commissioners for the compensation of such institution, society or association for the care of children residing or found within the county, who may be detained therein. (1919, c. 97, s. 10.)

§ 5049. Probation officers; appointment and discharge; compensation.—The judge of the juvenile court in each county shall appoint one or more suitable persons as probation officers who shall serve under his direction. The appointment of such probation officers shall be approved by the state board of charities and public welfare.

The county superintendent of public welfare shall be the chief probation officer of every juvenile court in his county and shall have supervision over the work of any additional probation officer which may be appointed.

The judge appointing any probation officer may discharge such officer for cause after serving such officer with a written notice, but no probation officer shall be discharged without the approval of the state board of charities and public welfare.

The judge appointing any probation officer may in his discretion determine that a suitable salary be paid and may, with the approval of the judge of the superior court, fix the amount thereof. Such salary so determined and so approved shall be paid by the board of county commissioners; but no person shall be paid a salary as probation officer without a certificate of qualification from the state board of charities and public welfare.

The state board of charities and public welfare shall establish rules and regulations pursuant to which appointments under this article shall be made, to the end that such appointments shall be based upon merit only.

The appointment of a probation officer shall be in writing and one copy of the order of appointment shall be delivered to the officer so appointed and another filed in the office of the state board of charities and public welfare. (1919, c. 97, s. 11.)

§ 5050. Probation; conditions; revocation. — When the court places any child or adult on probation as provided in this article it shall determine the conditions of probation, which may be modified by the court at any time. A child shall remain on probation for such period as the court shall determine during the minority of such child. An adult shall remain on probation for such period as the court shall determine, not to exceed five years. The conditions of probation shall be such as the court shall prescribe and may include among other conditions any or several of the following: that the probationer shall indulge in no unlawful or injurious habits; shall avoid places or persons of disreputable or harmful character; shall report to the probation officer as directed by the court or probation officers; shall permit the probation officer to visit him in a reasonable manner at his place of abode or elsewhere; shall answer any reasonable inquiries on the part of the probation officer concerning his conduct or condition; shall, if a child of compulsory school age, attend school regularly; shall, if an adult or a child who does not attend school, work faithfully at suitable employment; shall remain or reside within a specified place or locality; shall pay a fine in one or several sums; shall make restitution or reparation to the aggrieved parties for actual damages or losses caused by an offense upon such conditions as the court shall determine; and shall make payment for the support of any lawful dependents as required by the court.

Any person on probation may at any time be required to appear before the court, and in case of his failure to do so when properly notified by the probation officer, the court may issue a warrant for his arrest. In the case of a child on probation, if the court believes that the welfare of such child will thereby be promoted, the probation may be revoked at any time and the court may make such other disposition of the child as it might have made at the time the child was placed on probation. An adult on probation who violates any of the conditions thereof may be arrested upon a warrant issued by the court and the court may impose any penalties which it might have imposed at the time the defendant was placed on probation. (1919, c. 97, s. 12.)

§ 5051. Duties and powers of probation officers.—It shall be the duty of a probation officer to make such investigations before, during or after the trial or hearing of any case coming before the court as the court shall direct, and shall report thereon in writing. The probation officer shall take charge of any child before or after the trial or hearing when so directed by the court. The probation officer shall furnish to each person released on probation under his supervision a written statement of the conditions of probation and shall instruct the probationer and other persons responsible for the welfare of the probationer regarding same, and shall enforce all the conditions of probation. Such officer shall keep informed concerning the conduct and condition of each person on probation under his supervision by visiting, requiring of reports, and in other ways, and shall report upon the progress of each case under his supervision at least monthly to the court. Such officer shall use all suitable methods not inconsistent with the conditions imposed by the court to aid and encourage persons on probation and to bring about improvement in their conduct and condition. Such officer shall keep detailed record of his word. He shall keep accurate and complete accounts of all moneys collected from persons under his supervision; he shall give receipts therefore and shall make at least monthly returns thereof; such officer shall make such report to the state board of charities and public welfare as it may from time to time require, and shall perform such other duties as the court under whose direction such officer is serving shall direct. Every probation officer shall have all the powers of a peace officer within the jurisdiction of the court which he serves. With the approval or under the direction of the judge of the court in which a probation officer is serving, such officer is authorized and empowered to act as probation officer over any person on probation transferred to his supervision from any other court and may act as parole officer over any person released from a correctional institution when requested to do so by the authorities thereof and when authorized so to act by the judge of the court in which such probation officer is serving. (1919, c. 97, s. 13.)

§ 5052. Support of child committed to custodial agency.—Whenever any child is committed by the court to the custody of an institution, association, society or person other than its parent or guardian, compensation for the care of such child, when approved by the order of the court, shall be a charge upon the county, but the court may at the issuance and service of an order to show cause on the parent or other person having the duty under the law to support such child adjudge that such parent or other person shall pay in such manner as the court may direct such sum as will cover in whole or in part the support of such child, and wilful failure to pay such sum may be punished as a contempt of court. (1919, c. 97, s. 14.)

§ 5053. Selection of custodial agency.—In committing any child to any institution or other custodial agency other than one supported and controlled by the state or in placing the child under any guardianship other than that of its natural guardians, the court shall as far as practicable select as the custodial agency an institution, society or association governed by persons of like religious faith as the parents of such child or an individual holding the same religious belief. (1919, c. 97, s. 15.)

§ 5054. Modification of judgment; return of child to parents.—Any order or judgment made by the court in the case of any child shall be subject to such modification from time to time as the court may consider to be for the welfare of such child, except that a child committed to an institution supported and controlled by the state may be released or discharged only by the governing board or officer of such institution.

Any parent or guardian, or, if there be no parent of guardian, the next friend of any child who has been or shall hereafter be committed by the court to the custody of an institution other than an institution supported and controlled by the state, or to the custody of any association, society or person, may at any time file with the court a petition verified by affidavit setting forth under what conditions such child is living, and that application for the release of the child has been made to and denied by such institution, association, society or person, or that institution association, society or person has failed to act upon such application within a reasonable time. A copy of such petition shall at once be served by the court upon such institution, association, society or person, whose duty it shall be to file a reply to the same within five days. If, upon examination of the petition and reply, the court, is of the opinion that an investigation should be had, it may, upon due notice to all concerned, proceed to hear the facts and determine the question at issue, and may return such child to the custody of its parents or guardian or direct such institution, association, society or person to make such other arrangements for the child's care and welfare as the circumstances of the case may require.

Any child while under the jurisdiction of the court shall be subject to the visitation of the probation officer or other agent of the court authorized to visit such child. (1919, c. 97, s. 16.)

As to appeals see sec. 5058.

Rights of Parents.—Parents, guardian etc., must be notified and given an opportunity to be heard in proceedings in the juvenile courts under this section, with the right to review in the Superior Court upon adverse judgment; and if the child is taken over by the state, they are allowed, on proper application at any time, to have their child brought before the court, its condition inquired into and further orders made concerning it except where committed to a state institution and then they may apply directly to the Superior Court, thus giving full consideration to the family relation and parental rights. State v. Burnett, 179 N. C. 735, 102 S. E. 711.

Same—Child in State Institution.—The exception in this section, that a case may not be investigated on the petition of the parent, etc., when the custody of the child is committed to an institution controlled by the state, applies to the action of the juvenile court, and does not limit the Superior Court in its general jurisdiction over matters of law and equity, in making upon proper application and appropriate writs, inquiry and investigation into the statute and condition of children disposed of under the statute, or in rendering such orders and decrees therein as the rights and justice of the case or the welfare of the child may require. State v. Burnett, 179 N. C. 735, 102 S. E. 711.

§ 5055. Guardian appointed if welfare of child promoted.—Whenever in the course of a proceeding instituted under this article it shall appear to the court that the welfare of any child within the jurisdiction of the court will be promoted by the appointment of an individual as general guardian of its person, when such child is not committed to an institution or to an incorporated society or association, or by the appointment of an individual or corporation as general guardian of its property, the court shall have jurisdiction to make such appointment, either upon the application of the child or of some relative or friend, or upon the court's own motion, and in that event an order to show cause may be made by the court to be served upon the parent or parents of such child in such manner and for such time, prior to the hearing, as the court may deem reasonable. In any case arising under this article the court may determine as between parents or others whether the father or mother or what person shall have the custody and direction of said child, subject to the provisions of the preceding section. (1919, c. 97, s. 17.)

§ 5056. Medical examination of child; disposition if mentally defective.—The court, in its discretion, either before or after a hearing, may cause any child within its jurisdiction to be examined by one or more duly licensed physicians, who shall submit a written report thereon to the court. If it shall appear to the court that any child within the jurisdiction of the court is mentally defective he may cause the child to be examined by two licensed physicians, and on the written statement of the two examining physicians that it is their opinion that the child is mentally defective, feeble-minded, or epileptic, the court may commit such child to an institution authorized by law to receive and care for mentally defective, feeble-minded or epileptic children, as the case may be. No child shall be committed to such institution unless the parent or parents or the guardian or custodian of such child, if such there be, are given an opportunity for a hearing.

Whenever a child within the jurisdiction of the court and under the provisions of this article appears to the court to be in need of medical or surgical care a suitable order may be made for the treatment of such child in a hospital or otherwise, and the expense thereof, when approved by the court, shall be a charge upon the county or the appropriate subdivision thereof; but the court may adjudge that the person or persons having the duty under the law to support such child shall pay a part or all of the expenses of such treatment as provided in section 5052 of this article. (1919, c. 97, s. 18.)

§ 5057. Neglect by parents; encouraging delinquency by others; penalty.—A parent, guardian or other person having the custody of a child who omits to exercise reasonable diligence in the care, protection or control of such child, causing it to be adjudged delinquent, neglected, or in need of the care, protection or discipline of the state as provided in this article, or who permits such child to associate with vicious, immoral or criminal persons, or to beg or solicit alms, or to be an habitual truant from school, or to enter any house of prostitution or assignation or any place where gambling is carried on, or to enter any place which may be injurious to the morals, health, or general welfare of such child, and any such person or any other person who knowingly or wilfully is responsible for, encourages, aids, causes or connives at or who knowingly or wilfully does any act to produce, promote or contribute to the condition which caused such child to be adjudged delinquent, neglected, or in need of the care, protection or discipline of the state, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1919, c. 97, s. 19.)

Jurisdiction.—The juvenile courts of the State are now given by statute exclusive original jurisdiction of delinquent children under sixteen years of age, with prescribed procedure by which an adjudication may be therein determined. State v. Ferguson, 191 N. C. 668, 132 S. E. 664.

§ 5058. Appeals.—An appeal may be taken from any judgment or order of the juvenile court to the superior court having jurisdiction in the county by the parent or, in case there is no parent, by the guardian, custodian or next friend of any child, or by any adult described in the two preceding sections of this article whose case has been heard by the juvenile court. Such appeal shall be taken in the manner provided for appeals to the superior court; and written notice of such appeal shall be filed with the juvenile court within five days after the issuance of the judgment or order of such court. (1919, c. 97, s. 20.)

Authority of Superior Court Judge.—Where the proceedings for the custody of a child under sixteen years had been transferred to the juvenile court, and comes again to the Superior Court judge on appeal, the judge of the latter court has authority to review the findings of fact and the judgment of the former court, under the supervision and control given him by the statute, this section, and his findings upon competent evidence are conclusive an appeal to the Supreme Court. In re Hamilton, 182 N. C. 44, 108 S. E. 385.

Where the Superior Court judge has referred a proceeding brought by a husband in that court for the custody of his child, less than sixteen years of age, and the matter comes on appeal to the Superior Court again, the validity of the order sending or transferring the petition to the juvenile court for original investigation does not present a controlling question, or affect the jurisdiction of the Superior Court on the appeal, for thereon the judge thereof has ample authority to hear the case, either because it was properly instituted in the first instance or by virtue of the appeal. In re Hamilton, 182 N. C. 44, 108 S. E. 385.

Application First Made to Juvenile Court.—Where the parent of a child that has been adjudicated a ward of the State under the statute relating to juvenile courts afterwards claims the possession of the child, the procedure requires that she make application to the juvenile court that had adjudicated the matter in order to avoid conflict and uncertainty as to status or condition of the child, to the end that an investigation be made of the circumstances in the course and practice of the courts. In re Coston, 187 N. C. 509, 122 S. E. 183.

Writ of Habeas Corpus.—The statutory remedy by appeal being provided from the determination of the juvenile court from its judgment that a certain child comes within the statutory provisions, and the status of the child has been ascertained by the juvenile court as being that of a ward of the State, the writ of habeas corpus is not available to the parent or other claiming the child, unless in rare and exceptional cases wherein the welfare of the child has not been properly provided for. In re Coston, 187 N. C. 509, 122 S. E. 183.

While prima facie the parent has the right to the custody of his child in preference to others, this right is not an absolute one and must yield when the best interest of the child requires it; and when the father has filed his petition in habeas corpus proceedings for the custody of his child in the possession of his deceased wife's parents, the award of the Superior Court Judge for the respondents upon findings, sustained by the evidence, that the father was an unsuitable person, and that the best interest of the child required that she should remain with her grandparents, will not be distributed in the Supreme Court on appeal. In re Hamilton, 182 N. C. 44, 108 S. E. 385.

§ 5059. Compensation of judge.—The judge of the juvenile court shall be paid a reasonable compensation for his services, the amount to be determined by the county commissioners, and the amount thus determined by the county commissioners shall be charged against the public funds of the county. And such compensation shall be independent of any compensation which may come to him as clerk of the superior court. (1919, c. 97, s. 21.)

§ 5060. Public officers and institutions to aid.—It is hereby made the duty of every state, county or municipal official or department to render such assistance and coöperation within his or its jurisdiction or power as shall further the objects of this article. All institutions or other agencies to which any person coming within the provisions of this article may be sent are hereby required to give such information concerning such child to the court or to any other officer appointed by it as said court or official may require for the purposes of this article. The court is authorized to seek the coöperation of all societies, organizations or individuals to the end that the court may be assisted in every way in the discharge of its duties. (1919, c. 97, s. 22.)

§ 5061. Rules of procedure devised by court.—The court shall have power to devise and publish rules to regulate the procedure in cases coming within the provisions of this article and for the conduct of all probation and other officers of the court in such cases. The court shall devise and cause to be printed for public use such forms for records and for various petitions, orders, processes, and other papers in the cases coming within this article as shall meet the requirements thereof, and all expenses incurred in complying with the provisions of this article shall be a public charge. (1919, c. 97, s. 23.)

§ 5062. City juvenile courts and probation officers.—Every city in North Carolina where the population was, by the census of one thousand nine hundred and twenty, ten thousand or more shall maintain a juvenile court, to which is hereby given the powers, duties and obligations of this article to be exercised within their territorial boundaries. Such city juvenile courts shall conduct their business in accordance with the procedure set forth in this article as applying to the county juvenile court. It is hereby made the duty of governing bodies of such cities to make provision for such courts and bear the expense thereof, either by requiring the recorder to act as a juvenile judge or by the appointment of a separate judge. The governing bodies of such cities shall also appoint one or more assistant probation officers who shall serve within its jurisdiction under the general supervision of the chief probation officer of the county, which chief probation officer of the county is hereby made the chief probation officer of the city court herein provided for. The salary of the chief juvenile court judge shall be fixed and paid by the governing body of the city, and such governing bodies are hereby given authority to expend such sums from the public funds of the city as may be required to carry this article into effect.

In case it may appear to the governing bodies of such cities herein described that it would be best to allow the county juvenile court to transact the business of the city, they may make such provisions and agreements with the county commissioners for the expense of the joint court as may be agreed upon, and in such event such a city is hereby permitted to make such arrangement in lieu of establishing a city juvenile court. But in case the county commissioners will not agree to such arrangement, then the city must establish a juvenile court, as provided in this section.

Any town of five thousand population which is not a county seat, and in which there is a recorder's court, may, if deemed advisable and necessary by the governing body, provide for the conduct of a juvenile court within the territorial jurisdiction of such recorder's court: Provided, that the provisions and procedure of this article are fully followed as in case for towns of ten thousand inhabitants. (1919, c. 97, s. 24; 1923, c. 193.)

Editor's Note.—This section formerly provided for the maintenance of a juvenile court in every city, where the population was, by the census of 1910, ten thousand, instead of the present provision, estimating the population by the census of 1920, as charged by Public Laws, 1923, ch. 193.

Art. 3. Control over Indigent Children

§ 5063. Institution has authority of parent or guardian.—Every indigent child which may be placed in any orphanage, children's home, or child-placing institution in this state, which shall be an institution existing under and by virtue of the laws of this state, shall be under the control of the authorities of such institution so long as, under the rules and regulations of such institution, the child is entitled to remain in the same. The authority of the institution shall be the same as that of a parent or guardian before the child was placed in the institution; but such authority shall extend only to the person of the child. (1917, c. 133, s. 1.)

§ 5064. Regulations of institution not abrogated.—Nothing in this article shall be construed in any way to abrogate any of the rules and regulations of such institutions in so far as the rules and regulations have for their purpose the welfare and protection of the institutions. (1917, c. 133, s. 2.)

§ 5065. Enticing a child from institution.—It is unlawful for any person to entice or attempt to entice, persuade, harbor, or conceal, or in any manner induce any indigent child to leave any of the institutions hereinbefore mentioned without the knowledge or consent of the authorities of such institutions. But this article shall not interfere with a mother's right to her child in case she becomes able to sustain her child; and the county commissioners in the county in which she resides shall in case of doubt have authority to recommend to the institution concerning the child. (1917, c. 133, s. 3.)

§ 5066. Violation a misdemeanor.—Any person violating any of the provisions of the three preceding sections shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court. (1917, c. 133, s. 4.)

§ 5067. Institutions for care of children must have license.—It shall be unlawful for any person, institution, or organization for the purpose of caring for or placing children to carry on such work or business without having in full force a written license therefor from the state board of charities and public welfare. (1919, c. 46.)

Art. 4. Aid of Needy Orphans in Homes of Worthy Mothers

§ 5067(a). Allowance by counties authorized.—The board of county commissioners of the several counties of the state are authorized, in their discretion, to make all allowance to any eligible mother (as hereinafter explained and defined) for her support, where she is left with a child or children under fourteen years of age, under the conditions hereinafter set forth. (1923, c. 260, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The provisions of this act are summarized in 1 N. C. Law Rev. 273.

§ 5067(b). Determination of amount; recommendation.—The county board of charities and public welfare of any county, after investigation by the county superintendent of welfare, may determine what amount within the provisions of this article is advisible for the care of a child or children, and shall recommend to the board of county commissioners that an appropriation be made for the support of such mother and child or children under fourteen years of age. (1923, c. 260, s. 2.)

§ 5067(c). Maximum allowances; extraordinary circumstances.—The maximum amount to be allowed per month under this article shall not exceed fifteen dollars for one child, ten dollars additional for the second child, and five dollars additional for the third child, or any excess of three: Provided, the total amount shall not exceed forty dollars, except in extraordinary circumstances in which it appears to the satisfaction of the board of county commissioners that a total of forty dollars per month would be insufficient to secure the purposes above set forth. (1923, c. 260, s. 3.)

§ 5067(d). Eligibility; aid by relatives or charitable associations.—To be eligible to apply for mother's aid a woman must be the mother of a child or children under fourteen years of age, a resident of the state of North Carolina for three years, and a resident of the county for one year preceding, and possessed of sufficient mental, moral, and physical fitness to be capable of maintaining a home for herself and child or children and prevented only from lack of means. Such person must be either a widow, or divorced, or deserted, if it be found impossible to require the husband to support her, or if the husband is found to be mentally or physically incapacitated to support his family, or if the husband be confined in any jail and assigned to work the roads of any county or in any penal or eleemosynary institution, provided no relative is able and willing to undertake sufficient aid: Provided, that if the mother is given partial aid or assistance by any relative or charitable organization, the board of county commissioners, in their discretion, may make allowance to such mother to help out the same where it may be necessary, in their opinion and judgment. (1923, c. 260, s. 4.)

§ 5067(e). Approval by juvenile court.— Any board of county commissioners taking advantage of the provisions of this statute may require that the report of the investigation of the county superintendent of welfare in every case shall be presented to and approved by the judge of the juvenile court in that county before making an appropriation. (1923, c. 260, s. 5.)

§ 5067(f). Oversight of administration of law; reports of county superintendent; notice from state board to county.—The state board of charities and public welfare shall have general oversight of the administration of this article with the view to making it uniform throughout the state; shall furnish all necessary blanks and give such advice and help as it can in order to aid in sufficiently securing its purpose. The county superintendent of public welfare shall make his report on any case to the board of county commissioners in duplicate, one copy of which shall be forwarded at once, with the action of the board of county commissioners endorsed thereon, to the state board of charities and public welfare and one filed by the board of county commissioners with its records in the case. The state board of charities and public welfare shall at once notify the board of county commissioners of its approval or disapproval for reinbursement as provided in 5067(h), and the said board may suggest additional requirements for the consideration of the board of county commissioners. (1923, c. 260, s. 6.)

§ 5067(g). Determination of monthly allowance; order for payment.—After investigation by the county welfare officer, when the board of county commissioners shall adjudge that a mother is entitled to aid under this article, said board of commissioners shall determine the monthly amount that the board of county commissioners may allow, and order its treasurer in writing to pay said amount to the person designated by it, and continue the same monthly until the order be changed or the expiration of the time for which the order is limited. (1923, c. 260, s. 7.)

§ 5067(h). Statements furnished to state board; approval; vouchers.—At the end of each fiscal quarter the treasurer of the county wherein aid has been granted shall furnish an itemized statement in each case of amounts paid, duly certified by him under oath, to the state board of charities and public welfare. If each case thereon shall have been approved by the state board of charities and public welfare and all required regulations of this article shall have been fulfilled, the state board of charities and public welfare shall certify the account to the state treasurer, whereupon the state treasurer shall immediately make out and forward to such county treasurer his voucher for one-half of the total amount certified as having actually been paid out by the county. Such voucher shall be made out against any fund in the treasury not otherwise appropriated: Provided, the total amount for the state shall not exceed the amount appropriated for this purpose per year, to be apportioned among all the counties on a per capita basis: Provided, that if the board of county commissioners of any county shall fail to enter into an agreement with the State on or before the first Monday of June, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five, or on or before the first Monday in June of any succeeding year, that they will meet the State apportionment for mothers' aid in such county for the ensuing fiscal year, in accordance with the provisions of this article, then the amount appropriated to that county shall revert to the general mothers' aid fund and be available for apportionment to the counties complying with the provisions of this article, on the basis of the population of those counties. (1923, c. 260, s. 8; 1925, c. 275, s. 6; 1925, c. 292.)

Art. 5. Placing or Adoption of Juvenile Delinquents or Dependents

§ 5067(i). Bringing child into State for adoption without consent of State Board of Charities and Public Welfare.—No person, agency, association, institution or corporation shall bring or send into the State any child for the purpose of placing him out or procuring his adoption without first obtaining the consent of the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare. Such person, agency, association or corporation shall conform to the rules of the board and shall enter into a written agreement with the board to remove such child from the State, when requested so to do by the said board; that it will place the child under written contract approved by the board; that the person with whom the child is placed shall be responsible for his proper care and training; that the board and its agents shall have the same right of visitation and supervision of the child and the home in which it is placed as in the case of a child placed out by the board and its agents. Before the child shall be brought or sent into the State for the purpose of placing him in a home, the person, agency, association, institution or corporation so bringing or sending such child shall first notify the State board of its intention, shall certify to the State board that such child does not have a contagious or incurable disease, is not deformed, feeble-minded or of vicious character, and shall obtain from the State board a certificate stating such home is, in the opinion of the said board, a suitable home for the child. The person, agency, association, institution or corporation bringing or sending the child into the State shall report once a year or when the child is placed in another home, or at such other times as the board may direct as to the location and well-being of the child, so long as he shall remain within the State and until he shall have reached the age of eighteen years or shall have been legally adopted. (1931, c. 226, s. 1.)

§ 5067(j). Bond required. — No child shall be brought into the State under section 5067(i) until a justifiable and continuous bond not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) be furnished and maintained by the said person, agency, association, institution or corporation for the proper fulfillment of the requirements of section 5067(i). Said bond shall be made in favor of and filed with the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare with the premium prepaid by the said person, agency, association, institution or corporation desiring to place such child in the State. (1931, c. 226, s. 2.)

§ 5067(k). Consent of board before sending child out of State. -- No child shall be taken or sent out of the State for the purpose of placing him in a home, otherwise than by a parent, grandparent or guardian, unless the person, agency, association, institution or corporation so taking or sending him shall give the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare notice of its intention and furnish such information as the board may require. Such person, agency, association, institution or corporation shall place the child under written contract, approved by the board, that the person with whom the child is placed shall be responsible for his proper care and training and thereafter shall report to the board once a year and at such other times as the board may direct as to the location and well-being of such child until he shall have reached the age of eighteen years, or shall have been legally adopted. (1931, c. 226, s. 3.)

§ 5067(l). Consent of board where parents of child have not established legal settlement.—No person, agency, association, institution or corporation shall accept for the purpose of placing him out or procuring his adoption any child either legitimate or illegitimate born in this State of parents who have not established legal settlement in the State without first obtaining the written consent of the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare. (1931, c. 226, s. 4.)

§ 5067(m). Requisites for legal settlements. — No juvenile delinquent or dependent, coming from without the State of North Carolina, can acquire a settlement in this State, so as to constitute him or her a charge of the State, unless such juvenile delinquent or dependent has been continuously in the State of North Carolina for a period of three years. Art. 5. Public Warehouses

§ 5118. Who may become public warehousemen.—Any person or any corporation organized under the laws of this state and whose charter authorizes it to engage in the business of a warehouseman, may become a public warehouseman and authorized to keep and maintain public warehouses for the storage of cotton, goods, wares, and other merchandise as hereinafter prescribed and upon giving the bond hereinafter required. (Rev., s. 3029; 1901, c. 678; 1919, c. 212.)

Cited in Champion Shoe Machinery Co. v. Sellers, 197 N. C. 30, 32, 147 S. E. 674.

§ 5119. Bond required.—Every person or every corporation so organized under the preceding section, except such as shall have a capital stock of not less than five thousand dollars, to become a public warehouseman shall give bond in a reliable bonding or surety company, or an individual bond with sufficient sureties, payable to the state of North Carolina, in an amount not less than ten thousand dollars, to be approved, filed with and recorded by the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the warehouse is located, for the faithful performance of the duties of a public warehouseman; but if such person or corporation has a capital stock of not less than five thousand dollars, then it shall not be required to give the bond mentioned in this section. (Rev., s. 3030; 1901, c. 678, s. 2; 1905, c. 540; 1908, c. 56; 1919, c. 212.)

§ 5120. Person injured may sue on bond.—Whenever such warehouseman fails to perform any duty or violates any of the provisions of this chapter, any person injured by such failure or violation may bring an action in his name and to his own use in any court of competent jurisdiction on the bond of said warehouseman. (Rev., s. 3031; 1901, c. 678, s. 3.)

Carrier's Liability as Warehouseman.—The liability of a common carrier continues until notice is given consignee of arrival of shipment of goods at destination and a reasonable time given to remove it. Thereafter the carrier's liability is that of a warehouseman. Poythress v. Durham & Southern R. Co., 148 N. C. 391, 62 S. E. 515.

As to railroad's liability as a warehouseman, see Bank v. Sou. Ry. Co., 153 N. C. 346, 347, 69 S. E. 261.

Care Required of Bailee.—Where it was known to bailor at time of storage that the bailee knew nothing about tobacco, and had no experience in handling it, the bailee will not be held liable for injury resulting from want of skill and experience; but will be bound to use such ordinary care as a prudent man would exercise to guard against moisture in the structure of the warehouse and the location of the tobacco. Motley v. Southern Finishing Co., 126 N. C. 339, 35 S. E. 601.

While warehousemen are not insurers like common carriers, they are liable for damages, caused by their negligence, to articles stored with them. Motley Co. v. Warehouse Co., 122 N. C. 347, 30 S. E. 3.

Warehousemen Liable for Negligence. — Warehousemen are liable under the general law for damages caused by their negligence. Motley v. Southern Finishing, etc., Co., 124 N. C. 232, 32 S. E. 555.

Provision against Liability.—A provision in a charter of a warehouse corporation to the effect that such corporation shall not be liable for loss or damages not provided for in its warehouse receipt or contract, attempts to confer exclusive privileges and is therefore unconstitutional and void. Motley Co. v. Warehouse Co., 122 N. C. 347, 30 S. E. 3.

The measure of damages for property damaged while in the care of a storage or warehouse company is the difference between the market value of the property in its damaged condition and what it would have sold for, if undamaged, on the day of its return to the owner. Motley Co. v. Warehouse Co., 122 N. C. 347, 30 S. E. 3.

§ 5121. Insurance required; storage receipts.—Every such warehouseman shall, when requested thereto in writing by a party placing property with it on storage, cause such property to be insured; every such warehouseman shall give to each person depositing property with it for storage a receipt therefor. All warehouse receipts issued by warehousemen complying with the provisions of this chapter shall be valid and binding in the hands of all bona fide holders for value without registration. (Rev., s. 3032; 1901, c. 678, s. 4; 1905, c. 540, s. 2.)

As to Uniform Warehouse Receipts Act, see sections 4036 et seq.

§ 5122. Books of account kept; open to inspection.—Every such warehouseman shall keep a book in which shall be entered an account of all its transactions relating to warehousing, storing, and insuring cotton, goods, wares, and merchandise, and to the issuing of receipts therefor, which books shall be open to the inspection of any person actually interested in the property to which such entry relates. (Rev., s. 3035; 1901, c. 678, s. 7.)

§ 5123. Unlawful disposition of property stored.—If any person unlawfully sells, pledges, lends, or in any other way disposes of or permits or is a party to the unlawful selling, pledging, lending, or other disposition of any goods, wares, merchandise, or anything deposited in a public warehouse without the authority of the party who deposited the same, he shall be punished by a fine not to exceed two thousand dollars and by imprisonment in the state's prison for not more than three years; but no officer, manager, or agent of such public warehouse shall be liable to the penalties provided in this section unless, with the intent to injure or defraud any person, he so sells, pledges, lends, or in any other way disposes of the same, or is a party to the selling, pledging, lending, or other disposition of any goods, wares, merchandise, article, or thing so deposited. (Rev., s. 3831; 1901, c. 678, s. 11.)

As to warehouse receipts, see sections 4036 et seq.

Art. 6. Leaf Tobacco Warehouses

§ 5124. Maximum warehouse charges. — The charges and expenses of handling and selling leaf tobacco upon the floor of tobacco warehouses shall not exceed the following schedule of prices, viz.: For auction fees, fifteen cents on all piles of one hundred pounds or less, and twenty-five cents on all piles over one hundred pounds; for weighing and handling, ten cents per pile for all piles less than one hundred pounds, for all piles over one hundred pounds at the rate of ten cents per hundred pounds; for commissioners on the gross sales of leaf tobacco in said warehouses, not to exceed two and one-half per centum. (Rev., s. 3042; 1895, c. 81.)

A warehouse system to aid in the marketing of leaf tobacco is authorized by this section et seq. Champion Shoe Machinery Co. v. Sellers, 197 N. C. 30, 32, 147 S. E. 674.

§ 5125. Oath of tobacco weigher.—All leaf tobacco sold upon the floor of any tobacco warehouse shall first be weighed by some reliable person, who shall have first sworn and subscribed to the following oath, to wit: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will correctly and accurately weigh all tobacco offered for sale at the warehouse of ....., and correctly test and keep accurate the scales upon which the tobacco so offered for sale is weighed." Such oath shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county in which said warehouse is situated. (Rev., s. 3043; 1895, c. 81, s. 2.)

§ 5126. Warehouse proprietor to render bill of charges; penalty.—The proprietor of each and every warehouse shall render to each seller of tobacco at his warehouse a bill plainly stating the amount charged for weighing and handling, the amount charged for auction fees, and the commission charged on such sale, and it shall be unlawful for any other charges or fees to be made or accepted. For each and every violation of the provisions of this article a penalty of ten dollars may be recovered by any one injured thereby. (Rev., s. 3044; 1895, c. 81, ss. 3, 4.)

As to accounts, of the number of pounds of leaf tobacco sold, to be kept and reported to commissioner of agriculture, see sections 4926 et seq.

§ 5126(a). Checks for purchases of leaf tobacco to be payable to order.—The proprietor of each and every warehouse shall pay for all tobacco sold in said warehouse either in cash or by giving to the seller a check payable to his order in his full name or in his surname and initials and it shall be unlawful to use any other method. (1931, c. 101, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—This section, which prescribes no penalty for its violation, seeks to do away with checks payable to bearer and so apparently to diminish sales by thieves, dishonest tenants and others acting unlawfully. Question may arise as to the constitutionality of the section since it interferes with supposed freedom of contract. Store order and pay ticket laws suggest themselves as an immediate analogy. But these have not always been sustained and even if they were universally admitted to be constitutional, there is one notable distinction, i.e., that such laws prohibiting the giving to employees of merchandise orders to be used at company stores are aimed against oppression of the laborer—one of the contracting parties. In the present case, however, the payee seems actually to prefer the form of payment he receives—or he can freely have it otherwise on request—and the people to be protected are seemingly some outsiders whose interests may be prejudiced by the practice satisfactory to the parties. If the abuse is shown to be of a serious enough character, however, it is believed that the court will find it possible to sustain the section. The argument for its validity would seem to be advanced not at all by the fact that tobacco warehouses are or may be "affected with a public interest." 9 N. C. Law Rev. 387, 388.

Art. 6A. Dealers in Scrap Tobacco

§ 5126(a1). Application for license; amount of tax; exceptions.—Every person, firm or corporation engaging in the business of buying or selling scrap tobacco shall apply to the commissioner of revenue of North Carolina for license to engage in such business, and such applicant shall state the counties in which the said person, firm or corporation proposes to do business, and the place where the principal office of the applicant or warehouse of the applicant is situated, and shall pay to the said commissioner of revenue for the benefit of the State a license tax of one thousand ($1,000.00) dollars for each and every county in which the applicant proposes to do business: Provided, this shall not apply to scrap tobacco sold on floors of warehouses paying a license tax under section one hundred and forty-two, of the Revenue Act of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five [§ 7880(73)], or to tobacco scrapped by reason of processing by a manufacturer or processor of tobacco: Provided, this shall not apply to any person, firm or corporation regularly engaged in the business of buying, selling or processing leaf tobacco and properly licensed therefor, provided, scrap tobacco bought by such person, firm or corporation is delivered by the landlord thereof to the place of business of such purchaser. (1935, c. 360, s. 1.)

§ 5126(a2). Report to commissioner of agriculture each month.—On or before the tenth day of each month the said person, firm or corporation, engaging in the business described in section 5126(a1), shall make a report to the commissioner of agriculture of the State, stating the number of pounds of said scrap or untied tobacco purchased in each of the counties in which the said person, firm or corporation is doing business, and the price paid therefor in the previous month, and the purposes for which such scrap or untied tobacco is bought or sold. (1935, c. 360, s. 2.)

§ 5126(a3). Display of license; duplicate license.—If the person, firm or corporation licensed to engage in the business described in this section has a warehouse or office or fixed place of business, then such license issued by the commissioner of revenue shall be displayed in a conspicuous place in said office, warehouse, or place of business, and if such person, firm or corporation so licensed to do business herein decribed shall have no fixed office, warehouse or place of business, then such person and each of the partners and the representatives of the corporation buying such tobacco shall carry on his person said license, or a duplicate thereof, and exhibit it when demanded, to any officer who may request to see it, or to any person from whom such tobacco is bought, or to whom such tobacco is sold. Duplicates of any original license issued under this section shall be issued by the commissioner of revenue upon payment of an additional tax of five ($5.00) dollars for each duplicate license. (1935, c. 360, s. 3.)

Art. 7. Collection of Accounts

§ 5126(b). Permit from Insurance Commissioner.—Any person, firm or corporation within the State of North Carolina engaging in the collection of accounts for a percentage consideration of the account collected, or upon any other basis than regular employment, shall, before engaging in such business within the State of North Carolina, apply to and receive from the Insurance Commissioner, a permit to engage in such business, which permit shall at all times be prominently displayed in the main office of the person, firm, or corporation to whom or to which the permit is issued, and the number of said permit shall be printed in bold type upon all letterheads, stationery and forms used by the person, firm or corporation holding said permit. (1931, c. 217, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The title of the Act from which this section was taken includes detective agencies, but the body of the act makes no reference to such agencies.

§ 5126(c). Application to Commissioner for permit.—The person, firm, or corporation desiring to secure a permit as provided in section 5126(b), shall make application to the Insurance Commissioner upon such form as the Commissioner may provide, and shall submit with such application any and all information which the Commissioner may require to assist him in determining the financial condition, business integrity, method of operation and protection to the public offered by the person, firm or corporation filing the application. All information submitted shall be sworn to by the responsible officer, member of the firm, or individual, as in each case necessary, and the Commissioner shall have the right to require any and all additional information which, in his judgment, might assist him in determining whether or not the applicant is entitled to the permit sought. (1931, c. 217, s. 2.)

§ 5126(d). Hearing granted applicant if application declined; appeal.—If, for any reason, upon the application made and upon the consideration of the data submitted with the application or items, the Commissioner shall be of the opinion that permit should not be issued to the applicant, he shall decline the same, giving notice of his action to the applicant. Following notice, the applicant shall have ten days within which to submit additional information in support of his application, and if, upon further hearing upon the application and additional information, the Commissioner shall again decline to issue the permit, the applicant shall have the right to appeal to the Superior Court and his appeal shall stand for hearing in the Superior Court of the County of Wake, and the evidence, data and information submitted to the Commissioner shall constitute the record in the Superior Court, and the same shall be heard by the Judge of the Superior Court to determine whether or not the Commissioner had evidence sufficient to justify his action. (1931, c. 217, s. 3.)

§ 5126(e). Contents of permit and duration; application fee.—If, upon the application and information submitted as hereinbefore required, the Commissioner shall issue a permit to the applicant, giving the name of the applicant, his place of business and the nature and kind of business the applicant is engaged in, and shall assign to the permit a serial number for each year, beginning with July first, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one, upon the payment by the applicant of the sum of fifty dollars as the application fee, which fifty dollars the Commissioner, in his discretion, may require upon the filing of the application, and which fee, if such application is not granted, the Commissioner shall retain five dollars of the application fee so paid and return the remainder thereof to the applicant. The five dollars so retained upon applications not granted, and the full fee of fifty dollars upon all applications granted, shall be used in paying the expenses incurred in connection with the consideration of such applications and the issuance of such permits. Each permit issued shall be for the period of one year, beginning with July first and ending with June thirtieth, of the following year. (1931, c. 217, s. 4.)

§ 5126(f). Revocation of permit.—If the Commissioner shall have issued any permit to any person, firm, or corporation as herein provided, and shall have information that the holder of the permit is not conducting his business in a business-like way, he shall notify the holder of the permit of a date for a hearing, which notice shall name a time and place for the hearing, and at which hearing any and all evidence as to the conduct of the business may be heard by the Commissioner. If, upon the hearing of the evidence, the Commissioner shall be of the opinion that the applicant is not entitled to the permit, the Commissioner shall cancel said permit, after which time it shall be unlawful for the person, firm or corporation whose permit is cancelled to engage in the business covered by the permit. If the permit be cancelled upon hearing, either the holder of the permit or the complaining party shall have the right to appeal as hereinbefore provided in case the application is denied, and the record of the hearing before the Commissioner shall be the record in the Superior Court upon which the Judge shall determine whether or not the Commissioner had sufficient evidence upon which to base his action. (1931, c. 217, s. 5.)

Editor's Note.—Though "business-like way," as used in this section, is an exceedingly indefinite standard of conduct, the statute is probably valid, in view of the right of appeal to the courts. 9 N. C. Law Rev. 390.

§ 5126(g). Rules and regulations; schedule of fees.—The Commissioner shall have the right to make any rules or regulations necessary to enforce the provisions of this article and may approve schedules of fees and methods of collecting the same, or make any other rule or regulation necessary to secure the proper conduct of the business referred to in this article. (1931, c. 217, s. 6.)

§ 5126(h). Violation of article a misdemeanor.—Any person, firm or corporation who shall engage in the business herein referred to without first receiving a permit, or who shall fail to secure a renewal of his permit upon the expiration of the license year, or shall engage in the business herein referred to after the permit has been cancelled as herein provided, or who shall fail or refuse to furnish the information required of the Commissioner, or who shall fail to observe the rules and regulations made by the Commissioner pursuant to this article, shall, upon conviction, be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable in the discretion of the court. (1931, c. 217, s. 7.)

§ 5126(i). Disposition of fees. — All fees collected hereunder shall be credited to the account of the Insurance Commissioner for the specific purpose of providing the personnel, equipment and supplies necessary to enforce this article, but the Director of the Budget shall have the right to budget the revenues received in accordance with the requirements of the Commissioner for the purposes herein required, and at the end of the fiscal year, if any sum whatever shall remain to the credit of the Commissioner, derived from the sources herein referred to, the same shall revert to the General Treasury of the State to be appropriated as other funds. (1931, c. 217, s. 8.)

§ 5126(j). Attorneys at law and local county agencies excepted.—Nothing in this article shall be construed to apply to legally licensed attorneys at law engaged in the practice of the profession of law unless, however, such attorney shall engage in the business herein referred to under a trade name or as a corporation, nor shall this article apply or be construed to apply to any person, firm or corporation whose business of collecting accounts is limited to the collection of such accounts against debtors having residence in the county of the residence of such person or firm, or the principal office of such corporations so engaged in such business. (1931, c. 217, s. 9.)

CHAPTER 91A

COMMISSION FOR THE BLIND

§ 5126(1). Commission created; appointment by governor; ex-officio members.—There shall be established a state commission, to be known as the North Carolina State Commission for the Blind, consisting of three persons, to be appointed by the governor within thirty days after the passage of this chapter. The superintendent of the State School for the Blind and the state supervisor of vocational rehabilitation shall be ex-officio members of this commission. (1935, c. 53, s. 1.)

§ 5126(2). Term of office.—The full term of office of the members of this commission with the exception of the superintendent of the State School for the Blind and the state supervisor of vocational rehabilitation shall be five years. Part 5. Funds Provided for Pensions

§ 5168(u). Limit and distribution of appropriation.—"The State Auditor is authorized, empowered and directed to apportion, distribute, and divide the money appropriated by the State for pensions, and to issue warrents to the several pensioners pro rata in their respective grades: Provided, that no pensioner on the list shall receive more than one dollar ($1.00) per day annually: Provided, further, that if the money appropriated by the General Assembly for the Confederate soldiers, widows and servants is more than enough to pay them the amounts mentioned in this act, or if for any other cause, after paying the Confederate soldiers, widows and servants the amount stipulated in their respective grades as set out in this act, should there be an excess of the money appropriated for the first year, then the balance in the fund so appropriated for the first year shall revert and supplement the fund appropriated for the second year of the biennium: Provided, further, that any moneys herein appropriated for the purposes aforesaid, shall not be needed to pay the Confederate soldiers, widows and servants the amounts stipulated in their respective grades, then such moneys shall be paid by the State Board of Pensions into the treasury and become a part of the general fund appropriated by the State for other purposes: Provided, that no greater amount shall be paid out under this act than is appropriated under the general appropriation maintenance act. (1921, c. 189, s. 20; 1927, c. 96, s. 4.)

Legislative Right.—It is the exclusive right of the Legislature to determine and declare by whom and how the indigent of the State entitled to support shall be ascertained, and from what fund and by whom allowances for their support shall be made. Such tax shall be collected and accounted for by the sheriff or other tax collector in the same manner and under the same penalties as other taxes levied for the county, and the net proceeds thereof shall be applied each year to increase pro rata the pensions of such persons as stand upon the Confederate pension roll of the county for the year in which the tax is levied.

The amount collected under this section shall be disbursed by the county commissioners pro rata to the various pensioners in such county as shown by the state pension list for that county. (1921, c. 189, s. 21.)

As to special pension tax in Cumberland county, see Public Laws 1907, ch. 555.

Constitutionality. — Whether this section be regarded as general or special, it meets the requirements of Article V, section 6, and its efficacy is not impaired by this section of Constitution. It is a familiar principle that existing statutes not expressly or impliedly repealed by an amendment to the Constitution remain in full force and effect, and that a statute will not be declared void unless the breach of the Constitution is so manifest as to leave no room for reasonable doubt. Brown v. Jennings, 188 N. C. 155, 124 S. E. 159.

Part 6. Miscellaneous Provisions

(1921, c. 189, s. 24.)

County Liable for Expenses.—This section requires the $20 (now $30) on account of the burial of a Confederate pensioner to be paid by the board of commissioners of the county of the pension roll on which his name appears, irrespective of residence. Hannah v. Board, 176 N. C. 395, 97 S. E. 160.

§ 5168(aa). Exemption of pensions or compensations from taxation.—Every person receiving a pension or compensation from the state, or United States, or any foreign country or government, for and on account of wounds or physical disabilities contracted or sustained during the late war between the United States and Germany, and any of the allied countries coöperating with the United States, shall not be required to pay any tax of any kind upon such pension or compensation, but the same shall be exempted from any and all taxes. This section shall apply to all such taxes for the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three, and thereafter. (1923, c. 259.)

The board has the right, however, to retain at least ten per cent of the total expense it incurs for a year's operation to meet any emergency that may arise. (1925, c. 318, s. 7.)

§ 5168(jj). Such charges, unless dismissed without hearing by the board as unfounded or trivial, shall be heard and determined by the board within three months after the date in which they were preferred. A time and place for such hearing shall be fixed by the board and held in the county in which said charges originated. A copy of the charges, together with the notice of the time and place of hearing, shall be legally served on the accused at least thirty days before the fixed date for the hearing, and in the event that such service cannot be effected thirty days before such hearing, then the date of hearing and determination shall be postponed as may be necessary to permit the carrying out of this condition. At said hearing the accused shall have the right to appear personally and by counsel and to cross-examine witnesses against him, her or them, and to produce evidence of witnesses in his, her or their defense. If after said hearing the board unanimously votes in favor of finding the accused guilty of any fraud or deceit in obtaining license, or of gross negligence, incompetency or misconduct in practice the board shall revoke the license of the accused.

The board may reissue a license to any person, firm or corporation whose license has been revoked: Provided, three or more members of the board vote in favor of such reissuance for reasons the board may deem sufficient.

The board shall immediately notify the Secretary of State and the clerk of each incorporated city, town or county in the State of its finding in the case of the revocation of a license or of the reissuance of a revoked license.

The manifest purpose of the law is to promote the health, comfort, and safety of the people by regulating plumbing and heating in public and private buildings. Roach v. Durham, 204 N. C. 587, 591, 169 S. E. 149.

The license may be renewed upon payment of one-half the yearly fee and payment of the balance on or before June thirtieth of the current year. (1931, c. 52, s. 13; 1933, c. 57.)

Editor's Note.—Public Laws of 1933, c. 57, made the last proviso, as the section now reads, applicable in towns of less than 10,000 instead of 5,000. The act also added the last sentence relating to renewals.

It is obvious that the pervading intent of this section is to provide for the maintenance of the board and not to impose a tax as a part of the general revenue of the State and thereby exclude the operation of the police power. It is true that the act does not in express words authorize the exercise of this power, but in our opinion it appears by implication that the exercise of such power was intended. Roach v. Durham, 204 N. C. 587, 591, 169 S. E. 149.

CO-OPERATIVE ORGANIZATIONS

SUBCHAPTER I. BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION

Art. 1. Organization

§ 5169. Application of term.—The term "building and loan association," as used in this subchapter, shall apply to and include all corporations, companies, societies, or associations organized for the purpose of making loans to its members only, and of enabling its members to acquire real estate, make improvements thereon and remove incumbrances therefrom by the payment of money in periodical installments or principal sums and for the accumulation of a fund to be returned to members who do not obtain advances for such purposes. It shall be unlawful for any corporation, company, society, or association doing business in this state not so conducted to use in its corporate name term "building and loan association" or "building association," or in the manner or device to hold themselves out to the public as a building and loan association. (Rev., s. 3881; 1905, c. 435, s. 16.)

For a full treatment of Building and Loan Associations, see 2 Enc. Dig. 705, et seq.; as to taxation, see § 7880(64).

§ 5170. Method of incorporation; powers. — It shall be lawful for any persons in any city, town, or county of this state, under any name by them to be assumed, to associate for the purpose of organizing and establishing a homestead and building and loan association, and being so associated, they shall, on complying with this subchapter, be a body politic and corporate, and as such be capable in law to hold and dispose of property, both real and personal; may have and use a common seal; may choose a presiding and other officers; may enact by-laws for the regulation of the affairs of such corporation, and compel the due observance of the same by fines and penalties; may sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered in any court in this state, and do all acts necessary for the well ordering and good government of the affairs of such corporation, and shall exercise all and singular the powers incident to bodies politic and corporate: Provided, that before any such corporation shall be entitled to the privileges of this subchapter it shall file with the clerk of the superior court of the county where such corporation is designed to act a copy of the certificate of incorporation of such corporation, signed by at least seven members, to be recorded in the office of such clerk, and shall pay a tax of twenty-five dollars to the clerk, which tax shall be paid over by the clerk to the treasurer of the county, to the use of the school fund of the county. The clerk shall certify a copy of the charter to the insurance commissioner. The clerk shall not issue or record the same until duly authorized to do so by the Insurance Commissioner as hereinafter provided.

(a) Upon receipt of a copy of the certificate of incorporation of the proposed association, the Insurance Commissioner shall at once examine into all the facts connected with the formation of such proposed corporation, including its location and proposed stockholders, and if it appears that such corporation, if formed, will be lawfully entitled to commence the business for which it is organized the Insurance Commissioner shall so certify to the Clerk of Court in the county in which organized, who shall thereupon issue and record such certificate of incorporation. But the Insurance Commissioner may refuse to so certify, if upon examination and investigation he has reason to believe that the proposed corporation is formed for any purpose other than a mutual building and loan business, or that the character, general fitness, and responsibility of the persons proposed as stockholders in such corporation are not such as to command the confidence of the community in which said building and loan association is proposed to be located; or that the public convenience and advantage will not be promoted by its establishment; or that the name of the proposed corporation is likely to mislead the public as to its character or purpose; or if the proposed name is the same as one already adopted or appropriated by an existing association in the same county, or so similar thereto as to be likely to mislead the public.

(b) Upon receipt of such certificate from the Insurance Commissioner, the Clerk of Court shall, if said certificate of incorporation be in accordance with law, issue and cause same to be recorded in the records of his office as hereinabove provided. (Rev., s. 3877; 1905, c. 435, s. 1; 1931, c. 73.)

Editor's Note.—The Act of 1931 amended this section by providing for an investigation of its organizers, etc., substantially copied from the Banking Law. See § 217(c). The examiner of prospective building and loan associations is, however, the Commissioner of Insurance instead of the Commissioner of Banks. There would seem to be much reason for putting this preliminary examination into the hands of the new Commissioner of Banks. 9 N. C. Law Rev. 351.

§ 5171. Amendments to certificate.—Any addition, alteration, or amendment of the certificate of incorporation of any such corporation shall be signed, certified, and recorded as is provided in the preceding section. (Rev., s. 3878; 1905, c. 435, s. 2.)

§ 5172. Form of certificate.—Substantially the following form shall be used by associations to be formed under this chapter:

§ 5173. When to begin business.—Upon filing the certificate of incorporation with the clerk of the superior court of the county where the principal office of the corporation is located, and with the insurance commissioner, the company shall become a body politic and corporate, and shall be authorized to begin business, when licensed by the insurance commissioner. (Rev., s. 3880; Code, s. 2297; 1907, c. 959, s. 1.)

§ 5174. Chapter on corporations applicable. — All of the provisions of law relating to private corporations, and particularly those enumerated in the chapter entitled Corporations, not inconsistent with this subchapter, or with the business of building and loan associations shall be applicable to building and loan associations. (Rev., s. 3882.)

§ 5175. Charters validated. — The charters of all building and loan associations heretofore organized are hereby in all respects validated and confirmed, and all such associations shall have the powers and privileges of associations formed under this subchapter. (Rev., s. 3883; 1905, c. 435, s. 27.)

§ 5175(a). May become members of and hold stock in federal home loan bank.—Any building and loan association heretofore or hereafter organized under the laws of this state may subscribe to, purchase, hold, own and dispose of stock in any federal home loan bank, and may become members of any such bank authorized by or organized under an act of congress entitled "the federal home loan bank act," approved July 22, 1932. (1933, c. 20.)

§ 5175(b). Annual meetings.—The annual meeting of any such association shall be held at such time and place as shall be fixed in the notice of said meeting. There shall be published once a week for two weeks preceding such meeting, in a newspaper published in the county or town where the association has its principal office, a notice, signed by the secretary, of such meeting, and the time and place where the same is to be held: and such further notice shall be given as the charter or by-laws of the association may require. Notice of special meetings of shareholders shall be given in a like manner. Unless otherwise provided, twenty-five shareholders, present in person or represented by proxy, shall constitute a quorum at any regular or special shareholders' meeting. If no newspaper be published in the county or town in which any association has its principal office, then the notice above provided may be published by posting same at a conspicuous place in the office of the association, and a like notice at the door of the county court house. (1933, c. 19.)

The provision for special meetings of stockholders, of whom 25 shall constitute a quorum "unless otherwise provided," presumably means in the charter or by-laws, though the context might suggest a provision in the notice of the meeting. See 11 N. C. Law Rev., 206.

§ 5175(c). Conversion of building and loan associations into federal savings and loan associations.—Any corporation organized and existing under the laws of this State and operating as a building and loan association may convert itself into a federal savings and loan association pursuant to an act of Congress, approved June thirteenth, nineteen hundred and thirty-three, entitled "Home Owners' Loan Act of Nineteen Hundred and Thirty-three," and any amendments thereto, with the same force and effect as though originally incorporated under such act of Congress, and the procedure to effect such conversion shall be as follows:

1. The directors shall submit a plan of conversion to the insurance commissioner, and he may approve the same, with or without amendment, or disapprove the plan. If he approve the plan, then same shall be submitted to the shareholders as provided in the next sub-section.

2. A meeting of the shareholders shall be held upon not less than ten days' written notice to each shareholder, served personally or sent by mail to the last known address of such shareholder, postage prepaid, such notice to contain a statement of the time, place and purpose for which such meeting is called. It shall be regarded as sufficient notice of the purpose of said meeting if the call contain the following statement: "The purpose of said meeting being to consider the matter of the conversion of this corporation into a federal savings and loan association, pursuant to act of Congress approved June thirteenth, nineteen hundred and thirty-three." The secretary or other officer of the corporation shall make proof by affidavit at such meeting of due service of the notice or call for said meeting.

3. At the meeting of the shareholders of such corporation, called and held as above provided, such shareholders may, by affirmative vote of a majority of shareholders present, in person or by proxy, declare by resolution the determination to convert said corporation into a federal savings and loan association. A copy of the minutes of the proceedings of such meeting of the shareholders certified by the president or vice-president and secretary or assistant secretary of the corporation shall be filed in the office of the insurance commissioner of this State within five days after such meeting, and a like copy shall also be filed in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county in which such corporation has its principal office. Each of said certified copies when so filed shall be presumptive evidence of the holding and the action of such meeting.

4. Within a reasonable time after the receipt of a certified copy of the minutes of said meeting the insurance commissioner shall either approve or disapprove the same. If the proceedings be approved by him he shall so endorse the certified copy of the minutes in his office, and shall issue a certificate certifying his approval of the conversion and proceedings, and send same to the corporation. Such certificate shall be recorded in the office of the clerk of superior court of the county in which the corporation has its principal office, and the original shall be held by the corporation. If the commissioner disapproves such proceedings he shall mark the certified copy of minutes in his office disapproved and notify the corporation to that effect.

5. Within sixty days after the approval of the proposed proceedings by the insurance commissioner, the officers of said corporation shall take such action, in the manner prescribed or authorized by the laws of the United States, as shall make it a federal savings and loan association, and there shall thereupon be filed in the office of the insurance commissioner a copy of the charter or authorization issued to such corporation by the federal home loan bank board, or a certificate showing the organization or conversion of such corporation into a federal savings and loan association, and upon such filing with the insurance commissioner the corporation shall cease to be a state corporation and shall be deemed to be converted into a federal savings and loan association.

6. Whenever any such corporation shall so convert itself into a federal savings and loan association it shall thereupon cease to be a corporation under the laws of this State, except that its corporate existence shall be deemed to be extended for the purpose of prosecuting or defending suits by or against it and of enabling it to close its concerns as a state corporation, and to dispose of and convey its property. At the time when such conversion becomes effective all the property of the state corporation, including all its right, title and interest in and to all property of whatever kind, whether real, personal or mixed, and things in action, and every right, privilege, interest and asset of any conceivable value or benefit then existing, belonging or pertaining to it, or which would inure to it, shall immediately by act of law and without any conveyance or transfer, and without any further act or deed, be vested in and become the property of the federal savings and loan association, which shall have, hold and enjoy the same in its right as fully and to the same extent as the same was possessed, held and enjoyed by the state corporation; and the federal savings and loan association as of the time of the taking effect of such conversion shall succeed to all the rights, obligations and relations of the state corporation.

7. Any such corporation may, instead of effecting the conversion above provided, at a meeting called and held as above outlined, authorize the sale of all or any portion of its assets, subject to the approval of the insurance commissioner, to a federal savings and loan association or to a building and loan association of this state, and subject to the approval of the insurance commissioner, may authorize the taking of stock in the association so buying the assets in payment thereof; and upon liquidation of the selling corporation the stock so received shall be distributed to its shareholders. In the event such sale shall be authorized, and approved by the insurance commissioner, the directors and officers shall have full power and authority to do any and everything necessary to carrying same into effect. (1935, c. 104.)

Art. 2. Shares and Shareholders

§ 5176. Number of shares and entrance fee prescribed.—Any corporation created under and by virtue of this subchapter shall have power to declare in its certificate of incorporation the maximum number of shares of which the corporation shall consist to be in force at any one time, the par value of the same, to prescribe the entrance fee per share to be paid by each shareholder at the time of subscribing, to regulate the amount of the installments to be paid on each share, and the time at which the same shall be paid and payable; Provided, that not more than one per cent of the par value of each share of stock subscribed, may be paid as commissions or other remuneration for the soliciting and sale of stock. (Rev., s. 3887; 1905, s. 435, s. 3; 1931, c. 75.)

Editor's Note.—The Act of 1931 added the proviso to this section by which a building and loan association is prohibited from paying more than 1% for services in obtaining stock subscriptions. No penalty is attached for violation but the license of the association might be revoked under the provisions of § 5189 if any prohibited payments were discovered through the annual report (see § 5187) or otherwise. 9 N. C. Law Rev. 351.

Applied in Dorrity v. Greater Durham Bldg., etc., Ass'n, 204 N. C. 698, 169 S. E. 640.

§ 5177. Different classes of shares; dividends; reserve fund.—Every building and loan association doing business in this state shall be authorized to issue as many series or classes and kinds of shares and at such stated periods as may be provided for in its charter or by-laws: Provided, the dividends on paid-up stock shall be less than the association is earning, and such stock may have the right to share in the dividends between the rate paid and the earned per centum. Every association shall at all times have on hand, investments in obligations of the United States government or the government of the state of North Carolina, or stock in the federal home loan bank, or bonds issued by the federal home loan bank, or on deposit in such bank or banks as may have been approved by a majority of the entire board of directors, an amount equal to at least five per centum of the aggregate amount of paid-up stock outstanding, as shown by the books of the association. When the aggregate of investment or funds in hand or on deposit as herein provided falls below the amount required under this section, the association shall make no new real estate loans until the required amount has been accumulated: Provided that the refinancing, recasting or renewal of loans previously made, and/or loans made as a result of foreclosure sales under instruments held by the interested building and loan association, shall not be considered as new loans within the meaning of this section. (Rev., s. 3889; 1905, c. 435, s. 6; 1907, c. 959, s. 3; 1919, c. 179, s. 3; 1931, c. 107; 1933, c. 26.)

See 11 N. C. Law Rev., 207, for comment on changes made in this section by the 1933 amendment.

Editor's Note.—The Act of 1931 amended this section in two ways: (1) by doing away with all provisions about guaranteed dividends; (2) by requiring a reserve paid-up stock. Some confusion is introduced into the Act by two provisions as to its effective date. Section 1 declares that the Act shall not take effect till January 1, 1932; section 2 repeals conflicting laws: section 3 reads "This Act shall be in force and effect from and after its ratification" (which was Mar. 13, 1931). Apparently the Act has been a law of the State from last March but its provisions do not become effective as governing rules till next year. If any previous law is repealed by the second section it would seem to leave a gap till the date next year when the Act takes effect. No conflicting laws have been found, however. Consider the effect of the Act on past or future contracts like that involved in Fagg v. So. Building and Loan Association, 113 N. C. 364, 18 S. E. 655, 9 N. C. Law Rev. 352.

Public Laws of 1933, c. 26, substituted the above section in lieu of the former reading. A comparison of the old with the new is necessary to determine the changes.

Optional payment stock may be issued under this section. Lumpkin v. Durham Bldg., etc., Co., 204 N. C. 563, 169 S. E. 156.

§ 5178. Certificate issued and payment enforced.—Any such corporation shall have power to issue to each member a certificate of the shares held by him, and to enforce the payment of all installments and other dues due to the corporation from the members or shareholders by such fines and forfeitures as the corporation may from time to time provide in the by-laws or its certificate of incorporation. (Rev., s. 3888; 1905, c. 435, s. 4.)

§ 5179. New members admitted.—Any person applying for membership or shares in any corporation after the end of a month from the date of its incorporation may be required to pay, on subscribing, such sums or assessments as may from time to time be fixed and assessed in the manner provided by the corporation, in order to place such new member or shareholder or like footing with the original members and others holding shares at the time of such application. (Rev., s. 3886; 1905, c. 435, s. 5.)

§ 5180. Shareholders equally liable. — All shareholders shall occupy the same relative position as to debts, losses, and profits of the association: Provided, that this shall not prevent the payment of a lesser rate of dividend on paid-up stock as provided in section five thousand one hundred and seventy-seven, of the Consolidated Statutes, but this provision shall not prevent any association from receiving dues in advance, allowing such a rate of interest for the anticipated payments of dues as may be agreed upon by the directors. No series or class of stock shall be paid off until fully matured: Provided, that this section shall not prevent the cashing in of any stock before maturity. (Rev., s. 3884; 1905, c. 435, s. 7; 1907, c. 959, s. 2; 1919, c. 179, s. 2; 1931, c. 109.)

Editor's Note.—The Act of 1931 struck out the former section and inserted the above in lieu thereof. The stockholders equality feature of the law is now expressly qualified by a provision that a lesser rate of dividend may be declared on paid-up stock than on serially maturing issues. The proviso is new. What seems to be meant is that until the full matured value of serial stock is earned, i. e., until it has actually matured, it cannot be paid off at that ultimate figure under an agreement or guarantee, but that before maturity it may be cashed in at its value then accrued. This construction has been put upon the act as now amended by a building and loan officer who was consulted on the subject. 9 N. C. Law Rev. 352.

In General.—In case of the insolvency of a building and loan association, every person having stock therein, whether as creditor or debtor, must be considered a corporator, and every member indebted to it must be treated as a debtor. Strauss v. Carolina Interstate Bldg., etc., Ass'n, 117 N. C. 308, 23 S. E. 450; 118 N. C. 556, 24 S. E. 116. Such debtors are liable for authorized assessments to cover losses. New Bern Bldg., etc., Ass'n v. Blalock, 160 N. C. 490, 76 S. E. 532.

Liability of Corporation. — Where a corporation becomes the holder of stock in another corporation, e. g., a Building and Loan Association, which becomes insolvent, it may be held liable on the same, as an incorporator, in the association issuing the stock. Meares v. Monroe Land, etc., Co., 126 N. C. 662, 36 S. E. 130.

Stockholder and Debtor. — Where the borrower from a building and loan association takes out stock, to pay at maturity the debt secured by a mortgage on his building, he occupies, upon the bankruptcy of the association in the hands of a receiver in bankruptcy, two independent relations to the associations; that of stockholders, and that of debtor to the association, and he is not entitled to have his payments made on his shares of stock credited to his debt, as against the claims of the other creditors. Rendleman v. Stoessel, 195 N. C. 640, 143 S. E. 219.

§ 5181. Married women and minors as shareholders.—Married women and minors of the age of twelve years and upward are authorized and empowered to become shareholders in and buy, sell, hold, pay dues on, withdraw, transfer, and otherwise deal in the shares in any such association in the same manner and with the same powers, rights, and liabilities, force and effect as though such minors or femes covert were of full age or unmarried. (Rev., s. 3885; 1903, c. 728; 1905, c. 435, s. 1.)

Mortgage by Wife for Husband's Debts.—Where the husband is a borrower and incorporator of a Building and Loan Association and his wife joins him in a mortgage of her land to secure the debt, while she incurs no personal liability, yet she occupies the relation of surety to the extent of her mortgaged property. Meares v. Butler, 123 N. C. 206, 31 S. E. 477.

This section is a statutory exception to the general rule that contracts of infants are voidable at the option of the infant, and when so avoided are void ab initio. Coker v. Virginia-Carolina Joint-Stock Land Bank, 208 N. C. 41, 178 S. E. 863.

Art. 3. Loans

§ 5182. Manner of making loans; security required.—At such times as the by-laws shall designate, not less frequently than once a month, the board of directors shall hold meetings at which the funds in the treasury applicable for loans may be loaned. No loans shall be made by such association to any one not a shareholder thereof, nor to any shareholder for an amount greater than the par value of the shares held by such shareholder. Borrowers shall be required to give real estate security, either by way of mortgage or deed in trust unincumbered, except by the prior liens held by such association, accompanied by a transfer and pledge to the association of the shares by reason of which he became entitled to obtain such loan, as collateral security for the repayment of the loan: Provided, that the shares of any such association may be received as security for a loan on such shares of an amount not to exceed ninety per centum of the amount paid in as dues on such shares: Provided further, that liberty loan bonds issued by the United States government may be received as security to an amount not exceeding ninety per cent of the face value of such bonds, and not exceeding the par value of the shares of stock held by the borrower; and any loans heretofore made by any such association upon the security of such liberty loan bonds, within said limits, are in all respects validated. (Rev., s. 3890; 1905, c. 435, s. 8; 1907, c. 959, s. 4; 1919, c. 249.)

As to investment in bonds guaranteed by United States, see § 220(a) 1. As to loans on mortgages, etc., issued under federal housing act, see § 220(a) 2.

See notes to and cases cited under section 5183.

§ 5183. Repayment at any time.—Any member of such association who shall borrow from it shall have the right at any time prior to the maturing of the shares pledged as collateral for such loan to pay off and discharge his loan by paying the amount received by him, including the cost and expenses of making the loan, if the same has been deducted therefrom, with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum on the whole sum received by him to the date of settlement and all fines and dues then remaining unpaid. Upon such settlement he shall be credited with only the withdrawal value of his shares as fixed by the charter or by-laws, or by the directors of such association. In case of default by a shareholder who has borrowed from the association and a foreclosure of his mortgage or deed of trust, the amount of this indebtedness to such association shall be ascertained in the manner provided by this subchapter. (Rev., s. 3891; 1905, c. 435, s. 9.)

Stockholder Cannot Escape Payment of Losses.—Before availing himself of the privileges provided by this section the stockholder must have paid any assessments to meet losses of the corporation. New Bern Bldg., etc., Ass'n v. Blalock, 160 N. C. 490, 76 S. E. 532. See also Mears v. Davis, 121 N. C. 126, 28 S. E. 188.

Usury.—An illegal transaction cannot be settled. Dickens v. Bldg. Asso., 89 N. C. 37. And the usury laws apply to the same extent as to natural persons. Craven v. Ry. Co., 77 N. C. 289. These laws will be found as section 2305 et seq. of this code, and they cannot be changed by special legislation. Rowland v. Old Dominion Bldg. etc., Ass'n, 116 N. C. 877, 22 S. E. 8. No subterfuge such as calling the charges "fines," "dues." etc., or calling the borrower a partner will prevent the transaction from being usurious. Mills v. Bldg. Ass'n, 75 N. C. 292; Howell v. Southern Bldg., etc., Ass'n, 120 N. C. 286, 26 S. E. 781. A full exposition of usury will be found in the notes to section 2306, and the principles there stated are applicable when usury is charged by a building and loan association.

Same—Effect.—As stated in the notes to sec. 2306 the effect of usury is the forfeiture of the entire interest, and when already paid the recovery back of twice the amount of interest. Building and loan associations applying this principle are. Smith v. Old Dominion, Bldg., etc., Ass'n, 119 N. C. 249, 26 S. E. 41; Cheek v. Iron Belt Bldg., etc., Ass'n, 126 N. C. 242, 35 S. E. 463; Hollowell v. Southern Bldg., etc., Ass'n, 120 N. C. 286, 26 S. E. 781.

This rule is qualified, however, by the equitable doctrine that where the borrower seeks an affirmative relief, such as to prevent the foreclosure of his mortgage, equity will make payment of a legal rate of interest a prerequisite to the grant of relief. This principle is fully explained in the note to section 2306. Building and loan association cases applying the same are: Rowland v. Old Dominion Bldg., etc., Ass'n, 118 N. C. 173, 24 S. E. 366; Williams v. Maxwell, 123 N. C. 586, 31 S. E. 821.

Forfeiture of Mortgage on Default.—A contract, by which the stock, taken out by a borrower and assigned to the association, when the mortgage is executed, is forfeited to the association on default, without allowance of credit on the mortgage for the payments made on the stock, is unconscionable, and, though upheld by the laws of the association's own state, will not be enforced in North Carolina. Rowland v. Old Dominion Bldg., etc., Ass'n, 116 N. C. 877, 22 S. E. 8.

Refusal to Make Loan.—On refusal to make loan to subscriber, held, latter entitled to recover back money paid for shares of stock in association. Fagg v. Southern Bldg. etc., Ass'n, 113 N. C. 364, 18 S. E. 655.

§ 5184. Power to borrow money.—Any such association may in its certificate of incorporation, constitution or by-laws authorize the board of directors from time to time to borrow money, and the board of directors may from time to time, by resolution adopted by a vote of at least two-thirds of all the directors and duly recorded on the minutes, borrow money for the association on such terms and conditions as they may deem proper; but the total amount of money so borrowed shall at no time exceed thirty per centum of the gross assets of such association, and the same shall be used for no other purpose than to make loans to members in regular course of business or to pay maturing series of stock. In order to secure obligations for money borrowed under the provisions of this section, any such association may assign its notes, bonds and mortgages and/or other property, including the right to repledge the shares of stock pledged as collateral security, without securing the consent of the owner thereto, as security for the repayment of its indebtedness as evidenced by its bond, obligation or note given for such borrowed money. (Rev., s. 3892; 1905, c. 435, s. 10; 1909, c. 898; 1911, c. 61; 1913, c. 21; 1933, c. 18.)

Editor's Note.—Public Laws of 1933, c. 18, substituted the above section in lieu of the former reading. A comparison of the old with the new is necessary to determine the changes.

The chief change of the 1933 amendment is made by granting express authority to an association to pledge its assets as security for money borrowed. For further comment, see 11 N. C. Law Rev., 208.

(c) The numbers of the bonds of which notice of redemption is to be given shall be determined by lot, to be drawn by the president or the vice-president at a meeting of the trustees. (1925, c. 223, s. 19.)

§ 5207(t). Validity of bonds after maturity. — In case the holder of any bond outstanding shall not have presented the same for payment within the period of two years after its maturity or within two years after the date fixed for the redemption, as the case may be, then such bonds shall cease to be a lien upon the mortgages, moneys, and securities pledged to the State Treasurer and deposited with him as security therefor, but such bond shall still constitute, until the statute of limitation running against such bonds shall have expired, a single legal money claim or demand against the land mortgage association issuing the same, and be recoverable from it in a suit at law, and in no event shall any interest be collectible upon such bond after the maturity thereof or after the date fixed for its redemption. (1925, c. 223, s. 20.)

§ 5207(u). Bonds as payment.—If the association gives notice to a debtor for repayment of the mortgage loan the latter must pay to the association in cash or in its bonds at par the face of the same so far as it has not yet been covered by his assets in the amortization and payments. (1925, c. 223, s. 21.)

§ 5207(v). § 5207(w). Applications of earnings; reserve fund.—The gross earnings of the association shall be ascertained annually, and there shall first be deducted therefrom the expenses incurred by the association for the preceding year and the balance thereof shall be set aside as a reserve fund for the payment of contingent losses, to an amount equal to two per cent of the capital stock outstanding, and until such reserve fund equals twenty per cent of the capital stock of such association. (1925, c. 223, s. 23.)

§ 5207(x). Restriction on holding real estate.— No land mortgage association shall acquire real estate (other than for the occupation of its offices) except to protect its interests in case any of the mortgages owned by it are foreclosed and the property therein described sold to pay the indebtedness secured thereby. All real estate so acquired shall be promptly sold. (1925, c. 223, s. 24.)

§ 5207(y). Banking laws applicable.—The statutes relating to banks and banking in this State, that is, section two hundred and sixteen to two hundred and fifty-four, inclusive, of the Consolidated Revised Statutes of one thousand nine hundred and nineteen with all amendments thereto, as passed at the one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one, one thousand nine hundred and twenty three, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five sessions of the General Assembly, in so far as applicable and not in conflict with the provisions hereof shall apply to land mortgage associations. SUBCHAPTER III. CREDIT UNIONS

Art. 7. Superintendent of Credit Unions

§ 5208. Office created.—There shall be established in the State Department of Agriculture a superintendent of credit unions and such assistants as may be necessary, at salaries to be fixed by the State Board of Agriculture. (1915, c. 115, s. 1; 1925, c. 73, s. 4; 1935, c. 87.)

Editor's Note.—The Public Laws of 1925, Ch. 73 struck out all of the old section and inserted this one in its stead.

This and the following sections of the subchapter refer to "State department of agriculture," instead of "division of markets and rural co-operation," "state board of agriculture," instead of "joint committee for agricultural work of the state board of agriculture."

This subchapter was formerly entitled Savings and Loan Associations and the article headings conformed thereto. Public Laws 1935, chapter 87, provides: "In order to make the name of this organization conform with the names of similar organizations authorized by federal statute, the words 'savings and loan associations,' wherever appearing in Consolidated Statutes, sections five thousand two hundred and eight to five thousand two hundred and forty-one, inclusive, (Michie's Code of one thousand nine hundred thirty-one) shall be changed to read 'credit unions.'"

§ 5209. Duties of the officer.—The duties of the superintendent of credit unions shall be as follows:

1. To organize and conduct, in the state department of agriculture, a bureau of information in regard to coöperative associations and rural and industrial credits.

2. Upon the application of three persons residing in the state of North Carolina, to furnish, without cost, such printed information and blank forms as, in his discretion, may be necessary for the formation and establishment of any local credit union in the state.

3. To maintain an educational campaign in the state looking to the promotion and organization of credit unions; and upon the written request of twelve bona fide residents of any particular locality in this state expressing a desire to form local credit union at such locality, the superintendent or one of his assistants shall proceed as promptly as convenient to such locality and advise and assist such organizers to establish the institution in question.

4. To examine at least once a year, and oftener if such examination be deemed necessary by the superintendent or his assistant, credit unions formed under this subchapter. A report of such examination shall be filed with the state department of agriculture, a copy mailed to the credit union at its proper address. (1915, c. 115, s. 1; 1925, c. 73, ss. 2, 3, 5, 6; 1935, c. 87.)

See Editor's Note under preceding section.

Editor's Note.—The words "and industrial," in the first clause of this section, are new with the acts of 1925, ch. 73. Under the fourth clause of this section it was formerly required that a report of the examination, therein referred to, be also sent "to the clerk of the court of the county in which the principal office of the credit union or co-operative association"—the present saving and loan association, "is located, and such report" to be "kept on file by the clerk of the superior court for public inspection."

Art. 8. Incorporation of Credit Unions—Central Associations

§ 5209(a). Repealed by Public Laws 1935, c. 87.

§ 5209(b). Central association.—(1) Upon application of seven or more credit unions for a central corporation for the purpose of securing credit and discounting notes with any outside agency, and to act as a clearing house in the settlement of these accounts, the superintendent of credit unions shall, upon receipt and investigation of charters and by-laws signed by the secretary-treasurers of the several credit unions, approve same if he is satisfied they are in conformity with and give reasonable assurance that the affairs of the corporation will be administered in accordance with this article.

(2) The procedure and plan of organization, method of operation, officers and their duties, supervision, liquidation and dissolution shall be the same as with any local credit union; except that the membership of a central credit union shall be institutional and only local credit unions can become members, unless the by-laws otherwise prescribe.

(3) Any local credit union can become a member of a central association by subscribing to any number of shares and paying for same, in whole or in part, not to be in excess of twenty-five per cent (25%) of their share capital and reserve fund.

(4) Deposits in the central association may be accepted from any source in such amounts and upon such terms as the board of directors may determine and the by-laws shall prescribe.

(5) The secretary-treasurer shall cast the one vote of local member credit unions, in its annual election of officers and at all meetings of the member associations unless the by-laws otherwise prescribe.

(6) A central credit union shall not charge more than three fourths (3/4) of one per cent for discounting paper, provided that no discount rate shall make the interest higher than the legal rate.

(7) Section fifty-two eighteen (5218), article nine (9), subchapter three (3) of the Consolidated Statutes, shall not apply to a central association, and such an association shall have power to borrow money from any source in amounts not in excess of ten times the amount of its capital and reserve fund.

(8) A central credit union shall not be taxable under any law which shall exempt any local credit union. (1925, c. 73, s. 17; 1935, c. 87.)

6. The number of its directors, not less than five, all of whom must be members of and shareholders in the corporation.

7. The names and postoffice addresses of the directors for the first year.

8. The names and postoffice addresses of the subscribers to the certificate, and a statement of the number of shares of stock which each agrees to take in the corporation. (1915, c. 115, s. 2; 1925 c. 73, s. 3; 1935, c. 87.)

See Editor's Note under section 5208.

16. The manner in which the reserve fund shall be accumulated.

17. The manner in which dividends shall be determined and paid to members.

18. The manner in which a voluntary dissolution of the corporation shall be effected. (1915, c. 115, s. 2.)

§ 5212. Certificate of incorporation.—The by-laws acknowledged to have been adopted by all of the incorporators, together with the certificate of incorporation, shall be filed in the office of the superintendent of credit unions who shall approve the certificate of incorporation if he is satisfied that it is in conformity with this subchapter, and shall approve the by-laws if he is satisfied as to the character of the incorporators and that the by-laws are reasonable and will tend to give assurance that the affairs of the prospective credit unions will be administered in accordance with this subchapter. Thereupon, the superintendent of credit unions shall issue to the corporation a certificate of approval, annexed to a duplicate of the certificate of incorporation and of the by-laws, which certificate of approval, together with the attached duplicate certificate of incorporation and duplicate by-laws, shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the office of such credit unions is situated, and upon such filing the incorporators shall become and be a corporation. See Editor's Note under section 5208.

§ 5214. Restriction of use of terms.—The use by any person, copartnership, association, or corporation except corporations formed under the provisions of this subchapter, of any name or title which contains the words "credit union" shall be a misdemeanor. Such approval of the superintendent may be given or withheld at his discretion. (1915, c. 115, s. 25; 1925, c. 73, s. 3; 1935, c. 87.)

§ 5216. General nature of business.—A credit union may receive the savings of its members in payment for shares or on deposit; may loan to its members at reasonable rates of interest not exceeding the legal rate, or may invest as hereinafter provided the funds so accumulated, and may undertake such other activities relating to the purpose of the corporation as its by-laws may authorize. (1915, c. 115, s. 5; 1925, c. 73, s. 3; 1935, c. 87.)

§ 5217. Receive deposits.—A credit union may receive on deposit the savings of its members and also nonmembers in such amounts and upon such terms as the board of directors may determine and the by-laws shall provide. (1915, c. 115, s. 16; 1925, c. 73, s. 3; 1935, c. 87.)

The act struck out all of the third clause of the old section and substituted the present one in lieu thereof.

The act also inserted the word "local" before the words "credit union" in the fourth clause of the section and added the provisions that follow them.

§ 5220. Loans.

1. To Members.—A credit union may lend to its members for such purposes and upon such security and terms as the by-laws shall provide and the credit committee shall approve; but security must be taken for any loan in excess of fifty dollars. The corporation shall also be subject to procedure by the superintendent of credit unions as prescribed herein in article twelve. (1915, c. 115, s. 20; 1925, c. 73, s. 3; 1935, c. 87.)

See Editor's Note under section 5208.

At the close of each fiscal year there shall be set apart to the reserve fund twenty-five per centum of the net income of the corporation which has accumulated during the year. But upon the recommendation of the board of directors the members at an annual meeting may increase, and whenever such funds equal the amount of the capital may decrease, the proportion of profits which is required by this section to be set apart to the reserve fund. Nor shall the reserve fund in any case exceed the capital of the corporation plus fifty per centum of its other liabilities.

The reserve fund shall belong to the corporation and shall be held to meet contingencies, and shall not be distributed to the members except upon the dissolution of the corporation. (1915, c. 115, s. 21.)

§ 5223. Dividends.—At the close of the fiscal year a credit union may declare a dividend not to exceed six per cent per annum from the income during the year and which remains after the deduction of expenses, losses, interest on deposits, and the amount required to be set apart to the reserve fund. Dividends shall be paid on fully paid shares outstanding at the close of the fiscal year, but shares which become fully paid during the year shall be entitled to a proportional part of such dividends calculated from the first day of the month following such payment in full. (1915, c. 115, s. 22; 1923, c. 73, s. 3; 1935, c. 87.)

Such corporation shall then file in the office of the superintendent of credit unions such consent, attested by its secretary or treasurer and its president or vice-president, with a statement of the names and residences of the existing board of directors of the corporation and the names and residences of its officers duly verified. The superintendent of credit unions upon receipt of satisfactory proof of the solvency of the corporation shall issue to such corporation in duplicate, a certificate to the effect that such consent and statement have been filed and that it appears therefrom that such corporation has complied with this section. Such duplicate certificate shall be filed by the corporation in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the corporation has its place of business, and thereupon such corporation shall be dissolved and shall cease to carry on business except for the purpose of adjusting and winding up of its affairs. The corporation, by its board of directors, shall then proceed to adjust and wind up its business and affairs, with power to carry out its contracts, collect its accounts receivable, and to liquidate its assets and apply the same in discharge of debts and obligations of such corporation, and after paying and adequately providing for the payment of such debts and obligations each share, according to the amount paid thereon, shall be entitled to its proportion of the balance of the assets. The corporation shall continue in existence for the purpose of paying, satisfying, and discharging any existing debts or obligations, collecting and distributing its assets, and doing all other acts required in order to adjust and wind up its business and affairs, and may sue and be sued for the purpose of enforcing such debts and obligations until its business and affairs are fully adjusted and wound up. (1915, c. 115, s. 24; 1925, c. 73, ss. 3, 15; 1935, c. 87.)

See Editor's Note under section 5208.

The shares of credit unions, being hereby regarded as a system for saving, shall not be subject to any stock-transfer tax either when issued by the corporation or transferred from one member to another. (1915, c. 115, s. 26; 1925, c. 73, ss. 3, 16; 1935, c. 87)

See Editor's Note under section 5208.

If shares are held or deposits made in trust, the name and residence of the beneficiary shall be disclosed and the account shall be kept in the name of such holder as trustee for such person. Such shares or deposits may, upon the death of the trustee, be withdrawn by the person for whom the shares were held or for whom such deposits were made, or by his legal representatives. See Editor's Note under section 5208.

§ 5231. Expulsion and withdrawal of members.—The board of directors may expel from the corporation any member who has not carried out his engagement with the corporation, or has been convicted of a criminal offense, or neglects or refuses to comply with the provisions of this subchapter or of the by-laws, or who habitually neglects to pay his debts, or shall become insolvent or bankrupt. The members at a regularly called meeting may expel from the corporation any member who has become intemperate or in any way financially irresponsible; no member shall be expelled until he has been informed in writing of the charges against him and an opportunity has been given him, after reasonable notice, to be heard thereon.

A member may withdraw from a credit union by filing a written notice of his intention to withdraw.

The amounts paid in on shares or deposits by an expelled or withdrawing member, with any dividends credited to his shares and any interest accrued on his deposits to the date of explusion or withdrawal shall be paid to such member, but in the order of expulsion or withdrawal and only as funds therefor become available, after deducting and amounts due to the corporation by such member. The member shall have no further right in the credit union or to any of its benefits, but such expulsion or withdrawal shall not operate to relieve the member from any remaining liability to the corporation. (1915, c. 115, s. 23; 1925, c. 73, s. 3; 1935, c. 87.)

See Editor's Note under section 5208.

§ 5232. Meetings; right of voting.—The fiscal year of every such corporation shall end at the close of business on the thirty-first day of December. The annual meeting of the corporation shall be held at such time and place as the by-laws prescribe. Special meetings may be held by order of the directors or of the supervisory committee, and shall be held upon request in writing of ten per cent of the members. Notice of all meetings of the corporation shall be given in the manner prescribed in the by-laws. At all meetings of members or shareholders a member shall have one vote and but one vote, irrespective of the number of shares that may be held by him, and in case of sickness or other unavoidable absence of a member he shall be allowed to vote by proxy in writing, but no member present shall vote more than one such proxy. At any meeting the members may decide upon any question of interest to the corporation, and overrule the board of directors, and by a three-fourths vote of those present and represented, provided the notice of the meeting shall have specified the question to be considered, may vote to amend the by-laws. (1915, c. 115, s. 8.)

§ 5233. Election of directors and committees.

1. Number Elected.—At the annual meeting the members shall elect a board of directors of not less than five members, a credit committee and a supervisory committee of not less than three members each. However, in credit unions whose business offices are located in places other than incorporated cities, the board of directors as such may also be the credit committee. Except as hereinafter specified, no member of the board shall be a member of either of such committees, nor shall one person be a member of more than one of such committees. All members of committees and all directors, as well as all officers whom they may elect, shall be sworn, and shall hold their several offices for such term as may be determined by the by-laws.

2. Oath of Office.—The oath of each director, officer, and member of committee shall be the oath of the individual taking the same that he will, so far as the duty devolves on him, diligently and honestly administer the affairs of such corporation, and will not knowingly violate or willingly permit to be violated any of the provisions of law applicable to such corporation, and that he is the owner in good faith and in his own right on the books of the corporation of at least one share therein. Such oath shall be subscribed by the individual making it and certified by the officer before whom it is taken, and shall immediately be transmitted to the superintendent of credit unions and filed and preserved in his office. (1915, c. 115, s. 9; 1925, c. 73, s. 3; 1935, c. 87.)

See Editor's Note under section 5208.

§ 5234. Duties of board of directors.

1. Elect Executive Officers.—At their first meeting and at each first meeting in the fiscal year, the board of directors shall elect from their number a president, vice-president, a secretary, and a treasurer, who shall be the executive officers of the corporation. The offices of secretary and treasurer may, if the by-laws so provide, be held by one person.

2. General Management.—The board of directors shall have the general management of the affairs, funds, and records of the corporation shall meet as often as may be necessary, and, unless the by-laws shall specifically reserve all or any of these duties to the members, it shall be the special duty of the directors:

1. To act upon all applications for membership and the expulsion of members.

2. To fix the amount of the surety bond which shall be required of each officer having the custody of funds.

3. To determine from time to time the rate of interest which shall be allowed on deposits and charged on loans.

4. To fix the maximum number of shares which may be held by and the maximum amount which may be lent to any one member; to declare dividends; and to recommend amendments to the by-laws.

5. To fill vacancies in the board of directors or in the credit committees until the election and qualification of successors.

6. To have charge of the investment of the funds of the corporation except loans to members, and to perform such other duties as the members may from time to time authorize.

3. Compensation.—No member of the board of directors or of the credit or supervisory committees shall receive any compensation for his services as a member of the board or committees. But the officers elected by the board of directors may receive such compensation as the members may authorize. (1915, c. 115, s. 10.)

§ 5235. Duties of credit committee.—The credit committee shall approve every loan or advance made by the corporation to members. Every application for a loan shall be made in writing and shall state the purpose for which the loan is desired and the security offered. No loan shall be made unless it has received the unanimous approval of those members of the committee who were present when it was considered, who shall constitute at least a majority of the committee, nor if any member of the committee shall disapprove thereof; but the applicant for a loan may appeal from the decisions of the credit committee to the board of directors. The credit committee shall meet as often as may be required after due notice has been given to each member. (1915, c. 115, s. 11.)

§ 5236. Duties of supervisory committee.—The supervisory committee shall inspect the securities, cash, and accounts of the corporation and supervise the acts of its board of directors, credit committee, and officers. At any time the supervisory committee, by a unanimous vote, may suspend the credit committee or any member of the board of directors, or any officer elected by the board, and by a majority vote may call a meeting of the shareholders to consider any violation of this subchapter or of the by-laws, or any practice of the corporation which, in the opinion of said committee, is unsafe and unauthorized. Within seven days after the suspension of the credit committee the supervisory committee shall cause notice to be given of a special meeting of the members to take such action relative to such suspension as may seem necessary. The supervisory committee shall fill vacancies in their own number until the next regular meeting of the members.

At the close of each fiscal year the supervisory committee shall make a thorough audit of the receipts, disbursements, income, assets, and liabilities of the corporation for the fiscal year, and shall make a full report thereon to the directors. This report shall be read at the annual meeting of the members and shall be filed and preserved with the records of the corporation. (1915, c. 115, s. 12.)

Art. 12. Supervision and Control

§ 5237. Subject to superintendent of savings and loan associations.—Corporations organized under the provisions of this subchapter shall be subject to the supervision of the superintendent of credit unions. (1915, c. 115, s. 7; 1925, c. 73, s. 3; 1935, c. 87.)

See Editor's Note under section 5208.

§ 5238. Annual reports; penalty.— Every corporation organized under this subchapter shall, in January of each year, make a report for the previous calendar year to the superintendent of credit unions giving such information as he shall require, which report shall be verified by the oath of the treasurer and secretary, and by the oath of a majority of the members of the supervisory committee, and it shall make such other and further reports under the like oath as the superintendent shall demand at any time.

Any such corporation which neglects to make an annual report within the month of January, or any of the others required by the superintendent of credit unions at the time fixed by the superintendent, shall forfeit to the state five dollars for each day such neglect continues. (1915, c. 115, s. 7; 1925, c. 73, ss. 3, 7; 1935, c. 87.)

See Editor's Note under section 5208.

Editor's Note.—Under the first paragraph of this section it was formerly provided that the report, therein referred to, "shall be verified by the oath of the president, treasurer and secretary, as well as by the oath of a majority of the members of the supervisory committee". By Public Laws 1925, ch. 73, the word "president" is stricken out and the word "and" substituted in lieu of "as well as."

§ 5239. Annual examinations required.—The superintendent of credit unions shall cause every such corporation to be examined once a year and whenever he deems it necessary. The examiners appointed by him shall be given free access to all books, papers, securities, and other sources of information in respect to the corporation; and for the purpose of such examination the superintendent shall have power and authority to subpœna and examine personally, or by one of his deputies or examiners, witnesses on oath and documents, whether such witnesses are members of the corporation or not, and whether such documents are documents of the corporation or not. (1915, c. 115, s. 7; 1925, c. 73, s. 3; 1935, c. 87.)

See Editor's Note under section 5208.

§ 5240. Revocation of certificate.—If any such corporation shall neglect to make its annual report, as provided in this article, or any other report required by the superintendent of credit unions for more than fifteen days, or shall fail to pay the charges required, including the fines for delay in filing reports, the superintendent of credit unions shall give notice to such corporation of his intention to revoke the certificate of approval of the corporation for such neglect or failure, and if such neglect or failure continues for fifteen days after such notice, the said superintendent shall, at his discretion, revoke the certificate, and he, personally or by one of his deputies, shall take possession of the property and business of the corporation and retain possession until such times as he may permit it to resume business, or until its affiairs be finally liquidated as provided in the banking laws of the state. (1915, c. 115, s. 7; 1925, c. 73, ss. 3, 8; 1935, c. 87.)

Editor's Note.—The words "or any other report required by the superindendent of savings and loan associations," (now credit unions, see Editor's Note under section 5208) following the words "as provided in this article," in the first part of the section, are new with Public Laws 1925, ch. 73.

§ 5241. Deficits supplied; business discontinued.—If it shall appear to the superintendent of credit unions by any examination or report that any such corporation is insolvent, or that it has violated any of the provisions of this sub-chapter or any other law of the state, he may, by an order made over his hand and official seal, after a hearing or an opportunity for a hearing given the accused corporation, direct any such corporation to discontinue the illegal methods or practices mentioned in the order to make good any deficit. A deficit, in the discretion of the superintendent of credit unions may be made good by an assessment on the members in proportion to shares held by each member. If any such corporation shall not comply with such order within the time stipulated after the same shall have been delivered in person or shall have been mailed to the last address filed by such corporation in the office of the superintendent of credit unions (Provided, that not more than thirty (30) days shall be allowed) the superintendent shall thereupon take possession of the property and business of such corporation and retain such possession until such time as he may permit it to resume business or its affairs be finally liquidated, as provided in the banking law of the state. (1915, c. 115, s. 7; 1925, c. 7, ss. 3, 9; 1935, c. 87.)

Editor's Note.—The provision, in the third sentence of this section, that "the time stipulated after the same shall have been delivered in person or shall have been mailed to the last address filed by such corporation in the office of the superintendent of savings and loan associations (now credit unions, see Editor's Note under section 5208), (Provided, that not more than thirty (30) days shall be allowed)," is new with and substituted by the acts of 1925, ch. 73, in place of the former provision "sixty days after the same shall have been mailed to the last address filed by such corporation in the division of markets and rural co-operation," which was stricken out by same act.

SUBCHAPTER IV. CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATIONS

Art. 13. Organization of Associations

§ 5242. Nature of the association.—Any number of persons, not less than five, may associate themselves as a mutual association, society company, or exchange, for the purpose of conducting any agricultural, horticultural, forestry, dairy, mercantile, mining, manufacturing, telephone, electric light, power, storage, refrigration, flume, irrigation, water, sewerage, or mechanical business on the mutual plan. For the purposes of this subchapter, the words association, company, corporation, exchange, society, or union shall be construed to mean the same; Provided, that the membership of agricultural organizations incorporated under this sub-chapter shall consist of producers of agricultural products, handled by such organizations or by organizations owned and controlled by such producers. (1915, c. 144, s. 1; 1925, c. 179, ss. 1, 2; 1931, c. 447.)

Editor's Note.—This and the following sections are amended by Public Laws 1925, ch. 179 by striking out the word "co-operative" wherever it occurs in this subchapter and inserting in the lieu thereof the word "mutual."

The scope of this subchapter is enlarged by the new act which adds to the number of societies that may be organized thereunder the following: "horticulture, forestry, and telephone, electric light, power, storage, refrigeration, flume, irrigation, water and sewerage."

The Act of 1931 added the proviso to this section.

§ 5243. Use of term restricted.—No corporation or association hereinafter organized for doing business for profit in this state shall be entitled to use the term "mutual" as part of its corporate or other business name or title, unless it has complied with the provisions of this subchapter; and any corporation or association violating the provisions of this section may be enjoined from doing business under such name at the instance of any shareholder of any association legally organized under this subchapter. (1915, c. 144, s. 18; 1925, c. 179, s. 1.)

§ 5244. Articles of agreement.—The persons desiring to organize such association shall sign and acknowledge written articles which shall contain the name of the association and the names and residences of the persons forming the same. Such articles shall also contain a statement of the purposes of the association and shall designate the city, town, or village where its principal place of business shall be located. The articles shall also state the amount of authorized capital stock, the number of shares subscribed, and the par value of each. No shareholder in any corporation organized under this subchapter shall be personally liable for any debt of the corporation. (1915, c. 144, s. 2.)

§ 5245. Certificate of incorporation. — The original articles of incorporation of corporations organized under this subchapter, or a true copy thereof, verified as such by the affidavits of two of the signers thereof, shall be filed with the secretary of state. A like verified copy of such articles and certificate of the secretary of state, showing the date when such articles were filed with and accepted by the secretary of state, within thirty days of such filing and acceptance, shall be filed with and recorded by the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the principle place of business of the corporation is to be located, and no corporation shall, until such articles be left for record, have legal existence. The clerk of court shall forthwith transmit to the secretary of state a certificate stating the time when such copy was recorded. Upon a receipt of such certificate, the secretary of state shall issue a certificate of incorporation. (1915, c. 144, s. 3.)

§ 5246. Fees for incorporation. — For filing the articles of incorporation of corporations organized under this subchapter, there shall be paid the secretary of state ten dollars and his fees allowed by law, and for the filing of an amendment to such articles, five dollars and his fees allowed by law: Provided, that when the authorized capital stock of such corporations shall be less than one thousand dollars, such fee for filing either the articles of incorporation or amendments thereto shall be two dollars. For recording copy of such articles, the clerk of court shall receive a fee of fifty cents, to be paid by the persons presenting such papers for record. (1915, c. 144, s. 4.)

§ 5247. By-laws adopted.—At the time of making the articles of incorporation the incorporators shall make by-laws which shall provide:

1. The name of the corporation.
2. The purposes for which it is formed.
3. Qualifications for membership.
4. The date of the annual meeting; the manner in which members shall be notified of meetings; the number of members which shall constitute a quorum at the meetings, and regulations as to voting.
5. The number of members of the board of directors; powers and duties; the compensation and duties of officers elected by the board or directors.
6. In the case of selling agencies or productive societies, regulations for grading.
7. In the case of selling agencies or productive societies, regulations governing the sale of products by the members through the organization.
8. The par value of the shares of capital stock.
9. The conditions upon which shares may be issued, paid in, transferred, and withdrawn.
10. The manner in which the reserve fund shall be accumulated.
11. The manner in which the dividends shall be determined and paid to members.
12. Associations, societies, companies or exchanges, organized hereunder to engage in the telephone or electric light business upon a mutual basis, shall adopt a by-law limiting the patrons and subscribers to members of the association. (1915, c. 144, s. 5; 1925, c. 179, s. 4.)

Editor's Note.—This section is amended by Public Laws 1925, ch. 179, by adding thereto subsection twelve.

§ 5248. General corporation law applied; dealing in products of non-members. — All mutual associations shall be maintained in accordance with the general corporation law, except as otherwise provided for in this subchapter. And no corporation or association hereinafter organized under this sub-chapter for doing business in this State shall be permitted to deal in the products of non-members to an amount greater in value than such as are handled by it for members. (1915, c. 144, s. 17; 1925, c. 179, s. 1; 1931, c. 447, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—The Act of 1931 added the second sentence to this section.

§ 5249. Other corporations admitted.—All mutual corporations, companies, or associations heretofore organized and doing business under prior statutes, or which attempted to so organize and do business, shall have the benefit of all of the provisions of this subchapter, and be bound thereby on filing with the secretary of state a written declaration, signed and sworn to by the president and secretary, to the effect that the mutual company or association has by a majority vote of its shareholders decided to accept the benefits of and to be bound by the provisions of this subchapter. No association organized under this subchapter shall be required to do or perform anything not specifically required herein, in order to become a corporation. (1915, c. 144, s. 16; 1925, c. 179, s. 1.)

Art. 14. Stockholders and Officers

§ 5250. Certificate for stock fully paid.— Certificates of stock shall not be issued to any subscriber until fully paid, but the by-laws of the association may allow subscribers to vote as shareholders: Provided, part of the stock subscribed for has been paid in cash. (1915, c. 144, s. 11.)

§ 5251. Ownership of shares limited. — No shareholder in any such association shall own shares of a greater aggregate par value than twenty per cent of the paid-in capital stock, except as hereinafter provided, or be entitled to more than one vote. A mutual association shall reserve the right of purchasing the stock of any member whose stock is for sale, and may restrict the transfer of stock to such persons as are made eligible to membership in the by-laws. (1915, c. 144, s. 9; 1925, c. 179, s. 1.)

§ 5252. Shares issued on purchase of business.—Whenever an association, created under this act, shall purchase the business of another association or person, it may pay for the same in whole or in part by issuing to the selling association or persons shares of its capital stock to an amount which at par value would equal the fair market value of the business so purchased, and in such case the transfer to the association of such business at such valuation shall be equivalent to payment in cash for the shares of stock so issued. (1915, c. 144, s. 10.)

§ 5253. Absent members voting.—At any regularly called general or special meeting of the shareholders a written vote received by mail from any absent shareholders, and signed by him, may be read in such meeting, and shall be equivalent to a vote of such of the shareholders so signing: Provided, he has been previously notified in writing of the exact motion or resolution upon which such vote is taken, and a copy of same is forwarded with and attached to the vote so mailed by him. In case of sickness or other unavoidable absence of a member, he shall be allowed to vote by proxy in writing; but no member shall vote more than one such proxy. (1915, c. 144, s. 12.)

§ 5254. Directors and other officers.—Every such association shall be managed by a board of not less than five directors. The directors shall be elected by and from the stockholders of the association at such time and for such term of office as the by-laws may prescribe, and shall hold office for time for which elected and until their successors are elected and shall enter upon the discharge of such duties as are prescribed in the by-laws; but a majority of the stockholders shall have the power at any regular or special stockholders' meeting, legally called, to remove any directors or officer for cause, and fill the vacancy, and thereupon the directors or officer so removed shall cease to be a director or officer of the association. The officers of every such association shall be a president, one or more vice-presidents, a secretary and treasurer, who shall be elected annually by the directors, and each of the officers must be a director of the association. The office of secretary and treasurer may be combined, and when so combined the persons filling the office shall be secretary-treasurer. (1915, c. 144, s. 6.)

Art. 15. Powers and Duties

§ 5255. Nature of business authorized.—An association created under this subchapter shall have power to conduct any agricultural, horticultural, forestry, dairy, mechanical, mining, manufacturing, telephone, electric light, power, storage, refrigeration, flume, irrigation, water, sewerage, or mechanical business, on the mutual plan. (1915, c. 144, s. 8; 1925, c. 179, ss. 1, 3.)

§ 5256. Amendment of articles.—The association may amend its articles of incorporation by a majority vote of its shareholders at any regular shareholders meeting, or any special shareholders' meeting called for that purpose, on ten days notice to the shareholders. The power to amend shall include the power to increase or diminish the amount of capital stock and the number of shares: Provided, the amount of the capital stock shall not be diminished below the amount of the paid up capital at the time the amendment is adopted. Within thirty days after the adoption of an amendment to its articles of incorporation, an association shall cause a copy of such amendment adopted to be recorded in the office of the secretary of state and of the clerk of court of the county where the principal place of business is located. (1915, c. 144, s. 7.)

§ 5257. Apportionment of earnings.— The directors, subject to revision by the association at any general or special meeting, shall apportion the earnings by first paying dividends on the paid-up capital stock, not exceeding six per cent per annum, then setting aside not less than ten per cent of the net profits for a reserve fund, until an amount has been accumulated in the reserve fund equal to thirty per cent of the paid-up capital stock, and not less than two per cent thereof for an educational fund to be used in teaching coöperation, and the remainder of the net profits by uniform dividends upon the amount of purchases of shareholders and upon the wages and salaries of employees, and one-half of such uniform dividends to nonshareholders on the amount of their purchase, which may be credited to the account of such nonshareholders on account of capital stock of the association; but in selling agencies such as fruit, truck, peanuts, and cotton growers' associations, and in productive associations such as creameries, canneries, warehouses, factories and the like, dividends shall be prorated on raw materials delivered instead of on goods purchased. In case the association is both a selling and productive concern, or a service and distributing association the dividends may be on both raw material delivered and on goods or service purchased by patrons. (1915, c. 144, s. 13; 1925, c. 177, s. 5.)

Editor's Note.—The words, "or a service and distributing association" and "or service," in the last sentence of this section, are added, to the sentence as it formerly stood, by Public Laws 1925, ch. 179.

§ 5258. Time of distribution.—The profits or net earnings of such associations shall be distributed to those entitled thereto, at such times as the by-laws shall prescribe, which shall be as often as once in twelve months. (1915, c. 144, s. 14.)

§ 5259. Reports to secretary of state.— Every association organized under the provisions of this subchapter shall annually, on or before the first day of March of each year, make a report to the secretary of state; such report shall contain the name of the company, its principal place of business in this state, and generally a statement as to its business, showing total amount of business transacted, amount of capital stock subscribed for and paid in, number of shareholders, total expenses of operation, amount of indebtedness or liabilities, and its profits and losses. A copy of such report shall also be filed with the division of markets and rural organization conducted by the "Joint Committee for Agriculture Work" of the state board of agriculture and the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering, as provided in the chapter on Agriculture. (1915, c. 144, s. 15.)

SUBCHAPTER V. MARKETING ASSOCIATIONS

Art. 16. Purpose and Organization

§ 5259(a). Declaration of policy.—In order to promote, foster, and encourage the intelligent and orderly producing and marketing of agricultural products through coöperation, and to eliminate speculation and waste; and to make the distribution of agricultural products as direct as can be efficiently done between producer and consumer; and to stabilize the marketing problems of agricultural products this subchapter is enacted. (1921, c. 87, s. 1; 1935, c. 230, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — An excellent discussion of co-operation marketing will be found in 1 N. C. Law Rev. 216, and a review of the cases in 2 N. C. Law Rev. 222. Volume 27 of the Columbia Law Review pp. 827 et seq. contains an article on the constitutionality of this and the corresponding statutes of other states as being in restraint of trade. The soundness of the North Carolina decisions upholding the statute is questioned.

Public Laws of 1935 inserted the words "producing and."

Validity.—"The Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association Act, this and the following section of the chapter, was construed and its validity sustained in Tobacco Growers Co-Op.

Ass'n v. Jones, 185 N. C. 265, 117 S. E. 174." Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Bissett, 187 N. C. 180, 182, 121 S. E. 446. See the preceding Editor's Note.

Same—Assailed on Ground of Insufficient Signers. — In Pittman v. Tobacco Growers Co-op. Ass'n, 187 N. C. 340, 341, 121 S. E. 634, the Court said that the validity cannot be assailed by alleging an insufficient number of signers. This is a collateral attach and is not a direct attach by the State upon a quo warranto to vitiate the incorporation. Besides, there was no evidence of an insufficient sign-up, and if the plaintiff could bring a collateral attack to vitiate the organization, the burden is upon him to produce evidence to that effect.

Withdrawal of Charter. — It was held in the Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Jones, 185 N. C. 265, 117 S. E. 174, that since an association formed under this act had no capital, stock, surplus or credit except as given by the act, the legislature may withdraw its charter at any time and for this reason a monopoly is safe guarded against. For a constructive criticism of this holding see 27 Columbia Law Rev. 827 et seq.

§ 5259(b). Definitions.—As used in this subchapter—

(a) The term "agricultural products" shall include horticultural, viticultural, forestry, dairy, livestock, poultry, bee, and any farm products;

(b) The term "member" shall include actual members of associations without capital stock and holders of stock in associations organized with capital stock;

(c) The term "association" means any corporation organized under this subchapter; and

(d) The term "person" shall include individuals, firms, partnerships, corporations, and association.

Associations organized hereunder shall be deemed nonprofit, inasmuch as they are not organized to make profits for themselves, as such, or for their members, as such, but only for their members as producers.

This subchapter shall be referred to as the "Coöperative Marketing Act." (1921, c. 87, s. 2; 1935, c. 436, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The 1935 amendment omitted "common" which preceded the word "stock."

§ 5259(c). Who may organize. — Five (5) or more persons engaged in the production of agricultural products may form a nonprofit, coöperative association, with or without capital stock, under the supervision of this subchapter. (1921, c. 87, s. 3.)

§ 5259(d). Purposes. — An association may be organized to engage in any activity in connection with the producing, marketing or selling of the agricultural products of its members and other farmers, or with the harvesting, preserving, drying, processing, canning, packing, storing, handling, shipping, or utilization thereof, of the manufacturing or marketing of the by-products thereof; or in connection with the manufacturing, selling, or supplying to its members of machinery, equipment, or supplies; or in the financing of the above enumerated activities; or in any one or more of the activities specified herein. (1921, c. 87, s. 4; 1933, c. 350, s. 2; 1935, c. 230, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—Public Laws of 1933, c. 350, inserted, near the beginning of this section, the words "and other farmers" after the word "members."

The amendment of 1935 inserted the word "producing" preceding the word "marketing."

§ 5259(e). Preliminary investigation.—Every group of persons contemplating the organization of an association under this subchapter is urged to communicate with the chief of the division of markets, who will inform it whatever a survey of the marketing conditions affecting the commodities to be handled by the proposed association indicates regarding probable success. (1921, c. 87, s. 5.)

§ 5259(f). Articles of incorporation. — Each association formed under this subchapter must prepare and file articles of incorporation, setting forth:

(a) The name of the association.

(b) The purposes for which it is formed.

(c) The place where its principal business will be transacted.

(d) The term for which it is to exist, not exceeding fifty (50) years.

(e) The names and addresses (not less than five) of those who are to serve as directors for the first term or until the election of their successors.

(f) If organized without capital stock, whether the property rights and interest of each member shall be equal or unequal; and if unequal, the article shall set forth the general rule or rules applicable to all members by which the property rights and interests, respectively, of each member may and shall be determined and fixed; and this association shall have the power to admit new members who shall be entitled to share in the property of the association with the old members, in accordance with such general rule or rules. This provision of the articles of incorporation shall not be altered, amended, or repealed except by the written consent or the vote of three-fourths of the members.

(g) If organized with capital stock, the amount of such stock and the number of such shares into which it is divided and the par value thereof. The capital stock may be divided into preferred and common stock. If so divided, the articles of incorporation must contain a statement of the number of shares of stock to which preference is granted and the number of shares of stock to which no preference is granted and the nature and extent of the preference and the privilege granted to each.

In addition to the foregoing, the petition for articles of incorporation may contain any provision consistent with law with respect to management, regulation, government, financing, indebtedness, membership, the establishment of voting districts and the election of delegates for representative purposes, the issuance, retirement and transfer of its stock, if formed with capital stock, or any provisions relative to the way or manner in which it shall operate with respect to its members, officers, or directors, and any other provisions relating to its affairs; provided that nothing set forth in this paragraph shall be construed as limiting any of the rights or powers otherswise given to such associations.

The articles must be subscribed by the incorporators and acknowledged by one of them before an officer authorized by the law of this state to take and certify acknowledgments of deeds and conveyances; and shall be filed in accordance with the provisions of the general corporation law of this state; and when so filed the said articles of incorporation, or certified copies thereof, shall be received in all the courts of this state, and other places, as prima facie evidence of the facts contained therein, and of the due incorporation of such association. A certified copy of the articles of incorporation shall also be filed with the chief of the division of markets. (1921, c. 87, s. 8; 1935, c. 230, ss. 3, 4.)

Editor's Note.—The amendment of 1935 changed subsection "(e)" of this section and added the next to the last paragraph in its entirety.

When Agreement Becomes Binding. — The agreement to form an association under this subchapter, becomes binding at once upon its being accepted by the association after incorporation. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Jones, 185 N. C. 265, 117 S. E. 174.

§ 5259(g). Amendments to articles of incorporation.—The articles of incorporation may be altered or amended at any regular meeting, or any special meeting called for that purpose. "An amendment must first be approved by two-thirds of the directors and then adopted by a vote representing a majority of a quorum of the members attending a meeting of which notice of the proposed amendment shall have been given. Amendments to the articles of incorporation, when so adopted, shall be filed in accordance with the provisions of the general corporation law of this state. (1921, c. 87, s. 9; 1935, c. 230, s. 5.)

Editor's Note.—The amendment of 1935 changes the second sentence to this section. Prior to the amendment the adoption was by a majority of all members rather than by a majority of the quorum of the members attending a meeting.

§ 5259(h). By-laws.—Each association incorporated under this subchapter must, within thirty (30) days after its incorporation, adopt for its government and management a code of by-laws, not inconsistent with the powers granted by this subchapter. A majority vote of a quorum of the members or stockholders attending a meeting, of which notice of the proposed by-laws shall have been given, is sufficient to adopt or amend the by-laws. Each association under its by-laws may also provide for any or all of the following matters:

(a) The time, place, and manner of calling and conducting its meetings.

(b) The number of stockholders or members constituting a quorum.

(c) The right of members or stockholders to vote by proxy or by mail, or by both, and the conditions, manner, form, and effects of such votes.

(d) The number of directors constituting a quorum.

(e) The qualifications, compensations, and duties and terms of office of directors and officers; time of their election, and the mode and manner of giving notice thereof.

(f) Penalties for violations of the by-laws.

(g) The amount of entrance, organization, and membership fees, if any; the manner and method of collection of the same, and the purposes for which they may be used.

(h) The amount which each member or stockholder shall be required to pay annually or from time to time, if at all, to carry on the business of the association, the charge, if any, to be paid by each member or stockholder for services rendered by the association to him, at the time of payment and the manner of collection; and the marketing contract between the association and its members or stockholders which every member or stockholder may be required to sign.

(i) The number and qualification of members or stockholders of the association and the conditions precedent to membership or ownership of common stock; the method, time, and manner of permitting the members to withdraw or the holders of common stock to transfer their stock; the manner of assignment and transfer of the interest of members, and the shares of common stock, the conditions upon which, and the time when membership of any member shall cease; the automatic suspension of the rights of a member when he ceases to be eligible to membership in the association, and mode, manner, and effect of the expulsion of a member; manner of determining the value of a member's interest and provision for its purchase by the association upon the death or withdrawal of a member or stockholder, or upon the expulsion of a member or forfeiture of his membership, or at the option of the association, by conclusive appraisal by the board of directors. In case of the withdrawal or expulsion of a member of the board of directors shall equitably and conclusively appraise his property interests in the association, and shall fix the amount thereof in money, which shall be paid to him within one year after such explusion or withdrawal. (1921, c. 87, s. 10; 1935, c. 230, s. 6.)

Editor's Note.—The amendment of 1935 changes the second sentence to this section. Prior to the amendment the majority vote of all members was required instead of a majority vote of a quorum of stockholders attending a meeting.

§ 5259(i). General and special meetings; how called.—In its by-laws each association shall provide for one or more regular meetings annually. The board of directors shall have the right to call a special meeting at any time, and ten per cent of the members or stockholders may file a petition stating the specific business to be brought before the association, and demand a special meeting at any time. Such meeting must thereupon be called by the directors. Notice of all meetings, together with a statement of the purposes thereof, shall be mailed to each member at least ten days prior to the meeting: Provided, however, that the by-laws may require instead that such notice may be given by publication in a newspaper of general circulation, published at the principal place of business of the association. (1921, c. 87, s. 11.)

§ 5259(j). Conflicting laws not to apply.—Any provisions of law which are in conflict with this subchapter shall not be construed as applying to the associations herein provided for. (1921, c. 87, s. 20.)

§ 5259(k). Limtitation of use of term "coöperative".—No person, firm, or corporation, or association hereafter organized or doing business in this state shall be entitled to use the word "Coöperative" as part of its corporate or other business name or title unless it has complied with the provisions of this subchapter.

Any person, firm, corporation, or association now organized and existing, or doing business in this state, and embodying the word "coöperative" as part of its corporate or other business name or title, and which is not organized in compliance with the provisions of this subchapter, must, within six months from the date at which this act goes into effect, eliminate the word "coöperative" from its said corporate or other business name or title. (1921, c. 87, s. 21.)

§ 5259(l). Association heretofore organized may adopt the provisions of this subchapter.—Any corporation or association organized under previously existing statutes may, by a majority vote of its stockholders or members, be brought under the provisions of this subchapter by limiting its membership and adopting the other restrictions as provided herein. It shall make out in duplicate a statement signed and sworn to by its directors, upon forms supplied by the secretary of state, to the effect that the corporation or association has by a majority vote of its stockholders or members decided to accept the benefits and be bound by the provisions of this subchapter, articles of incorporation shall be filed as required in section 5259(f), except that they shall be signed by the members of the board of directors. The filing fee shall be the same as for filing an amendment to articles of incorporation. (1921, c. 87, s. 24.)

§ 5259(m). Associations not in restraint of trade.—No association organized hereunder shall be deemed to be a combination in restraint of trade or an illegal monopoly; or an attempt to lessen competition or fix prices arbitrarily, nor shall the marketing contracts or agreements between the association and its members, or any agreements authorized in this subchapter be considered illegal or in restraint of trade. (1921, c. 87, s. 26.)

Purpose and Effect of Act.—This chapter, is an enabling act whereby an organization among tobacco growers may be formed by the voluntary act of those joining therein for handling the product of its members, to enable them to obtain a fair price therefor without profit to the organization itself, in opposition to any agreement among the manufacturers or others that may have a contrary effect, and under conditions that will keep the public informed of its methods, and control them under governmental supervision when they go beyond a protective policy or become monopolistic in effect; and the statute, and the organization formed in pursuance thereof, are not objectionable as being in restraint of interstate commerce, or contrary to the law against monopolies or the public policy or Constitution of this State. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Jones, 185 N. C. 265, 117 S. E. 174.

Presumption in Favor of Validity.—The legal presumption is in favor of the validity of the marketing contract made by a member with the coöperative association, in an action by the latter against the former for its breach, which presumption will only yield when its illegal character plainly appears; and in this case there is nothing appearing that would indicate the association proposed to sell the member's tobacco for a greater sum than its true or actual value, or that it was acting in violation of the Anti-trust Law, or in restraint of trade. Tobacco Growers Co-op. Ass'n v. Jones, 185 N. C. 265, 117 S. E. 174.

Governmental Control as Affecting.—The governmental control to be exercised as herein prescribed renders the coöperative plan for the protection of its own members incapable of exercise to the extent of a monoply or restraint of trade prohibited by law. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Jones, 185 N. C. 265, 117 S. E. 174.

§ 5259(n). Partial unconstitutionality of law, effect.—If any section of this subchapter shall be declared unconstitutional for any reason, the remainder of the subchapter shall not be affected thereby. (1921, c. 87, s. 27.)

§ 5259(o). Application of general corporation laws.—The provisions of the general corporation laws of this state, and all powers and rights thereunder, shall apply to the associations organized hereunder, except where such provisions are in conflict with or inconsistent with the express provisions of this subchapter. (1921, c. 87, s. 28.)

Effect of Period Limiting Existence.—The provisions in the charter that an association under the provision of the coöperative marketing acts exists for five years, is the same as applies to a period limited for the existence of other corporations formed under other legislative acts, and does not contemplate that the association hold over the crops raised in one year for one or more successive years, such being destructive of the purposes of the association as contemplated by the statute. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Jones, 185 N. C. 265, 117 S. E. 174.

§ 5259(p). Annual license fees.—Each association organized hereunder shall pay an annual license fee of ten dollars ($10), but shall be exempted from all franchise or license taxes. (1921, c. 87, s. 29.)

§ 5259(q). Filing fees.—For filing articles of incorporation, an association organized hereunder shall pay ten dollars ($10); and for filing an amendment to the articles, two dollars and one-half ($2.50). (1921, c. 87, s. 30.)

Art. 17. Members and Officers

§ 5259(r). Members.—(a) Under the terms and conditions prescribed in its by-laws, an association may admit as many members, or issue common stock, only to persons engaged in the production of the agricultural products to be handled by or through the association, including the lessees and tenants of land used for the production of such products and any lessors and landlords who receive as rent part of the crop raised on the leased premises.

(b) If a member of a nonstock association be other than a natural person, such member may be represented by any individual, associate, officer, or member thereof, duly authorized in writing.

(c) One association organized hereunder may become a member or stockholder of any other association or associations, organized hereunder. (1921, c. 87, s. 7.)

§ 5259(s). Directors; election.—(a) The affairs of the association shall be managed by a board of not less than five directors, elected by the members of stockholders from their own number. The by-laws may provide that the territory in which the association has members shall be divided into districts, and that the directors shall be elected according to such districts. In such case the by-laws shall specify the number of directors to be elected by each district, the manner and method of reapportioning the directors and of redistricting the territory covered by the association. The by-laws may provide that primary elections should be held in each district to elect the directors apportioned to such districts, and the result of all such primary elections must be ratified by the next regular meeting of the association.

(b) The by-laws shall provide that one or more directors shall be appointed by the director of agricultural extension or any other public official or commission. The directors so appointed need not be members or stockholders of the association, but shall have the same powers and rights as other directors.

(c) An association may provide a fair remuneration for the time actually spent by its officers and directors in its service. No director, during the term of his office, shall be a party to a contract for profit with the association differing in any way from the business relations accorded regular members or holders of common stock of the association, or to any other kind of contract differing from terms generally current in that district.

(d) When a vacancy on the board of directors occurs, other than by expiration of term, the remaining members of the board, by a majority vote, shall fill the vacancy, unless the by-laws provide for an election of directors by districts. In such case the board of directors shall immediately call a special meeting of the members or stockholders in that district to fill the vacancy: Provided, that this subsection shall not apply to the director or directors appointed under the provisions of subsection (b) of this section: Provided further, that any vacancy occurring in the office of a director appointed under subsection (b) of this section shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointment was made. (1921, c. 87, s. 12.)

Validity of Tristate Provision.—The provision in the Co-operative Marketing Act for the appointment of a director by each of the governors of the three states of Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina is not objectionable on the ground that these three directors can control the other twenty-two chosen by the members under the plan outlined in the statute, the purpose therein being that the public may have opportunity to learn at all times how the business is being conducted, and to insure that it will be carried on in a manner that will not be detrimental to the public welfare. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Jones, 185 N. C. 265, 117 S. E. 174.

§ 5259(t). Election of officers.—The directors shall elect from their number a president and one or more vice presidents. They shall also elect a secretary and treasurer, who need not be directors, and they may combine the two latter offices and designate the combined office as secretary-treasurer. The treasurer may be a bank or any depository, and as such shall not be considered an office, but as a function of the board of directors. In such case the secretary shall perform the usual accounting duties of the treasurer, excepting that the funds shall be deposited only as authorized by the board of directors. (1921, c. 87, s. 13.)

§ 5259(u). Stock; membership certificates; when issued; voting; liability; limitation on transfer of ownership.

(a) When a member of an association established without capital stock has paid his membership fee in full, he shall receive a certificate of membership.

(b) No association shall issue stock to a member until it has been fully paid for. The promissory notes of the members may be accepted by the association as full or partial payment. The association shall hold the stock as security for the payment of the note, but such retention as security shall not affect the members' right to vote.

(c) Except for debts lawfully contracted between him and the association, no member shall be liable for the debts of the association to an amount exceeding the sum remaining unpaid on his membership fee or his subscription to the capital stock, including any unpaid balance on any promissory notes given in payment thereof.

(d) A coöperative association, incorporated under this law, may fix or limit in its by-laws the amount of stock which one member might own in said association.

(e) No member or stockholder shall be entitled to more than one vote.

(f) Any association organized with stock under this subchapter may issue preferred stock, with or without the right to vote. Such stock may be redeemable or retirable by the association on such terms and conditions as may be provided for by the articles of incorporation and printed on the face of the certificate.

(g) The by-laws shall prohibit the transfer of the common stock of the association to persons not engaged in the production of the agricultural products handled by the association, and such restrictions must be printed upon every certificate of stock subject thereto.

(h) The association may at any time, except when the debts of the association exceed fifty per cent (50%) of the assets thereof, buy in or purchase its common stock at book value thereof as conclusively determined by the board of directors, and pay for it in cash within one (1) year thereafter. (1921, c. 87, s. 14; 1935, c. 436, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—The amendment of 1935 changes subsection (d) of this section. Prior to the amendment no stockholder could own more than one-twentieth of the common stock and the association could in its by-laws limit the amount to less than one-twentieth.

§ 5259(v). Removal of officer or director.—Any member may bring charges against an officer or director by filing them in writing with the secretary of the association, together with a petition signed by ten per cent of the members, requesting the removal of the officer or director in question. The removal shall be voted upon at the next regular or special meeting of the association, and by a vote of a majority of the members, the association may remove the officer or director and fill the vacancy. The director or officer against whom such charges have been brought shall be informed in writing of the charges previous to the meeting, and shall have an opportunity at the meeting to be heard in person or by counsel, and to present witnesses; and the person or persons bringing the charges against him shall have the same opportunity.

In case the by-laws provide for election of directors by districts, with primary elections in each district, then the petition for removal of a director must be signed by twenty per cent of the members residing in the district from which he was elected. The board of directors must call a special meeting of the members residing in that district to consider the removal of the director. By a vote of the majority of that district, the director in question shall be removed from office: Provided, that this section shall not apply to directors appointed under subsection (b) of section 5259(s). (1921, c. 87, s. 15.)

§ 5259(w). Referendum.—Upon demand of one-third of the entire board of directors, any matter that has been approved or passed by the board must be referred to the entire membership of the stockholders for decision at the next special or regular meeting: Provided, however, that a special meeting may be called for the purpose. (1921, c. 87, s. 16.)

Art. 18. Powers, Duties, and Liabilities

§ 5259(x). Powers. — Each association incorporated under this subchapter shall have the following powers:

(a) To engage in any activity in connection with the producing, marketing, selling, harvesting, preserving, drying, processing, canning, packing, storing, handling, or utilization of any agricultural products produced or delivered to it by its members and other farmers; or the manufacturing or marketing of the by-products thereof; or in connection with the purchase, hiring, or use by its members of supplies, machinery, or equipment; or in the financing of any such activities; or in any one or more of the activities specified in this section. No such association, during any fiscal year thereof, shall deal in or handle products, machinery, equipment, supplies, and/or perform services for and on behalf of non-members to an amount greater in value than such as are dealt in, handled, and/or performed by it for and on behalf of members during the same period.

(b) To borrow money and to make advances to members and other farmers who deliver agricultural products to the association.

(c) To act as the agent or representative of any member or members in any of the above mentioned activities.

(d) To purchase or otherwise acquire, and to hold, own, and exercise all rights or ownership in, and to sell, transfer, or pledge shares of the capital stock or bonds of any corporation or association engaged in any related activity or in the handling or marketing of any of the products, handled by the association, or engaged in the financing of the association.

(e) To establish reserves and to invest the funds thereof in bonds or such other property as may be provided in the by-laws.

(f) To buy, hold, and exercise all privileges of ownership, over such real or personal property as may be necessary or convenient for the conducting and operation of any of the business of the association, or incidental thereto.

(g) To do each and everything necessary, suitable, or proper for the accomplishment of any one of the purposes or the attainment of any one or more of the objects herein enumerated; or conductive to or expedient for the interest or benefit of the association; and to contract accordingly; and in addition, to exercise and possess all powers, rights, and privileges necessary or incidental to the purposes for which the association is organized or to the activities in which it is engaged; and in addition, any other rights and powers, and privileges granted by the laws of this state to ordinary corporations, except such as are inconsistent with the express provisions of this subchapter; and to do any such thing anywhere. (1921, c. 87, s. 6; 1933, c. 350, ss. 2-4; 1935, c. 230, ss. 7-9.

See 11 N. C. Law Rev., 212, for review of this section as amended 1933.

Editor's Note.—Public Laws of 1933, c. 350, made this section applicable to a certain extent to other farmers not members. Prior to the amendment the association could not handle the agricultural products of a non-member.

Near the beginning of subsection (a) the amendment of 1935 inserted the word "producing." The amendment also changed the last sentence of that subsection and added the last clause of subsection (d).

Formation of Subsidiary Companies.—Objection to the validity of the Coöperative Marketing Act that an organization of tobacco growers thereunder has formed subsidiary or minor companies to cure tobacco, redry it, and store it, prize it, and get it ready for market, is without merit; the money for such purpose being very small, specifically limited and under a complete system for its return to its members who have contributed it, it being necessary for the association to own or control enough of the facilities to make effective the authorized purpose of its organization. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Jones, 185 N. C. 265, 117 S. E. 174.

§ 5259(y). Marketing contract.—(a) The association and its members may make and execute marketing contracts, requiring the members to sell, for any period of time, not over ten years, all or any specified part of their agricultural products or specified commodities exclusively to or through the association or any facilities to be created by the association. The contract may provide that the association may sell or resell the products of its members, with or without taking title thereto, and pay over to its members the resale price, after deducting all necessary selling, overhead, and other costs and expenses, including interest on preferred stock, not exceeding eight per cent per annum, and reserve for retiring the stock, if any; and other proper reserves; and interest not exceeding eight per cent per annum upon common stock.

(b) The by-laws and the marketing contract may fix, as liquidated damages, specific sums to be paid by the member or stockholder to the association upon the breach by him of any provision of the marketing contract regarding the sale or delivery or withholding of products; and may further provide that the member will pay all costs, premiums for bonds, expenses and fees in case any action is brought upon the contract by the association; and any such provisions shall be valid and enforceable in the courts of this state.

(c) In the event of any such breach or threatened breach of such marketing contract by a member, the association shall be entitled to an injunction to prevent the further breach of the contract, and to a degree of specified performance thereof. Pending the adjudication of such an action, and upon filing a verified complaint showing the breach or threatened breach, and upon filing a sufficient bond, the association shall be entitled to a temporary restraining order and preliminary injunction against the member. (1921, c. 87, s. 17.)

Validity of Standard Contract. — The provisions of the standard contract made by the Tobacco Co-operative Marketing Association with its members are valid under a constitutional statute, and upon the alleged breach thereof on the part of the member in its material parts, the equitable remedy by injunction is available to the association. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Patterson, 187 N. C. 252, 121 S. E. 631.

A co-operative association formed under the provisions of this act, whereby its members agree to sell and deliver to it all of the tobacco owned and produced by or for him or acquired by him as landlord or tenant, being, among other things, for the purpose of steadying the market and enabling the member to obtain a proper price for his tobacco and compensate him for his labor, skill, etc., exists by virtue of a constitutional statute, and the provisions of its standard contract with its members are valid and enforceable. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Battle, 187 N. C. 260, 121 S. E. 629.

Remedies for Breach by Member.—Upon the breach by a member of a contract for the sole handling of his crop the recovery of liquidated damages and all cost of the action, including premiums for bonds, expenses, and fees, and equitable relief by injunction to prevent the further breach of the contract by a member, and a decree of specific performance, can be had, and also pending the adjudication of such actions, a temporary restraining order against the member upon the filing of a verified complaint showing the breach of the contract, with the filing of sufficient bond. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Jones, 185 N. C. 265, 117 S. E. 174.

Same—Liquidated Damages.—The fact that the co-operative marketing contract provides for liquidated damages does not give the association an adequate remedy at law for its members otherwise selling their tobacco as provided in the marketing contract, as such would seriously menace the existence of the association for the purpose for which it was incorporated under the provisions of the statute. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Pollock, 187 N. C. 409, 121 S. E. 763.

Same—Specific Performance.—Injuries from the breach of contract by a member with the Co-operative Tobacco Marketing Association, formed under the provisions of chapter 87, Public Laws of 1921, to market his tobacco, etc., cannot be adequately compensated for in damages, and the equitable remedy of specific performance as allowed by the statute will be upheld by the courts. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Battle, 187 N. C. 260, 121 S. E. 629.

Same—Extent of Injunction Relief.—Upon an alleged breach on the part of the member the equitable remedy by injunction is available to the association. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Patterson, 187 N. C. 252, 121 S. E. 631.

Where the defendant resists injuctive relief upon the ground that he had not become a member, and the plaintiff's evidence tends strongly to show to the contrary, it was held that the injunction should be continued to the hearing upon the principle that the plaintiff has established an apparent right to the relief sought, and that the writ is reasonably necessary to protect the property pending the inquiry. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Battle, 187 N. C. 260, 121 S. E. 629; Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Spikes, 187 N. C. 367, 121 S. E. 636.

The temporary restraining order obtained under the provisions of the statute will not be continued if the breach of the contract complained of was caused by the plaintiff's own default, or if the continuance of the temporary restaining order will work greater injury than its dissolution by the court. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Bland, 187 N. C. 356, 121 S. E. 636.

The fact that the member gave a lien on his crop for advancements does not invade the rights of the association under the contract such that an injunction against selling the crop should be continued until the final hearing. This was especially true since the lienor was insolvent. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Harvey & Son Co., 189 N. C. 494, 127 S. E. 545.

The general denial by the association of owing the defendant anything under the contract, without detailed statement as to the account between them from information available to it, was insufficient against the defense that the defendant was forced to sell a small portion of crop to maintain his livelihood because of a failure of the association to pay for bulk of crop under contract; and an order of the Superior Court judge dissolving the restraining order upon defendant's giving a proper bond for plaintiff's protection was proper under the evidence in this case. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Bland, 187 N. C. 356, 121 S. E. 636.

Same—Justification for Breach. — A penalty in a small sum erroneously attempted to be imposed on a member by the tobacco marketing association, under its contract for the failure to market the tobacco of his non-member tenant, is not of sufficient proportionate importance to justify an entire severance of the contract relation by the member thereof. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Bland, 187 N. C. 356, 121 S. E. 636.

Same—Same—Shown by Parol.—Where a member of a co-operative marketing association, formed under the statute, resists the performance of marketing his tobacco with the association under the usual and written contract, he may show by parol that he had never been a member thereof or obligated by the contract sued on, for the failure of the association to obtain a certain membership within the territory. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Moss, 187 N. C. 421, 121 S. E. 738.

Right of Court to Continue Injunction to Final Hearing.—The right given to injunctive relief against a member breaching his contract, upon filing the bond and verified complaint showing such breach, or threatened breach, relates only to the initial process and does not, and is not, intended to withdraw from the courts their constitutional right to pass upon the question of continuing the injunction to the final hearing upon the issues, under approved principles of law and equity. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Bland, 187 N. C. 356, 121 S. E. 639.

Where the defendant has admitted breaking his contract and he expects to continue doing so, a temporary injunction should be continued until the final hearing. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Patterson, 187 N. C. 252, 256, 121 S. E. 631.

Right of Member to Mortgage Crop.—In Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Patterson, 187 N. C. 252, 256, 121 S. E. 631, it was said: "It is true that a member may place a mortgage or crop lien on his crop for the current year for the purpose of enabling him to successfully cultivate and produce the same, the contract between plaintiffs and defendant clearly contemplates such a mortgage, and good policy requires that such a privilege should never be withdrawn."

The mortgagee or lien holder for supplies furnished to produce the crop has a right to demand and receive of defendant, or to enforce delivery by any appropriate procedure, of a sufficient amount of the tobacco or other property included in his mortgage, to satisfy his claims to the extent that the same constitute a valid lien superior to the rights and interests of plaintiff under its contract. If such a lien and the amount and extent of it cannot be agreed upon and adjusted it would seem that the lien claimant should become or be made a party of record, that authoritative and final disposition should be made of the matter. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Patterson, 187 N. C. 252, 256, 121 S. E. 631.

Effect of Mortgage upon Injunction.—A preliminary order restraining a member of the co-operative association from disposing of the tobacco embraced in the contract in breach thereof will not be dissolved by reason of a defense set up by its member that the tobacco was the subject of a lien for supplies necessary for its cultivation, a position available to the lienee not a party to the action, and the restraining order should be continued to the hearing, safeguarding the rights of the lienee to be asserted by his appropriate action. The defendant being in an attitude of resistance towards the contract and denying any obligations thereunder. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Patterson, 187 N. C. 252, 121 S. E. 631.

Evasive Answer Respecting Breach.—In proceedings for injunctive relief by a co-operative marketing association wherein the plaintiff definitely alleges that the defendant had breached his contract and declares his purpose to dispose of his tobacco in breach thereof, the defendant's answer not admitting the allegations, but demanding strict proof, is too evasive or illusive to be a denial of plaintiff's allegation, or received as sufficient evidence upon the question of the injunctive relief. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass n v. Patterson, 187 N. C. 252, 121 S. E. 631.

Liability of Landlord for Non-Member Tenant.—The landlord is not liable for a penalty on account of failure of tenant to market tobacco through the association until and unless he receives the tenants crop as payment for rent, etc. He is then liable for as much as is received. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Bissett, 187 N. C. 180, 121 S. E. 446.

Evasion of Contract for Fraud.—In order to avoid a written contract, which was made under this section, for fraud for misrepresentations of a party or his authorized agent, it must not only be shown that the statements complained of were false, but among other things that the party was at the time ignorant of their falsity, and was induced thereby to his damage, and he must show facts sufficient to make out a case of fraud with all the material elements required in such instances. Simpson v. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n, 190 N C. 603, 130 S. E. 507.

In order to render void for fraud in its procurement a tobacco marketing contract made in conformity with the provisions of our statute, it is required that the member seeking to do so must introduce evidence of the fraud he relies on, as well as allege it. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n v. Chilton, 190 N. C. 602, 130 S. E. 312; Simpson v. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n, 190 N. C. 603, 130 S. E. 507.

Where one as agent for the Association falsely represents to a prospective member certain material advantages that induce him to sign the membership contract, without affording him, an illiterate man, an opportunity to become informed as to its contents, and he, within a reasonable time afterwards, is informed of this misrepresentation, and requests the agent to take his name off the books as a member and cancel the contract, the agent and the one to whom the false representations were made were not upon an equality as to the facts, and the law will avoid the contract for the fraud. The cases in which the representations were only promissory in character, not amounting to a factual representation, do not apply. Dunbar v. Tobacco Growers Co-Op. Ass'n, 190 N. C. 680, 130 S. E. 505.

§ 5259(z). Purchasing business of other associations, persons, firms, or corporations; payment; stock issued.—Whenever an association organized hereunder with preferred capital stock, shall purchase the stock or any property, or any interest in any property of any person, firm, or corporation or association, it may by agreement with the other party or parties to the transaction discharge the obligations so incurred, wholly or in part, by exchanging for the acquired interest shares of its preferred capital stock to an amount which at par value would equal a fair market value of the stock so purchased, as determined by the board of directors. In that case the transfer to the association of the stock or interest purchased shall be equivalent to payment in cash for shares of stock issued. (1921, c. 87, s. 18.)

§ 5259(aa). Annual reports.—Each association formed under this subchapter shall prepare and make out an annual report on forms furnished by the division of markets, containing the name of the association, its principal place of business, and a general statement of its business operations during the fiscal year, showing the amount of capital stock paid up, and the number of stockholders of a stock association or the number of members and the amount of membership fees received, if a nonstock association; the total expenses of the operations; the amount of its indebtedness, or liability, and its balance sheets. (1921, c. 87, s. 19.)

§ 5259(bb). Interest in other corporations or associations. — An association may organize, form, operate, own, control, have interest in, own stock of, or be a member of any other corporation or corporations, with or without capital stock, and engaged in preserving, drying, processing, canning, packing, storing, handling, shipping, utilizing, manufacturing, marketing, or selling of the agricultural products handled by the association, or the by-products thereof. If such corporations are warehousing corporations, they may issue legal warehouse receipts to the association, or to any other person, and such legal warehouse receipts shall be considered as adequate collateral to the extent of the current value of the commodity represented thereby. In case such warehouse is licensed or licensed and bonded under the laws of this state or the United States, its warehouse receipt shall not be challenged or discriminated against because of ownership or control, wholly or in part, by the association. (1921, c. 87, s. 22.)

§ 5259(cc). Contracts and agreements with other association. — Any association may, upon resolution adopted by its board of directors, enter into all necessary and proper contracts and agreements, and make all necessary and proper stipulations, agreements and contracts and arrangements with any other coöperative corporation, association, or associations, formed in this or in any other state, for the coöperative and more economical carrying on of its business, or any part or parts thereof. Any two or more associations may by agreement between them, unite in employing and using or may separately employ and use the same methods, means, and agencies for carrying on and conducting their respective businesses. (1921, c. 87, s. 23.)

§ 5259(dd). Misdemeanor; breach of marketing contract of coöperative association; spreading false reports about the finances or management thereof.—Any person or persons, or any corporation whose officer of employees knowingly induces or attempts to induce any member or stockholder of an association organized hereunder to breach his marketing contract with the association, or who maliciously and knowingly spreads false reports about the finances or management thereof shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100), and not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000), for such offense and shall be liable to the association aggrieved in a civil suit in the penal sum of five hundred dollars ($500) for each such offense: Provided, that this section shall not apply to a bona fide creditor of any member or stockholder of such association, or the agents or attorney of any such bona fide creditor, endeavoring to make collection of the indebtedness. (1921, c. 87, s. 25.)

§ 5259(ee). Coöperative associations may form subsidiaries.—Nothing in this chapter shall prevent an association organizing, forming, operating, owning, controlling, having an interest in, owning stock of, or being a member of any other corporation (hereinafter referred to as a subsidiary corporation) from including or having included in the charter or by-laws of such subsidiary corporation provisions for the control or management of said subsidiary corporation by such association to such extent as shall by votes of the board of directors of such association, and the majority of the stockholders of such subsidiary corporation, be declared to be for the best interests of said association and said subsidiary corporation respectively. Such provisions may be so included in any such charter or by-laws and may by way of illustration, but not of limitation, include the following:

1. Representation of said association on the board of directors or other governing body of said subsidiary corporation, upon such terms as may be deemed advisable.

2. Ownership by an association of an interest or interests in a subsidiary corporation represented by stock of any class thereof, or otherwise, to such extent and upon such terms, and with such voting power, as may be deemed advisable.

3. Participation by said association in the profits of such subsidiary corporation to such extent and upon such terms as shall be deemed advisable. (1933, c. 350, § 1.)

(1933, c. 179, s. 13; 1935, c. 54, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—Several changes were made in this section by the amendment of 1935. The requirement that the appointee shall be free from connection with a school or college is new and it was also the requirement for following "all branches" of the cosmetic art. CHAPTER 94

DRAINAGE

SUBCHAPTER I. DRAINAGE BY INDIVIDUAL OWNERS

Art. 1. Jurisdiction in Clerk of Superior Court

Part 1. Petition by Individual Owner

§ 5260. Name of proceeding.—The proceeding under this subchapter shall be the same as prescribed in the chapter Eminent Domain, article 2, Condemnation Proceedings. (Rev., s. 4028; Code, s. 1324.)

Cross References.—For a full discussion of this subject, see 4 Enc. Dig. 922; 13 Enc. Dig. 782. For procedure under this subchapter, see sections 1715 et seq., and notes thereto.

Constitutionality.—The laws, enacted under this and the following sections of this chapter, are constitutional. Forehand v. Taylor, 155 N. C. 353, 71 S. E. 433; Sanderlin v. Luken, 152 N. C. 738, 68 S. E. 225, and cases cited. They come within the power of the State for police regulations. Winslow v. Winslow, 95 N. C. 24.

Various Statutes Harmonized.—While the various statutes for the drainage of swamp lands in Eastern North Carolina have not the same provisions in all respects, they have been collected and are to be found in this chapter and should be construed to harmonize, and constitute, with such variations, a system of drainage laws for the State. Adams v. Joyner, 147 N. C. 77, 60 S. E. 725.

Right to Condemn.—The right of the state to condemn land for drains rest on the same foundation as its right in cases of public roads, mills, railroads, school houses, etc. Norfleet v. Cromwell, 70 N. C. 634.

The right to drain through the banks of a natural watercourse is exactly similar in character to the right to construct dykes or levees to keep their excessive waters from overflowing the adjacent lands, a right which has been recognized in the legislation of all countries from the most ancient times. Sanderlin v. Luken, 152 N. C. 738, 742, 68 S. E. 225.

§ 5261. Petition filed; commissioners appointed. —Any person owning pocosan, swamp, or flat lands, or owning lowlands subject to inundation, which cannot be conveniently drained or embanked so as to drain off or dam out the water from such lands; except by cutting a canal or ditch, or erecting a dam through or upon the lands of other persons, may by petition apply to the superior court of the county in which the lands sought to be drained or embanked or some part of such lands lie, setting forth the particular circumstances of the case, the situation of the land to be drained or embanked, to what outlet and through whose lands he desires to drain, or on what lands he would erect his dam, and who are the proprietors of such lands; whereupon a summons shall be served on each of the proprietors, and, on the hearing of the petition the court shall appoint three persons as commissioners, who shall be duly sworn to do justice between the parties. (Rev., s. 3983; Code, s. 1297; R. C., c. 40, s. 1; 1795, c. 436; 1852, c. 57, ss. 1, 2.)

Jurisdiction.—The clerk of the superior court has jurisdiction of a proceeding to obtain a right of drainage over the land of an adjoining landowner, and to assess damages, etc. Durden v. Simmons, 84 N. C. 555.

In such proceeding the law requires the appointment of disinterested freeholders as commissioners. Durden v. Simmons, 84 N. C. 555.

This chapter, and the amendments thereto, are the charts which should guide the commissioners, and that portion of the judge's order, wherein he undertakes to instruct the new commissioners as to their duties, should be set aside. Porter v. Armstrong, 139 N. C. 179, 51 S. E. 926.

Appeal.—An appeal will not lie from the decision of the county court upon a petition for draining the petitioner's lands through those of others. Stanly v. Watson, 33 N. C. 124, citing Collins v. Haughton, 26 N. C. 420.

The commissioners ordered under this act constitute a separate and distinct tribunal, and an appeal (generally) from the county to the superior court, is not an appeal from the report of such commissioners so as to vacate it. Skinner v. Nixon, 52 N. C. 342.

An order in a drainage proceeding directing matters which are properly for the determination of the commissioners to be referred to a jury is appealable. Porter v. Armstrong, 134 N. C. 447, 46 S. E. 997.

The appointment of appraisers, to assess damages, etc., by the county commissioners under the provisions of this chapter is not a judicial act. Flat Swamp, etc., Canal Co. v. McAlister, 74 N. C. 159.

Enforcement of Lien.—The plaintiff in such proceeding can only enforce the lien acquired by the return of the appraisers, by carrying the whole proceeding by writ of certiorari into the superior court, and obtaining a judgment thereon. The county commissioners cannot render judgment thereupon. Flat Swamp, etc., Canal Co. v. McAlister, 74 N. C. 159.

Same—Justice of the Peace.—A justice of the peace has no jurisdiction to enforce such lien, where the amount is less than two hundred dollars; his judgments are necessarily personal, and enforceable on the property of the debtor, and not in rem. Flat Swamp, etc., Canal Co. v. McAlister, 74 N. C. 159.

Nature of Lien.—Such a lien is not a personal debt, but a lien upon the land benefited, which is the only security therefor. Flat Swamp, etc., Canal Co. v. McAlister, 74 N. C. 159.

Artificial Outlets.—This chapter applies only to artificial outlets made over the land of another to reach a natural watercourse. Mizell v. McGowan, 129 N. C. 93, 39 S. E. 729.

Readjustment.—When the rights and duties of adjoining landowners as to drainage in a certain canal have been determined under this chapter, and judgment entered, proceedings subsequently brought for the purpose of readjustment, owing to change of ownership and partition, etc., are in effect a motion in the cause, in which the judgment, unlike a final judgment, is not conclusive; and the cause can be brought forward from time to time, upon notice to the parties, and further decrees made to conform to the exigencies and changes which may arise. Staton v. Staton, 148 N. C. 490, 62 S. E. 596.

Jury Question.—See Collins v. Haughton, 26 N. C. 420.

Joint Petition.—Two, or more, separate proprietors of land cannot sustain a joint petition for a ditch to drain their lands, without alleging that a common ditch would drain the lands of all the petitioners. Shaw v. Burfoot, 53 N. C. 344.

Diversion of Water—Value of Land before and after. — In an action for damages to land from diversion of water, it is competent to show the difference in value of land before and after the injury. Briscoe v. Young, 131 N. C. 386, 42 S. E. 893.

Same—General Rule.—Water cannot be diverted from its natural course so as to damage another, but it may be increased and accelerated. Mizell v. McGowan, 129 N. C. 93, 39 S. E. 729; 125 N. C. 439, 34 S. E. 538; Bardiff v. Norfolk Southern R. Co., 168 N. C. 268, 84 S. E. 290; Lassiter v. Norfolk, etc., R. Co., 126 N. C. 509, 36 S. E. 49; Hocutt v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 124 N. C. 214, 32 S. E. 681.

The owners of swamps, whose waters naturally flow into natural watercourses, can make such canals as are necessary to drain them of the water naturally flowing therein, although in doing so the flow of water in the natural watercourse is increased and accelerated so that the water is discharged on the land of an abutting owner. Mizell v. McGowan, 120 N. C. 134, 26 S. E. 783.

Same—Liability for Damages. — Where a person diverts water from a stream my cutting a channel from it, and at a point lower down the stream turns it back into the old channel, and by it own momentum it is carried on to the lands of an adjoining owner, he is liable for damages. Brisco v. Young, 131 N. C. 386, 42 S. E. 893.

One is liable for damages caused to the lands of another by his diverting the natural flow of surface water thereto. Roberts v. Baldwin, 151 N. C. 407, 66 S. E. 346.

Surface waters should be drained so as to be carried off in the due course of nature. The upper proprietor is liable in damages to the land of the lower proprietor caused by water diverted by his ditches and not carried to a natural waterway. Briscoe v. Parker, 145 N. C. 14, 58 S. E. 443.

Same—Landowner's Remedy. — When the lands of the lower proprietor are damaged by the improper drainage of the upper proprietor, he may elect to bring an action for damages or proceed under this and the following sections. Briscoe v. Parker, 145 N. C. 14, 58 S. E. 443.

Commissioner's Report Set Aside.—Where judge set aside report of commissioners because it did not comply with the statute, and further found as a fact in his order that two of the commissioners had been guilty of gross indiscretion, the Supreme Court would not reverse his order, whether the report conformed to the statute or not. Porter v. Armstrong, 139 N. C. 179, 51 S. E. 926.

Former Judgment—Setting Aside.—If a former judgment in a similar proceeding has not been pleaded in an action for drainage of lands, as an estoppel or res adjudicata, before final judgment, the party relying thereon must move the court within one year to set the judgment aside for excusable mistake or inadvertence. Adams v. Joyner, 147 N. C. 77, 60 S. E. 725.

Reclaiming Swamps.—Laws 1899, ch. 255, for reclaiming swamp or lowlands, applies only where all the parties contribute under a valid agreement to the lawful digging of a ditch or canal. Porter v. Armstrong, 129 N. C. 101, 39 S. E. 799.

Enlarging Canal on Land of Another. — Where a person enlarges a canal on the lands of another, under a void proceeding, he is a trespasser, and cannot claim credit for money spent thereon. Porter v. Armstrong, 129 N. C. 101, 39 S. E. 799.

Stopping Drain Ditches—Liability.—A railroad company is liable in damages for negligently and improperly stopping the drain ditches on plaintiff's land, so as to injure his crop by the water flowing thereon from his own and adjoining lands, incidental to the building and ditching of its roadbed, though the right of way through plaintiff's land may previously have been purchased or regularly acquired by condemnation proceedings. Davenport v. Norfolk, etc., R. Co., 148 N. C. 287, 62 S. E. 431.

Liability to Maintain Artificial Waterway Constructed for Temporary Purposes. — When an upper proprietor of lands constructs and maintains for his own use and advantage an artificial waterway or structure affecting the flow of water, without invading the rights of the lower proprietor, for a temporary purpose or a specific purpose which he may at any time abandon, the upper proprietor comes under no obligation to maintain the structure, though the incidental effect has been to confer a benefit on the lower tenant. Lake Drummond Canal, etc., Co. v. Burnham, 147 N. C. 41, 60 S. E. 650.

Notice to Landowner.—An order by county commissioners appointing appraisers to assess the value of the benefits and damages which would accrue to the owners of land on account of a certain canal sought to be cut through his land, upon the petition of other parties, filed under the provisions of this chapter, is void, unless said land owner be made a party to the petition. Gamble v. McCrady, 75 N. C. 509.

Drainage System by Original Owner—Duty of Subsequent Owners. — Where separate owners of lands have derived them subject to a drainage system placed upon the entire tract by the original owner, each one using the system must bear the costs of maintenance and repair required by the portion of the system on his own premises. Lamb v. Lamb, 177 N. C. 150, 98 S. E. 307.

§ 5262. Duty of Commissioners.—The commissioners, or a majority of them, on a day of which each proprietor of land aforesaid is to be notified at least five days, shall meet on the premises and view the lands to be drained or embanked, and the lands through or on which the drain is to pass or the embankment to be erected and shall determine and report whether the lands of the petitioner can be conveniently drained or embanked except through or on the lands of the defendants or some of them; and if they are of opinion that the same cannot be conveniently done except through or on such lands, they shall decide and determine the route of the canal, ditch, or embankment, the width thereof, and the depth or height, as the case may be, and the manner in which the same shall be cut or thrown up, considering all the circumstances of the case, and providing as far as possible for the effectual drainage or embankment of the water from the petitioner's land, and also securing the defendant's lands from inundation, and every other injury to which the same may be probably subjected by such canal, ditch, or embankment; and they shall assess, for each of the defendants, such damage as in their judgment will fully indemnify him for the use of his land in the mode proposed; but in assessing such damages, benefits shall be deducted. (Rev., s. 3984; Code, s. 1298; R. C., c. 40, s. 2; 1795, c. 436; 1852, c. 57, ss. 1, 2.)

Section Not Repealed.—Section 5275, concerning the drainage of lowlands, does not expressly repeal this section, but leaves in operation such of the provisions as are not repugnant to such act of 1889. Worthington v. Coward, 114 N. C. 289, 19 S. E. 154.

Cited in Porter v. Armstrong, 134 N. C. 447, 46 S. E. 997.

§ 5263. Report and confirmation; easement acquired; exceptions.—The commissioners shall report in writing, under their hands, the whole matter to the court, which shall confirm the same, unless good cause be shown to the contrary; and on payment of the damages and cost of the proceedings the court shall order and decree that the petitioner may cut the canal or ditch, or raise the embankment in the manner reported and determined by commissioners; and thereupon the petitioner shall be seized in fee simple of the easement aforesaid; Provided, that, without the consent of the proprietor, such canal, ditch, or embankment shall not be cut or raised through or on his yard or curtilage, nor be allowed when the same shall injure any mill, by cutting off or stopping the water flowing thereto, nor shall such dam be allowed so as to create a nuisance by stagnant water, or cut off the flow of useful springs or necessary streams of water, or stop any ditches of such proprietor when there is no freshet. (Rev., s. 3985; Code, s. 1299; R. C., c. 40, s. 3; 1795, c. 436, s. 2; 1835, c. 7; 1852, c. 57, ss. 1, 2.)

Report of Commissioners Conclusive.—The report of commissioners appointed to condemn lands and assess damages for the purpose of drainage is, like the verdict of a jury, conclusive of the facts therein ascertained, until set aside. Norfolk Southern R. Co. v. Ely, 101 N. C. 8, 7 S. E. 476.

Jury to Settle Issues of Fact.—Upon an application to condemn lands for the purpose of drainage, the issue of fact raised by the pleadings should be framed and settled by a jury; they cannot be raised or considered upon exceptions to the report of the commissioners appointed to assess damages. Norfolk Southern R. Co. v. Ely, 101 N. C. 8, 7 S. E. 476.

Title in Lands Condemned.—When, upon the petition of one or more parties, under this section, leave was granted by the county court to cut a canal across the land of another for the purposes of drainage, the petitioners and their assignees, upon the report of the jury provided for in said act being confirmed, acquire not merely an easement, but title in fee to the land condemned. Norfleet v. Cromwell, 70 N. C. 634.

Appeal from Judgment of Clerk. — An appeal from the judgment of the Clerk upon the report of commissioners appointed to lay off ditch for drainage of lowlands the Judge could set aside the report either for cause or in his discretion, if in his opinion the ends of justice could be subserved by that course. Worthington v. Coward, 114 N. C. 289, 19 S. E. 154.

§ 5264. Width of right of way for repair. — The commissioners, when they may deem it necessary, shall designate the width of the land to be left on each side of the canal, ditch, or dam, to be used for the protection and reparation thereof, which land shall be altogether under the control and dominion of the owner of the canal, ditch, or dam, except as aforesaid: Provided, that in no case shall a greater width of land on both sides inclusive of a dam, be taken than five times the base of such dam. (Rev., s. 3985a; Code, s. 1302; R. C., c. 40, s. 6.)

Where, upon an appeal from the report of the commissioners acting under that act, the jury found that the amount of land condemned by them for the purpose of the protection and reparation of the ditches was unnecessary, it was proper for the court to remand the cause, with directions to constitute another commission. Winslow v. Winslow, 95 N. C. 24.

§ 5265. Right of owner to fence; entry for repairs.—Any proprietor, through or on whose land such canal or ditch may be cut or embankment raised, may put a fence or make paths across the same, provided the usefulness thereof be not impaired; and the owner of the canal, ditch, or dam, his heirs and assigns, shall at all times have free access to the same for the purpose of making and repairing them; doing thereby no unnecessary damages to the lands of the proprietors. (Rev., s. 3986; Code, s. 1300; R. C., c. 40, s. 4; 1795, c. 436, s. 2; 1835, c. 7; 1852, c. 57, ss. 1, 2.)

§ 5266. Earth for construction of dam; removal of dam.—The earth necessary for the erection of a dam may be taken from either side of it, or wherever else the commissioners may designate and allow. And such dam may be removed by the proprietor of the land, his heirs or assigns, to any other part of his lands, and he may adjoin any dam of his own thereto, if allowed by the court on a petition and such proceedings therein as are provided in this chapter, as far as the same may apply to his case: Provided always, that the usefulness of the dam will not be thereby impaired or endangered. (Rev., s. 3987; Code, s. 1301; R. C., c. 40, s. 5.)

§ 5267. Earth from canal removed or leveled.—The earth excavated from the canal or ditch shall be removed away or leveled as nearly as may be with the surface of the adjacent land, unless the commissioners shall otherwise specially allow. (Rev., s. 3988; Code, s. 1303; R. C., c. 40, s. 7.)

§ 5268. No drain opened within thirty feet.—The proprietor of any swamps or flat lands through which a canal or ditch passes shall not have a right to open or cut any drain within thirty feet thereof but by the consent of the owner. Such proprietor, however, and other person may cut into such canal or ditch in the manner hereinafter provided. (Rev., s. 3989; R. C., c. 40, s. 8.)

A report of commissioners under this section, which fails to assess and apportion that part of the labor which, under section 5270 is to be contributed by the defendants, is fatally defective. Brooks v. Tucker, 61 N. C. 309.

§ 5269. Right to drain into canal.—Any person desirous of draining into the canal or ditch of another person as an outlet may do so in the manner hereinbefore provided, and in addition to the persons directed to be made parties, all others shall be parties through whose lands, canals, or ditches the water to be drained may pass till it shall have reached the furtherest artificial outlet. And the privilege of cutting into such canal or ditch may be granted under the same rules and upon the same conditions and restrictions as are provided in respect to cutting the first canal or ditch: Provided that no canal or ditch shall be allowed to be cut into another if thereby the safety or utility of the latter shall be impaired or endangered: Provided further, that if such impairing and danger can be avoided by imposing on the petitioner duties or labor in the enlarging or deepening such canal or ditch, or otherwise, the same may be done; but no absolute decree for cutting such second canal or ditch shall pass till the duties or work so imposed shall be performed and the effect thereof is seen, so as to enable the commissioners to determine the matter whether such second canal or ditch ought to be allowed or not: Provided, that any party to the proceeding may appeal from the judgment of the court rendered under this section to the superior court of the county at term-time, where a trial and determination of all issues raised in the pleadings shall be had as in other cases before a judge and jury. (Rev., s. 3990; Code, s. 1305; 1887, c. 222; R. C., 40, s. 9.)

Section cited in Brooks v. Tucker, 61 N. C. 309, 310.

§ 5270. Expense of repairs apportioned.—Besides the damages which the commissioners may assess against the petitioner for the privilege of cutting into such canal or ditch, they shall assess and apportion the labor which the petitioner and defendants shall severally contribute towards repairing the canal or ditch into or through which the petitioner drains the water from his lands and report the same to court; which, when confirmed, shall stand as a judgment of the court against each of the parties, his executors and administrators, heirs and assigns. (Rev., s. 3991; Code, s. 1306; R. C., c. 40, s. 10.)

For application of this section see note to section 5268.

Section applied in Worthington v. Coward, 114 N. C. 289, 19 S. E. 154.

§ 5271. Notice of making repairs.—Whenever the canals or ditches for the reparation of which more than one person shall be bound under the provisions of the preceding section shall need to be repaired, any of the persons so bound may notify the others thereof, and of the time he proposes to repair the same and thereupon each of of the persons shall jointly work on the same and contribute his proportion of labor till the same be repaired or the work cease by consent. (Rev., s. 3992; Code, s. 1307; R. C., c. 40, s. 11.)

§ 5272. Judgment against owner in default; lien.—In case the person so notified shall make default, any of the others may perform his share of labor and recover against him the value thereof, on a notice to be issued for such default, in which shall be stated on oath made before the clerk the value of such labor, and unless good cause to the contrary be shown on the return of the notice, the court shall render judgment for the same with interest and costs; which judgment shall be a lien upon the lands from the date of the performance of the work. (Rev., s. 3993; Code, s. 1308; 1899, c. 396; R. C., c. 40. s. 12.)

Notice to Landowner. — Before any specific amount may be adjudged against a landowner as a lien on his land he is entitled to be heard, after notice, as to whether the assessment made by the commissioners was unjust or oppressive. Adams v. Joyner, 147 N. C. 77, 60 S. E. 725.

Cited in Craft & Co. v. Roper Lumber Co., 181 N. C. 29, 106 S. E. 138.

§ 5273. Subsequent owners bound.—All persons to whom may descend, or who may otherwise own or occupy lands drained by any canal or ditch, for the privilege of cutting which any labor for repairing is assessed, shall contribute the same, and shall be bound therefor, to all intents and purposes and in the same manner and by the same judgment as the original party himself would be if he occupied the land. (Rev., s. 3994; Code, s. 1309; R. C., c. 40, s. 13.)

For application of this section, see Norfleet v. Cromwell, 70 N. C. 634; Staton v. Staton, 148 N. C. 490, 62 S. E. 596.

Applied in Craft & Co. v. Roper Lumber Co., 181 N. C. 29, 106 S. E. 138.

§ 5274. Amount of contribution for repair ascertained.—Whenever there shall be a dam, canal, or ditch, in the repairing and keeping up of which two or more persons shall be interested and receive actual benefit therefrom, and the duties and proportion of labor which each one ought to do and perform therefor shall not be fixed by agreement or by the mode already in this subchapter provided for assessing and apportioning such labor, any of the parties may have the same assessed and apportioned by applying to a justice of the peace, who shall give all parties at least three days notice, and shall summons two disinterested free-holders who, together with the justice, shall meet on the premises and assess the damages sustained by the applicant, whereupon the justice shall enter judgment in favor of the applicant for damages or for work done on such ditch or lands. The costs of this proceeding shall be in the discretion of the justice. (Rev., s. 3995; Code, s. 1310; 1889, c. 101; R. C., c. 40, s. 14.)

Constitutionality. — Section held constitutional and valid. Forehand v. Taylor, 155 N. C. 353, 71 S. E. 433.

Proceeding under this section is in effect a motion in the cause which can be brought forward from time to time, upon notice to all the parties to be affected, for orders in the cause, to promote the objects of the proceeding, the whole matter remainding in the control of the court. Staton v. Staton, 148 N. C. 490, 491, 62 S. E. 596.

Action Dismissed for Non-Compliance with Statute—Not Bar to Second Action.—When damages have been sought in an action before a justice of the peace, relating to drainage districts, etc., and the action was dismissed because there had been no contract or agreement between the parties and the requirements of the act had not been met, the plaintiff is not thereby barred from proceeding under the act to have the damages assessed and from bringing another action therefor as the former judgment does not bar the second one. Forehand v. Taylor, 155 N. C. 353, 71 S. E. 433.

Enlarging or Deepening Canal.—The method by which the user of a canal by prescriptive right may enlarge or deepen it with an apportionment of the costs, is provided by this section. Armstrong v. Spruill, 182 N. C. 1, 108 S. E. 300.

Same—Liability for Damages.—Where the user of a canal by prescriptive right enlarge the same, and thereby place water upon the lower proprietor to his damage, they are liable therefor, and, upon conflicting evidence, the issue should be submitted to the jury. Armstrong v. Spruill, 182 N. C. 1, 108 S. E. 300.

Applied in Porter v. Durham, 98 N. C. 320, 3 S. E. 832.

Cited in Craft & Co. v. Roper Lumber Co., 181 N. C. 29, 106 S. E. 138.

§ 5275. Petition by servient owners against dominant owners.—Any person owning lands lying upon any creek, swamp, or other stream not navigable, which are subject to inundation and which cannot be conveniently drained or embanked on account of the volume of water flowing over the same from lands lying above, and by draining the same the lands above will be benefited and better drained, such person may by petition apply to the superior court of the county in which the lands sought to be drained or embanked, or some part of such lands, lie, setting forth the particular circumstances of the case, the valuation of the lands to be drained or embanked, and what other lands above would be benefited, and who are the proprietors of such lands; whereupon a summons shall be served upon each of the proprietors, who are not petitioners, requiring them to appear before the court at a time to be named in the summons, which shall not be less than ten days from the service thereof, and upon such day the petition shall be heard and the court shall appoint three persons as commissioners, who shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, be sworn to do justice between the parties. (Rev., s. 4016; 1889, c. 253.)

Editor's Note.—By Rev. sec. 4016 and Laws 1891 ch. 73 it would seem that a Justice of the Peace has jurisdiction in Lenoir County.

This section does not repeal section 5262, but leaves in operation such of the provisions as are not repugnant to it. Worthington v. Coward, 114 N. C. 289, 19 S. E. 154.

Analogy to Drainage Law.—The procedure under this and the following sections is analogous to the general drainage law, and its provisions are applicable, and the proceedings are regarded as kept alive for further orders without being retained on the docket, and in this case the original assessment did not constitute a bar to the motion to vacate, and the assessment was properly set aside on the facts found. Spence v. Granger, 204 N. C. 247, 167 S. E. 805.

Judgment—Setting Aside.—In an action brought for the drainage of lands under this and the following sections, the judgment upon motion thereafter will not be set aside merely upon the ground that a similar proceeding had been prosecuted to judgment between several of the parties. Adams v. Joyner, 147 N. C. 77, 60 S. E. 725.

§ 5276. Commissioners to examine lands and make report.—The commissioners, or a majority of them, on a day of which each proprietor is to be notified at least five days, shall meet on the premises and view the land to be drained and the lands affected thereby, and shall determine and report whether the lands of the petitioner or petitioners ought to be drained exclusively by him or them, and if they are of the opinion that the same ought not to be drained exclusively at the expense of the petitioner or petitioners, they shall decide and determine the route of the canal, ditch, or embankment, the width thereof, and the depth and the height, as the case may be, and the manner in which the same shall be cut or thrown up, considering all the circumstances of the case, and providing as far as possible for the effectual drainage of the petitioner's land, and the protection and benefit of the defendant's lands; and they shall apportion the labor to be done or assess the amount to be paid by each of the owners of the lands affected by such canal, ditch or embankment, towards the construction and keeping the same in repair, and report the same to the court, which, when confirmed, shall stand as a judgment of the court against each of the parties, his executors, administrators, heirs and assigns. (Rev., s. 4017; 1889, c. 253, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—By Revised, s. 4017, Laws of 1891, ch. 73, s. 2 and p. L. 1911 ch. 545 it would seem that a justice has jurisdiction in Lenoir and Beaufort Counties.

Cost of Work Not Required in Report.—The cost of the work to be done in the drainage of lands is not required under this section, and cannot, for its uncertainty of amount, be set out in the report of the commissioners appointed. It is a compliance with the statutes when the portion of the work to be done by the landowners is set out. Adams v. Joyner, 147 N. C. 77, 60 S. E. 725.

§ 5277. Cost of repairs enforced by judgment.—Whenever any such ditch, canal, or embankment shall need repairs or cleaning out, and any of the parties interested therein refuse to perform the labor apportioned to them, or refuse to contribute the amount assessed against them, the same shall be enforced in the manner hereinbefore provided for the joint repair of canals and ditches. (Rev., s. 4018; 1889, c. 253, s. 3.)

See section 5272 and note thereto.

§ 5278. Obstructing canal or ditch dug under agreement. — Where two or more persons have dug a canal or ditch along any natural drain or other water way under parol agreement or otherwise, wherein all the parties shall have contributed to the digging thereof, if any servient or lower owner shall fill up or obstruct said canal or ditch without the consent of the higher owners and without providing other drainage for the higher lands, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. (Rev., s. 3375; 1899, c. 255.)

This section applies only where all the parties contributed under a valid agreement to the lawful digging of a ditch or canal. Porter v. Armstrong, 129 N. C. 101, 39 S. E. 799.

§ 5279. Right of dominant owner to repair.—In the absence of any agreement for maintaining the efficiency of such ditch or canal, or should the servient owner neglect or refuse to clean out or aid in cleaning out the same through his lands, it shall be lawful for the dominant or higher owner, after giving three days notice to servient owner, to enter along such canal and not more than twelve feet therefrom and clean out or remove obstructions or accumulated debris therefrom at his own personal expense or without cost to the servient owner. (Rev., s. 4025; 1899, c. 255, s. 2.)

See note to section 5278.

Where a person enlarges a canal on the lands of another, under a void proceeding, he is a trespasser, and cannot claim credit for money spent thereon. Porter v. Armstrong, 129 N. C. 101, 39 S. E. 799.

§ 5280. Canal for seven years necessity presumed; drainage assessments declared liens. — After a canal has been dug along any natural depression or waterway and maintained for seven years, it shall be prima facie evidence of its necessity, and upon application to the clerk of the superior court of any landowner who is interested in maintaining the same, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the superior court to appoint and cause to be summoned three disinterested and discreet freeholders, who, after being duly sworn, shall go upon the lands drained or intended to be drained by such canal, and after carefully examining the same and hearing such testimony as may be introduced touching the question of cost of canal, the amount paid, and the advantages and disadvantages to be shared by each of the parties to the action, shall make their report in writing to the clerk of the superior court stating the facts and apportioning the cost of maintaining such canal among the parties to the action, and the cost of the action shall be divided in the same ratio; and their report when approved shall be properly registered by the clerk and the said report or reports shall, when filed in the office of the clerk of superior court, be a lien upon each tract of land embraced in said report or reports to the extent of the proportionate part of the costs stipulated in said report or reports as a charge against same, and shall have the effect and force of a judgment thereon, and that such judgments shall be subject to execution and collection as in cases of other judgments. (Rev., s. 4026; 1899, c. 255, s. 3; 1917, c. 248, s. 1; 1931, c. 227, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The Act of 1931 added the latter part of this section relating to drainage assessments as liens.

Interpretation of Section.—The provisions of this section are necessary for the cultivation and improvement of lowlands required to be drained, and should be construed to carry into effect the beneficent purposes of the act, when practicable. Forest v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 159 N. C. 547, 75 S. E. 796.

Same—"Ditch," "Canal." — This section should be construed in connection with the other section of the chapter wherein it is found, relating to the drainage of lowlands, and therein the terms "ditch" and "canal" are used indiscriminately to designate an artificial drain. Forest v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 159 N. C. 547, 75 S. E. 796.

An artificial drain in some place from 3 to 5 feet wide and from 2 to 5 feet deep, made for the purpose of cultivating and improving lowlands by draining them is a canal within the meaning of this section. Forest v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 159 N. C. 547, 75 S. E. 796.

It is not necessary that the owner of lands lying along a drainage canal, within the meaning of this section shall have contributed to its original construction to make him liable to assessments for its maintenance under the provisions of the statute. Forest v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 159 N. C. 547, 75 S. E. 796.

Same—Railroads.—While a railroad company may not be the absolute owner of lands in fee, they have the proprietorship and control of those constituting its rights of way; and when these lands are benefited by a canal which comes within the meaning of this section, the provisions of the statute relative to the maintenance of the canal apply. Forest v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 159 N. C. 547, 75 S. E. 796.

Applied in Craft & Co. v. Roper Lumber Co., 181 N. C. 29, 106 S. E. 138.

§ 5280(a). Supplemental assessments to make up deficiency; vacancy appointments of assessment jurors.—The freeholders, commissioners or jurors, appointed in any application or proceeding filed or instituted under section five thousand two hundred and eighty, or any other section of chapter ninety-four, article one, of the Consolidated Statutes of North Carolina, are authorized and empowered during the establishment of and providing for the construction, maintenance and payment therefor, of such ditch, canal or drain, to make other and further assessments for the costs of establishment, construction and expense, when it shall be determined by the clerk of the Court that the provisions in the former report for the payment thereof are insufficient, and that such supplementary reports shall be made on the same basis of an equitable and just proportion, as made in the former report, which report or reports shall be filed with the clerk of the superior court and have the same force and effect as the former or original report.

In case of death, resignation, removal or for any other cause there becomes a vacancy as to the freeholders, commissioners or jurors, appointed to carry out the provisions of the sections contained in this chapter, the clerk of the superior court is authorized to fill such vacancy by the appointment of some disinterested freeholder in the county, and that the said person so appointed to fill such vacancy shall qualify before the clerk of the superior court before entering upon his duties: Provided this act shall not apply to Duplin County. (1931, c. 227, s. 2.)

Where drainage assessments are levied against lands under this and related sections, either original assessments or additional assessments to cover unforseen expenses in the construction of the drainage ditch, the parties whose lands are assessed are entitled to notice and an opportunity to be heard. Spence v. Granger, 207 N. C. 19, 175 S. E. 824.

§ 5281. Easement of drainage surrendered.—If any person, or those claiming through or under them, who have cut any ditch or canal into which any other person has been permitted to drain land under any proceeding authorized in this subchapter, shall desire to surrender their easement or right in such ditch or canal and be discharged from any judgment rendered and existing under such proceedings such persons may on motion have such proceeding reinstated for hearing and file a petition therein setting forth such facts or any other grounds for relief thereunder, and upon proof satisfactory to the court that such petitioners have cut another ditch or canal which drains their lands formerly drained by the first ditch or canal, and have abandoned the use of it for any purpose of drainage, the court shall adjudge the easement or right of the petitioners surrendered and determined and from that time the petitioners and their land shall forever be discharged and released from the judgment heretofore rendered in such former proceedings: Provided, however, that all parties then having an easement or right in such ditch or canal shall be served with notice of such petition twenty days before the hearing thereof. (Rev., s. 4027; 1887, c. 222, s. 3.)

§ 5282. Obstructing drain cut by consent.—If any person shall stop in or in any way obstruct the passage of the water in any ditch or canal having been cut through lands of any person by consent of owner of said land, until after giving the interested parties reasonable time to comply with the mode of proceedings provided for the drainage of lowlands, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. (Rev., s. 3376; 1891, c. 434.)

§ 5283. Protection of canals, ditches, and natural drains.—If any person shall fell any tree in any ditch, canal, or natural drainway of any farm, unless he shall remove the same and put such ditch, canal, or natural drainway in as good condition as it was before such tree was so felled; or if any person shall stop up or fill in such ditch, canal or drainway and thereby obstruct the free passage of water along the said ditch, canal, or drainway, unless the said person shall first secure the written consent of the landowners, and those damaged by such obstruction in said ditch, canal, and drainway, or unless such person so filling in and stopping up such ditch, canal, or drainway shall, upon the demand of the persons so damaged, clean out and put the said ditch, canal, or drainway in as good condition as the same was before such filling in and stopping up of the said ditch, canal, or drainway happened, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars, or imprisoned not less than ten nor more than thirty days. (Rev., s. 3382; 1901, c. 478.)

As to special act for Tyrrell county, see Laws 1907, ch. 438.

Part 2. Petition Under Agreement for Construction

§ 5284. Procedure upon agreement.—1. Agreement; Names Filed.—Whenever a majority of the landowners or the persons owning three-fifths of all the lands in any well-defined swamp or lowland shall, by a written agreement, agree to give a part of the land situated in such swamp or lowlands as compensation to any person, firm, or corporation who may propose to cut or dig any main drainway through such swamp or lowlands then the persons, firm, or corporation so proposing to cut or dig such main drainway shall file with the clerk of the superior court of the county, or, if there be two or more counties, with the clerk of the superior court of either county in or through which the proposed canal or drainway is to pass, the names of the landowners, with the approximate number of acres owned by each to be affected by the proposed drainway who have entered into the written agreement with the person, firm, or corporation, together with a brief outline of the proposed improvement, and in addition thereto shall file with the clerk the names and addresses, as far as can be ascertained, of the land owners, with the number of acres owned by each of them to be affected by the proposed drainway, who have not made any agreement with the person, firm, or corporation proposing to do the improvement.

2. Notice.—Upon the filing of such names, it shall be the duty of the clerk to forthwith issue a notice which shall be served by the sheriff to all landowners who have not made any agreement to appear before him at a certain date, which date shall be not less than ten and not more than twenty days from the service of such notice, or, in lieu of the personal service hereinabove required it shall be sufficient for the clerk to publish in a newspaper published in the country once a week for four weeks a notice to all landowners who have not made any agreement to appear before him at a certain date, which date shall be not less than thirty days and not more than forty days from the first publication of notice, at which time and place the landowners shall state the objections to the proposed improvement, and in addition thereto make an estimate of the amount of damage that might be done to the land owned by each of them on account of the proposed drainway.

3. Hearing; Views.—Upon the hearing it shall be the duty of the clerk of the superior court to forthwith appoint three disinterested persons, none of whom shall own land to be affected by such drainway, if requested by the person, firm or corporation proposing to do the improvement, whose duty it shall be to familiarize themselves with the proposed improvement, view the premises of the landowners, estimating damages, and make an estimate themselves of the amount of damages that might accrue to the lands of each landowner filing objections on account of the proposed improvement, and report the same to the clerk of the superior court within fifteen days from the date of their appointment.

4. Report; Bond.—Immediately upon the filing of the reports the clerk of the superior court shall forthwith notify the person, firm, or corporation proposing to dig the drainage or canal of the estimated damages contained in the reports, and the person, firm, or corporation shall execute and deliver a bond in a surety company authorized to do business in the State of North Carolina in twice the sum total of the estimated amount of damages, which bond shall be payable to the clerk of the superior court and conditioned upon the payment to the landowners of the amount of damages that may be assessed in the manner hereinafter provided.

5. Construction Authorized.—Upon the execution and delivery to the clerk of the said bond, the person, firm, or corporation so proposing to cut or dig such main drainway shall be and they are hereby authorized to proceed with the cutting or digging of the drainway through any lands in its proposed course, whether the owners of the land may have consented thereto or not, and the person, firm, or corporation so proposing to cut or dig the drainway shall have the proper necessary right of way for that purpose and for all things incident thereto through any lands or timbers situated in such swamp or lowlands. (1917, c. 273, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—The provisions of this and the following sections under this article supplant those of the Act of 1915, ch. 141, which was held unconstitutional and void in Long v. Carolina Land, etc., Co., 169 N. C. 662, 86 S. E. 599, as a taking of private property without providing for just compensation to the private owners of lands, whose consent has not been given.

Withdrawal of Petitioners.—Upon the return day set by the clerk of the court for the hearing of the landowners in a proposed drainage district, it may be shown by those opposed to the petition that some of those who signed it desired to withdraw, and that eliminating their names the petitioners would not represent a majority of the landowners in the district, or such owning three-fourths of the lands, as the statute requires. Armstrong v. Beaman, 181 N. C. 11, 105 S. E. 879.

§ 5285. Recovery for benefits; payments of damages.—After the drainway herein provided for shall be completed the person, firm, or corporation cutting or digging the same shall be entitled to recover of the landowners owning that part of the land with reference to which no contract for compensating those cutting or digging the drainway may have been made, an amount equal to the benefits to accrue to such lands by reason of the drainway, and shall be required by the clerk of the superior court to pay to any landowner the amount of damages in excess of benefits which may be done to the land to be determined in the manner hereinafter provided: Provided, that the recovery from any owner of the land shall be limited to the benefits to accrue to that land owned by such person, and situated in such swamp or lowlands or adjacent thereto; and Provided further, that the amount to be so recovered as herein provided for until fully paid shall be and constitute a lien upon such land, the lien to be in force regardless of who may own the land at the time the amount to be recovered as compensation for digging or cuttng the drainway shall be determined. (1917, c. 273, s. 2.)

§ 5286. Notice to landowners; assessments made by viewers.—After the completion of the main drainway, upon the application of the person, firm, or corporation, or their heirs or assigns, digging or cutting the same, the clerk of the superior court of the county in which any land through which the drainway may pass is situated shall issue a notice to be served by the sheriff upon any person who may have failed to agree with the person, firm, or corporation digging or cutting such drainway, upon a compensation to be paid by the landowner for the digging or cutting of such drainway, notifying the landowner that on a certain day, which shall be named in the notice and not less than twenty days from the date of the issuing of the notice, the clerk of the superior court will appoint three competent and disinterested persons, one of whom may be a surveyor, and none of whom shall own land to be affected by the drainway, to view the land so drained and for which no compensation for the drainage may have been agreed upon as aforesaid, and report to the clerk of the superior court what amount shall be paid therefor by the various landowners who may have failed to arrange for and agree upon the compensation for the drainage as aforesaid, and the amount of damages in cases where the damages have exceeded the benefits, which shall be paid to the landowners by the person, firm, or corporation cutting or digging such canal or drainway. In making the appointment of the viewers the clerk of the superior court shall hear any objections which may be advanced by those interested to any of the persons the clerk may consider to be appointed as viewers, but the clerk shall name those whom he considers best qualified. (1917, c. 273, s. 3.)

§ 5287. Report filed; appeal and jury trial.—A report signed by two of the persons appointed as viewers shall be entered by the clerk as reported of the viewers, and from the report any landowner affected thereby and the person, firm, or corporation digging or cutting such drainway shall have the right of appeal and the right to have any issue arising upon the report tried by a jury, provided exceptions shall be filed to the report within twenty days after the filing of the report with the clerk, in which exceptions so filed may be a demand for a jury trial. If a jury trial be demanded, the clerk shall transfer the proceedings to the civil-issue docket and it shall be heard as other civil actions. If no jury trial be demanded the clerk shall hear the parties upon the exceptions filed, and appeal may be had as in special proceedings, but no jury trial shall be had unless demanded as herein provided for. (1917, c. 273, s. 4.)

The Superior Court, upon certification of the opinion of the Supreme Court, has jurisdiction to retain the cause for hearing upon the appeal from the clerk's order, this section providing that appeals from the clerk in drainage assessment proceedings shall be the same as in special proceedings, and § 637, giving the Superior Court jurisdiction to hear and determine all matters in controversy upon appeal from the clerk in special proceedings. Spence v. Granger, 207 N. C. 19, 175 S. E. 824.

See Flat Swamp, etc., Canal Co. v. McAlister, 74 N. C. 159.

§ 5288. Confirmation of report.—Unless an appeal shall be taken by any person affected by the report, or by the person, firm, or corporation cutting or digging the drainway, and a jury trial demanded within twenty days after the report shall be filed with the clerk, in all of which appeals exceptions shall be filed, the clerk of the superior court shall confirm the report of the jury; if exceptions shall be filed and no demand for a jury trial shall be made, the clerk shall hear the exceptions as in other cases of special proceedings, and judgment entered accordingly. If the report of the viewers be confirmed by the clerk because no exceptions or demand for a jury trial were filed within twenty days, the judgment of confirmation shall be the judgment of the court and any judgment herein entered against the person, firm, or corporation cutting or digging the drainway shall be a judgment against the person, firm, or corporation and the surety on its bond given as hereinabove provided. (1917, c. 273, s. 5.)

§ 5289. Payment in installments.—The amount to be recovered from any person as compensation for digging or cutting the drainway after the amount shall be definitely determined as herein provided for, shall be payable in five equal annual installments, the first payable one year from the filing of the report of the viewers with the clerk of the superior court, and one payment on the same day of each year thereafter until the full amount be paid. The amount to be recovered from the person, firm, or corporation cutting or digging the drainway, on account of any damages in excess of benefits to the lands of any landowners, shall be payable in one installment which shall be due and payable one year from the filing of the report of the viewers with the clerk of the superior court. (1917, c. 273, s. 6.)

Art. 2. Jurisdiction in County Commissioners

§ 5290. Petition filed; board appointed; refusal to serve misdemeanor.—Upon the petition of three citizens in any county to the county commissioners, petitioning for the draining of any creek, swamp, or branch, either upon the plea of health or to promote and advance the agriculture interests of the farmers who may, own lands lying on such creek, swamp, or branch petitioned to be drained, the county commissioners shall within ten days after the filing of such petition order the county surveyor to summon three disinterested freeholders, good and lawful men of intelligence and discretion, who shall constitute a board, and the county surveyor shall be the chairman of such board; and the chairman shall give all persons who may be interested in having such creek, swamp, or branch drained three days notice of the time and place of the meeting of the board: Provided, the petitioners shall deposit with the county treasurer the sum of twenty-five dollars for the payment of current expenses not otherwise provided for in this article. Any person duly summoned by the county surveyor to act as a commissioner for the drainage of any such creek, swamp, or branch, who shall refuse to serve, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. (Rev., ss. 3379, 4011; 1887, c. 267.)

As to application of the provisions of this article to lakes in Hyde county, see Acts 1901, ch. 166.

§ 5291. Duty of board; refusal to comply with their requirements misdemeanor.—The board provided for in the preceding section shall meet at the call of the chairman and shall proceed to inspect and examine the lands as described in the petition to be drained, and the board shall have power to summon witnesses, administer oaths, and take testimony, and if the board decides that the lands specified in the petition shall be drained, either upon the plea of health or for the benefit of the farms lying on or contiguous to such water-course, then the board shall select a place at which the ditch shall be begun. They shall also decide the depth and width of the ditch to be dug, and shall proceed to survey, locate, lay off, and mark the course of the ditch, and the board shall assign to the landowners the amount of the labor to be performed and the amount of money to be paid for the purpose of defraying the necessary expenses by each landowner in proportion to the amount of lands drained or pro rata benefits received by the drainage of such lands, and the board shall specify the time in which the work so assigned shall be completed: Provided, no one shall be required to commence on the work assigned to him until the person next below him shall have completed his work in accordance with the specifications of the board. If any person shall refuse to comply with any of the requirements of the board he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not exceeding two hundred dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding two years. (Rev., ss. 3377, 4012; 1887, c. 267, ss. 2, 7.)

§ 5292. Report filed.—The board shall make a written report to the county commissioners showing all the acts and decisions of the board as to the length, depth, and width of the ditch, the names of all the owners of the lands that will be drained, and the amount of work to be performed and the amount of money to be paid by each person benefited by such drainage. But in case the board determines that the lands described in the petition shall not be drained, then the expenses of the board shall be paid out of the funds deposited with the county treasurer by the petitioners. (Rev., s. 4013; 1887, c. 267, s. 3.)

§ 5293. Owners to keep ditch open.—All persons whose lands shall be drained under the provisions of this article shall keep the ditch on his land clear of all rafts of logs, brush, or any trash that will obstruct the flow of water through the ditch. (Rev., s. 4014; 1887, c. 267, s. 4.)

§ 5294. Compensation of board.—The compensation of the board shall be as follows: The county surveyor shall receive three dollars per day and the other members shall receive one dollar and fifty cents per day while engaged in the duties imposed in this chapter. (Rev., s. 4015; 1887, c. 267, s. 5.)

SUBCHAPTER II. DRAINAGE BY CORPORATION

Art. 3. Manner of Organization

§ 5295. Petition filed in superior court.—Any proprietor in fee swamp lands, which cannot be drained except by cutting a canal through the lands of another or other proprietor in fee, situated at a lower level and which would also be materially benefited by the cutting of such canal who desires that such canal be cut on the terms on which it is hereinafter allowed, may apply by petition, setting forth the facts, to the superior court of the county in which any of the lands through which the canal will pass may lie. (Rev., s. 3996; Code, s. 1311; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 2.)

As to constitutionality of, and general procedure under, this chapter, see notes to section 5260.

See also cases cited under section 5261, and notes thereto.

Jurisdiction.—The Clerk of the Superior Court has jurisdiction of a proceeding to obtain a right of drainage over the land of an adjoining landowner, and to assess damages, etc. Durden v. Simmons, 84 N. C. 555.

Notice to Landowners.—Landowners, whose interests might be affected under proceedings under the provisions of this chapter, are entitled to notice. Gamble v. McCrady, 75 N. C. 509.

§ 5296. Commissioners appointed; report required.—On the establishment by the petitioner of his allegations, the court shall appoint three persons as commissioners who, having been duly sworn, shall examine the premises and inquire and report—

1. Whether the lands of the petitioner can be conveniently drained otherwise than through those of some other person.

2. Through the lands of what other persons a canal to drain the lands of the petitioner should properly pass, considering the interests of all concerned.

3. A description of the several pieces of lands through which the canal would pass, and the present values of such portions of the pieces of lands as would be benefited by it, and the reasons for arriving at the conclusion as to the benefit.

4. The route and plan of the canal, including its breadth, depth, and slope, as nearly as they can be calculated, with all other particulars necessary for calculating its cost.

5. The probable cost of the canal and of a road on its bank, and of such other work, if any, as may be necessary for its profitable use.

6. The proportion of the benefit (after the deduction of all damages) which each proprietor would receive by the proposed canal and a road on its bank if deemed necessary, and in which each ought in equity and justice, to pay toward their construction and permanent support.

7. With their report they shall return a map explaining as accurately as may be, the various matters required to be stated in their report. (Rev., s. 3997; Code, s. 1312; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 3.)

Assessment—Constitutionality.—An assessment made under the provisions of this subchapter is constitutional and valid. Middle Canal Co. v. Whitley, 172 N. C. 100, 90 S. E. 1.

Same—Collateral Attack.—When an assessment does not appear to be void on its face, it may not be collaterally attacked by a defendant owner of lands embraced in the district, in an action to enforce its payment. Middle Canal Co. v. Whitley, 172 N. C. 100, 90 S. E. 1.

When Report of Commissioners Confirmed.—The report of the commissioners, assessing persons for benefits accruing to their lands from the operations of the plaintiff canal company, should have been confirmed by the court, as to those defendants who did not object; but as to those who did, the court should have proceeded to try the issues involved in the controversy. Locks Creek Canal Co. v. McKeithan, 89 N. C. 52.

Notice to Owner of Lands.—It is immaterial whether the owner of lands had notice of a meeting at which a committee had been appointed to assess the lands in the district and determine the amount of each assessment, when the assessment has been accordingly made, and duly ratified and confirmed at a subsequent meeting regularly called and held in accordance with the statute, of which he had notice. Middle Canal Co. v. Whitley, 172 N. C. 100, 90 S. E. 1.

§ 5297. Surveyor employed.—The commissioners may employ a surveyor to prepare the map required to accompany their report. (Rev., s. 3998; Code, s. 1313; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 4.)

§ 5298. Confirmation of report.—If it appear that the lands on the lower level will be increased in value twenty-five per cent or upwards by the proposed improvement, within one year after the completion thereof, and that the cost of making such improvement will not exceed three-fourths of the present estimated value of the land to be benefited, and that the proprietors of at least one-half in value of the land to be affected consent to the improvement, the court may confirm such report, either in full or with such modifications therein as shall be just and equitable. (Rev., s. 3999; Code, s. 1314; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 5.)

§ 5299. Proprietors become a corporation. — Upon a final adjudication, confirming the report, the proprietors of the several pieces of land adjudged to be benefited by the improvement shall be declared a corporation, of which the capital stock shall be double the estimated cost of the improvements, and in which the several owners of the land adjudged to be benefited shall be corporators, holding shares of stock in the proportions in which they are adjudged liable for the expense of making and keeping up the improvement. (Rev., s. 4000; Code, s. 1315; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 6.)

§ 5300. Corporate name; officers; powers.— The person assessed to pay the highest sum shall be president of the company until another shall be elected; he shall, or in case of his refusal or an unreasonable delay, any other stockholder may, call a meeting of the corporators. The corporators shall choose a corporate name, elect a president and such officers as may be necessary, and make all by-laws and regulations, not contrary to law, which may be necessary or proper for effecting the purposes of the corporation; they shall fix the number of shares of stock, and assign to each proprietor his proper number; they shall assess the sums which shall be payable by each proprietor, to ascertain the time and mode of payment, in every meeting each proprietor shall vote once for each share owned by him. (Rev., s. 4001; Code, s. 1316; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 7.)

§ 5301. Incorporation of canal already constructed.—Whenever the proprietors of any canal already cut shall desire to become incorporated, any number of the proprietors, not less than one-third in number, may file their petition before the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the canal is located, or in either county, where the canal may be located in more than one county, setting forth the names of the proprietors, the length and size of the canal, the name of the owners of land draining in such canal, and the quantity of land tributary thereto. And upon filing the petition, summons shall issue to all parties having an easement in the canal, returnable as in other special proceedings; upon the return thereof, or upon a day fixed by the clerk for hearing same, all owners of the canal may become corporators, therein, and upon failure of any to avail themselves of that right, they shall not be entitled to become corporators, except under such by-laws and regulations as such corporators, shall make and declare. But those who fail to avail themselves the benefit of this subchapter shall not be deprived of their easement in the canal, but shall enjoy the same upon payment to the corporation of the assessment made upon them pro rata with the corporators; such assessment shall be made on the land tributary to the canal and apportioned pro rata to each owner thereof; it shall be made by the corporation on ten days notice to each owner of the land, under such rules and regulations as the by-laws may prescribe; but any person dissatisfied therewith shall have the right to appeal to a jury at the regular term of the superior court of the county, and the amount of damages assessed shall be a first lien on the land of the owner against whom judgment shall be rendered: Provided, that in making such assessment upon landowners who are not members of the corporation it shall be unlawful to charge in such assessment any charges or per diem pay for the officers of such canal company against the owners of such land, and any such attempt to charge the salaries or per diem of officers of the canal company in such assessment shall render the same void. (Rev., s. 4008; 1889, c. 380; 1901, c. 670.)

Art. 4. Rights and Liabilities in the Corporation

§ 5302. Shares of stock annexed to land.— The ownership of the shares of stock is indissolubly annexed to the ownership of the pieces of land adjudged to be benefited by the improvement; and such shares, or a part thereof proportionate to the area of such land that may descend or be conveyed for any longer time than three years, shall, upon such descent or conveyance, descend and pass with the land, even although such shares be not mentioned in the deed of conveyance, and although their transfer be forbidden by such deed so that every owner of such land in possession, except tenant for a term of years, not exceeding three, and every owner in reversion or remainder after a term not exceeding three years, shall, during his ownership, be entitled to all the rights and privileges and be subject to all the obligations and burdens of a corporator. Every attempted sale of shares otherwise than as annexed to the land shall be void. (Rev., s. 4002; Code, s. 1317; 1868-9, c. 164, 8.)

§ 5303. Shareholders to pay assessments.—Every corporator shall be bound to obey the lawful by-laws of the company, and pay all dues lawfully assessed on him: Provided, he shall in no case pay more than his proportion of the expenses as fixed by this subchapter; and such dues may be collected in the corporate name in any court having jurisdiction; and every assessment duly docketed in the county where the land to be affected lies shall be a lien on the lands of the debtor which are connected with the corporation from the date of such docketing. (Rev., s. 4003; Code, s. 1318; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 9.)

As to collection of assessments out of other property of delinquent, see section 5362.

Assessments—Lien upon Land.—An assessment made upon owners of lands constitutes a lien upon the lands therein and is enforcible by proceedings in rem in a court having equitable jurisdiction, in the absence of other provision of the statute; and personal judgment against the defendant may not be had, as in actions arising ex contractu. Middle Canal Co. v. Whitley, 172 N. C. 100, 90 S. E. 1; Long Creek Drainage Dist. v. Huffstetler, 173 N. C. 523, 92 S. E. 368.

Same—Enforcement by Justice of Peace.—Therefore, a justice of the peace has no jurisdiction over actions to enforce the payment of such assessments, and they will be dismissed upon motion to nonsuit when brought in that court. Middle Canal Co. v. Whitley, 172 N. C. 100, 90 S. E. 1; Long Creek Drainage Dist. v. Huffstetler, 173 N. C. 523, 92 S. E. 368.

Same—Execution.—Assessments, made in accordance with the statute, become liens on the lands when properly certified by the officers of the corporation and docketed in the office of the superior court of the proper county; and executions may issue directing that such lands be sold to pay the assessments and the costs. Middle Canal Co. v. Whitley, 172 N. C. 100, 90 S. E. 1.

Same—Review by Certiorari.—The courts will review by writ of certiorari the action of the drainage corporation in making illegal assessments and enjoin such assessments that are absolutely void upon their face. Middle Canal Co. v. Whitley, 172 N. C. 100, 90 S. E. 1.

Same—Collateral Attack.—An assessment, that does not appear to be void on its face, cannot be attacked collaterally. Middle Canal Co. v. Whitley, 172 N. C. 100, 90 S. E. 1.

§ 5304. Payment of dues entitles to use of canal.—Every corporator paying his dues legally assessed without regard to the number of his shares, shall be entitled to the full and free use of the canal for drainage and navigation, and of the road for passage and tranportation. By-laws may be made to regulate these rights, but not so as to produce inequality. (Rev., s. 4004; Code, s. 1319; 1868-9 c. 164, s. 10.)

§ 5305. Rights of infant owners protected.—If any proprietor whose lands are adjudged to be benefited by a canal shall be an infant, no process shall be issued against him during his minority, or within twelve months thereafter, to enforce payment of any assessment, and he may, at any time within such twelve months, apply to have any order, judgment, or decree made against him set aside as to him. If the infant or his guardian shall, during his minority, and the twelve months next thereafter, pay the dues assessed on him, he shall have all the rights and privileges of a corporator, to be exercised through his guardian. If the infant shall fail to pay, he shall not have any such rights, but if no action to set aside the judgment of the court creating the corporation shall have been brought by him as aforesaid, or upon the decision of such action against him, he shall be entitled to receive his proper share of stock and to possess all the rights and be bound by all the liabilities of a corporator, including a liability for assessment made during his minority, but not for interest on such, nor for any penalty for their prior nonpayment. (Rev., s. 4005; Code, s. 1320, 1868-9, c. 164, s. 11.)

§ 5306. Compensation for damages to lands.—If any proprietor of lands shall be damaged by any improvement proposed, the commissioners shall so report, and he shall be entitled to be compensated as may be just by the proprietor whose lands are benefited in proportion to the benefit to them respectively; but in estimating such damages the benefit shall be deducted, and such proprietor shall be entitled to all the rights and privileges of a corporation as respects the use of the improvement, but shall not be entitled to a vote, or be bound for the assessment. (Rev., s. 4006; Code, s. 1321; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 12.)

§ 5307. Dissolution of corporation.—If, from any cause, the canal or other improvement shall become or shall prove to be valueless, any corporator may apply as is provided in other cases of special proceedings, and the court may dissolve the corporation created in connection with it. (Rev., s. 4007; Code, s. 1322; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 13.)

§ 5308. Laborer's lien for work on canal.—Whenever work or repair shall be done on such canal and any of the parties owning lands liable to be assessed for such work or repairs shall fail or refuse to pay the amount assessed upon their lands, then and in that event the laborers performing such work shall have a lien upon such land to the extent of the amount assessed against the same by the corporation, and such lien may be enforced in the same manner as provided by the laws of this state for the enforcement of laborers' liens. (Rev., s. 4009; 1899, c. 600, s. 2.)

§ 5309. Penalty for nonpayment of assessments.—Whenever any person whose lands have been adjudged liable to contribute to the maintenance or repair of such canal shall fail or refuse to pay the amount assessed against his land for such maintenance or repair for thirty days after such payment has been demanded by the company, then the company may give such person notice in writing of its intention to cut off his right of drainage into the canal, and if such person shall still neglect and refuse to pay such assessment for thirty days after such notice, then the company may proceed to so obstruct and dam up the ditches of such delinquent as will effectually prevent his draining into the canal. (Rev., s. 4010; 1899, c. 600, s. 3.)

§ 5310. Corporation authorized to issue bonds.—The corporations organized under this subchapter are authorized to issue bonds to such an amount and in such denomination as they may elect, payable at such times as may be provided, and to sell the same at not less than par, the proceeds of the sale of such bonds to be used for the payment of the costs of survey and construction and maintenance of the canal. The bonds shall constitute a lien upon the lands drained or improved by the canal as described in the reports of the commissioners. (1908, c. 75, s. 1.)

§ 5311. Payment of bonds enforced.—Upon default of the payment of the interest or principal of such bonds, the holders of the bonds of the corporations oganized under this subchapter shall have a right to enforce the lien created by the preceding section by civil actions in the superior courts of the state. (1908, c. 75, s. 2.)

SUBCHAPTER III. DRAINAGE DISTRICTS

Art. 5. Establishment of Districts

§ 5312. Jurisdiction to establish districts.—The clerk of the superior court of any county in the State of North Carolina shall have jurisdiction, power and authority to establish levee or drainage districts either wholly or partly located in his county, and which shall constitute a political subdivision of the state, and to locate and establish levees, drains or canals, and cause to be constructed, straightened, widened or deepened, any ditch, drain or watercourse, and to build levees or embankments and erect tidal gates and pumping plants for the purpose of draining and reclaiming wet, swamp or overflowed land; and it is hereby declared that the drainage of swamp lands and the drainage of surface water from agricultural lands and the reclamation of tidal marshes shall be considered a public use and benefit and conducive to the public health, convenience and welfare, and that the districts heretofore and hereafter created under the law shall be and constitute political subdivisions of the state, with authority to provide by law to levy taxes and assessments for the construction and maintenance of said public works. (1909, c. 442, s. 1; 1921, c. 7.)

As to construction of drainage act for Mattamuskeet Lake, see Carter v. Commissioners, 156 N. C. 183, 72 S. E. 380.

Editor's Note.—This section, as amended by acts of 1921, ch. 7, extends the authority of the clerk of the superior court to the effect that he has now power to establish levee or drainage districts, either wholly or partly located in his county, whereas his authority, under the former section was limited to his county alone.

Under the new section, the drainage districts constitute political subdivision of the state, "with authority to provide by law to levy taxes and assessments for the construction and maintenance of said public works."

But the rights of landowners in the Mattamuskeet Drainage District having been determined in a court having jurisdiction as to assessments in proportion to the benefits conferred, cannot be affected by chapter 7, Public Laws of 1921, providing that "the districts heretofore or hereafter created under the law shall be and constitute political subdivisions of the State," later enacted, for such would be to impair the vested rights of those whose property had been assessed by the final judgment. O'Neal v. Mann, 193 N. C. 153, 136 S. E. 379.

The proceedings in forming a drainage district under the provisions of chapter 442, Public Laws 1909, is judicial and not administrative, and the amendment of chapter 7, Public Laws 1921, making all districts theretofore or thereafter created a political subdivision of the State cannot affect vested rights of landowners acquired under orders, judgments, or decrees made in pursuance of the powers conferred by the original act. Broadhurst v. Board of Commissioners, 195 N. C. 439, 142 S. E. 477.

Constitutionality.—This and the following sections of the subchapter are constitutional. Lumber Co. v. Drainage Commissioners, 174 N. C. 647, 94 S. E. 457; Drainage Com'rs v. Mitchell, 170 N. C. 324, 87 S. E. 112; Banks v. Lane, 170 N. C. 14, 86 S. E. 713; Shelton v. White, 163 N. C. 90, 79 S. E. 427; In re Drainage District, 162 N. C. 127, 78 S. E. 14; Sanderlin v. Luken, 152 N. C. 738, 68 S. E. 225.

Same—Collateral Attack.—The drainage acts are constitutional and the validity of a district laid off accordingly cannot be collaterally attacked. Banks v. Lane, 170 N. C. 14, 86 S. E. 713; Newby v. Drainage District, 163 N. C. 24, 79 S. E. 266.

Purpose and Nature—Scheme.—This subchapter authorizing the establishment of certain levee or drainage districts, is to present a scheme for the drainage of lowlands in which the public of the locality are generally interested, at once comprehensive, adequate and effecient, in which the rights of all persons to be affected have been fully considered and protected, and is not objectionable on the ground that it is for the benefit of private landowners and not for public purposes. Sanderlin v. Luken, 152 N. C. 738, 68 S. E. 225.

Same—System.—This section adopts a system for the cooperation of landowners in the drainage of lands by forming drainage districts, which are to become quasi-public corporations, for the purpose of improving the health of the district and the fertility of the lands, under which the lands are assessed in proportion to the benefits derived and an organization is effected in each district, to execute and maintain a system of drainage. In re Drainage District, 162 N. C. 127, 130, 78 S. E. 14.

Same—Police Regulation.—The drainage of swamps and of surface water from agricultural lands in a drainage district are public benefit and conductive to the public health, etc., thus falling within the police regulations; and proceedings thereunder are in the exercise of the right of eminent domain. Taylor v. Commissioners, 176 N. C. 217, 96 S. E. 1027.

Same—Quasi Municipal.—A drainage district laid off under the provisions of this subchapter is a quasi-municipal corporation, partaking to some extent of the character of a governmental agency. Newby v. Drainage District, 163 N. C. 24, 79 S. E. 266; Drainage Commissioners v. Eastern Home, etc., Association, 165 N. C. 697, 700, 81 S. E. 947; Drainage Commissioners v. Webb & Co., 160 N. C. 594, 76 S. E. 552; Sanderlin v. Luken, 152 N. C. 738, 68 S. E. 225.

Same—Right of Eminent Domain.—Drainage district is a quasi-public corporation. But it is not a governmental agency, and occupies the same relative position as a railroad company or any similar quasi-public corporation created for private benefit, but endowed with the right of eminent domain and other public functions by reason of the public benefit. Leary v. Board, 172 N. C. 25, 26, 89 S. E. 803.

Same—Liable for Torts.—Drainage districts formed under the statute are not regarded as governmental agencies to the extent that they are protected from civil actions except when authorized by statute, but are classed with quasi-public corporations and are ordinarily liable for their torts and wrongs, which, in proper instances, extend to their participating officers and agents as a personal liability. Spencer v. Wills, 179 N. C. 175, 102 S. E. 275.

A drainage district is liable in damages for wrongs and torts committed on the property of adjoining owners of lands not embraced in the district being established under the provisions of the statute. Sawyer v. Drainage Dist., 179 N. C. 182, 102 S. E. 273.

Basis of Legislative Authority.—The authority of the Legislature to provide for the creation of levee and drainage districts is based upon the police power, the right of eminent domain, and the taxing power. Shelton v. White, 163 N. C. 90, 79 S. E. 427.

Clerk's Authority Not a Delegation of Legislative Power.—The authority and powers conferred by this subchapter upon the clerk of the court is not a delegation of legislative power and duty to the judicial department of the State prohibited by the Constitution, the powers and duties conferred being of a judicial nature in relation to the prescribed proceedings to be instituted for the establishment of drainage districts. Sanderlin v. Luken, 152 N. C. 738, 68 S. E. 225.

Right of Receiver to Intervene and Become Party to Suit in Federal Court.—See Board of Drainage Comr's v. Lafayette Southside Bank, 27 Fed. (2d) 286.

Proceedings Not Defective for Delay.—Proceedings for the establishment of a drainage district, under this and the following section of this article, bonds to be issued therefor, will not be held as defective because further steps were not taken for several years after they had been commenced, the court holding, they were still pending, and because of the fact that the engineer and viewers did not file a profile map showing the surface of the ground, bottom grades, etc., at the time of the final report, as required by sec. 5327, it appearing that this was later done upon order of the board of drainage commissioners, and otherwise the provisions of the statutes had been strictly followed. Oden v. Bell, 185 N. C. 403, 117 S. E. 340.

§ 5313. Venue; special proceeding.—When the lands proposed to be drained and created into a drainage district are located in two or more counties, the clerk of the superior court of either county shall have and exercise the jurisdiction herein conferred, and the venue shall be in that county in which the petition is first filed. The law and the rules regulating special proceedings shall be applicable in this proceeding, so far as may be practicable; and the proceedings hereunder may be ex parte or adversary. (1909, c. 442, ss. 2, 38.)

As to construction of proceedings under this subchapter, see section 5379.

Similar to a Proceeding in Rem.—Proceedings to form drainage district under this subchapter, are regarded as proceedings in rem. Taylor v. Commissioners, 176 N. C. 217, 96 S. E. 1027; Banks v. Lane, 170 N. C. 14, 86 S. E. 713; Staton v. Staton, 148 N. C. 490, 62 S. E. 596.

§ 5314. Petition filed.—A petition signed by a majority of the resident landowners in a proposed drainage district or by the owners of three-fifths of all the land which will be affected or assessed for the expense of the proposed improvements may be filed in the office of the clerk of the superior court of any county in which a part of the lands is located, setting forth that any specific body or district of land in the county and adjoining counties, described in such a way as to convey an intelligent idea as to the location of such land, is subject to overflow or too wet for cultivation, and the public benefit or utility or the public health, convenience or welfare will be promoted by draining, ditching or leveeing the same or by changing or improving the natural watercourses, and setting forth therein, as far as practicable, the starting point, route, and terminus and lateral branches, if necessary, of the proposed improvement. [A petition signed by resident land owners in a proposed drainage, district, or owners of land which will be affected or assessed for the expense of the proposed improvement, who constitute less than a majority of all such resident landowners or who own less than three-fifths of all the lands which will be affected or assessed as aforesaid, may be filed under this section, and shall be deemed to be sufficiently signed, if the petition shall have first been submitted to and approved by the board of county commissioners and the board of health of the county in which the petition is filed: Provided that the portion of this section in brackets shall apply only to the drainage districts in Rowan county, Robeson county, and Iredell county.]

The petition will also show whether or not the proposed drainage is for reclamation of lands not then fit for cultivation or for the improvement of land already under cultivation. It shall also state that, if a reclamation district is proposed to be established, such lands so reclaimed, will be of such value as to justify the reclamation. (1909, c. 442, s. 2; 1921, c. 76; 1925, cc. 85, 144; 1927, c. 98.)

Editor's Note.—By Public Laws, 1921, ch. 76, a proviso was added to this section, to the effect that in case of the construction of a particular improved highway, necessitating the digging of a drainage canal through the lands of residents of the county, it should not be necessary that the petition be signed by a majority of the resident landowners, or by the owners of three-fifths of all the land which will be affected or assessed, but that the petition should have the same effect if filed by the state highway commission. This amendment was repealed by Public Local Laws 1923, c. 88, inapplicable to Franklin, Hyde, Nash and Wilson Counties, and also by Public Laws 1925, ch. 85. The act of 1923 added a proviso to this section which was also repealed by the said act of 1925. Public Laws 1925, c. 144, added the words in brackets. The final paragraph of the section was added by Pub Laws, 1927, ch. 98. For the distinction between the reclamation districts and improvement districts, see section 5320, par. 5.

Statutory Number of Owners Is Sufficient.—It is not necessary that every owner of land within a drainage district should have assented to its formation when the statutory number thereof have done so. Taylor v. Commissioners, 176 N. C. 217, 96 S. E. 1027.

A Flexible Proceeding.—This is a flexible proceeding, and to be modified and molded by decrees from time to time to promote the objects of the proceeding. In re Lyon Swamp Drainage District, 175 N. C. 270, 272, 95 S. E. 485; Staton v. Staton, 148 N. C. 490, 62 S. E. 596; Adams v. Joyner, 147 N. C. 77, 60 S. E. 725.

Property Should Be Described.—One of the essentials of the proceeding is that the property sought to be charged shall be identified by description in the proceedings. Dover Lumber Co. v. Board, 173 N. C. 117, 119, 91 S. E. 714, 845.

§ 5315. Bond filed and summons issued.—Upon filing with the petition a bond for the amount of fifty dollars per mile for each mile of the ditch or proposed improvement, signed by two or more sureties or by some lawful and authorized surety company, to be approved by the clerk of superior court, conditioned for the payment of all costs and expenses incurred in the proceeding in case the court does not grant the prayer of the petition, the clerk shall issue a summons to be served on all the defendant landowners who have not joined in the petition and whose lands are included in the proposed drainage district. The summons may be served by publication as to any defendants who cannot be personally served as provided by law. (1909, c. 442, s. 2.)

In General.—The drainage laws of North Carolina have been largely copied from the acts in Indiana and Illinois, and following the construction of these acts in these and other States for the long period of time the acts have been in force, it is essential that notice of summons in all such proceedings be given to all parties who will be affected thereby. Dover Lumber Co. v. Board of Commissioners, 173 N. C. 117, 118, 91 S. E. 714, 845.

Summons on All Landowners.—This section is mandatory in requiring a "summons to be served on all the defendant landowners who have not joined in the petition and whose lands are included in the proposed drainage district." Dover Lumber Co. v. Board of Commissioners, 173 N. C. 117, 118, 91 S. E. 714, 845. "But the statute requires only landowners to be made parties in such drainage proceedings." Dover Lumber Co. v. Board of Commissioners, 173 N. C. 117, 120, 91 S. E. 714, 845.

Same—Mortgagee Not Included.—It would interfere with a much-needed public development if, as a prerequisite thereto, and before a final order can be made, all defects of title and mortgages or liens that may be claimed must be looked up and adjudicated. It is sufficient that summons shall be served upon the parties in possession under an apparent legal title, and that before final adjudication notice shall be given in the manner prescribed in order that parties claiming liens by mortgage or otherwise, or title to the land adversely to those in possession, shall have opportunity to come in and oppose confirmation of the final report. Banks v. Lane, 170 N. C. 14, 17, 86 S. E. 713. See Drainage Commissioners v. Eastern Home, etc., Ass'n, 165 N. C. 697, 701, 81 S. E. 947.

Effect of Failure to Serve Summons.—Where a landowner having an interest within the meaning of the statute, has not been served, and it does not appear that he was an apparent party, an order laying an assessment on his property is void, and the proceedings as they relate to him are a nullity, and the assessment may be restrained. Banks v. Lane, 170 N. C. 14, holding a mortgagee not a necessary party, cited and distinguished. Dover Lumber Co. v. Board of Commissioners, 173 N. C. 117, 91 S. E. 714, 845.

Same—Subsequent Notification.—The proceedings for forming a drainage district are in rem; and where a valid statute has been complied with therein, and it appears that an owner has not been served with process, it is admissible to notify him, in possession, nunc pro tunc, and have the lands therein assessed. Taylor v. Commissioners, 176 N. C. 217, 96 S. E. 1027.

§ 5316. Publication in case of unknown owners.—If at the time of the filing of the petition, or at any time subsequent thereto, it shall be made to appear to the court by affidavit or otherwise that the owners of the whole or any share of any tracts of land, whose names are unknown, and cannot after due diligence be ascertained by the petitioners, the court shall order a notice in the nature of a summons to be given to all such persons by a publication of the petition, or of the substance thereof, and describing generally the tracts of land as to which the owners are unknown, with the order of the court thereon, in some newspaper published in the county wherein the land is located, or in some other county if no newspaper shall be published in the first-named county, which newspaper shall be designated in the order of the court, and a copy of such publication shall be also posted in at least three conspicuous places within the boundaries of the proposed district, and at the courthouse door of the county. Such publication in a newspaper and by posting shall be made for a period of four weeks. After the time of publication shall have expired, if no person claiming and asserting title to the tracts of land and entitled to notice shall appear, the court in its discretion may appoint some disinterested person to represent the unknown owners of such lands, and thereupon the court shall assume jurisdiction of the tracts of land and shall adjudicate as to such lands to the same extent as if the true owners were present and represented, and shall proceed against the land itself. If at any time during the pendency of the drainage proceeding the true owners of the lands shall appear in person, they may be made parties defendant of their own motion and without the necessity of personal service, and shall thereafter be considered as parties to the proceeding; but they shall have no right to except to or appeal from any order or judgment theretofore rendered, as to which the time for filing exceptions on notice shall have expired. (1911, c. 67, s. 1.)

Owners Bound if Section Is Followed.—By virtue of the notice required by this section the owners of land have opportunity to intervene and assert any right they might have to oppose the proceeding, if deemed contrary to their interest. Not having done so, they are bound by the judgment under which the bonds were issued for this improvement. Banks v. Lane, 170 N. C. 14, 16, 86 S. E. 713.

Judgment Presumed Regular.—Where publication in accordance with this section has been made, every presumption is in favor of the regularity of the judgment. Taylor v. Commissioners, 176 N. C. 217, 225, 96 S. E. 1027.

Mortgagee Must Assert Rights.—Notice by publication is given in proceedings to form a drainage district under this section, of the filing of the report in the office of the clerk of the Superior Court, which is open to inspection to the landowner or other person interested, and a mortgagee of lands who does not intervene and assert his rights to oppose the proceedings is bound by the final judgment. Banks v. Lane, 170 N. C. 14, 86 S. E. 713.

§ 5317. Board of viewers appointed by clerk.—Upon the return day the clerk shall appoint a disinterested and competent civil and drainage engineer and two resident freeholders of the county or counties in which the lands are located as a board of viewers to examine the lands described in the petition and make a preliminary report thereon. The drainage engineer shall be appointed upon the recommendation of the state geologist; and no member of the board of viewers so appointed shall own any land within the boundaries of the proposed district. In the selection of the two members of the board of viewers, other than the engineer, the clerk before making the appointment shall make careful inquiry into the character and qualifications of the proposed members, to the end that the members so appointed shall possess the necessary character, capacity, fitness, and impartiality for the discharge of their important duties. (1909, c. 442, s. 2; 1917, c. 152, s. 1.)

Former Provision for Compensation of Surveyor.—Section 1, ch. 235, Public Laws of 1915, by repealing sec. 14, ch. 67, Public Laws of 1911, amendatory of ch. 442, Public Laws of 1909, providing among other things, for advancing moneys to the credit of the Department of Agriculture in the State Treasury to a drainage district formed under the acts, for compensation, etc., of the drainage surveyor, and its refund out of the future sale of the bonds to be issued by the drainage district, etc., construed with sec. 2 of ch. 235, Public Laws of 1915, requiring the Attorney-General, at the request of the Department of Agriculture to bring action against the commissioners of any such drainage district, and the bond of the petitioners for the district (sec. 2, ch. 442, Laws of 1909) that has failed to refund the money so advanced cannot be construed, by correct interpretation, to relieve a district formed under the statutes from refunding the money advanced, as provided by said sec. 14, ch. 67, Public Laws of 1911, before the enactment of Laws of 1915, from the proceeds of the sale of the drainage bonds thereafter issued. Board of Agriculture v. Drainage Dist., 177 N. C. 222, 98 S. E. 597.

§ 5318. Attorney for petitioners. — The petitioners shall select some learned attorney or attorneys to represent them, who shall prosecute the drainage proceeding and advise with the petitioners and board of viewers, and shall agree upon the compensation for his professional services up to the time when the district shall be established and the board of drainage commissioners elected, or as nearly so as the same may be approximated. If the petitioners are unable to agree upon the selection of an attorney or attorneys, the selection may be made by the clerk of the court. The foregoing provision shall not interfere with the right of any individual petitioner in the selection of an attorney to represent his individual interests if he shall deem the same desirable or necessary. (1917, c. 152, s. 1.)

§ 5319. Estimate of expense and manner of payment.—The clerk shall make an estimate of the aggregate sum of money which shall appear to be necessary to pay all the expenses incident to the performance of the duties by the board of viewers, including the compensation of the drainage engineer and his necessary assistants, and also including the sum for the compensation of the attorney for the district, and such court costs as may probably accrue, which estimates shall embrace the period of services up to and including the establishment of the drainage district and the selection and appointment of the board of drainage commissioners. The clerk shall then estimate the number of acres of land owned or represented by the petitioners, as nearly so as may be practicable without actual survey, and shall assess each acre so represented a level rate per acre, to the end that such assessment will realize the sum of money which he has estimated as necessary to pay all necessary costs of the drainage proceeding up to the time of the appointment of the drainage commissioners, as above provided. The board of viewers, including the drainage engineer, shall not be required to enter upon the further discharge of their duties until the amount so estimated and assessed shall be paid in cash to the clerk of the court, which shall be retained by him as a court fund, and for which he shall be liable in his official capacity, and he shall be authorized to disburse the same in the prosecution of the drainage proceeding. Unless all the assessments shall be paid within a time to be fixed by the court, which may be extended from time to time, no further proceedings shall be had, and the proceeding shall be dismissed at the cost of the petitioners. If the entire sum so estimated and assessed shall not be paid the clerk within the time limited, the amounts so paid shall be refunded to the petitioners pro rata after paying the necessary costs accrued. Nothing herein contained shall prevent one or more of the petitioners from subscribing and paying any sum in addition to their assessment in order to make up any deficiency arising from the delinquency of one or more of the petitioners. When the sum of money so estimated shall be paid, the board of viewers shall proceed with the discharge of their duties, and in all other respects the proceeding shall be prosecuted according to the law. After the district shall have been established and the board of drainage commissioners appointed, it shall be the duty of the board of drainage commissioners to refund to each of the petitioners the amount so paid by them as above provided, out of the first moneys which shall come into the hands of the board from the sale of bonds or otherwise, and the same shall be included in ascertaining the total cost of improvement. (1917, c. 152, s. 1.)

§ 5320. Examination of lands, and preliminary report.—The board of viewers shall proceed to examine the land described in the petition, and other land if necessary to locate properly such improvement or improvements as are petitioned for, along the route described in the petition, or any other route answering the same purpose if found more practicable or feasible, and may make surveys such as may be necessary to determine the boundaries and elevation of the several parts of the district, and shall make and return to the clerk of the superior court within thirty days, unless the time shall be extended by the court, a written report, which shall set forth:

1. Whether the proposed drainage is practicable or not.

2. Whether it will benefit the public health or any public highway or be conducive to the general welfare of the community.

3. Whether the improvement proposed will benefit the lands sought to be benefited.

4. Whether or not all the lands that are benefited are included in the proposed drainage district.

5. Whether or not the district proposed to be farmed is to a reclamation district or an improvement district. A reclamation district is defined to be a district organized principally for reclaiming land not already under cultivation. An improvement district is defined to be a district organized principally for the improvement of lands then under cultivation. The board of viewers shall further report, if the district is a reclamation district within the above definitions, whether or not the proposed drainage would be justified by the additional value for agricultural purposes given to land so drained.

They shall also file with this report a map of the proposed drainage district, showing the location of the ditch or ditches or other improvement to be constructed and the lands that will be affected thereby, and such other information as they may have collected that will tend to show the correctness of their findings. (1909, c. 442, s. 3; 1927, c. 98, s. 2.)

Editor's Note.—Paragraph 5, distinguishing between reclamation districts and improvement districts, was added by Pub. Laws 1927, ch. 98, sec. 2.

§ 5321. First hearing of preliminary report.—The clerk of the superior court shall consider this report. If the viewers report that the drainage is not practicable or that it will not benefit the public health or any public highway or be conducive to the general welfare of the community, and the court shall approve such findings, the petition shall be dismissed at the cost of the petitioners, and such petition shall likewise be dismissed at the cost of the petitioners if it is sought to set up a reclamation district and the viewers report that the cost of reclaiming the land would be so great as not to justify the expense of draining it. Such petition or proceeding may again be instituted by the same or additional landowners at any time after six months, upon proper allegations that conditions have changed or that material facts were omitted or overlooked. If the viewers report that the drainage is practicable and that it will benefit the public health or any public highway or be conducive to the general welfare of the community, and the court shall so find, then the court shall fix a day when the report will be further heard and considered. (1909, c. 442, s. 4; 1927, c. 98, s. 3.)

Editor's Note.—The last part of the second sentence of this section, providing that the petition be dismissed where it is sought to set up a reclamation district and the viewers report unfavorably as to the cost, was added by Pub. Laws 1927, ch. 98, sec. 3.

Date for Objections Set by Clerk.—When the two freeholders and surveyors have acted upon the preliminary order of the clerk of the Superior Court in proceedings to establish a drainage district and the required report is made by them to the clerk, as to whether the proposed improvement is practicable and conducive to the general welfare of the district proposed, or whether the lands included will be benefited, etc., and the report filed with map and other things required, it is then the clerk's duty, under this section if the report is favorable, to approve the same and give notice of the date to hear objection, which then may be made by any person whose land has been embraced, that his land be excluded, which may raise an issue of fact as to whether his lands have been benefited or not. Shelton v. White, 163 N. C. 90, 79 S. E. 427.

§ 5322. Notice of further hearing.—If the petition is entertained by the court, notice shall be given by publication for two consecutive weeks in some newspaper of general circulation within the county or counties, if one shall be published in such counties, and also by posting a written or printed notice at the door of the courthouse and at five conspicious places within the drainage district, that on the date set, naming the day, the court will consider and pass upon the report of the viewers. At least fifteen days shall intervene between the date of the publication and the posting of the notices and the date set for the hearing. (1909, c. 442, s. 5.)

§ 5323. Further hearing, and district established.—At the date appointed for the hearing the court shall hear and determine any objections that may be offered to the report of the viewers. If it appear that there is any land within the proposed levee or drainage district that will not be affected by the leveeing or drainage thereof, such lands shall be excluded and the names of the owners withdrawn from such proceeding; and if it shall be shown that there is any land not within the proposed district that will be affected by the construction of the proposed levee or drain, the boundary of the district shall be so changed as to include such land, and such additional land owners shall be made parties plaintiff or defendant, respectively, and summons shall issue accordingly, as hereinbefore provided. After such change in the boundary is made, the sufficiency of the petition shall be verified, to determine whether or not it conforms to the requirements hereinbefore provided. The efficiency of the drainage or levees may also be determined, and if it appears that the location of any levee or drain can be changed so as to make it more effective, or that other branches or spurs should be constructed, or that any branch or spur projected may be eliminated or other changes made that will tend to increase the benefits of the proposed work, such modification and changes shall be made by the board. The engineer and the other two viewers may attend this meeting and give any information or evidence that may be sought to verify and substantiate their report. If necessary, the petition, as amended, shall be referred by the court to the engineer and two viewers for further report. The above facts having been determined to the satisfaction of the court, and the boundaries of the proposed district so determined, it shall declare the establishment of the drainage or levee district, which shall be designated by a name or number, for the object and purpose as herein set forth.

If any lands shall be excluded from the district because of the court having found that such lands will not be affected or benefited, and the names of the owners of such lands have been withdrawn from such proceeding, but such lands are so situated as necessarily to be located within the outer boundaries of the district, such fact shall not prevent the establishment of the district, and such lands shall not be assessed for any drainage tax; but this shall not prevent the district from acquiring a right of way across such lands for constructing a canal or ditch or for any other necessary purpose authorized by law. The court shall further determine, if it is sought to establish a reclamation district, whether or not the increased value of the particular land should be so great as to justify the cost and expenses of its reclaiming. (1909, c. 442, s. 6; 1911, c. 67, s. 2; 1927, c. 98, s. 4.)

Editor's Note.—By Pub. Laws 1927, ch. 98, sec. 4 the last sentence of this section was added. This addition applies when the proposed district is a reclamation district. The distinction between reclamation and improvement districts was introduced by ch. 98, Pub. Laws 1927 and references to it will be found in sections 5314, 5320, 5321 and 5355. The two classes of districts are defined in section 5320, par. 5.

Minority Landowner Cannot Contest Formation of District.—A minority landowner included in a proposed drainage district to be laid out may not contest the formation of the district, but can raise only the issue as to his benefits therefrom. Shelton v. White, 163 N. C. 90, 79 S. E. 427.

Same—Public Benefit Governs.—It is because of the benefits which accrue to the public from the establishment of a drainage district under the statute, that power conferred thereby upon the court to include lands of owners who are unwilling to sign the petiiton, or who oppose the establishment of the district is sustained. O'Neal v. Mann, 193 N. C. 153, 162, 136 S. E. 379.

Signer of Original Petition Can Object.—Upon report of the viewers and surveyors at the final hearing in proceedings to lay off a drainage district, one who signed the original petition may have ascertained from the information contained in the report, contrary to his previous opinion, that the cost of the improvements and damages will amount to more than the benefits to his land, and hence he may then file his objections, and the same procedure is then open to him as if he had not signed the petition. Shelton v. White, 163 N. C. 90, 79 S. E. 427.

Small District Within Larger.—A smaller drainage district may be laid off within the boundaries of a larger one, theretofore organized, the purposes of each harmonizing with the purposes of the other. Drainage Commissioners v. Eastern Home, etc., Ass'n, 165 N. C. 697, 81 S. E. 947.

§ 5324. Right of appeal.—Any person owning lands within the drainage or levee district which he thinks will not be benefited by the improvement and should not be included in the district may appeal from the decision of the court to the superior court of such county, in term-time, by filing an appeal, accompanied by a bond conditioned for the payment of the costs if the appeal should be decided against him, for such sum as the court may require, not exceeding two hundred dollars, signed by two or more solvent sureties or in some approved surety company to be approved by the court. (1909, c. 442, s. 8.)

As to appeal from final hearing, see section 5333 and notes.

Power to Change Route.—See note under section 3846(a).

Proceedings upon Appeal.—A petition for the establishment of a drainage district of a majority of the resident landowners or of the owners of three-fifths of the land therein, approved by the report of the viewers and surveyor and affirmed by the clerk, permits a majority owner to raise only the issue of fact for the jury to determine as to the benefit to his lands; and should the jury find in favor of the objector, he is not entitled as a matter of right to have his land excluded, but it is for the judge to decide whether this may be done without injury to the district, and if not, he may order that such land be retained, upon payment of the damages to be awarded by the jury, as in condemnation of lands; all other matters embodied in the report are subject to approval by the clerk, and reviewed by the judge without the intervention of a jury, being questions of fact. Shelton v. White, 163 N. C. 90, 79 S. E. 427.

Proper Appeal Is Notice to Purchaser of Bond.—Where the owner of land in a drainage district has duly excepted under this section and again under section 5333 and appealed, the purchaser of bonds issued by the district takes with notice of the rights of the complaining party so excepting, and acquires the bonds subject thereto. Drainage District v. Parks, 170 N. C. 435, 87 S. E. 229.

Effect of Failure to Appeal.—Under the Drainage Act appeals are separately provided for under this section when the drainage district has been laid off, and under section 5333 when the final act is passed upon; and where the complaining owner of land in the district has not entered an exception under either of these two sections as the statute provides, and bonds have been duly issued on the lands of the district for drainage purposes, and thereafter application has been made by the commissioners for the issuance of additional bonds, in the further proceedings he may not be permitted to go back and change the formation of the district and the classification and assessments already made, by attacking the reports of the engineers and viewers, and withdraw a large part of his lands from the district theretofore formed. Drainage District v. Parks, 170 N. C. 435, 87 S. E. 229.

§ 5325. Condemnation of land.—If it shall be necessary to acquire a right of way or an outlet over and through lands not affected by the drainage, and the same cannot be acquired by purchase, then and in such event the power of eminent domain is hereby conferred, and the same may be condemned. The owners of the land proposed to be condemned may be made parties defendant in the manner of an ancillary proceeding, and the procedure shall be substantially as provided by law for the condemnation of rights of way for railroads so far as the same may be applicable, and such damages as may be awarded as compensation shall be paid by the board of drainage commissioners out of the first funds which shall be available from the proceeds of sale of bonds or otherwise. (1909, c. 442, s. 7.)

§ 5326. Complete survey ordered.— After the district is established the court shall refer the report of the engineer and viewers back to them to make a complete survey, plans, and specifications for the drains or levees or other improvements, and fix a time when the engineer and viewers shall complete and file their report, not exceeding sixty days. (1909, c. 442, s. 9.)

§ 5327. Nature of the survey.—The engineer and viewers shall have power to employ such assistants as may be necessary to make a complete survey of the drainage district, and shall enter upon the ground and make a survey of the main drain or drains and all its lateral. The line of each ditch, drain, or levee shall be plainly and substantially marked on the ground. The course and distance of each ditch shall be carefully noted and sufficient notes made, so that it may be accurately plotted and mapped. A line of levels shall be run for the entire work and sufficient data secured from which accurate profiles and plans may be made. Frequent bench marks shall be established along the line, on permanent objects, and their elevation recorded in the field books. If it is deemed expedient by the engineer and viewers, other levels may be run to determine the fall from one part of the district to another. If an old watercourse, ditch, or channel is being widened, deepened, or straightened, it shall be accurately cross-sectioned, so as to compute the number of cubic yards saved by the use of such old channel. A drainage map of the district shall then be completed, showing the location of the ditch or ditches and other improvements and the boundary, as closely as may be determined by the records, of the lands owned by each individual landowner within the district. The location of any railroads or public highways and the boundary of any incorporated towns or villages within the district shall be shown on the map. There shall also be prepared to accompany this map a profile of each levee, drain, or watercourse, showing the surface of the ground, the bottom or grade of the proposed improvement, and the number of cubic yards of excavation or fill in each mile or fraction thereof, and the total yards in the proposed improvement and the estimated cost thereof, and plans and specifications, and the cost of any other work required to be done. (1909, c. 442, s. 10.)

§ 5328. Assessment of damages.—It shall be the further duty of the engineer and viewers to assess the damages claimed by any one that is justly right and due to them for land taken or for inconvenience imposed because of the construction of the improvement, or for any other legal damages sustained. Such damage shall be considered separate and apart from any benefit the land would receive because of the proposed work, and shall be paid by the board of drainage commissioners when funds shall come into their hands. (1909, c. 442, s. 11; 1915, c. 238; 1917, c. 152, s. 16.)

Independent Action for Damages.—The principles that conclude parties to proceedings in the formation of drainage districts under the statute by final judgment, from a recovery of damages to their lands, applies to such as may have accrued in the laying out and the establishment of the district under the procedure prescribed, and does not prevent an injured proprietor, within or without the district, from maintaining his independent action to recover damages caused by an unauthorized and substantial departure from the scheme and plan established by the decrees and orders in the cause, nor where the damage complained of is attributable to the negligence of the company, or its officers or agents in carrying out the proposed work. Spencer v. Wills, 179 N. C. 175, 102 S. E. 275.

Same—Permanent Damages Recoverable.—The whole of plaintiff's lands were originally included in a drainage district to be established under the statutory provisions, but the final judgment so restricted and modified the survey, plat and boundaries as to exclude all except a comparatively small portion of the land, the preliminary survey showing that a canal would go through the land included as well as through the land, or a large part thereof, excluded by the final judgment. There was no evidence that ancillary proceedings for this outside lands by condemnation had been resorted to and it was held, that the plaintiff, in his independent action, may elect to recover the permanent damages caused to his land. Sawyer v. Drainage Dist., 179 N. C. 182, 102 S. E. 273.

Damage to Timber Included.—While under the drainage acts no assessments for benefits can be made against the owner of timber interests, only the land itself being liable, the owner of the land and of timber within the district, by the provision of the statute, when made a party to the proceedings and duly notified, is required to present his claim for the entire injury, inclusive of that to his timber, and the damages to the timber should thus be included and allowed in the final judgment in the proceedings. Lumber Co. v. Drainage Com'rs, 174 N. C. 647, 94 S. E. 457.

Pendency of Proceedings—Notice to Landowners.—The pendency of a proceeding to lay off a drainage district under the provisions of the act is notice to all the lands embraced in the district. Newby v. Drainage District, 163 N. C. 24, 79 S. E. 266.

Same—Notice to Grantees.—And the grantees thereof are bound by the statutory requirements as to the procedure to recover damages to the lands, as were their grantors who were parties to the proceedings and who owned the lands at that time. Newby v. Drainage District, 163 N. C. 24, 79 S. E. 266.

§ 5329. Classification of lands.—It shall be the further duty of the engineer and viewers to personally examine the land in the district and classify it with reference to the benefit it will receive from the construction of the levee, ditch, drain, or water-course or other improvement. In the case of drainage, the degree of wetness on the land, its proximity to the ditch or a natural outlet, and the fertility of the soil shall be considered in determining the amount of benefit it will receive by the construction of the ditch. The land benefited shall be separated in five classes. The land receiving the highest benefit, shall be marked "Class A;" that receiving the next highest benefit, "Class B;" that receiving the next highest benefit, "Class C;" that receiving the next highest benefit, "Class D," and that receiving the smallest benefit, "Class E." The holdings of any one land owner need not be all in one class, but the number of acres in each class shall be ascertained, though its boundary need not be marked on the ground or shown on the map. The total number of acres owned by one person in each class and the total number of acres benefited shall be determined. The total number of acres of each class in the entire district shall be obtained and presented in tabulated form. The scale of assessment upon the several classes of land returned by the engineer and viewers shall be in the ratio of five, four, three, two and one; that is to say, as often as five mills per acre is assessed against the land in "Class A," four mills per acre shall be assessed against the land in "Class B," three mills per acre in "Class C," two mills per acre in "Class D," and one mill per acre in "Class E." This shall form the basis of the assessment of benefits to the lands for drainage purposes. In any district lands may be included which are not benefited for the agriculture or crop production, or slightly so, but which will receive benefit by improvement in health conditions, and as to such lands the engineer and viewers may assess each tract of land without regard to the ratio and at such a sum per acre as will fairly represent the benefit of such lands. Villages or towns or parts thereof and small parcels of land located outside thereof and used primarily for residence of other specific purposes, and which require drainage, may also be included in any drainage district which by reason of their improved conditions and the limited area in each parcel under individual ownership, it is impracticable to fairly assess the benefits to each separate parcel of land by the ratio herein provided, and as to such parcels of land the engineer and viewers may assess each parcel of land without regard to the ratio and at a higher rate per acre respectively by reason of the greater benefits. If the streets or other property owned by any incorporated town or village are likewise benefited by such drainage works, the corporation may be assessed in proportion to such benefits, which assessment shall constitute a liability against the corporation and may be enforced as provided by law. (1909, c. 442, s. 12; 1923, c. 217, s. 1.)

Editor's Note.—This section was amended by Pub. Laws 1923, ch. 217, sec. 1, by the addition of the last three sentences providing for the inclusion in a drainage district of lands which are not benefitted for agricultural purposes, but which receive other benefits. A higher rate of assessment is provided when the benefits are greater.

Classification May Be Discretionary in Local Act.—The Legislature, in authorizing the establishment of a drainage district, may very largely commit to the commissioners the exercise of their judgment as to what should be done in carrying out the general provisions specified by the statute, and the special act of the Legislature creating the Gaston County Drainage Commission, ch. 427, Public-Local Laws of 1911, thus construed, does not relieve a landowner therein from paying his authorized assessments for benefits solely because the commission failed to strictly and literally divide the lands into the number of classes therein set out. Mitchen v. Drainage Com., 182 N. C. 511, 109 S. E. 551.

§ 5330. Extension of time for report.—In case the work is delayed by high water, sickness, or any other good cause, and the report is not completed at the time fixed by the court, the engineer and viewers shall appear before the court and state in writing the cause of such failure and ask for sufficient time in which to complete the work, and the court shall set another date by which the report shall be completed and filed. (1909, c. 442, s. 14.)

§ 5331. Final report filed: notice of hearing.—When the final report is completed and filed it shall be examined by the court, and if it is found to be in due form and in accordance with the law it shall be accepted, and if not in due form it may be referred back to the engineer and viewers, with instructions to secure further information, to be reported at a subsequent date to be fixed by the court. When the report is fully completed and accepted by the court a date not less than twenty days thereafter shall be fixed by the court for the final hearing upon the report, and notice thereof shall be given by publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the county and by posting a written or printed notice on the door of the courthouse and at five conspicuous places throughout the district, such publication to be made for at least two weeks before the final hearing. During this time a copy of the report shall be on file in the office of the clerk of the superior court, and shall be open to the inspection of any landowner or other person interested within the district. (1909, c. 442, s. 15.)

When Publication Unnecessary.—It is not necessary to the validity of bonds issued by a drainage district, that the notice of the time of hearing objections to the final report of the engineer and viewers was not published in some newspaper of general circulation in the county, when it appears that no newspaper was published therein, or elsewhere, which has a general circulation in the county, and that the landowners affected had actual and ample notice of such time and raised no objection. Board v. Brett Engineering Co., 165 N. C. 37, 80 S. E. 897.

§ 5332. Adjudication upon final report.—At the date set for hearing any landowner may appear in person or by counsel and file his objection in writing to the report of the viewers; and it shall be the duty of the court to carefully review the report of the viewers and the objections filed thereto, and make such changes as are necessary to render substantial and equal justice to all the landowners in the district. If, in the opinion of the court, the cost of construction, together with the amount of damages assessed, is not greater than the benefits that will accrue to the land affected, the court shall confirm the report of the viewers. If, however, the court finds that the cost of construction together with the damages assessed is greater than the resulting benefit that will accrue to the lands affected, the court shall dismiss the proceedings at the cost of the petitioners, and the sureties upon the bond so filed by them shall be liable for such costs: Provided, that the state geological and economic survey may remit and release to the petitioners the cost expended by the board on account of the engineer and his assistants. The court may from time to time collect from the petitioners such amounts as may be necessary to pay costs accruing, other than costs of the engineer and his assistants, such amounts to be repaid from the special tax hereby authorized. (1909, c. 442, s. 16; 1915, c. 238, s. 2; 1917, c. 152, s. 16.)

Effect of Final Decree.—A final decree in proceedings to lay off a statutory drainage district is an adjudication that the benefits derived to the land within the district are more than the burdens assessed against it for such purpose. Banks v. Lane, 170 N. C. 14, 86 S. E. 713.

Failure to Object is Waiver.—The question as to whether an owner of land within a drainage district has realized the benefits anticipated is eliminated when there is the establishment of the district upon the report; and where such owner remains silent or makes no objection or exception at the proper time as to the proceedings of the board, his silence is a waiver of any right he may have therein had, and the independent remedy by injunction is not open to him. Mitchem v. Drainage Com., 182 N. C. 511, 109 S. E. 551.

Where a drainage district has been duly laid off in conformity with the statute, and a landowner therein has not excepted to either the preliminary or final report, he may not after the appointment of the commissioners, be heard to complain that the benefits he is to receive are not as great as those he had contemplated. Griffin v. Board, 169 N. C. 642, 86 S. E. 575.

§ 5333. Appeal from final hearing.—Any party aggrieved may, within ten days after the confirmation of the assessor's report, appeal to the superior court in term-time. Such appeal shall be taken and prosecuted as now provided in special proceedings. Such appeal shall be based and heard only upon the exceptions theretofore filed by the complaining party, either as to issues of law or fact, and no additional exceptions shall be considered by the court upon the hearing of the appeal. In any appeal to the superior court in term time or in chambers taken under this section or any other section or provision of the drainage laws of the state, general or local, the same shall have precedence in consideration and trial by the court. If other issues also have precedence in the superior court under existing law, the order in which the same shall be heard shall be determined by the court in the exercise of a sound discretion. (1909, c. 442, s. 17; 1911, c. 67, s. 3; 1923, c. 217, s. 2.)

See also notes under section 5324.

Editor's Note.—The last two sentences, providing for precedence of cases under this section, were added by Public Laws 1923, ch. 217, sec. 2.

In General.—This section providing for an appeal upon exception to the final report by an owner of lands in a drainage district laid off under the provisions of the statute necessarily refers to the formation of the district and the assessments of the lands embraced in it. Drainage District v. Parks, 170 N. C. 435, 87 S. E. 229.

Authority of Referee.—Where, by consent of the parties to an action, the court has ordered a referee for hearing and determining "all matters in controversy," and the controversy has arisen upon exceptions taken by a landowner to the final report on the plan and assessments made in forming a drainage district, by this section, the complaining party may not successfully except to the authority of the referee in passing upon questions therein arising which have been referred to him. Drainage District v. Parks, 170 N. C. 435, 87 S. E. 229.

Appeal Only upon Exceptions Filed Below.—An appeal from the final order of the clerk in establishing a drainage district under the provisions of this section is heard only upon the exceptions thereto filed as to issues of law or fact. Shelton v. White, 163 N. C. 90, 79 S. E. 427; In re Drainage District, 162 N. C. 127, 78 S. E. 14. And it is sufficient that the clerk has found as a fact that the allegations set out in the petition are true, if these allegations are sufficient, and distinctly and clearly made. In re Drainage District, 162 N. C. 127, 78 S. E. 14

§ 5334. Compensation of the board of viewers. The compensation of the engineer, including his necessary assistants, rodmen, and laborers, and also the compensation of the viewers, shall be fixed by the clerk. In fixing such compensation particularly of the drainage engineer, the clerk shall confer fully with the state geologist and with the petitioners. The compensation to be paid to two members of the board of viewers, other than the engineer, shall not exceed four dollars per day for the time actually employed in the discharge of their duties, and in addition any actual and necessary expenses of travel and subsistence while in the actual discharge of their duties, an itemized report of which shall be submitted and verified. (1909, c. 442, s. 36; 1917, c. 152, ss. 1, 2.)

§ 5335. Account of expense filed.—The engineer and viewers shall keep an accurate account and report to the court name and number of days each person was employed on the survey and the kind of work he was doing, and any expenses that may have been incurred in going to and from the work, and the cost of any supplies or materials that may have been used in making the survey. (1909, c. 442, s. 13.)

§ 5336. Drainage record.—The clerk of the superior court shall provide a suitable book, to be known as the "drainage record," in which he shall transcribe every petition, motion, order, report, judgment, or finding of the board in every drainage transaction that may come before it, in such a manner as to make a complete and continuous record of the case. Copies of all the maps and profiles are to be furnished by the engineer and marked by the clerk "official copies," which shall be kept on file by him in his office, and one other copy shall be pasted or otherwise attached to his record book. (1909, c. 442, s. 18.)

Purpose of Record Book.—Upon the filing of the final report by the viewers, etc., in a proceeding to establish a drainage district under the provisions of the statute, a record is required by the statute to be kept in a book for the purpose, giving all interested in the proceedings notice of all that has been done materially affecting them; and when they have failed to make objection within three years, semble, they have lost their right to object, by the delay. Griffin v. Board, 169 N. C. 642, 86 S. E. 575.

§ 5336(a). Local: Advancements by Pitt County.—That on presentation of petition as authorized by section five thousand three hundred and fourteen of Consolidated Statutes of one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, and after filing bond as required by section five thousand three hundred and fifteen, said Statutes, and after the clerk has issued summons as directed by said latter section, the board of county commissioners of Pitt County is authorized and empowered, in the exercise of its discretion, in case the proposed drainage district is situate wholly or mostly in said county, to advance to the use of such proposed district to be paid out, on order of said court, and of the general fund of said county, a sum of money sufficient to pay court costs, and the costs incurred by the board of viewers appointed by the court under section five thousand three hundred and seventeen up to the appointment of drainage commission as authorized by section five thousand three hundred and thirty-seven, said Statutes, such advancement shall be repaid to said general fund, after finances have been provided to construct the proposed canal or levee. (1925, c. 205.)

Art. 6. Drainage Commissioners

§ 5337. Election and organization under original act.—After the drainage district has been declared established, as aforesaid, and the survey and plan therefor approved, the court shall appoint three persons, who shall be designated as the board of drainage commissioners. Such drainage commissioners shall first be elected by the owners of land within the drainage or levee district, or by a majority of same, in such manner as the court shall prescribe. The court shall appoint those receiving a majority of the votes. If any one or more of such proposed commissioners shall not receive the vote of a majority of such landowners the court shall appoint all or the remainder from among those voted for in the election. Any vacancy thereafter occurring shall be filled in like manner. Such three drainage commissioners, when so appointed, shall be immediately created a body corporate under the name and style of the "The Board of Drainage Commissioners of ..... District," with the right to hold property and convey the same, to sue and be sued, and shall possess such other powers as usually pertain to corporations. They shall organize by electing from among their number a chairman and a vice-chairman. They shall also elect a secretary, either within or without their body. The treasurer of the county in which the proceeding was instituted shall be ex officio treasurer of such drainage commissioners. Such board of drainage commissioners shall adopt a seal, which they may alter at pleasure. The board of drainage commissioners shall have and possess such powers as are herein granted. (1909, c. 442, s. 19; 1917, c. 152, s. 17.)

As to appointment of commissioner in Davidson Creek Drainage District, see Public Laws, 1933, c. 466.

Requirements as to Appointment Directory Merely.—The appointment of commissioners for the drainage district for Mattamuskeet Lake and adjoining lands, ch. 509, sec. 3, Laws of 1909, is to be made, two by the State Board of Education and one by the clerk of the court, without reference to this section, requiring an election by the owners of the land within the drainage or levee district. Semble, the requirements of this section are but recommendatory. State v. Gibbs, 156 N. C. 44, 72 S. E. 82.

§ 5338. Name of districts.—The name of such drainage district shall constitute a part of its corporate name, for illustration, the board of drainage commissioners of Mecklenburg Drainage District, No. 1. In the naming of a drainage district the clerk of the court, notwithstanding the name given in the petition, shall so change the name as to make it conform to the county within which the district, or the main portion of the district, is located, and be also designated by number, the number to indicate the number of districts petitioned for in the county. For illustration, the first district organized in Mecklenburg County would be Mecklenburg County Drainage District, No. 1; name of the second would be Mecklenburg County Drainage District, No. 2: the fifth one organized would be Mecklenburg County Drainage District, No. 5: Provided, that so much of this section as provides for numbering the districts in each county shall not apply to districts in which bonds have been issued and sold prior to the fifth day of March, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen. (1909, c. 442, s. 19; 1917, c. 152, s. 17.)

§ 5339. Election and organization under amended act.

1. Method of Election.—In the election of drainage commissioners by the owners of land, each landowner shall be entitled to cast the number of votes equaling the number of acres of land owned by him and benefited, as appears by the final report of the viewers. Each landowner may vote for the names of three persons for commissioners. If any person or persons in any district shall own land in any district containing an area greater than one-half of the total area in the district, such owner shall only be permitted to elect two of the drainage commissioners, and a separate election shall be held under the direction of the clerk by the minority landowners, who shall elect one member of the drainage commissioners.

2. Organization.—Immediately after the election of the board of drainage commissioners, and after the members of the board shall be appointed by the clerk, the clerk of the court shall notify each of them in writing to appear at a certain time and place within the county and organize. The clerk of the superior court shall appoint one of the three members as chairman of the board of drainage commissioners, and in doing so he shall consider carefully and impartially the respective qualifications of each of the members for the position.

3. Term of Office.—The term of service of the members of the board of drainage commissioners so elected and appointed shall begin immediately after their organization. One commissioner shall serve for one year, one for two years, and the other for three years, the term to be computed from the first day of October following their organization. The members so serving for one, two, and three years respectively, shall be designated by the clerk of the court or designated by lot among the members, in the discretion of the clerk. Thereafter each member shall be elected for three years. In the year when the term of any member or members shall expire the clerk of the court shall provide for an election of their successors to be held on the second Monday in August preceding the expiration of their term on the thirtieth day of September. The clerk of the court shall record in the drainage record the date of election, the members elected, and the beginning and expiration of their term of office.

4. Vacancies Filled.—If a vacancy shall occur in the office of any commissioner by death, resignation, or otherwise, the remaining two members are to discharge the necessary duties of the board until the vacancy shall be filled; and if the vacancy shall be in the office of chairman or secretary, the two remaining members may elect a secretary, and the clerk shall appoint one of the two remaining members to act as chairman to hold until the vacancy in the board shall be filled. The clerk shall keep a similar record of any election to fill vacancies, and the member or members shall be elected in like manner as the original members, and shall serve until the expiration of the term of his predecessor. The secretary of the board of drainage commissioners shall promptly notify the clerk of the superior court of any vacancy in the board.

5. Failure to Elect.—If for any reason the clerk of the court shall fail to provide for an election of drainage commissioners on the second Monday in August to succeed those whose terms will expire on the thirtieth day of September, the clerk shall have authority at the most convenient date thereafter to provide for such election, and in the meantime the incumbents shall continue to hold their office as commissioners until their successors are elected and qualified. The term of office of boards of drainage commissioners heretofore elected and appointed shall expire on the thirtieth day of September, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and their successors shall be elected on the second Monday in August, nineteen hundred and seventeen, in the manner provided by law.

6. Meetings.—The board shall meet once each month at a stated time and place during the progress of drainage construction, and more often if necessary. After the drainage work is completed, or at any time, the chairman shall have the power to call special meetings of the board at a certain time and place. The chairman shall also call a meeting at any time upon the written request of the owner of a majority in area of the land in the district.

7. Compensation.—The chairman of the board of drainage commissioners shall receive compensation based on the annual payment of fifty dollars per annum in districts containing less than five thousand acres in the aggregate, but the clerk of the superior court shall be authorized to increase this annual compensation to one hundred dollars if the duties required of the chairman shall appear to justify such increase. In addition, the chairman shall receive his actual and necessary expenses of travel and subsistence, for which he shall file an itemized statement of the amounts actually paid. The remaining two members of the board shall receive a compensation of not exceeding five dollars per day while necessarily engaged in attendance upon meetings of the board, or in the discharge of other necessary duties imposed by the board, and, in addition, shall receive their actual and necessary expenses in attending meetings of the board. The secretary of the board, if other than a member of the board, shall receive such compensation for work actually performed as may be determined by the board. In drainage districts of unusually large area and requiring greater time and attention, the chairman of the board may be paid a greater compensation than one hundred dollars per annum, to be allowed by the clerk of the superior court, based on a petition filed by the board with the clerk, setting forth all the facts necessary for a determination of the matter. All such payments allowed to the chairman and members of the board shall be paid by vouchers upon the treasurer of the district issued in proper form.

8. Application of Section.—The provisions of subsection one of this section with respect to the right to vote for and the manner of election of commissioners shall not apply to districts organized prior to the fifth day of March, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, but in those districts the landowners shall be entitled to vote as provided by the law prior to that date. The term of office of boards of drainage commissioners in districts organized prior to the date last mentioned, and in which no election of drainage commissioners has been held under this section, shall expire on the thirtieth day of September, nineteen hundred and nineteen, and their successors shall be elected on the second Monday in August, nineteen hundred and nineteen, in the manner provided by this section. If for any reason the clerk of the court shall fail to provide for such election he shall have authority at the most convenient date thereafter to provide for such election, and in the meantime the incumbents shall continue to hold office as commissioners until their successors are elected and qualified. The length of the term of service of commissioners elected hereunder shall be as provided in subsection three of this section. This section shall not apply to the manner or time of election of the drainage commission of the Mattamuskeet drainage district. (1917, c. 152, s. 5; 1919, cc. 109, 217.)

§ 5339(a). Validation of election of members of drainage commission.—All irregularities caused by failure of any officer whose duty it was to provide for the election of a member or members of board of drainage commissioners of any drainage district, or the failure of any candidate to make a deposit as may be required by law, shall not invalidate such election where the following facts appear affirmatively:

(a) That said election was held at the time and place prescribed by law.

(b) That a ballot box was provided for the ballots cast for drainage commissioner.

(c) That the ballots were canvassed and the results declared by the judge of the general election.

(d) That the candidate receiving the greatest number of votes was declared elected.

(e) That no candidate for election as a member of board of drainage commissioners made any deposit as prescribed by law.

(f) That the candidate receiving the majority votes at said election has already qualified and is acting as such drainage commissioner.

This section shall not apply to any election contested before March 9, 1921. (1921, c. 210.)

Art. 7. Construction of Improvement

§ 5340. Superintendent of construction.—The board of drainage commissioners shall appoint a competent drainage engineer of good repute as superintendent of construction, by and with the approval and recommendation of the state geologist. Such superintendent of construction shall furnish a copy of his monthly and final estimates to the state geologist, in addition to other copies herein provided which shall be filed and preserved. In the event of the death, resignation, or removal of the superintendent of construction, his successor shall be appointed in the same manner. (1909, c. 442, s. 20; 1923, c. 217, s. 3.)

Editor's Note.—The former section 5340 was stricken out by Public Laws 1923, ch. 217, sec. 3 and the present section substituted.

§ 5341. Letting contracts.—The board of drainage commissioners shall cause notice to be given for two consecutive weeks in some newspaper published in the county wherein such improvement is located, if such there be, and such additional publication elsewhere as they may deem expedient, of the time and place of letting the work of construction of such improvement, and in such notice they shall specify the approximate amount of work to be done and the time fixed for the completion thereof; and on the date appointed for the letting they, together with the superintendent of construction, shall convene and let to the lowest responsible bidder, either as a whole or in sections, as they may deem most advantageous for the district, the proposed work. No bid shall be entertained that exceeds the estimated cost, except for good and satisfactory reasons it shall be shown that the original estimate was erroneous. They shall have the right to reject all bids and advertise again the work, if in their judgment the interest of the district will be subserved by doing so. The successful bidder shall be required to enter into a contract with the board of drainage commissioners and to execute a bond for the faithful performance of such contract, with sufficient sureties, in favor of the board of drainage commissioners for the use and benefit of the levee or drainage district, in an amount equal to twenty-five per centum of the estimated cost of the work awarded to him. In canvassing bids and letting the contract, the superintendent of construction shall act only in an advisory capacity to the board of drainage commissioners. The contract shall be based on the plans and specifications submitted by the viewers in their final report as confirmed by the court, the original of which shall remain on file in the office of the clerk of the superior court and shall be open to the inspection of all prospective bidders. All bids shall be sealed and shall not be opened except under the authority of the board of drainage commissioners and on the day theretofore appointed for opening the bids. The drainage commissioners shall have power to correct errors and modify the details of the report of the engineer and viewers if, in their judgment, they can increase the efficiency of the drainage plan and afford better drainage to the lands in the district without increasing the estimated cost submitted by the engineer and viewers and confirmed by the court. (1909, c. 442, s. 21; 1911, c. 67, s. 4.)

Power of Commissioners Is Discretionary.—This section directs that the levee or drainage commissioners shall convene with the superintendent of construction and let the work contemplated to the "lowest responsible bidder," thereby conferring a discretionary power in adjudging the responsibility of the bidder, in all respects, with which the courts will not interfere in the absence of undue influence or a procurement by fraud. Sanderlin v. Luken, 152 N. C. 738, 68 S. E. 225.

Section Authorizes Only Minor Changes in Report.—Where a drainage district has been laid out in accordance with the requirements of the Drainage Act, and the final report has been filed and recorded, provision is made for the selection of a board of drainage commissioners, etc., who are charged with the duties of carrying out, substantially, the plans and specifications of the report as recorded, their powers being largely ministerial in character, to make out the assessment rolls constituting a lien on the property, as in case of tax lists, observing the classifications and ratio of assessments determined upon by the board of viewers; and the modification made by this section of the act contemplates only such minor charges of detail as may occur in carrying out the plans, etc., specified in the final report and not a substantial departure therefrom. Griffin v. Board, 169 N. C. 642, 86 S. E. 575.

Acceptance of Work by Commissioners.—The acceptance of the work of the contractors as a compliance on their part with the contract is a judicial act of the board of commissioners and cannot be questioned except for fraud or collusion, and then only to make the commissioners personally and individually liable. Craven v. Board, 176 N. C. 531, 533, 97 S. E. 470.

§ 5342. Monthly estimates for work, and payments thereon.—The superintendent in charge of construction shall make monthly estimates of the amount of work done, and furnish one copy to the contractor and file the other with the secretary of the board of drainage commissioners; and the commissioners shall, within five days after the filing of such estimate, meet and direct the secretary to draw a warrant, in favor of such contracts for ninety per centum of the work done, according to the specifications and contracts; and upon the presentation of such warrant, properly signed by the chairman and secretary, to the treasurer of the drainage fund, he shall pay the amount due thereon. When the work is fully completed and accepted by the superintendent he shall make an estimate for the whole amount due, including the amounts withheld on the previous monthly estimates, which shall be paid from the drainage fund as before provided. (1909, c. 442, s. 22.)

§ 5343. Failure of contractors; reletting.—If any contractor to whom such work has been let shall fail to perform the same according to the terms specified in his contract, action may be had in behalf of the board of drainage commissioners against such contractor and his bond in the superior court for damages sustained by the levee or drainage district, and recovery made against such contractor and his sureties. In such an event the work shall be advertised and relet in the same manner as the original letting. (1909, c. 442, s. 23; 1911, c. 67, s. 5.)

§ 5344. Right to enter upon lands; removal of timber.—In the construction of the work the contractor shall have the right to enter upon the lands necessary for this purpose and the right to remove private lands or public bridges or fences and to cross private lands in going to or from the work. In case the right of way of the improvement is through timber the owner thereof shall have the right to remove it, if he so desires, before the work of construction begins, and in case it is not removed by the landowner it shall become the property of the contractor and may be removed by him. (1909, c. 442, s. 24.)

As to recovery of damages for timber see section 5328 and notes.

Purpose of Section.—The drainage acts contemplate that all damages to the owner of lands shall be assessed, including the taking of his timber necessary to carry out its plans, this section being designed to give the owner of the timber the privilege of taking such timber if he so elects. Lumber Co. v. Drainage Comr's, 174 N. C. 647, 94 S. E. 457.

Not an Unlawful Taking.—The objection that this section is an unconstitutional taking of the owner's timber and giving it to the contractor, without compensation, cannot be maintained. Lumber Co. v. Drainage Comr's, 174 N. C. 647, 94 S. E. 457.

§ 5345. Drainage across public or private ways.—Where any public ditch, drain, or watercourse established under the provisions of this subchapter crosses a public highway, the actual cost of constructing the same across the highway or removing old bridges or building new ones shall be paid for from the fund of the drainage district. Wherever any highway within the levee or drainage district shall be beneficially affected by the construction of any improvement or improvements in such district it shall be the duty of the viewers appointed to classify the land to give in their report the amount of benefit to such highway, and notice shall be given by the clerk of the superior court to the clerk of the board of county commissioners in the county where the road is located of the amount of such assessment, and the county commissioners shall have the right to appear before the court and file its objections, the same as any landowner. When it shall become necessary for the drainage commissioners to repair any bridge or construct a new bridge across a highway by reason of enlarging any water-course, or of excavating any canal intersecting such highway, such bridge shall thereafter be maintained by and at the expense of the board of commissioners of such county, or by such other official board or authority as by law shall be required to maintain such highway so intersected.

Where any public canal established under the provisions of the general drainage law shall intersect any private road or cartway the actual cost of constructing a bridge across such canal at such intersection shall be paid for from the funds of the drainage district and constructed under the supervision of the board of drainage commissioners, but the bridge shall thereafter be maintained by and at the expense of the owners of the land exercising the use and control of the private road: Provided, if the private road shall be converted into a public highway the maintenance of the bridge shall devolve upon the board of commissioners of the county or such other authority as by law shall be required to maintain public highways and bridges. (1909, c. 442, s. 25; 1911, c. 67, s. 6; 1917, c. 152, s. 6.)

Mandamus against County Commissioners.—A judgment in proceedings for mandamus against the county commissioners to compel them to pay an assessment of a drainage district for benefit to the public roads therein, that the defendants pay the same, with interest and cost, out of the first moneys coming into their hands and not otherwise appropriated, is valid and not in violation of the Constitution or statute relating to taxation. Drainage District v. Board, 174 N. C. 738, 94 S. E. 530.

§ 5346. Drainage across railroads; procedure.—Whenever the engineer and the viewers in charge shall make a survey for the purpose of locating a public levee or drainage district or changing a natural water-course, and the same would cross the right of way of any railroad company, it shall be the duty of the owner in charge of the work to notify the railroad company, by serving written notice upon the agent of such company or its lessee or receiver, that they will meet the company at the place where the proposed ditch, drain, or water-course crosses the right of way of such company, the notice fixing the time of such meeting, which shall not be less than ten days after the service of the same, for the purpose of conferring with the railroad company with relation to the place where and the manner in which such improvement shall cross such right of way. When the time shall arrive fixed for such conference, unless for good cause more time is agreed upon, it shall be the duty of the viewers in charge and the railroad company to agree if possible, upon the place where and the manner and method in which such improvement shall cross such right of way. If the viewers in charge and the railroad company cannot agree, or if the railroad company shall fail, neglect, or refuse to confer with the viewers, they shall determine the place and manner of crossing the right of way of the railroad company, and shall specify the number and size of openings required, and the damages, if any, to the railroad company, and so specify in their report. The fact that the railroad company is required by the construction of the improvement to build a new bridge or culvert or to enlarge or strengthen an old one shall not be considered as damages to the railroad company. The engineer and viewers shall also assess the benefits that will accrue to the right of way, roadbed, and other property of the company by affording better drainage or a better outlet for drainage, but no benefits shall be assessed because of the increase in business that may come to the road because of the construction of the improvement. The benefits shall be assessed as a fixed sum, determined solely by the physical benefit that its property will receive by the construction of the improvement, and it shall be reported by the viewers as a special assessment, due personally from the railroad company as a special assessment; it may be collected in the manner of an ordinary debt in any court having jurisdiction. (1909, c. 442, s. 26.)

§ 5347. Notice to railroad.—The clerk of the superior court shall have notice served upon the railroad company of the time and place of the meeting to hear and determine the final report of the engineer and viewers, and the railroad company shall have the right to file objections to the report and to appeal from the findings of the board of commissioners in the same manner as any landowner. But such an appeal shall not delay or defeat the construction of the improvement. (1909, c. 442, s. 27.)

§ 5348. Manner of construction across railroad.

1. Duty of Railroad.—After the contract is let and the actual construction is commenced, if the work is being done with a floating dredge, the superintendent in charge of construction shall notify the railroad company of the probable time at which the contractor will be ready to enter upon the right of way of such railroad and construct the work thereon. It shall be the duty of the railroad to send a representative to view the ground with the superintendent of construction and arrange the exact time at which such work can be most conveniently done. At the time agreed upon the railroad company shall remove its rails, ties, stringers, and such other obstructions as may be necessary to permit the dredge to excavate the channel across its right of way. The work shall be so planned and conducted as to interfere in the least possible manner with the business of the railroad.

2. Corporation Commission to Settle.—If the superintendent of construction and the railroad company shall not be able to agree as to the exact time at which such work can be done, including the time of beginning and the time to be consumed in such work, either party may give written notice thereof to the chairman of the corporation commission of the state, and thereupon the corporation commission shall cause an investigation to be made, and, after hearing both parties, shall fix the time of beginning such work and the time to be consumed in the work of construction, and the final determination of the corporation commission thereon shall be binding upon the superintendent of construction representing the district and the railroad company, and the work shall be done in such time as may be fixed by the corporation commission.

3. Penalty for Delay.—In case the railroad company refuses and fails to remove its track and allow the dredge to construct the work on its right of way, it shall be held as delaying the construction of the improvement, and such company shall be liable to a penalty of twenty-five dollars per day for each day of delay, to be collected by the board of drainage commissioners for the benefit of the drainage district as in the case of other penalties. Such a fine may be collected in any court having jurisdiction, and shall inure to the benefit of the drainage district.

4. Payment of Expense.—Within thirty days after the work is completed an itemized bill for actual expenses incurred by the railroad company for opening its tracks shall be made and presented to the superintendent of construction of the drainage improvement. Such bill, however, shall not include the cost of putting in a new bridge or strengthening or enlarging an old one. The superintendent of construction shall audit this bill and, if found correct, approve the same and file it with the secretary of the board of drainage commissioners. The commissioners shall deduct from this bill the cost of the excavation done by the dredge on the right of way of the railroad company at the contract price, and pay the difference, if any, to the railroad company. (1909, c. 442, s. 28; 1911, c. 67, s. 7.)

§ 5349. Control and repairs by drainage commissioners. — Whenever any improvement constructed under this subchapter is completed it shall be under the control and supervision of the board of drainage commissioners. It shall be the duty of the board to keep the levee, ditch, drain, or water-course in good repair, and for this purpose they may levy an assessment on the lands benefited by the construction of such improvement in the same manner and in the same proportion as the original assessments were made, and the fund that is collected shall be used for repairing and maintaining the ditch, drain, or water-course in perfect order: Provided, however, that if any repairs are made necessary by the act or negligence of the owner of any land through which such improvement is constructed or by the act of negligence of his agent or employee, or if the same is caused by the cattle, hogs, or other stock of such owner, employee, or agent, then the cost thereof shall be assessed and levied against the lands of the owner alone, to be collected by proper suit instituted by the drainage commissioners. It shall be unlawful for any person to injure or damage or obstruct or build any bridge, fence, or floodgate in such a way as to injure or damage any levee, ditch, drain, or water-course constructed and improved under the provisions of this sub-chapter, and any person causing such injury shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof may be fined in any sum not exceeding twice the damage or injury done or caused. (1909, c. 442, s. 29.)

Editor's Note.—Sections 5373(a), 5373(f) were added by Public Laws 1923 ch. 231 and have the effect of amending this section. This section authorizes the drainage commissioners to levy an assessment upon the lands in the district for the purpose of keeping up the drainage. The amending statute supra, provides that the commissioners may issue bonds instead of levying an assessment. In order to do so, they must file a petition with the clerk of the superior court showing the nature of the work to be done, that the expense will be more than one dollar per acre for the lands in the district, and to raise the money by one assessment would be an unreasonable burden upon the land.

Upon filing such petition, the proceeding is somewhat similar to the original organization of the district, requiring the appointment of a board of viewers, and their report as to whether the bonds should be issued, the filing of maps and profiles, with a reclassification of the lands if found to be necessary. If the commissioners think it would help the sale of the bonds, they may, with the approval of the clerk of superior court, add to the amount so to be secured an amount sufficient to cover all the obligations of the district, so as to have only one bond issue. See 1 N. C. Law Rev. 288.

Meaning of Original Assessments.—Under the provisions of the statute creating the Mattamuskeet Drainage District the control hereof, after its completion, is continued in the board of drainage commissioners for the purpose of its maintenance, and authority is given it to levy assessments therefor on the lands benefited in the same manner and in the same proportion as the "original assessments" were made, and collected by the same officers as those by whom the State and county taxes are collected: Held, the term "original assessments" refers to those made for construction work on bonds issued therefor, and the assessments for maintenance should be collected by the sheriff of the county for the purpose of maintenance, as taxes for general county purposes are to be collected by him. Drainage Comr's v. Davis, 182 N. C. 140, 108 S. E. 506. See notes to sec. 8042, 5369, as to collection by sheriff.

Provision Limiting Assessments.—A provision in the petition limiting the amount of assessments to be made on lands within a drainage district being formed under the provisions of the statute, which was not inserted in the final judgment rendered in due course, may not at a susbequent term be applied by amendment, being also contrary to the statutory provisions and invalid. Mann v. Mann, 176 N. C. 353, 97 S. E. 175.

§ 5350. Construction of lateral drains.—The owner of any land that has been assessed for the cost of the construction of any ditch, drain, or water-course, as herein provided, shall have the right to use the ditch, drain, or water-course as an outlet for lateral drains from such land; and if the land be of such elevation that the owner cannot secure proper drainage through and over his own land, or if the land is separated from the ditch, drain, or water-course by the land of another or others, and the owner thereof shall be unable to agree with such others as to the terms and conditions on which he may enter their lands and construct the drain or ditch, he may file his ancillary petition in such pending proceeding to the court, and the procedure shall be as now provided by law. (1909, c. 442, s. 30; 1915, c. 43, s. 1; 1917, c. 152, s. 3.)

Art. 8. Assessments and Bond Issue

§ 5351. Total cost for three years ascertained. —After the classification of lands and the ratio of assessments of the different classes to be made thereon has been confirmed by the court, the board of drainage commissioners shall ascertain the total cost of the improvement, including damages awarded to be paid to owners of land, all costs and incidental expenses, and also including an amount sufficient to pay the necessary expenses of maintaining the improvement for a period of three years after the completion of the work of construction, not exceeding ten per centum of the estimated actual cost of constructing the drainage works or the contract price thereof if such contract has not been awarded, and after deducting therefrom any special assessments made against any railroad or highway, and, thereupon, the board of drainage commissioners, under the hand of the chairman and secretary of the board, shall certify to the clerk of the superior court the total cost, ascertained as aforesaid; and the certificate shall be forthwith recorded in the drainage record and open to inspection of any landowner in the district. (1909, c. 442, s. 31; 1911, c. 67, s. 8; 1923, c. 217, s. 4.)

Editor's Note.—This section which requires an estimate of the expense necessary for maintaining for three years the improvement constructed, was amended by Public Laws 1923, ch. 217, sec. 4, by adding a limitation, "not exceeding ten per cent of the estimated actual cost of constructing the drainage works or the contract price thereof." See 1 N. C. Law Rev. 287.

§ 5352. Assessment and payment; notice of bond issue.—If the total cost of the improvement is less than an average of twenty-five cents per acre on all the land in the district, the board of drainage commissioners shall forthwith assess the lands in the district therefor, in accordance with their classification, and said assessment shall be collected in one installment, by the same officer and in the same manner as state and county taxes are collected, and payable at the same time. In case the total cost exceeds an average of twenty-five cents per acre on all lands in the district, the board of drainage commissioners shall give notice for three weeks by publication in some newspaper published in a county in which the district, or some part thereof, is situated, if there be any such newspaper and also by posting a written or printed notice at the door of the courthouse and at five conspicuous places in the district, reciting that they propose to issue bonds for the payment of the total cost of the improvement, giving the amount of bonds to be issued, the rate of interest that they are to bear, and the time when payable. Any landowner in the district not wanting to pay interest on the bonds may within fifteen days after the publication of such notice, pay to the county treasurer the full amount for which his lands is liable to be ascertained from the classification sheet and the certificate of the board showing the total cost of the improvement, and have his lands released from liability to be assessed for the improvement; but such land shall continue liable for any future assessment for maintenance or for any increased assessment authorized under the law. (1909, c. 442, s. 32; 1911, c. 67, s. 9.)

Assessments Not "Taxes."—Assessments made for the maintenance of a drainage district, incorporated under the provisions of the statute, are not "taxes," though they may be so incorrectly denominated therein; being only assessments made for the special benefits to the land within the district and not imposed for the purpose of general revenue. Drainage Comr's v. Davis, 182 N. C. 140, 108 S. E. 506.

Assessments Are Liens in Rem.—Assessments upon lands in a drainage district are liens in rem, resting upon the lands, into whosoever hands it may be at the time they accrue, and do not come within the terms of a warranty against encumbrances by deed. Taylor v. Commissioners, 176 N. C. 217, 96 S. E. 1027.

Same—Purchaser Takes with Notice.—The purchaser of lands within a drainage district formed under the provisions of this chapter is fixed by the statute with notice of the assessments and the time thereof, whether a resident of another State or not. Pate v. Banks, 178 N. C. 139, 100 S. E. 251.

Timber Interest Not Liable.—A conveyance of the timber, under the usual deed, providing for its cutting and removal from the land within a stated period, is regarded as a severance thereof from the land, and the grantee in the deed is not liable for an assessment for drainage purposes laid thereon. Dover Lumber Co. v. Board of Commissioners, 173 N. C. 117, 91 S. E. 714, 845.

One Owner Not Liable for Failure of Others.—No owner is responsible for other owners by reason of their failure to pay, except through the method of assessment provided by the statute. Carter v. Drainage Commissioners, 156 N. C. 183, 184, 72 S. E. 380.

Owner Liable for Additional Assessments.—The land of the owner who has paid his assessments, as provided by this section, is subject to additional assessments, the lands in the district being liable until the original bond issue for making the improvements or indebtedness incurred therefor is paid in full, and the owner is liable for such additional assessments as might be levied against the lands under his contract with a party purchasing the land from him. Virginia-Carolina Joint Stock Land Bank v. Watt, 207 N. C. 577, 178 S. E. 228.

Courts Can Enjoin Collection of Assessments.—The courts, in proper instances, have the power to interfere and stay amounts assessed against the owner of lands within an established drainage district, when it appears that the commissioners, in carrying out the ministerial duties imposed on them, endeavor to collect from him a sum in excess of their own assessment, or that they had made out these rolls in utter disregard to the classifications and ratio of assessments established by the final report, or they had made such changes in the plans and specifications thereof as to exceed their powers and work substantial wrong and hardship upon a landowner, if he is not guilty of laches and has not unduly delayed asserting his rights. Griffin v. Board, 169 N. C. 642, 86 S. E. 575.

But where a drainage district has been fully and lawfully established in accordance with the statute, and the commissioners duly appointed and bonds issued in furtherance of the scheme, an injunction restraining the collection of the assessment against the landowners therein, at the suit of one of them, will not issue, as against the interest of the holder of the bonds, unless it clearly appears that the commissioners have substantially departed, to the injury of the claimant, from the scheme set forth in the final report of the viewers, etc.; and it appearing in this case that such has not been done, the restraining order is properly dissolved, and the further order that the plaintiff may proceed in his action against the commissioners is approved. Griffin v. Board, 169 N. C. 642, 86 S. E. 575.

Presumption as to Notice.—The presumption is in favor of the regularity of the official proceedings of the commissioners of a drainage district, and applies as to the sufficiency of notice to a landowner within the district of a meeting duly had to assess such owners according to benefits received from the improvements therein. Mitchem v. Drainage Com., 182 N. C. 511, 109 S. E. 551.

Waiver of Notice.—Where the owner of land in a drainage district, formed under the provisions of statute, appears at a meeting of the commissioners held for the purpose, and is silent, making no objection or exception to the assessment imposed upon his land, the question as to whether he had been sufficiently served with notice of the meeting becomes immaterial, his appearance being construed as a waiver thereof, or rather as dispensing with formal notice. Mitchem v. Drainage Com., 182 N. C. 511, 109 S. E. 551. And he can not collaterally, by injunction, restrain the collection of these assessments by sheriff's sale; and this applies to his grantee who knew that the lands were situate within the district and subject to the assessments. Mitchem v. Drainage Com., 182 N. C. 511, 109 S. E. 551.

§ 5353. Failure to pay deemed consent to bond issue.—Every person owning land in the district who shall fail to pay to the county treasurer the full amount for which his land is liable, as aforesaid, within the time above specified, shall be deemed as consenting to the issuance of drainage bonds, and in consideration of the right to pay his proportion in installments, he hereby waives his right of defense to the payment of any assessments which may be levied for the payment of bonds because of any irregularity, illegality, or defect in the proceedings prior to this time, except in case of an appeal, as hereinbefore provided, which is not affected by this waiver. The term "person" as used in this act includes any firm, company, or corporation. (1909, c. 442, s. 33; 1911, c. 67, s. 10.)

§ 5354. Bonds issued.—At the expiration of fifteen days after publication of notice of bond issue the board of drainage commissioners may issue bonds of the drainage district for an amount equal to the total cost of the improvement, less such amounts as shall have been paid in in cash to the county treasurer. It shall be optional with the board of drainage commissioners in the issuing of bonds to issue serial bonds in denominations of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, bearing not more than six per cent interest from date of issue, payable semiannually. The first annual installment of principal shall fall due not less than three years nor more than six years after date thereof, and each annual installment of principal shall not be less than five per cent nor more than ten per cent of the total bonds authorized and issued. (1909, c. 442, s. 34; 1911, c. 67, s. 11; 1917, c. 152, s. 12; 1923, c. 217, s. 5.)

Editor's Note. — This section, as to issuing bonds, was amended by Public Laws 1923, ch. 217, sec. 5 by leaving out the requirement to include in the bond issue an amount sufficient to pay interest on the bond issue for the three years following the date of issue; and also by leaving out the last sentence in the section in regard to assessments to pay interest on installments of bonds maturing more than three years from date of issue. These payments are provided for in a subsequent section. See Editors Note to sections 5355 and 5360. 1 N. C. Law Rev. 287.

Power to Issue Bonds for Interest.—The original section, chapter 442, Laws 1909, sec. 34, authorized the commissioners to issue bonds for the full amount of the assessment for construction, "together with interest thereon, costs of collection or other incidental expense." That former section has been repealed by section 34, chapter 67, Laws 1911, but it shows that the original act authorized the issuing of bonds for "interest and other incidental expenses." Indeed, the power to issue bonds for interest arises by implication, even if there is no express delegation of this power in the statute. Carter v. Com'rs, 156 N. C. 183, 186, 72 S. E. 380. The issuance of bonds to take care of interest is specifically provided for in other sections. See Editor's Note, supra. Ed. Note.

Bonds Not Void.—An issue of bonds by a drainage commission, is not void by reason that the clerk of the court who appointed the commissioners owned an interest in a tract of land within the drainage district, as such an interest is too minute, and not directly the subject-matter of the litigation. White v. Lane, 153 N. C. 14, 68 S. E. 895.

§ 5355. Form of bonds; excess assessments.—All bonds authorized and issued shall be signed by the chairman and secretary of the board of drainage commissioners and the corporate seal of the district affixed thereto and the interest coupons shall be authenticated by the facsimile signature of the secretary, and both the principal and interest coupons shall be payable at some bank or trust company to be designated by the board of drainage commissioners and incorporated in the body of the bond. The form of the bond shall be authorized by the board of drainage commissioners or by the board and the purchaser of the bonds jointly, at the option of the board.

All bonds of reclamation districts shall have that fact noted upon the face of the bond either by stamping or printing the same thereon all bonds of improvement districts shall also have that fact noted upon their face.

For the purpose of meeting any possible deficit in the collection of annual drainage assessments or any deficit arising out of unforeseen contingencies there shall be levied, assessed and collected during each year when either the interest or principal or both interest and principal on the outstanding bonds shall be due an assessment as will yield ten per cent more than the total of interest and principal due in such years that is to say, for every one hundred dollars of principal and interest, or either, due in any one year, there shall be levied, assessed and collected a sufficient drainage assessment to yield one hundred and ten dollars for such year. When this excess of drainage tax so levied, assessed and collected shall accumulate so that the aggregate surplus in the hands of the treasurer of the district shall amount to more than fifteen per cent of the total principal of the bonds of the district outstanding and unpaid, then such surplus above fifteen per cent thereof may be available for expenditure by the board of drainage commissioners in the maintenance and upkeep of the drainage work in such district in the manner provided by law: after all the drainage assessments have been collected except the last assessment, if the surplus which has accumulated amounts to more than five per cent of the total issue of bonds of the district, then and in such event the board of drainage commissioners may in their discretion apply such excess above five per cent toward the reduction of the total amount embraced in the last assessment, reducing the same pro rata as to each tract of land embraced in the district, and having regard to the classification, to the end that such reduction shall be fairly and justly made. As to such surplus as shall accumulate in the hands of the treasurer of the district over and above all obligations of the district which may be due, the treasurer is hereby directed to deposit same in some solvent bank or banks at the highest rate of interest obtainable therefor, and the said treasurer shall be authorized, if he deems it necessary, to demand satisfactory security for such deposits; but the said treasurer shall reserve the right to demand a repayment at any time upon giving not exceeding thirty days notice thereof. Whereas the proceeds of the first drainage assessment may not be collected and in the hands of the treasurer of the district prior to the maturity of the first and second semi-annual installments of interest upon the issue of bonds, the treasurer of the district is hereby directed to pay the interest coupons first maturing and also the interest coupons next maturing if necessary out of funds in his hands for the purpose of maintaining the improvements for the period of three years after the completion of the work or construction. As a surplus fund with the treasurer arising out of the annual additional assessment of ten per centum shall accumulate in any one year in excess of fifteen per centum of the total principal of the bonds of the district outstanding and unpaid, as herein provided, the treasurer shall transfer in each of such years such surplus fund to the fund for maintaining the improvement after completion, as a reimbursement of the fund formerly withdrawn therefrom for the payment of the first and second installments of interest coupons until such reimbursement shall be fully made. The treasurer shall thereafter keep separate accounts of the proceeds of such additional ten per cent assessment remaining each year after the payment of all maturing obligations, and also a separate account of the funds provided for maintaining the improvement for the period of three years after completion of improvement and all payments therefrom and reimbursements thereto. (1917, c. 152, s. 13; 1923, c. 217, s. 6; 1927, c. 98, s. 5.)

Editor's Note.—Public Laws 1923, ch. 217, sec. 6 amended this section by providing that, for the purpose of meeting any deficit, an assessment shall be levied sufficient to yield ten per cent more than the total of principal and interest of bonds due during that year; and when the surplus of the assessment so levied amounts to more than fifteen per cent of the principal of the bonds outstanding, the excess over such fifteen per cent may be used for maintenance in the district. When all the assessments, except the last one, have been paid, if the accumulated surplus is more than five per cent of the total bond issue, the excess over such five per cent may be applied to the reduction of the last assessment. As the surplus may accumulate, the treasurer may deposit the same in some solvent bank at the highest obtainable rate of interest.

Since the first and second installments of interest on the bonds may be due before the collection of the first drainage assessment, the treasurer is authorized to pay such interest out of the funds for maintaining the drainage work for three years after completion, the same to be repaid out of the additional ten per cent assessment above provided for, when there shall be an accumulated surplus in any one year of more than fifteen per cent of the principal of outstanding bonds. The treasurer is required to keep separate accounts of the funds above specified. See 1 N. C. Law Rev. 288.

The last sentence in the first paragraph of the present section, distinguishing between reclamation and improvement districts was added by Public Laws 1927, ch. 98, sec. 5.

§ 5356. Application of funds; holder's remedy.—The commissioners may sell these bonds at not less than par and devote the proceeds to the payment for the work as it progresses and to the payment of the other expenses of the district provided for in this subchapter. The proceeds from such bonds shall be for the exclusive use of the levee or drainage district specified on their face, and shall be numbered by the board of drainage commissioners and recorded in the drainage record, which record shall set out specifically the lands embraced in the district on which the tax has not been paid in full, which land is to be assessed as hereinafter provided. If any installment of principal or interest represented by the bonds shall not be paid at the time and in the manner when the same shall become due and payable, and such default shall continue for a period of six months, the holders of such bonds upon which default has been made may have a right of action against the drainage district or the board of drainage commissioners of the district wherein the court may issue a writ of mandamus against the drainage district, its officers, including the tax collector and treasurer, directing the levying of a tax or special assessment as herein provided, and the collection of same, in such sum as may be necessary to meet any unpaid installments of principal and interest and cost of action; and such other remedies are hereby vested in the holders of such bonds in default as may be authorized by law; and the right of action is hereby vested in the holders of such bonds upon which default has been made authorizing them to institute suit against any officer on his official bond for failure to perform any duty imposed by the provisions of this subchapter. The official bonds of the tax collector and county treasurer shall be liable for the faithful performance of the duties herein assigned. Such bonds may be increased by the board of county commissioners. (1909, c. 442, s. 34; 1911, c. 67, s. 11; 1911, c. 205; 1923, c. 217, s. 7.)

Editor's Note.—Public Laws 1923, ch. 217, sec. 7 amended this section by striking out in the first sentence of the section the words, "and to the payment of the interest on the bonds for the three years next following the date of issue." This payment is taken care of by the amendment to the preceding section and by the amendment to section 5360. See Editor's Notes to those sections. See 1 N. C. Law Rev. 288.

For amendment of this section applicable only in Columbus and Brunswick Counties, see 1929, ch. 299, §§ 1, 2.
